pleading is one essential to the claim or defense, which could not be stricken from the pleading without leaving it insufficient.

SEC. 136. [Judicial notice.—Neither presumptions of law, nor matters of which judicial notice is taken, need be stated in the pleading.

SEC. 137. [Original pleading lost.—If an original pleading be lost, or withheld by any person, the court may allow a copy thereof to be substituted.

MISTAKES IN PLEADINGS, AND AMENDMENTS.

SEC. 138. [Variance—When not material.—No variance between the allegation in a pleading and the proof, is to be deemed material, unless it have actually misled the adverse party to his prejudice, in maintaining his action or defense upon the merits. Whenever it is alleged that a party has been so misled, that fact must be proved to the satisfaction of the court, and it must also be shown in what respect he has been misled; and thereupon the court may order the pleading to be amended upon such terms as may be just.

SEC. 139. [Same—Amendment.—Whenever the variance is not material, as provided in the last section, the court may direct the fact to be found according to the evidence, and may order an immediate amendment without costs.

SEC. 140. [Same—Failure of proof.—When, however, the allegation of the claim or defense to which the proof is directed, is unproved, not in some particular or particulars only, but in its general scope and meaning, it is not to be deemed a case of variance within the last two sections, but a failure of proof.

SEC. 141. [Petition amended before answer.—The plaintiff may amend his petition without leave, at any time before the answer is filed, without prejudice to the proceeding; but notice of such amendment shall be served upon the defendant, or his attorney, and the defendant shall have the same time to answer or demur thereto as to the original petition.

SEC. 142. [Amendment after demurrer—Notice.—At any time within ten days after a demurrer is filed, the adverse party may amend, of course, on payment of costs since filing the defective pleading. Notice of filing an amended pleading shall be forthwith served upon the other party, who shall have the same time thereafter to answer, or reply thereto, as to an original pleading.

SEC. 143. [Demurer overruled—Answer—Reply.—Upon a demurrer being overruled, the party who demurred may answer or reply, if the court be satisfied that he has a meritorious claim or defense, and did not demur for delay.

And whenever any proceeding taken by a party fails to conform, in any respect to the provisions of this code, the court may permit the same to be made conformable thereto, by amendment. [Amended 1875, 35. Took effect Feb. 4, 1875.]

SEC. 145. [Immaterial errors disregarded.].—The court in every stage of an action, must disregard any error or defect in the pleadings or proceedings, which does not affect the substantial rights of the adverse party; and no judgment shall be reversed or affected by reason of such error or defect.

SEC. 146. [Demurrer sustained—Amendment.].—If the demurrer be sustained, the adverse party may amend, if the defect can be remedied by way of amendment, with or without costs, as the court in its discretion shall direct.

SEC. 147. [Continuance upon amendment.].—When either party shall amend any pleading or proceeding, and the court shall be satisfied, by affidavit, or otherwise, that the adverse party could not be ready for trial in consequence thereof, a continuance may be granted to some day in term, or to another term of the court.

SEC. 148. [Unknown defendants—Designations.].—When the plaintiff shall be ignorant of the name of a defendant, such defendant may be designated in any pleading or proceeding by any name and description, and when his true name is discovered, the pleading or proceeding may be amended accordingly. The plaintiff in such case must state, in the verification of his petition, that he could not discover the true name, and the summons must contain the words "real name unknown," and a copy thereof must be served personally upon the defendant.

SEC. 149. [Supplemental pleadings.].—Either party may be allowed, on notice, and on such terms as to costs as the court may prescribe, to file a supplemental petition, answer, or reply, alleging facts material to the case, occurring after the former petition, answer, or reply.

SEC. 150. [Actions consolidated.].—Whenever two or more actions are pending in the same court which might have been joined, the defendant may, on motion and notice to the adverse party, require him to show cause why the same shall not be consolidated, and if no such cause be shown, the said several actions shall be consolidated.

SEC. 151. [Same—Order.].—The order for consolidation may be made by the court or by a judge thereof in vacation.

TITLE VIII.—PROVISIONAL REMEDIES.

CHAPTER I.—ARREST AND BAIL. [REPEALED LAWS 1887, chap. 99.]

CHAPTER II.—REPLEVIN OF PROPERTY.

SEC. 181. [Delivery of property—When claimed.]—The plaintiff in an action to recover the possession of specific personal property, may, at the commencement of the suit, or any time before answer, claim the immediate delivery of such property as provided in this chapter. [R. S. 421. G. S. 552.]

SEC. 182. [Order—Affidavit.]—An order for the delivery of personal property to the plaintiff, shall be made by the clerk of the court in which the action is brought, when there shall be filed in his office an affidavit of the plaintiff, his agent, or attorney showing: First—A description of the property claimed. Second—That the plaintiff is the owner of the property, or has a special ownership or interest therein, stating the facts in relation thereto, and that he is entitled to the immediate possession of the same. Third—That the property is wrongfully detained by the defendant. Fourth—That it was not taken in execution on any order or judgment against said plaintiff; or for the payment of any fine, tax, or amercement assessed against him, or by virtue of an order of delivery issued under this chapter, or any other meane or final process issued against him; Provided, That such affidavit may omit the first and last clause of this subdivision and in lieu thereof, show that the property was taken in execution on a judgment or order, other than an order of delivery in replevin, and that the same is exempt from such execution or attachment under the laws of this state; And provided further, That the provisions of this act shall extend to and apply as well to proceedings in replevin had before justices of the peace. [Amended 1877, 9. Took effect June 1, 1877.]

SEC. 183. [Order—Contents.]—The order for the delivery of the property to the plaintiff shall be addressed and delivered to the sheriff. It shall state the names of the parties, the court in which the action is brought, and command the sheriff to take the property, describing it, and deliver it to the plaintiff, and to make return of the order on a day to be named therein.

SEC. 184. [Same—Returnable.]—The return day for the order of delivery, when issued at the commencement of the suit, shall be the same as that of the summons, when issued afterwards, it shall be twenty days after it issued.

SEC. 185. [Same—Execution.]—The sheriff shall execute the order by taking the property therein mentioned. He shall also deliver a copy of the order to the person charged with the unlawful detention of the property, or leave such copy at his usual place of residence.

SEC. 186. [Bond.]—The sheriff, or other officer, shall not deliver to the plaintiff, his agent or attorney, the property so taken, until there has been executed, by one or more sufficient sureties of the plaintiff, a written undertaking to the defendant in at least double the value of the property taken, to the effect that the plaintiff shall duly prosecute the action and pay all costs and damages which may be awarded against him, and return the property to the defendant, in case judgment for a return of such property is rendered against him. The undertaking shall be returned with the order. [Amended to take effect Sept. 1, 1873. G. S. 553.]

SEC. 187. [Same—Appraisalment.]—For the purpose of fixing the amount of the undertaking, the value of the property taken shall be ascertained by the oath of two or more responsible persons, whom the sheriff or other officer shall swear truly to assess the value thereof.

SEC. 188. [Same—When given.]—If the undertaking, required by section one hundred and eighty-six, be not given within twenty-four hours from the taking of the property under said order, the sheriff or other officer shall return the property to the defendant. And if the sheriff or other officer deliver any property so taken to the plaintiff, his agent or attorney, or keep the same from the defendant, without taking such security within the time aforesaid, or if he takes insufficient security, he shall be liable to the defendant in damages.

SEC. 189. [Same—Objections to sureties.]—The defendant may, within twenty-four hours from the time the undertaking referred to in the preceding section is given by the plaintiff, give notice to the sheriff that he excepts to the sufficiency of the sureties. If he fails to do so, he must be deemed to have waived all objections to them. When the defendant excepts, the sureties must justify upon notice as bail on arrest. The sheriff or other officer shall be responsible for the sufficiency of the sureties, until the objection to them is waived as above provided or until they justify. The property shall be delivered to the plaintiff, when the undertaking, required by section one hundred and eighty-six has been given.

SEC. 190. [Proceedings in action—Jury—Findings.]—If the property has been delivered to the plaintiff, and judgment be rendered against him on demurrer, or if he otherwise fail to prosecute his action to final judgment, the court shall, on application of the defendant or his attorney, impanel a jury to inquire into the right of property and right of possession of the defendant to the property taken. If the jury shall be satisfied that said property was the property of the defendant at the commencement of the action, or if they shall find that the defendant was entitled to the possession only of the same at such time, then, and in either case, they shall assess such damages for the defendant as are right and proper; for which, with costs of suit, the court shall render judgment for the defendant.

SEC. 191. [Same.]—In all cases, when the property has been delivered to the plaintiff, where the jury shall find upon issue joined, for the defendant, they shall also find whether the defendant had the right of property or the right of possession only, at the commencement of the suit; and if they find either in his favor, they shall assess such

SEC. 191 a. [Return of property.]—The judgment in the cases mentioned in sections one hundred and ninety, and one hundred and ninety-one, and in section one thousand and forty-one of said code, shall be for a return of the property or the value thereof in case a return cannot be had, or the value of the possession of the same, and for damages for withholding said property, and costs of suit. [Took effect Sept. 1, 1873. G. S. 713.]

SEC. 192. [Same—Damages.]—In all cases, when the property has been delivered to the plaintiff, where the jury shall find for the plaintiff, on an issue joined, or on inquiry of damages upon a judgment by default, they shall assess adequate damages to the plaintiff for the illegal detention of the property; for which, with costs of suit, the court shall render judgment for defendant.

SEC. 193. [Same—Property not returned.]—When the property claimed has not been taken, or has been returned to the defendant by the sheriff for want of the undertaking required by section one hundred and eighty-six, the action may proceed as one for damages only, and the plaintiff shall be entitled to such damages as are right and proper; but if the property be returned for want of the undertaking required by section one hundred and eighty-six, the plaintiff shall pay all costs made by taking the same.

SEC. 193 a. [Judgment for defendant on dismissal.]—That whenever any action in replevin shall be dismissed by the court for irregularities or defects in the proceedings by the plaintiff, judgment may be given in favor of the defendant on proof of the value of the property and amount of damages. [1875, 44.]

SEC. 194. [Order to several counties.]—An order may be directed to any other county than the one in which the action is brought, for the delivery of the property claimed. Several orders may issue at the same time, or successively, at the option of the plaintiff; but only one of them shall be taxed in the costs, unless otherwise ordered by the court.

SEC. 195. [Order—Execution—Power of sheriff.]—The sheriff or other officer in the execution of the order of delivery, may break open any building or enclosure in which the property claimed, or any part thereof, is concealed; but not until he has been refused an entrance into said building or enclosure and the delivery of the property, after having demanded the same.

SEC. 196. [Suit on undertaking.]—No suit shall be instituted on the undertaking given under section one hundred and eighty-six, before an execution issued on a judgment in favor of the defendant in the action shall have been returned, that sufficient property whereon to levy and make the amount of such judgment cannot be found in the county.

SEC. 197. [Liability of clerk and plaintiff.]—Any order for the delivery of property issued under section one hundred and eighty-two, without the affidavit required thereby, shall be set aside at the cost of the clerk issuing the same, and such clerk, as well as the plaintiff, shall also be liable in damages to the party injured.

CHAPTER III.—ATTACHMENT.

SEC. 198. [When allowed—Grounds.]—The plaintiff in a civil action for the recovery of money, may, at or after the commencement thereof, have an attachment against the property of the defendant, and upon the grounds herein stated: First—When the defendant, or one of several defendants, is a foreign corporation, or a non-resident of this state; or, Second—Has absconded with the intent to defraud his creditors; or, Third—Has left the county of his residence to avoid the service of a summons; or, Fourth—So conceals himself that a summons cannot be served upon him; or, Fifth—Is about to remove his property, or a part thereof, out of the jurisdiction of the court, with the intent to defraud his creditors; or, Sixth—Is about to convert his property, or a part thereof, into money, for the purpose of placing it beyond the reach of his creditors; or, Seventh—Has property, or rights in action, which he conceals; or, Eighth—Has assigned, removed, or disposed of, or is about to dispose of, his property, or a part thereof, with the intent to defraud his creditors; or, Ninth—Fraudulently contracted the debt or incurred the obligation for which suit is about to be or has been brought. But an attachment shall not be granted on the ground that the defendant is a foreign corporation, or a non-resident of the state, for any claim other than a debt or demand arising upon contract, judgment, or decree.

SEC. 199. [Affidavit.]—An order of attachment shall be made by the clerk of the court in which the action is brought, in any case mentioned in the preceding section, when there is filed in his office an affidavit of the plaintiff, his agent, or attorney, Facts stated and attachment sustained on the ground that the debt was fraudulently contracted. 12 Neb. 610. Fraud to sustain attachment, must exist at or before time when debt was originally contracted. 18 Neb. 461. Mere inability of a debtor to pay his debts is not a cause for attachment. 18 Neb. 92. 24 Id. 345. Mere insolvency of debtor not cause for. 20 Neb. 485. 24 Neb. 345. To maintain an action for malicious attachment there must be want of probable cause, malice, and injury to the plaintiff. 18 Neb. 93. Question of fraudulent intent one of fact to be submitted to jury. 16 Neb. 93. Does not lie in action to recover damages for negligence in performing professional service upon the ground that defendant had fraudulently contracted the debt. 25 Neb. 683. Discretion of court in allowing writ. 6 Neb. 530. Debt due on bill or note overdue is subject to. 5 Neb. 432. Note transferred before maturity for purpose of protecting debt from creditors of payee, is subject to attachment while in hands of endorsee. 6 Neb. 343. Not maintainable in action of tort; limited to actions ex contractu. 4 Neb. 62, 65. Does not lie in action for tort; affidavit must show debt or demand arising upon contract; where promise is implied, either from a breach of duty or from the undertaking of defendant, attachment will lie. 24 Neb. 785. Rights of creditor against garnishee, not superior to those of debtor. 14 Neb. 189. Rights under mechanic's lien law are superior to garnishment creditor. 15 Neb. 85. Creditor acquires no greater rights than debtor has at the time of levy. 15 Neb. 664. Homestead not subject to, for debt contracted before patent issued. 13 Neb. 4. Of note and mortgage is regarded as an assignment to creditor. 7 Neb. 304. Plaintiff liable if he sue out attachment maliciously and without probable cause. 9 Neb. 104. Officers issuing and executing not liable for conversion of property if they have acted in good faith. 1 Neb. 383. An officer with a writ against the property of "A" is not justified if he levies upon and sells the property of "B." 12 Neb. 196, 583. Summons need not be issued if, when defendant is a non-resident of the state, service cannot be had upon him therein. 12 Neb. 346. Attachment does not lie if debtor come to Nebraska with intention of abandoning his former home. 13 Neb. 267. Removal of property out of jurisdiction, no ground for attachment unless done with intent to defraud. 14 Neb. 499. Property held by assignee, not subject to. 7 Neb. 283. Title acquired. 17 Neb. 123. Title not affected by conveyance of debtor during proceedings. 11 Neb. 344. Property held under order issued by justice cannot be released under sections 522, 523, code, but may be by order of justice. 12 Neb. 427. Interest of mortgagor of chattels subject to. 6 Neb. 418. But only when he has a certain ascertained right for a definite period. 12 Neb. 590. See, however, 14 Neb. 217, where 12 Neb. 590 is modified. Attachment of property held under chattel mortgage; separation of portion of property, the same being claimed under second mortgage, Held, Unavailing as against creditor, unless it was also shown that at the time the mortgage was executed there was an agreement that it should apply to property so separated. 21 Neb. 198. Non-resident partnership in firm name not void. 12 Neb. 630. The fact that a debtor designs to sell his property, or to remove it beyond the jurisdiction of the court, when not accompanied by an intent to defraud his creditors, furnishes no sufficient ground for an attachment. 15 Neb. 217. Authorized on facts stated. 15 Neb. 18. Not authorized. 15 Neb. 541. Coupling debt in good faith with debt that is fraudulent, vitiates order of attachment. 18 Neb. 468. 27 Id. 367. Funds deposited in bank in general name of treasurer, subject to attachment for his individual debts. 11 Neb. 434. Injunction lies at suit of attaching creditors to restrain other creditors from levying on property of debtor in hands of garnishee. 24 Neb. 638.

Omission of venue, curable by amendment. 5 Neb. 493. 6 Id. 165. Whether a court acquires jurisdiction where there is an absence of essential facts in the affidavit, quære. 12 Neb. 12. Condensed statement of plaintiff's claim sufficient. 15 Neb. 397. In suit on claim not due, affidavit should set forth facts showing: First—The nature of the plaintiff's claim. Second—That it is just. Third—The amount which the affiant believes the plaintiff ought to recover. Fourth—The existence of some one of the grounds for an attachment enumerated in the preceding section.

SEC. 200. [Undertaking.]—When the ground of the attachment is, that the defendant is a foreign corporation, or a non-resident of the state, the order of attachment may be issued without an undertaking. In all other cases, the order of attachment shall not be issued by the clerk until there has been executed in his office, by one or more sufficient sureties of the plaintiff, to be approved by the clerk an undertaking not exceeding double the amount of the plaintiff's claim, to the effect that the plaintiff shall pay the defendant all damages which he may sustain by reason of the attachment, if the order be wrongfully obtained.

SEC. 201. [Order—Requirements.]—The order of attachment shall be directed and delivered to the sheriff. It shall require him to attach the lands, tenements, goods, chattels, stocks, or interest in stocks, rights, credits, moneys, and effects of the defendant in his county not exempt by law from being applied to the payment of the plaintiff's claim, or so much thereof as will satisfy the plaintiff's claim, to be stated in the order as in the affidavit, and the probable costs of the action, not exceeding fifty dollars.

SEC. 202. [Same—To several counties.]—Orders of attachment may be issued to the sheriff of different counties; and several of them may, at the option of the plaintiff, be issued at the same time, or in succession; but such only as have been executed shall be taxed in the costs, unless otherwise directed by the court.

SEC. 203. [Same—Returnable.]—The return day of the order of attachment, when issued at the commencement of the action, shall be the same as that of the summons; when issued afterwards, it shall be twenty days after it is issued.

EXECUTION AND RETURN.

SEC. 204. [Several orders, how executed.]—When there are several orders of attachment against the same defendant, they shall be executed in the order in which they are received by the sheriff.

SEC. 205. [Duty of sheriff—Appraisement.]—The order of attachment shall be executed by the sheriff without delay. He shall go to the place where the defendant's property may be found, and there in the presence of two residents of the county, declare that by virtue of said order he attaches said property at the suit of such plaintiff; and the officer, with the said residents, who shall be first sworn or affirmed by the officer, shall make a true inventory and appraisement of all the property attached, which shall be signed by the officer and residents, and returned with the order. Where the property attached is real property, the officer shall leave with the occupant thereof, or, if there be no occupant, in a conspicuous place thereon, a copy of the order. Where it is personal property, and accessible, he shall take the same into his custody, and hold it subject to the order of the court.

SEC. 206. [Same—Bond.]—The sheriff shall deliver the property attached to the person in whose possession it was found, upon the execution by such person, in the presence of the sheriff, of an undertaking to the plaintiff, with one or more sufficient sureties, resident in the county, to the effect that the parties to the same are bound in double the appraised value thereof, that the property or its appraised value in money shall be forthcoming to answer the judgment of the court in the action; but if it shall appear to the court that any part of said property has been lost or destroyed by unavoidable accident, the value thereof shall be remitted to the person so bound.

SEC. 207. [Proceedings against garnishee.]—When the plaintiff, his agent or attorney, shall make oath, in writing, that he has good reason to and does believe that any person or corporation, to be named and within the county where the action is brought, has property of the defendant (describing the same) in his possession, if the officer cannot come at such property, he shall leave with such garnishee a copy of the order of attachment, with a written notice that he appear in court, at the return of the order of attachment, and answer, as provided in section two hundred and twenty-one.

SEC. 208. [Same—Service of order.]—The copy of the order and the notice shall be served upon the garnishee as follows: If he be a person, they shall be served upon him personally, or left at his usual place of residence; if a corporation, they shall be left with the president or other officer of the same, or a managing agent thereof.

SEC. 209. [Several attachments—Same property.]—Different attachments of the same property may be made by the same officer, and one inventory and appraisalment shall be sufficient, and it shall not be necessary to return the same with more than one order.

SEC. 210. [Property how attached by subsequent orders.]—Where the property is under attachment, it shall be attached under subsequent orders as follows: First—If it be real property, it shall be attached in the manner prescribed in section two hundred and five. Second—If it be personal property, it shall be attached as in the hands of the officer, and subject to any previous attachment. Third—If the same person or corporation be made a garnishee, a copy of the order and notice shall be left with him, in the manner prescribed in section two hundred and seven.

SEC. 211. [Return of officer.]—The officer shall return upon every order of attachment what he has done under it. The return must show the property attached, and time it was attached. When garnishees are served, their names, and the time each was served, must be stated. The officer shall also return with the order all undertakings given under it.

SEC. 212. [Property and garnishee bound by order.]—An order of attachment binds the property attached from the time of service, and the garnishee shall stand liable to the plaintiff in attachment for all property, moneys, and credits in his hands, or due from him to the defendant, from the time he is served with the written notice mentioned in section two hundred and seven; but where the property is attached in the hands of a consignee, his lien thereon shall not be affected by the attachment.

during vacation, may, on the application of the plaintiff, and on good cause shown, appoint a receiver, who shall take an oath faithfully to discharge his duty, and shall give an undertaking to the state of Nebraska, in such sum as the court or judge may direct, and with such security as shall be approved by the clerk of the court, for the faithful performance of his duty as such receiver, and to pay over all money, and account for all property which may come into his hands by virtue of his appointment, at such times and in such manner as the court may direct.

SEC. 214. [Same—Take possession of property.—Such receiver shall take possession of all notes, due bills, books of accounts, accounts, and all other evidences of debt, that have been taken by the sheriff or other officer, as the property of the defendant in attachment, and shall proceed to settle and collect the same. For that purpose he may commence and maintain actions in his own name as such receiver; but in such action no right of defense shall be impaired or affected.

SEC. 215. [Same—Notice to debtors.—Such receiver shall forthwith give notice of his appointment to the persons indebted to the defendant in attachment. The notice shall be written or printed, and shall be served on the debtor or debtors, by copy personally, or by copy left at the residence; and from the date of such service the debtors shall stand liable to the plaintiff in attachment for the amount of moneys and credits in their hands, or due from them to the defendant in attachment, and shall account therefor to the receiver.

SEC. 216. [Same—Report.—Such receiver shall, when required, report his proceedings to the court, and hold all moneys collected by him, and property which may come into his hands, subject to the order of the court.

SEC. 217. [Sheriff—Act as receiver.—Where a receiver is not appointed by the court or a judge thereof, as provided in section two hundred and thirteen, the sheriff or other officer attaching the property shall have all the powers, and perform all the duties of a receiver appointed by the court or a judge, and may, if necessary, commence and maintain actions in his own name as such officer. He may be required to give security, other than his official undertaking.

SEC. 218. [Preservation of property—Sale.—The court shall make proper orders for the preservation of the property during the pendency of the suit. It may direct the sale of property when, because of its perishable nature or the costs of keeping it, a sale will be for the benefit of the parties. In vacation such sale may be ordered by the judge of the court. The sale shall be public, after such advertisement as is prescribed for the sale of like property on execution, and shall be made in such manner, and upon such terms of credit, with security, as the court or judge, having regard to the probable duration of the action, may direct. The proceeds, if collected by the sheriff, with all the moneys received by him from garnishees, shall be held and paid over by him, under the same requirements and responsibilities of himself and sureties as are provided in respect to money deposited in lieu of bail.

PROCEEDINGS UPON ATTACHMENT.

SEC. 219. [Attachment—Discharge—Bond.—If the defendant, or any other person on his behalf, at any time before judgment, cause an undertaking to be executed to the plaintiff by one or more sureties resident in the county, to be approved by the court, in double the amount of the plaintiff's claim as stated in his affidavit, to the effect that the defendant shall perform the judgment of the court, the attachment in such action shall be discharged, and restitution made of any property taken under it, or the proceeds thereof. Such undertaking shall also discharge the liability of a garnishee in such action for any property of the defendant in his hands.

SEC. 220. [Same—Undertaking.—The undertaking mentioned in the last section may, in vacation, be executed in the presence of the sheriff having the order of attachment in his hands, or, after the return of the order, before the clerk, with the same effect as if executed in court; the sureties in either case to be approved by the officer before whom the undertaking is executed.

SEC. 221. [Garnishee — Appearance — Answer — Fees.]—The garnishee shall appear as follows: If the order of attachment be returned during a term of court, he shall appear at that term; if the order be returned during vacation, he shall appear at the term next after its return. He shall appear and answer under oath all the questions put to him touching the property of every description and credits of the defendant in his possession or under his control, and he shall disclose truly the amount owing by him to the defendant whether due or not, and in case of a corporation, any stock therein held by or for the benefit of the defendant, at or after the service of notice. But a garnishee shall not be required to appear in this or in any other case, unless there is tendered to him the same fees as a witness is entitled to in the suit in which the garnishee proceedings are had, and such fees may be taxed and collected in the same manner as other costs in such proceedings. [Amended 1877, 10. Took effect June 1, 1877.]

SEC. 222. [Same—Payment of money to sheriff.]—A garnishee may pay the money owing to the defendant by him, to the sheriff having the order of attachment, or into court. He shall be discharged from liability to the defendant, for any money so paid, not exceeding the plaintiff's claim. He shall not be subjected to costs beyond those caused by his resistance of the claim against him; and if he disclose the property in his hands, or the true amount owing by him, and deliver or pay the same according to the order of the court, he shall be allowed his costs.

SEC. 223. [Same—Refusal to answer—Contempt.]—If the garnishee do not appear in court and answer, as required by section two hundred and twenty-one, the court may proceed against him by attachment as for a contempt.

SEC. 224. [Same—Disposition of property.]—If the garnishee appear and answer, and it is discovered on his examination, that at or after the service of the order of attachment and notice upon him, he was possessed of any property of the defendant, or was indebted to him, the court may order the delivery of such property and the payment of the amount owing by the garnishee, into the court; or the court may permit the garnishee to retain the property or the amount owing, upon the execution of an undertaking to the plaintiff by one or more sufficient sureties, to the effect that the amount shall be paid, or the property forthcoming, as the court may direct.

SEC. 225. [Same—Neglect—Action against.]—If the garnishee fail to appear and answer, or if he appear and answer, and his disclosure is not satisfactory to the plaintiff, or if he fail to comply with the order of the court, or deliver the property and pay the money owing into court, or give the undertaking required in the preceding section, the plaintiff may proceed against him in an action, by filing a petition in his own name, as in other cases, and causing a summons to be issued upon it; and thereupon such proceedings may be had as in other actions, and judgment may be rendered in favor of the plaintiff, for the amount of the property and credits of every kind of the defendant in the possession of the garnishee, and for what shall appear to be owing by him to the defendant, and for the costs of the proceedings against the garnishee. If the plaintiff proceed against the garnishee by action, for the cause that his disclosure was unsatisfactory, unless it appear in the action that such disclosure was incomplete, the plaintiff shall pay the costs of such action. The judgment in this action may be enforced as judgments in other cases. When the claims of the plaintiff in attachment are satisfied, the defendant in attachment may, on motion, be substituted as the plaintiff in the judgment.

shall not be rendered against the garnishee until the action against the defendant in attachment has been determined; and if in such action judgment be rendered for the defendant in attachment, the garnishee shall be discharged and recover costs. If the plaintiff shall recover against the defendant in attachment, and the garnishee shall deliver up all the property, moneys, and credits of the defendant in his possession, and pay all the moneys from him due as the court may order, the garnishee shall be discharged, and the costs of the proceedings against him shall be paid out of the property and moneys so surrendered, or as the court may think right and proper.

SEC. 227. [Judgment for defendant—Attachment discharged.]—If judgment be rendered in the action for the defendant, the attachment shall be discharged, and the property attached, or its proceeds, shall be returned to him.

SEC. 228. [Judgment for plaintiff—Satisfaction.]—If judgment be rendered for the plaintiff, it shall be satisfied as follows: So much of the property remaining in the hands of the officer, after applying the moneys arising from the sale of perishable property, and so much of the personal property and lands and tenements, if any, whether held by legal or equitable title, as may be necessary to satisfy the judgment, shall be sold by order of the court, under the same restrictions and regulations as if the same had been levied on by execution; and the money arising therefrom, with the amount which may be recovered from the garnishee, shall be applied to satisfy the judgment and costs. If there be not enough to satisfy the same, the judgment shall stand, and execution may issue thereon, for the residue, in all respects, as in other cases. Any surplus of the attached property, or its proceeds, shall be returned to the defendant.

SEC. 229. [Delivery of property for sale.]—The court may compel the delivery to the sheriff, for sale, of any of the attached property for which an undertaking may have been given, and may proceed summarily on such undertaking, to enforce the delivery of the property, or the payment of such sum as may be due upon the undertaking, by rules and attachments, as in cases of contempt.

SEC. 230. [Same.]—The court may order the sheriff to repossess himself, for the purpose of selling it, of any of the attached property which may have passed out of his hands without having been sold or converted into money; and the sheriff shall, under such order, have the same power to take the property as he would have under an order of attachment.

SEC. 231. [Intervening claimants.]—If personal property which has been attached be claimed by any person other than the defendant, it shall be the duty of the officer to have the validity of such claim tried, and such proceedings must be had thereon, with the like effect, as in case the property had been seized upon execution, and claimed by a third person.

SEC. 232. [Several attachments—Reference.]—Where several attachments are executed on the same property, or the same persons are made garnishees, the court, on the motion of any of the plaintiffs, may order a reference to ascertain and report the amounts and priorities of the several attachments.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

SEC. 233. [Jurisdiction of court—Survivor.]—From the time of the issuing of the order of attachment the court shall be deemed to have acquired jurisdiction, and to have control of all subsequent proceedings under this chapter; and if, after the issuing of the order, the defendant, being a person, should die, or a corporation and its charter should expire by limitation, forfeiture, or otherwise, the proceeding shall be carried on; but in all such cases other than where the defendant was a foreign corporation, his legal representatives shall be made parties to the action.

SEC. 234. [Additional security.]—The defendant may, at any time before judgment, after reasonable notice to the plaintiff, move the court for additional security on the part of the plaintiff; and if, on such motion, the court is satisfied that the surety in the plaintiff's undertaking has removed from this state, or is not sufficient for the amount thereof, it may vacate the order of attachment, and direct restitution of any property taken under it, unless in a reasonable time, to be fixed by the court, sufficient security is given by the plaintiff.

SEC. 235. [Motion to discharge attachment.]—The defendant may, at any time before judgment, upon reasonable notice to the plaintiff, move to discharge an attachment, as to the whole or a part of the property attached.

SEC. 236. [Same—Evidence—Affidavits.]—If the motion be made upon affidavits on the part of the defendant, or papers and evidence in the case, but not otherwise, the plaintiff may oppose the same by affidavits or other evidence, in addition to that on which the order of attachment was made.

SEC. 236 a. [Attachment in several counties—Copy to be filed.]—That whenever an attachment shall issue to any other county than the one in which the action is brought, and any lands shall be attached by virtue thereof, it shall be the duty of the officers attaching said property to make out a true copy of said order of attachment, and file the same in the office of the recorder of deeds of the county where the lands so attached are situated. He shall also certify upon said copy of said order of attachment, that the same is a true copy of the original writ received by him, and he shall also endorse thereon the description of the property attached, and the time when the same was attached under and by virtue of the original order of attachment. [G. S. 714.]

SEC. 236 b. [Same—Record.]—It shall be the duty of the recorder of deeds of the county, when the copy of the order of attachment has been filed as provided in this act, to record the same in the miscellaneous record together with the certificate of the officers heretofore mentioned, and such copy of said orders of attachment, and certificate so filed and recorded, shall be sufficient notice to subsequent purchasers of said land so attached as aforesaid.

SEC. 236 c. [Same—Discharge—Proceedings.]—If the order of attachment be discharged, it shall be the duty of the clerk of the court in which the action is brought to certify that fact, together with the time when the order was discharged to the recorder of deeds in whose office the copy of said order has been recorded as aforesaid; whereupon such recorder shall file such certificate, and write across the record of such copy the word "discharged," and also the time of discharge, as shown in said certificate.

SEC. 236 d. [Same—Fees.]—The officer for making out said copy of the order of attachment, and the clerk for recording the same, shall each receive such compensation as is now allowed by law for similar services to be taxed in the costs, unless otherwise ordered by the court,

SEC. 236 e. [Retention of property pending review on error.]—That when an order discharging an order of attachment is made, and any party affected thereby shall except thereto, the court or judge shall fix the number of days, not to exceed twenty, in which such party may file his petition in error, during which time the property attached shall be held by the sheriff or other officer, during which

SEC. 234. By provisions of "An act to amend the code of civil procedure in attachment cases," approved Feb. 26, 1875, Laws p. 44, the provisions of secs. 234, 235, and 236, shall apply to county courts and justices of the peace.

ATTACHMENTS IN CERTAIN ACTIONS.

SEC. 237. [Claim not due.—A creditor may bring an action on a claim before it is due, and have an attachment against the property of the debtor, in the following cases: First—Where a debtor has sold, conveyed, or otherwise disposed of his property, with the fraudulent intent to cheat or defraud his creditors, or to hinder or delay them in the collection of their debts. Second—Where he is about to make such sale, conveyance, or disposition of his property, with such fraudulent intent. Third—Where he is about to remove his property, or a material part thereof, with the intent or to the effect of cheating or defrauding his creditors, or of hindering and delaying them in the collection of their debts.

SEC. 238. [How granted.—The attachment authorized by the last section may be granted by the court in which the action is brought, or by a judge thereof, or by the probate judge of the county; but before such action shall be brought, or such attachment shall be granted, the plaintiff, his agent, or attorney shall make an oath, in writing, showing the nature and amount of the plaintiff's claim, that it is just, when the same shall become due, and the existence of some one of the grounds for attachment enumerated in the preceding section.

SEC. 239. [Refusal to grant order.—If the court or judge refuse to grant an order of attachment, the action shall be dismissed, but without prejudice to a future action; and in all such actions application for an attachment must be made.

SEC. 240. [Order—Contents.—The order of the court or judge granting the attachment shall specify the amount for which it is allowed, not exceeding a sum sufficient to satisfy the plaintiff's claim and the probable costs of the action.

SEC. 241. [Undertaking.—The order of attachment, as granted by the court or judge, shall not be issued by the clerk until there has been executed in his office such undertaking on the part of the plaintiff as is directed by section two hundred.

SEC. 242. [Judgment.—The plaintiff in such action shall not have judgment on his claim before it becomes due, and the proceedings on attachment may be conducted without delay.

SEC. 243. [Proceedings, how conducted.—The proceedings in the first article of this chapter subsequent to section two hundred shall, so far as they are applicable, regulate the attachments authorized by this chapter.

upon any judgment of a court of record, or of a justice of the peace, shall be returned by the officer in whose hands the same was placed for service, unsatisfied for want of sufficient property whereof to levy and collect the same, and the judgment creditor in such execution, his agent, or attorney shall file an affidavit in the office of the clerk of the court, or justice of the peace, from which said execution issued, that he has good reason to and does believe that any person or corporation (naming them) have property of and are indebted to the judgment debtor, the said clerk or justice of the peace shall issue a summons as in other cases, requiring such person or corporation to appear in court and answer such interrogatories as shall be propounded to him, it, or them, touching the goods, chattels, rights, and credits of the said judgment debtor in his, its, or their possession or control.

SEC. 245. [Same—Liability of garnishee.—The summons shall be made returnable, and the said persons or corporations shall be required to appear, as in ordinary cases of summons, and thereafter like proceedings shall be had therein, and said garnishees shall be held liable, in all respects, as in cases of garnishees before judgment.

SEC. 246. [Same—Proceedings.—The summons shall be served as a summons in an original action is served; the said persons or corporations so summoned shall be liable to the judgment creditor in said execution for all property, moneys, and credits in his, its, or their hands, or due from him, it, or them to the judgment debtor in said execution, at the time of, and which may come into his, its, or their hands or control, after the service of said summons.

SEC. 247. [Irregularities not fatal.—No proceedings against such garnishee or garnishees shall be quashed, or such garnishee or garnishees discharged, by reason of any informality or irregularity, merely, of the affidavit, or summons provided for in this article.

SEC. 248. [Disposition of property.—In cases where the garnishee, in answering such interrogatories, shall disclose that he has property in his possession, or under his control, belonging to the defendant or defendants in execution, the court shall order the same to be taken and sold by the officers upon execution, as in other cases.

SEC. 249. [Payment of money.—In cases where the garnishee, in answering such interrogatories, shall disclose that he is indebted to the defendant in execution, the court shall order the garnishee to pay over the amount found to be due from the said garnishee to the defendant in execution, which amount shall be collected by execution, as in other cases, as near as may be, and such amount, when paid or collected, shall be credited on the original judgment, and the garnishee shall be credited for the amount so paid or collected.

CHAPTER IV.—INJUNCTION.

SEC. 250. [Defined.—The injunction provided by this code, is a command to refrain from a particular act. It may be the final judgment in an action, or may be allowed as a provisional remedy; and when so allowed it shall be by order. The writ of injunction is abolished.

the plaintiff is entitled to the relief demanded, and such relief, or any part thereof, consists in restraining the commission or continuance of some act, the commission or continuance of which during the litigation would produce great or irreparable injury to the plaintiff, or when during the litigation, it appears that the defendant is doing, or threatens, or is about to do, or is procuring or suffering to be done, some act in violation of the plaintiff's rights respecting the subject of the action, and tending to render the judgment ineffectual, a temporary injunction may be granted to restrain such act. It may also be granted in any case where it is specially authorized by statute.

SEC. 252. [By whom and when granted.]—The injunction may be granted at the time of commencing the action, or at any time afterward, before judgment, by the supreme court or any judge thereof, the district court or any judge thereof, or in the absence from the county of said judges, by the probate judge thereof, upon it appearing satisfactorily to the court or judge, by the affidavit of the plaintiff or his agent, that the plaintiff is entitled thereto.

SEC. 253. [Preliminary hearing.]—If the court or judge deem it proper that the defendant, or any party to the suit, should be heard before granting the injunction, it may direct a reasonable notice to be given to such party to attend for such purpose at a specified time and place, and may, in the meantime, restrain such party.

SEC. 254. [Notice.]—An injunction shall not be granted against a party who has answered, unless upon notice; but such party may be restrained until the decision of the application for an injunction.

SEC. 255. [Bond.]—No injunction, unless provided by special statute, shall operate until the party obtaining the same shall give an undertaking, executed by one or more sufficient sureties, to be approved by the clerk of the court granting such injunction, in an amount to be fixed by the court or judge allowing the same, to secure to the party enjoined the damages he may sustain, if it be finally decided that the injunction ought not to have been granted.

SEC. 256. [Order—Contents.]—The order of injunction shall be addressed to the party enjoined, shall state the injunction, and shall be issued by the clerk. Where the injunction is allowed at the commencement of the action, the clerk shall endorse upon the summons, "injunction allowed," and it shall not be necessary to issue the order of injunction; nor shall it be necessary to issue the same where notice of the application therefor has been given to the party enjoined. The service of the summons so endorsed or the notice of the application for an injunction, shall be notice of its allowance.

SEC. 257. [Order—Service.]—Where the injunction is allowed during the litigation, and without notice of the application therefor, the order of injunction shall be issued, and the sheriff forthwith serve the same upon each party enjoined, in the manner prescribed for serving a summons, and make return thereof, without delay.

SEC. 258. [Takes effect, when.]—An injunction binds a party from the time he has notice thereof, and the undertaking required by the applicant therefor is executed.

SEC. 259. [Several applications.]—No injunction shall be granted by a judge, after a motion therefor has been overruled on the merits of the application, by his court; and where it has been refused by the court in which the action is brought, or a judge thereof, it shall not be granted to the same applicant by a court of inferior jurisdiction or any judge thereof.

SEC. 260. [Enforcement—Breach.]—An injunction granted by a judge may be enforced as the act of the court. Disobedience of an injunction may be punished as a contempt by the court, or by any judge who may have granted it in vacation. An attachment may be issued by the court or judge, upon being satisfied by affidavit of the breach of the injunction, against the party guilty of the same; and he may be required, in the discretion of the court or judge, to pay a fine not exceeding two hundred dollars, for the use of the county, to make immediate restitution to the party injured, and give further security to obey the injunction; or, in default thereof, he may be committed to close custody, until he shall fully comply with such requirement, or be otherwise legally discharged.

SEC. 261. [Additional security.]—A party enjoined may, at any time before judgment, upon reasonable notice to the party who has obtained the injunction, move the court for additional security; and if it appear that the surety in the undertaking has removed from the state, or is insufficient, the court may vacate the injunction, unless in a reasonable time sufficient security be given.

SEC. 262. [Affidavits on hearing.]—On the hearing of an application for an injunction, each party may read affidavits. All affidavits shall be filed.

SEC. 263. [Motion to vacate—Order recorded.]—If the injunction be granted without notice, the defendant, at any time before the trial, may apply, upon notice, to the court in which the action is brought, or any judge thereof, to vacate or modify the same. The application may be made upon the petition and affidavits upon which the injunction is granted, or upon affidavits on the part of the party enjoined, with or without answer. The order of the judge allowing, dissolving, or modifying an injunction, shall be returned to the office of the clerk of the court in which the action is brought, and recorded and obeyed, as if made by the court.

SEC. 264. [Same—Affidavits—Evidence.]—If the application be made upon affidavits on the part of the defendant, but not otherwise, the plaintiff may oppose

SEC. 265. [Injunction on counter-claim.]—A defendant may obtain an injunction upon an answer in the nature of a counter-claim. He shall proceed in the manner prescribed in this chapter.

CHAPTER V.—RECEIVERS.

SEC. 266. [Causes for appointment.]—A receiver may be appointed by the supreme court, or the district court, or by the judge of either, in the following cases: First—In an action by a vendor to vacate a fraudulent purchase of property, or by a creditor to subject any property or fund to his claim, or between partners or others jointly owning or interested in any property or fund, on the application of any party to the suit, when the property or fund is in danger of being lost, removed, or materially injured. Second—In an action for the foreclosure of a mortgage, when the mortgaged property is in danger of being lost, removed, or materially injured, or is probably insufficient to discharge the mortgage debt. Third—After judgment, or decree to carry the same into execution, or to dispose of the property according to the decree or judgment, or to preserve it during the pendency of an appeal. Fourth—In all cases provided for by special statutes. Fifth—In all other cases where receivers have heretofore been appointed by the usages of courts of equity.

SEC. 267. [Notice of application.]—No receiver shall be appointed except in a suit actually commenced and pending, and after notice to all parties to be affected thereby, of the time and place of the application, the names of the proposed receiver and of his proposed sureties, and of the proposed sureties of the applicant. Such notice shall state upon what papers the application is based, and be served upon the adverse party, or his solicitor, at least five days before the proposed hearing, and one additional day for every thirty miles of travel from the place of serving the notice to the place where the application is to be made, by the usually traveled route, or shall be published in the same manner as notices of the pendency of suits to non-resident defendants.

SEC. 268. [Sheriff to take possession of property.]—Should the delay occasioned by the giving the notice provided for in the last preceding section be hazardous to the rights of any party, the court or judge may by order direct the sheriff of the county in which such action is pending to take temporary possession of the property, and shall appoint an early day for the hearing of the application, and if at such hearing the application is refused, restitution shall be made of the property to the party from whom the same was taken.

SEC. 269. [Bond.]—Every order appointing a receiver shall require the applicant to give a bond conditioned to pay all damages which the other parties to the suit, or any of them, may sustain by reason of the appointment of a receiver in case it shall be finally decided that the order ought not to have been granted, and shall also require the receiver to give a bond conditioned to faithfully discharge his duties as receiver and obey all orders of the court. The said bonds shall each run to the defendant, and all adverse parties in interest, and be for the use of any party to the suit, and be in a penal sum equal to double the value of the property in question, and be executed by two or more sureties to be approved by the court or judge making the appointment, and be filed in the office of the clerk of the district court; nor shall the same be considered executed until they are so filed. [Amended 1875, 36. Took effect Feb. 25, 1875.]

SEC. 270. [Appointment—When.]—If a plaintiff shall desire the appointment of a receiver at the commencement of the action, he shall pray such appointment in his petition. If the occasion for a receiver shall arise while the suit is pending, the application shall be made by a petition entitled in the cause, signed and verified by the applicant, and setting forth the facts and circumstances making such appointment necessary or proper.

SEC. 271. [Objections to receiver or sureties.—Any party to the suit may, upon the hearing of the application, show, by affidavit or otherwise, objections to the proposed sureties, and to the proposed receiver, and what is the value of the property to be taken possession of, and that a receiver ought not to be appointed. He may also nominate a person to be receiver, giving at the same time the names of his proposed sureties. No person shall be appointed receiver who is party, solicitor, counsel, or in any manner interested in the suit.

SEC. 272. [Order—Contents—Directions.—Every order appointing a receiver shall contain special directions in respect to its powers and duties, and upon application of any party to the suit, after due notice thereof, such further directions may be made in that behalf by the court or judge as may in the further progress of the cause become proper.

SEC. 273. [How considered.—Every receiver shall be considered the receiver of any party to the suit, and no others.

SEC. 274. [Appointment without notice void.—Every order appointing a receiver without the notice provided for herein, shall be void, and every such order heretofore made, under which the appointee has not possessed himself of the property in question, shall be suspended until an order shall have been made, and the bonds executed and filed in accordance with the provisions of this chapter.

SEC. 275. [Decree—Reference—Appeal.—When a decree shall be rendered in a suit in which a receiver has been appointed, and such decree shall not finally determine the rights of the parties, any one of them may apply to the court for the possession of the property and proceeds thereof in the receiver's hands. If such application be resisted, the matter may be referred to a master, to take and report to the court the testimony of the parties. And on the coming in of said report, the court shall, by its order, award the possession of the property and the proceeds thereof to the party entitled thereto; and thereupon the receiver shall surrender the property and the proceeds thereof to such party. All orders appointing receivers, giving them further directions and disposing of the property, may be appealed to the supreme court in the same manner as final orders and decrees.

SEC. 276. [Contempt—Further order.—Whenever in the exercise of their authority, the court or judge shall have ordered the deposit or delivery of money, or other things, and the order is disobeyed, the court or judge in addition to punishing such disobedience as for contempt may make an order requiring the sheriff to take the money or thing, and deposit or deliver it, in conformity with the direction of the court or judge. [Amended 1871, 112. Took effect March 4, 1871. G. S. 571.]

TITLE IX.—PROCEEDINGS BEFORE THE COURT.

CHAPTER I.—ISSUE.

SEC. 277. [How formed.—Issues arise on the pleadings where a fact or conclusion of law is maintained by one party and controverted by the other. They are of two kinds: First—Of law. Second—Of fact.

SEC. 278. [Of fact, how formed.—An issue of fact arises: First—Upon a material allegation in the petition, denied by the answer. Second—Upon a set-off or counter-claim presented in the answer and denied by the reply. Third—Upon material new matter in the answer or reply, which shall be considered as controverted by the opposite party without further pleading.

Sec. 274. Cited 21 Neb. 296.

CHAPTER II.—TRIAL.

SEC. 279. [Defined.]—A trial is a judicial examination of the issues, whether of law or of fact, in an action.

SEC. 280. [Issues, how tried.]—Issues of law must be tried by the court unless referred as provided in section two hundred and ninety-eight. Issues of fact arising in actions for the recovery of money; or of specific real or personal property, shall be tried by a jury, unless a jury trial is waived, or a reference be ordered as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 281. [Same.]—All other issues of fact shall be tried by the court, subject to its power to order any issue or issues to be tried by a jury, or referred as provided in this code.

SEC. 281a. [Actions, when triable.]—SEC. 9. Actions shall be triable at the first term of the court, after the issues therein, by the times fixed for pleading, are or should have been made up; and when, by the times fixed for pleading, the issues are or should have been made up during a term, such action shall be triable at that term. When the issues are or should have been made up, either before or during a term of court, but after the period for preparing the trial docket of such term, the clerk shall place such actions on the trial docket of that term. [G. S. 713.]

TRIALS BY JURY.

SEC. 282. [Formation of jury.]—The general mode of summoning, impaneling, challenging, and swearing the jury, is not changed by this code. [R. S. 441. G. S. 572.]

SEC. 283. [Order of proceedings.]—When the jury has been sworn the trial shall proceed in the following order, unless the court for special reasons otherwise direct: First—The plaintiff must briefly state his claim, and may briefly state the evidence by which he expects to sustain it. Second—The defendant must then briefly state his defense, and may briefly state the evidence he expects to offer in support of it. Third—The party who would be defeated, if no evidence were given on either side must first produce his evidence; the adverse party will then produce his evidence. Fourth—The parties will then be confined to rebutting evidence, unless the court for good reasons, in furtherance of justice, permits them to offer evidence in their original case. Fifth—When the evidence is concluded either party may request instructions to the jury on points of law, which shall be given or refused by the court, which instructions shall be reduced to writing if either party require it. Sixth—The parties may then submit or argue the case to the jury. In the argument, the party required first to produce his evidence shall have the opening and conclusion. If several defendants having separate defenses appear by different counsel, the court shall arrange their relative order. Seventh—The court may again charge the jury after the argument is concluded. [Id. G. S. 573.]

SEC. 284. [View of property or place.]—Whenever in the opinion of the court, it is proper for the jury to have a view of property which is the subject of litigation, or of the place in which any material fact occurred, it may order them to be conducted in a body under the charge of an officer, to the place, which shall be shown to them by some person appointed by the court for that purpose. While the jury are thus absent, no person other than the person so appointed shall speak to them on any subject connected with the trial.

SEC. 285. [Deliberation—Conduct,]—When the case is finally submitted to the jury, they may decide in court or retire for deliberation. If they retire, they must be kept together in some convenient place, under the charge of an officer until they agree upon a verdict, or are discharged by the court, subject to the discretion of the court to permit them to separate temporarily at night and at their meals. The officer having them under his charge shall not suffer any communication to be made to them, or make any himself, except to ask them if they have agreed upon their verdict, unless by order of the court, and he shall not, before their verdict is rendered, communicate to any person the state of their deliberations or the verdict agreed upon.

SEC. 286. [Separation during trial.]—If the jury are permitted to separate either during the trial or after the case is submitted to them, they shall be admonished by the court that it is their duty not to converse with or suffer themselves to be addressed by any other person, on the subject of the trial, and that it is their duty not to form or express any opinion thereon, until the cause is finally submitted to them.

SEC. 287. [Instruction after retiring.]—After the jury have retired for deliberation, if there be a disagreement between them as to any part of the testimony, or if they desire to be informed as to any part of the law arising in the case, they may request the officer to conduct them to the court, where the information upon the point of law shall be given, and the court may give its recollection as to the testimony on the point in dispute, in presence of or after notice to the parties or their counsel.

SEC. 288. [Discharge of jury.]—The jury may be discharged by the court on account of the sickness of a juror, or other accident or calamity requiring their discharge, or by consent of both parties, or after they have been kept together until it satisfactorily appears that there is no probability of their agreeing.

SEC. 289. [Second trial, when.]—In all cases where the jury are discharged during the trial, or after the cause is submitted to them, it may be tried again immediately or at a future time, as the court may direct.

THE VERDICT.

SEC. 290. [Jury polled.]—When the jury have agreed upon their verdict, they must be conducted into court, their names called by the clerk, and the verdict rendered by the foreman. When the verdict is announced, either party may require the jury to be polled, which is done by the clerk asking each juror if it is his verdict. If any one answers in the negative, the jury must again be sent out for further deliberation.

SEC. 285. It seems that merely allowing the jury to take with them documentary evidence, is not sufficient of itself to disturb their verdict. 4 Neb. 83. Or instructions given. 14 Neb. 846. Compromise verdict. 27 Neb. 156.

SEC. 287. Court must not misstate evidence on a material fact. 46 N. W. B. 154.

SEC. 290. Verdict must respond to all material issues between the parties. 1 Neb. 317. Sealed verdict held privy verdict and of no force unless affirmed by jury in open court. 4 Neb. 89. 10 Id. 107. Final on questions of fact. 16 Neb. 21. 20 Id. 588.

SEC. 291. [Requisites.]—The verdict shall be written, signed by the foreman, and read by the clerk to the jury, and the inquiry made whether it is their verdict. If any juror disagree, the jury must be sent out again; but if no disagreement be expressed, and neither party requires the jury to be polled, the verdict is complete and the jury discharged from the case. If, however, the verdict be defective in form only, the same may, with the assent of the jury before they are discharged, be corrected by the court.

SEC. 292. [General—Special.]—The verdict of a jury is either general or special. A general verdict is that by which they pronounce, generally, upon all or any of the issues either in favor of the plaintiff or defendant. A special verdict is that by which the jury finds the facts only. It must present the facts as established by the evidence, and not the evidence to prove them; and they must be so presented as that nothing remains to the court but to draw from them conclusions of law.

SEC. 293. [Rendition—Special verdict—Record.]—In every action for the recovery of money only, or specific real property, the jury, in their discretion, may render a general or special verdict. In all other cases the court may direct the jury to find a special verdict, in writing, upon all or any of the issues; and in all cases may instruct them, if they render a general verdict, to find upon particular questions of fact to be stated in writing, and may direct a written finding thereon. The special verdict or finding must be filed with the clerk and entered on the journal.

SEC. 294. [Special finding controls general.]—When the special finding of facts is inconsistent with the general verdict, the former controls the latter, and the court may give judgment accordingly.

SEC. 295. [Amount of recovery—Assessment.]—When by the verdict either party is entitled to recover money of the adverse party, the jury in their verdict must assess the amount of recovery.

TRIAL BY THE COURT.

SEC. 296. [Jury trial, how waived.]—The trial by jury may be waived by the parties in actions arising on contract, and with the assent of the court, in other actions, in the following manner: First—By the consent of the party appearing, when the other party fails to appear at the trial by himself or attorney. Second—By written consent in person, or by attorney, filed with the clerk. Third—By oral consent in open court entered on the journal.

SEC. 297. [Finding.]—Upon the trial of questions of fact by the court, it shall not be necessary for the court to state its finding, except, generally, for the plaintiff or defendant, unless one of the parties request it, with the view of excepting to the decision of the court upon the questions of law involved in the trial, in which case the court shall state in writing the conclusions of fact found, separately from the conclusions of law.

TRIAL BY REFEREES.

SEC. 298. [By consent of parties.]—All or any of the issues in the action, whether of fact or law, or both, may be referred, upon the written consent of the parties, or upon their oral consent in court entered upon the journal.

SEC. 299. [By order of court.]—When the parties do not consent, the court may, upon the application of either, or of its own motion, direct a reference in either of the following cases: First—When the trial of an issue of fact shall require the examination of mutual accounts, or where the account is on one side only, and it shall be made to appear to the court that it is necessary that the party on the other side should be examined as a witness to prove the account, in which cases the referees may be directed to hear and report upon the whole issue, or upon any specific question of fact involved therein. Second—Where the taking of an account shall be necessary for the information of the court before judgment, in cases which may be determined by the court, or for carrying a judgment into effect. Third—Where a question of fact, other than upon the pleadings, shall arise upon motion or otherwise, in any stage of an action.

SEC. 300. [How conducted—Duties—Powers.]—The trial before referees is conducted in the same manner as a trial by the court. They have the same power to summon and enforce the attendance of witnesses, to administer all necessary oaths in the trial of the case, and to grant adjournments, as the court upon such trial. They must state the facts found and the conclusions of law, separately, and their decision must be given, and may be excepted to and reviewed in like manner. The report of the referees upon the whole issue, stands as the decision of the court, and judgment may be entered thereon in the same manner as if the action had been tried by the court. When the reference is to report the facts, the report has the effect of a special verdict.

SEC. 301. [Referees—How chosen.]—In all cases of reference, the parties, except when an infant may be a party, may agree upon a suitable person or persons, not exceeding three, and the reference shall be ordered accordingly; and, if the parties do not agree, the court shall appoint one or more referees, not exceeding three, who shall be free from exception.

SEC. 302. [Reference by county court.]—A reference as provided in this chapter cannot be ordered by a probate court, except by consent of parties to the reference and referees.

SEC. 303. [Exceptions.]—It shall be the duty of the referees to sign any true exceptions taken to any order or decision by them made in the case, and return the same with their report to the court making the reference.

SEC. 304. [Reference in vacation.]—A judge in vacation, upon the written consent of the parties, may make an order of reference which the court, of which he is a member, could make in term time. In such case, the order of reference shall be

SEC. 306. [Same—Compensation.]—The referees shall be allowed such compensation for their services as the court may deem just and proper, which shall be taxed as a part of costs in the case.

EXCEPTIONS.

SEC. 307. [Defined.]—An exception is an objection taken to a decision of the court upon a matter of law.

SEC. 308. [When taken.]—The party objecting to the decision must except at the time the decision is made, and time may be given to reduce the same to writing as hereinafter provided. [Amended 1877, 17. Took effect June 1, 1877.]

SEC. 309. [Form.]—No particular form of exception is required. The exception must be stated, with so much of the evidence as is necessary to explain it, and no more, and the whole as briefly as possible.

SEC. 310. [How taken—Record.]—Where the decision objected to is entered on the record, and the grounds of objection appear in the entry, the exception may be taken by the party causing to be noted, at the end of the decision, that he excepts.

SEC. 311. [Bill of exceptions.]—When the decision is not entered on the record or the grounds of objection do not sufficiently appear in the entry, the party excepting must reduce his exceptions to writing within fifteen (15) days, or in such time

Such draft must contain all the exceptions taken upon which the party relies. Within ten days after such submission the adverse party may propose amendments thereto and shall return said bill with his proposed amendments to the other party, or his attorney of record. The bill and proposed amendments must, within ten days thereafter, be presented by the party seeking the settlement of the bill to the judge who heard or tried the case, upon five (5) days notice to the adverse party, or his attorney of record, at which time the judge shall settle the bill of exceptions. If no amendments are proposed, or if proposed and allowed, the proposed bill may be presented with the amendments, if any, to the judge for settlement without notice to the adverse party or his attorney of record. When settled, the bill must be signed by the judge with his certificate to the effect that the same is allowed. In case of the death of the judge or when it is shown by affidavit that the judge is prevented by sickness, or absence from his district, as well as in cases where the parties interested shall agree upon the bill of exceptions (and shall have attached a written stipulation to that effect to the bill), it shall be the duty of the clerk to settle and sign the bill in the same manner as the judge is by this act required to do; and shall thereupon

In cases where a party seeking to obtain the allowance of a bill of exceptions has used due diligence in that behalf, but has failed to secure the settlement and allowance of the same as herein required, it shall be competent for the judge who tried the cause, upon due showing of diligence and not otherwise, to extend the time herein allowed, but not beyond forty days additional to that herein provided, making such specific directions in that behalf as shall seem just to all parties. [Amended and took effect Mar. 1, 1881.]

SEC. 311 a. [Act applies to all cases.]—SEC. 2. This act shall apply to all cases hereafter decided as well as all that have been already adjudicated by final order or judgment; and that the provisions of this act shall apply to actions in equity sought to be appealed to the supreme court, under the act of March 3, 1873, entitled "An act to provide for appeals in actions in equity." [1881, § 2, 204.]

SEC. 312. [Disregarded, when.]—No exception shall be regarded, unless it is material, and prejudicial to the substantial rights of the party excepting.

SEC. 313. [Withdrawal from files.]—Exceptions taken to the decision of any court of record may, by leave of such court, be withdrawn from the files by the party taking the same, at any time before proceedings in error are commenced, and before the exceptions are recorded.

NEW TRIAL.

SEC. 314. [Defined—Grounds for allowance.]—A new trial is a re-examination in the same court of an issue of fact after a verdict by a jury, report of a referee, or a decision by the court. The former verdict, report, or decision shall be vacated, and a new trial granted on the application of the party aggrieved, for any of the following causes affecting materially the substantial rights of such party: First—Irregularity in the proceedings of the court, jury, referee, or prevailing party, or any order of the court, or referee, or abuse of discretion, by which the party was prevented from having a fair trial. Second—Misconduct of the jury or prevailing party. Third—Accident or surprise, which ordinary prudence could not have guarded against. Fourth—Excessive damages, appearing to have been given under the influence of passion or prejudice. Fifth—Error in the assessment of the amount of recovery, whether too large or too small, where the action is upon a contract, or for the injury or detention of property. Sixth—That the verdict, report, or decision is not sustained by sufficient evidence, or is contrary to law. Seventh—Newly discovered evidence, material for the party applying, which he could not with reasonable diligence have discovered and produced at the trial. Eighth—Error of law occurring at the trial, and excepted to by the party making the application.

SEC. 315. [Not granted—Smallness of damages.]—A new trial shall not be granted on account of the smallness of damages in an action for an injury to the person or reputation, nor any other action where the damages shall equal the actual pecuniary injury sustained.

SEC. 316. [Application for, when made.]—The application for a new trial must be made at the term the verdict, report, or decision is rendered, and, except for the cause of newly discovered evidence material for the party applying, which he could not with reasonable diligence have discovered and produced at the trial, shall be within three days after the verdict or decision was rendered, unless unavoidably prevented.

SEC. 317. [Same—Upon written motion.]—The application must be by motion upon written grounds, filed at the time of making the motion. It shall be sufficient however in assigning the grounds of the motion to assign the same in the language of the statute and without further or other particularity. The causes enumerated in subdivisions 2, 3, and 7, of section 314, must be sustained by affidavits showing their truth, and may be controverted by affidavits. [Amended March 1. Took effect June 1, 1881. Laws p. 201.]

SEC. 318. [Newly discovered grounds.]—Where the grounds for a new trial could not, with reasonable diligence, have been discovered before, but are discovered after the term at which the verdict, report of referee, or decision was rendered or made, the application may be made by petition filed as in other cases; on which a summons shall issue, be returnable and served, or publication made, as prescribed in section seventy-nine. The facts stated in the petition shall be considered as denied without answer, and if the service shall be complete in vacation, the case shall be heard and summarily decided at the ensuing term. The case shall be placed on the trial docket, and the witnesses shall be examined in open court, or their depositions taken as in other cases, but no such petition shall be filed more than one year after the final judgment was rendered.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

SEC. 319. [Rate of damages.]—Whenever damages are recoverable, the plaintiff may claim and recover any rate of damages to which he may be entitled for the cause of action established.

SEC. 320. [Provisions applicable—Trial by court or jury.]—The provisions of this title respecting trials by jury, apply, so far as they are in their nature applicable, to trials by the court.

eight books, to be called the appearance docket, the trial docket, the journal, the complete record, the execution docket, the fee book, the general index, and the judgment record. [Amended to take effect Sept. 1, 1873. G. S. 579, 713.]

SEC. 322. [Same—Entries.]—On the appearance docket, he shall enter all actions in the order in which they were brought, the date of the summons, the time of the return thereof by the officer, and his return thereon, the time of filing the petition, and all subsequent pleadings. On the general index he shall enter the names of the parties to every suit, both direct and inverse, with the page and book where all proceedings in such action may be found. The judgment record shall contain the judgment debtor and the judgment creditor, arranged alphabetically, the date of the judgment, the amount of the same, and the amount of costs, with the page and book where the same may be found. Transcripts of judgments from justices of the peace, or courts of probate, filed in the district court shall be entered upon said judgment record; and whenever any judgment is paid off and discharged, the clerk shall enter such fact upon the judgment record in a column provided for that purpose. [Id.]

SEC. 323. [Trial docket—Judgment by default—Frivolous demurrer.]—The trial docket shall be made out by the clerk of the court at least twelve days before the first day of each term of the court; and the actions shall be set for particular days in the order in which the issues were made up, whether of law or of fact, and so arranged that the cases set for each day shall be tried as nearly as may be on that day. For the purpose of arranging said docket, an issue shall be considered as made up when either party is in default of a pleading. If the defendant fails to answer or demur, the cause for the purpose of this section shall be deemed to be at issue upon questions of fact, but in every such case the plaintiff may move for and take such judgment as he is entitled to, on the defendant's default, on or after the day on which said action shall be set for trial. No witnesses shall be subpoenaed in any case while the cause stands upon issue of law; and whenever the court shall regard the demurrer in any case as frivolous, and put in for delay only, no leave to answer or reply shall be given, unless upon payment of all costs then accrued in the action; Provided, That when the number of actions to be docketed shall exceed three hundred the judge or judges of the district court for the county may by rule or order classify them in such manner as they may deem expedient, and cause them to be placed according to such classification upon different dockets; and the respective dockets may be proceeded with and causes thereon be tried, heard, or otherwise disposed of, concurrently by one or more of the judges; and provision may be made by rule of court that issues of fact shall not be for trial at any term when the number of pending actions shall exceed three hundred, except upon such previous notice of trial as may be prescribed thereby. [Amended 1887, chap. 94. Took effect April 4, 1887.]

SEC. 324. [Cases tried in order.]—The trial of an issue of fact, and the assessment of damages in any case, shall be in the order in which they are placed on the trial docket, unless, by consent of the parties, or the order of the court, they are continued, or placed at the heel of the docket, or temporarily postponed. The time of hearing all other cases shall be in the order in which they are placed on the docket, unless the court in its discretion shall otherwise direct. The court may in its discretion hear at any time a motion, and may by rule prescribe the time for hearing motions, and provide for dismissing actions without prejudice for want of prosecution. [Id.]

TITLE X.—EVIDENCE.

COMPETENCY OF WITNESSES.

SEC. 328. [Witnesses—Competent—Incompetent].—Every human being of sufficient capacity to understand the obligation of an oath, is a competent witness in all cases, civil and criminal, except as otherwise herein declared. The following persons shall be incompetent to testify: First—Persons of unsound mind at the time of their production. Second—Indians and negroes who appear incapable of receiving just impressions of the facts respecting which they are examined, or of relating them intelligently and truly. Third—Husband and wife, concerning any communication made by one to the other during marriage, whether called as a witness while that relation subsists or afterward. Fourth—An attorney, concerning any communication made to him by his client in that relation or his advice thereon, without the client's consent in open court or in writing produced in court. Fifth—A clergyman or priest, concerning any confession made to him in his professional character in the course of discipline enjoined by the church to which he belongs, without the consent of the person making the confession.

SEC. 329. [Same.]—No person having a direct legal interest in the result of any civil action or proceeding, when the adverse party is the representative of a deceased person, shall be permitted to testify to any transaction or conversation had between the deceased person and the witness, unless the evidence of the deceased person shall have been taken and read in evidence by the adverse party in regard to such transaction or conversation, or unless such representative shall have introduced a witness who shall have testified in regard to such transaction or conversation, in which case the person having such direct legal interest may be examined in regard to the facts testified to by such deceased person or such witness, but shall not be permitted to further testify in regard to such transaction or conversation. [Amended 1883, chap. LXXXIII.]

SEC. 330. [Credibility.]—Facts which have heretofore caused the exclusion of testimony may still be shown for the purpose of lessening its credibility.

SEC. 331. [Husband and wife.]—The husband can in no case be a witness against the wife, nor the wife against the husband, except in a criminal proceeding for a crime committed by the one against the other, but they may in all criminal prosecutions be witnesses for each other.

SEC. 332. [Same.]—Neither husband nor wife can be examined in any case as to any communication made by the one to the other while married, nor shall they, after the marriage relation ceases, be permitted to reveal, in testimony, any such communication made while the marriage subsisted.

SEC. 333. [Professional communications.]—No practicing attorney, counsellor, physician, surgeon, minister of the gospel, or priest of any denomination shall be allowed, in giving testimony, to disclose any confidential communication, properly intrusted to him in his professional capacity, and necessary and proper to enable him to discharge the functions of his office according to the usual course of practice or discipline.

SEC. 328. Parties to civil action are competent witnesses, and each may be compelled to testify in favor of adverse party the same as any witness. 21 Neb. 277. SEC. 331. 18 Neb. 583.

SEC. 334. [Same—Waiver.]—The prohibitions in the preceding sections do not apply to cases where the party in whose favor the respective provisions are enacted waives the rights thereby conferred.

SEC. 335. [Public officers.]—A public officer cannot be examined as to communications made to him in official confidence, when the public interests would suffer by the disclosure.

SEC. 336. [Civil liability.]—A witness is not excused from answering a question upon the mere ground that he would be thereby subjected to a civil liability.

SEC. 337. [Criminal liability—Disgrace.]—But when the matter sought to be elicited would tend to render him criminally liable, or to expose him to public ignominy, he is not compelled to answer, except as provided in the next section.

SEC. 338. [Previous conviction, how proved.]—A witness may be interrogated as to his previous conviction for a felony. But no other proof of such conviction is competent except the record thereof.

SEC. 339. [Whole matter given.]—When part of an act, declaration, conversation, or writing is given in evidence by one party, the whole on the same subject may be inquired into by the other; thus, when a letter is read, all other letters on the same subject between the parties may be given. And when a detached act, declaration, conversation, or writing is given in evidence, any other act, declaration, or writing which is necessary to make it fully understood, or to explain the same, may also be given in evidence.

SEC. 340. [Writing controls printed matter.]—When an instrument consists partly of written and partly of printed form, the former controls the latter where the two are inconsistent.

SEC. 341. [Construction of agreements.]—When the terms of an agreement have been intended in a different sense by the parties to it, that sense is to prevail against either party in which he had reason to suppose the other understood it.

SEC. 342. [Works of science and art.]—Historical works, books of science or art, and published maps or charts, when made by persons indifferent between the parties, are presumptive evidence of facts of general notoriety or interest.

SEC. 343. [Subscribing witness absent—Proof of execution.]—When a subscribing witness is absent from the county in which the action is pending, denies or does not recollect the execution of the instrument to which his name is subscribed as such witness, its execution may be proved by other evidence. [R. S. 451. Amended to take effect Feb. 18, 1873. G. S. 583.]

SEC. 344. [Handwriting.]—Evidence respecting handwriting may be given by comparisons made, by experts or by the jury, with writings of the same person which are proved to be genuine.

SEC. 345. [Writings of deceased persons.]—The entries and other writings of a person deceased, made at or near the time of the transaction, and in a position to know the facts therein stated, are presumptive evidence of such facts, when the entry was made against the interest of the person so making it or when made in a professional capacity or in the ordinary course of professional conduct, or when made in the performance of a duty specially enjoined by law.

one party against the other, made in the ordinary course of business, are receivable in evidence only under the following circumstances, subject to all just exceptions as to their credibility: First—The books must show a continuous dealing with persons generally, or several items of charges at different times against the other party, in the same book. Second—It must be shown, by the party's oath or otherwise, that they are his books of original entries. Third—It must be shown in like manner that the charges were made at or near the time of the transaction therein entered, unless satisfactory reasons appear for not making such proof. Fourth—The charges must also be verified by the party or the clerk who made the entries, to the effect that they believe them just and true, or a sufficient reason must be given why the verification is not made.

SEC. 347. [Private writing.—Every private writing, except a last will and testament, after being acknowledged or proved and certified in the manner prescribed for the proof or acknowledgment of conveyances of real property, may be read in evidence without further proof.

SEC. 348. [Judges.—The judge of the court is a competent witness for either party, and may be sworn upon the trial. But in such case it is in his discretion to order the trial to be postponed or suspended, and to take place before another judge.

SEC. 349. [Notarial protest.—The usual protest by a notary public, without proof of his signature or notarial seal, is evidence of the dishonor and notice of a bill of exchange or promissory note.

MEANS OF PRODUCING WITNESSES.

SEC. 350. [Subpœna—Service.—The clerks of the several courts and judges of the probate courts shall, on application of any person having a cause or any matter pending in court, issue a subpœna for witnesses under the seal of the court, inserting all the names required by the applicant in one subpœna, which may be served by any person not interested in the action, or by the sheriff, coroner, or constable; but when served by any person other than a public officer, proof of service shall be shown by affidavit; but no costs of serving the same shall be allowed, except when served by an officer.

SEC. 351. [Same—Contents.—The subpœna shall be directed to the person therein named, requiring him to attend at a particular time and place, to testify as a witness; and it may contain a clause directing a witness to bring with him any book, writing, or other thing under his control, which he is bound by law to produce as evidence.

SEC. 352. [Same—To give deposition.—When the attendance of a witness before any officer authorized to take depositions is required, the subpœna shall be issued by such officer.

SEC. 353. [Same—How served.—The subpœna shall be served either by reading or by copy delivered to the witness or left at his usual place of residence; but such copy need not contain the name of any other witness.

SEC. 354. [Witness—Obligation to attend trial.—A witness shall not be obliged to attend for examination on the trial of a civil action, except in the county of his residence, nor to attend to give his deposition out of the county where he resides, or where he may be when the subpœna is served upon him.

SEC. 355. [Same—Demand of fees.—A witness may demand his traveling fees, and fee for one days attendance, when the subpœna is served upon him, and if the same be not paid, the witness shall not be obliged to obey the subpœna. The fact of such demand and non-payment shall be stated in the return.

SEC. 356. [Same—Contempt.—Disobedience of a subpœna, or a refusal to be sworn, or to answer as a witness, or to subscribe a deposition, when lawfully ordered, may be punished as a contempt of the court or officer by whom his attendance or testimony is required.

SEC. 357. [Same—Attachment for contempt.]—When a witness fails to attend in obedience to a subpoena, (except in case of a demand and failure to pay his fees), the court or officer before whom his attendance is required, may issue an attachment to the sheriff, coroner, or constable of the county, commanding him to arrest and bring the person therein named before the court or officer, at a time and place to be fixed in the attachment, to give his testimony and answer for the contempt. If the attachment be not for immediately bringing the witness before the court or officer, a sum may be fixed in which the witness may give an undertaking with surety for his appearance. Such sum shall be endorsed on the back of the attachment, and if no sum is so fixed and endorsed, it shall be one hundred dollars. If the witness be not personally served, the court may, by a rule, order him to show cause why an attachment should not issue against him.

SEC. 358. [Same—Punishment.]—The punishment for the contempt mentioned in section three hundred and fifty-six, shall be as follows: When the witness fails to attend in obedience to the subpoena, (except in case of a demand and failure to pay his fees), the court or officer may fine the witness in a sum not exceeding fifty dollars. In other cases, the court or officer may fine the witness in a sum not exceeding fifty dollars nor less than five dollars, or may imprison him in the county jail, there to remain until he shall submit to be sworn, to testify, or give his deposition. The fine imposed by the court shall be paid into the county treasury, and that imposed by the officer shall be for the use of the party for whom the witness was subpoenaed. The witness shall also be liable to the party injured, for any damages occasioned by his failure to attend, or his refusal to be sworn, to testify, or give his deposition.

SEC. 359. [Same—Imprisonment—Release.]—A witness so imprisoned by an officer before whom his deposition is being taken, may apply to a judge of the supreme court, district court, or probate court, who shall have power to discharge him if it appear that his imprisonment is illegal.

SEC. 360. [Attachment—Commitment—Contents.]—Every attachment for the arrest, or order of commitment to prison of a witness by a court or officer, pursuant to this chapter, must be under the seal of the court or officer, if he have an official seal, and must specify particularly the cause of the arrest or commitment; and if the commitment be for refusing to answer a question, such question must be stated in the order. Such order of commitment may be directed to the sheriff, coroner, or any constable of the county where such witness resides or may be at the time, and shall be executed by committing him to the jail of such county, and delivering a copy of the order to the jailer.

SEC. 361. [Prisoners—Examination.]—A person confined in any prison in this state may, by order of any court of record, be required to be produced for oral examination in the county where he is imprisoned, but in all other cases his examination must be by deposition.

SEC. 362. [Same—Deposition.]—While a prisoner's deposition is being taken, he shall remain in custody of the officer having him in charge, who shall afford reasonable facilities for the taking of the deposition.

SEC. 363. [Witness exempt from service of process.]—A witness shall not be liable to be sued in a county in which he does not reside, by being served with a summons in such county, while going, returning, or attending in obedience to a subpoena.

SEC. 364. [Witness—Attendance—Fees.]—At the commencement of each day after the first day, a witness may demand his fees for that day's attendance in obedience to a subpoena, and if the same be not paid he shall not be required to remain.

SEC. 365. [Same—Oath.]—Before testifying, the witness shall be sworn to testify the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. The mode of administering an oath shall be such as is most binding upon the conscience of the witness.

MODE OF TAKING THE TESTIMONY OF WITNESSES.

SEC. 366. [Modes of taking testimony.]—The testimony of witnesses may be taken in three modes: First—By affidavit. Second—By deposition. Third—By oral examination.

SEC. 367. [Affidavit.]—An affidavit is a written declaration under oath, made without notice to the adverse party.

SEC. 368. [Deposition.]—A deposition is a written declaration under oath, made upon notice to the adverse party for the purpose of enabling him to attend and cross-examine; or upon written interrogatories.

SEC. 369. [Oral examination.]—An oral examination is an examination in the presence of the jury or tribunal which is to decide the fact or act upon it, the testimony being heard by the jury or tribunal from the lips of the witness.

SEC. 370. [Affidavit, when used.]—An affidavit may be used to verify a pleading, to prove the service of a summons, notice, or other process, in an action, to obtain a provisional remedy, an examination of a witness, a stay of proceedings, or upon a motion, and in any other case permitted by law.

SEC. 371. [Same—Before whom taken.]—An affidavit may be made in and out of this state, before any person authorized to take depositions, and must be authenticated in the same way, except as provided in section one hundred and eighteen.

DEPOSITIONS.

SEC. 372. [When used.]—The deposition of any witness may be used only in the following cases: First—When the witness does not reside in the county where the action or proceeding is pending, or is sent for trial by change of venue, or is absent therefrom. Second—When, from age, infirmity, or imprisonment, the witness is unable to attend the court, or is dead. Third—When the testimony is required upon a motion, or in any other case where the oral examination of a witness is not required.

SEC. 373. [When taken.]—Either party may commence taking testimony by depositions at any time after service upon the defendant.

SEC. 374. [Before whom taken, within state.]—Depositions may be taken in this state before a judge or clerk of the supreme or district court, or before a probate judge, justice of the peace, notary public, mayor, or chief magistrate of any city or town corporate, or before a master commissioner, or any person empowered by a special commission; but depositions taken in this state, to be used therein, must be taken by an officer or person whose authority is derived within the state.

SEC. 375. [Same—Without state.]—Depositions may be taken out of the state by a judge, justice, or chancellor of any court of record, a justice of the peace, notary public, mayor, or chief magistrate of any city or town corporate, a commissioner appointed by the governor of this state to take depositions, or any person authorized by a special commission from this state.

SEC. 376. [Same—Relative—Attorney.]—The office before whom depositions are taken, must not be a relative or attorney of either party, or otherwise interested in the event of the action or proceeding.

SEC. 377. [Dedimus potestatem.]—Any court of record of this state, or any judge thereof, is authorized to grant a commission to take depositions within or without the state. The commission must be issued to a person or persons therein named, by the clerk, under the seal of the court granting the same, and depositions under it must be taken upon written interrogatories, unless the parties otherwise agree.

SEC. 378. [Same—Notice—Service.].—Prior to the taking of any deposition, unless taken under a special commission, a written notice specifying the action or proceeding, the name of the court or tribunal in which it is to be used, and the time and place of taking the same, shall be served upon the adverse party, his agent, or attorney of record, or left at his usual place of abode. The notice shall be served so as to allow the adverse party sufficient time by the usual route of travel to attend, and one day for preparation, exclusive of Sundays, and the day of service; and the examination may, if so stated in the notice, be adjourned from day to day. The notice shall also specify the names of the witnesses to be examined. And when the place of taking the depositions shall be out of the state, or more than fifty miles from the place of trial of the action, the adverse party, within forty-eight hours after the service of the notice, may serve upon the party taking the deposition, his agent or attorney of record, written cross interrogatories to be propounded to any witness, and such last-named party shall cause them to be transmitted to the officer before whom the deposition is taken, who shall propound them to the witness, and they shall be answered subject to objections, as in other cases. [Amended 1875, 37. Took effect March 1, 1875.]

SEC. 379. [Same—Notice to non-resident.].—When the party against whom the deposition is to be read, is absent from, or a non-resident of the state, and has no agent or attorney of record therein, he may be notified of the taking of the deposition by publication. The publication must be made three consecutive weeks, in some newspaper printed in the county where the action or proceeding is pending, if there be any printed in such county, and if not, in some newspaper printed in this state, of general circulation in that county. The publication must contain all that is required in a written notice, and may be proved in the manner prescribed in section eighty.

SEC. 380. [By whom written.].—The deposition shall be written in the presence of the officer taking the same, either by the officer, the witness, or some disinterested person, and subscribed by the witness.

SEC. 381. [Sealed—Transmitted to clerk.].—The deposition so taken shall be sealed up and endorsed with the title of the cause and the name of the officer taking the same, and by him addressed and transmitted to the clerk of the court where the action or proceeding is pending. It shall remain under seal until opened by the clerk by order of the court, or at the request of a party to the action or proceeding, or his attorney.

SEC. 382. [Where used.].—Depositions taken pursuant to this article, shall be admitted in evidence on the trial of any civil action or proceeding pending before any justice of the peace, mayor, or other judicial officer of a city or town corporate, or before any arbitrators or referees, and such deposition shall be sealed up, endorsed with the title of the action or proceeding, the name of the officer taking the same, and addressed and transmitted by such officer to such justice, mayor, or other judicial officer, arbitrators, or referees.

SEC. 383. [When used.].—When a deposition has once been taken, it may be read in any stage of the same action or proceeding, or in any other action or proceeding, upon the same matter between the same parties, subject, however, to all such exceptions as may be taken thereto under the provisions of this title.

SEC. 384. [Authentication.].—Depositions taken pursuant to this title, by any judicial or other officer herein authorized to take depositions, having a seal of office, whether resident in this state or elsewhere, shall be admitted in evidence upon the certificate and signature of such officer, under the seal of the court of which he is an officer, or his official seal, and no other or further act of authentication shall be required. If the officer taking the same have no official seal, the deposition, if not taken in this state, shall be certified and signed by such officer, and shall be further authenticated, either by parol proof adduced in court, or by the official certificate and seal of any secretary or other officer of state keeping the great seal thereof, or of the clerk or prothonotary of any court having a seal, attesting that such judicial or other officer was at the time of taking the same, within the meaning of this chapter, authorized to take the same. But if the deposition be taken within this state by an officer having no seal, or within or without this state under a special commission, it shall be sufficiently authenticated by the official signature of the officer or commissioner taking the same.

SEC. 385. [Certificate of officer.]—The officer taking the deposition shall annex thereto a certificate showing the following facts: First—That the witness was first sworn to testify the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. Second—That the deposition was reduced to writing by some proper person (naming him). Third—That the deposition was written and subscribed in the presence of the officer certifying thereto. Fourth—That the deposition was taken at the time and place specified in the notice.

SEC. 386. [Not read, when witness present.]—When a deposition is offered to be read in evidence, it must appear to the satisfaction of the court, that for any cause specified in section three hundred and seventy-two, the attendance of the witness cannot be procured.

SEC. 387. [When filed.]—Every deposition intended to be read in evidence on the trial, must be filed at least one day before the day of trial.

SEC. 388. [Fees.]—The following fees shall be allowed for taking depositions in the state, viz: Swearing each witness, five cents; for each subpoena, attachment, or order of commitment, fifty cents; for each hundred words contained in such deposition and certificate, ten cents and no more; and such officer may retain the same until such fees are paid. Such officer shall also tax the costs of the sheriff or other officer who shall serve the process aforesaid, and fees of the witness, and may also, if directed by the persons entitled thereto, retain such depositions until the said fees are paid.

EXCEPTIONS TO DEPOSITIONS.

SEC. 389. [Form—Filing.]—Exceptions to depositions shall be in writing, specifying the grounds of objection, and filed with the papers in the cause.

SEC. 390. [When made.]—No exception other than for incompetency or irrelevancy shall be regarded, unless made and filed before the commencement of the trial.

SEC. 391. [When considered.]—The court shall, on motion of either party, hear and decide the questions arising on exceptions to depositions before the commencement of the trial.

SEC. 392. [Errors waived.]—Errors of the court in its decisions upon exceptions to depositions are waived, unless excepted to.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

SEC. 393. [Proof of genuineness of documents.]—Either party may exhibit to the other or his attorney, at any time before the trial, any paper or document material to the action, and request an admission in writing of genuineness. If the adverse party or his attorney fail to give the admission in writing within four days

Not necessary that certificate should state that deposition was read to witness. 20 Neb. 329. It should show time and place conformable to notice. 26 Neb. 718.

SEC. 386. Although court may err in refusing to suppress deposition, yet if the moving party fail to object to its being read at the trial, he cannot complain of such error in appellate court. 4 Neb. 389.

SEC. 389. If deposition is suppressed, and no exception taken, the correctness of the ruling cannot be questioned on error in the supreme court. 7 Neb. 329.

SEC. 390. Objections to depositions, except for incompetency, must be made before trial. 13 Neb. 47. 14 Id. 402. 16 Id. 587. after the request, and if the party exhibiting the paper or document be afterward put to any cost or expense to prove its genuineness, and the same be finally proved or admitted on the trial, such costs and expenses, to be ascertained at the trial, shall be paid by the party refusing to make the admission, unless it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court that there were good reasons for the refusal.

SEC. 394. [Inspection of papers by adverse party.]—Either party or his attorney may demand of the adverse party an inspection and copy, or permission to take a copy of a book, paper, or document in his possession or under his control, containing evidence relating to the merits of the action or defense therein. Such demand shall be in writing, specifying the book, paper, or document with sufficient particularity to enable the other party to distinguish it, and if compliance with the demand within four days be refused, the court or judge, on motion and notice to the adverse party, may in their discretion order the adverse party to give the other, within a specified time, an inspection and copy, or permission to take a copy, of such book, paper, or document; and on failure to comply with such order, the court may exclude the paper or document from being given in evidence, or, if wanted as evidence by the party applying, may direct the jury to presume it to be such as the party by affidavit alleges it to be. This section is not to be construed to prevent a party from compelling another to produce any book, paper, or document when he is examined as a witness.

SEC. 395. [Copy of writing of adverse party.]—Either party or his attorney, if required, shall deliver to the other party or his attorney a copy of any deed, instrument, or other writing whereon the action or defense is founded, or which he intends to offer in evidence at the trial. If the plaintiff or defendant shall refuse to furnish the copy or copies required, the party so refusing shall not be permitted to give in evidence, at the trial, the original, of which a copy has been refused. This section shall not apply to any paper a copy of which is filed with a pleading.

SEC. 396. [Laws of other states—Printed copies.]—Printed copies in volumes of statutes, code, or other written law, enacted by any other territory, state, or foreign government, purporting or proved to have been published by the authority thereof, or proved to be commonly admitted as evidence of the existing law in the courts or tribunals of such territory, state, or government, shall be admitted by the courts and officers of this state on all occasions, as presumptive evidence of such laws. The unwritten or common law of any other territory, state, or foreign government may be proved as facts by parol evidence, and the books of reports of cases adjudged in their courts may also be admitted as presumptive evidence of such law.

SEC. 397. [Concealment of witness—Power of officer.]—If a witness conceal himself, or in any other manner attempt to avoid being personally served with a subpoena, any sheriff or constable having the subpoena may use all necessary and proper means to serve the same, and for that purpose may break into any building or other place where the witness is to be found, having first made known his business and demanded admittance.

SEC. 398. [Party subpoenaed—Failing to appear.]—In addition to the above remedies, if a party to a suit in his own right, on being duly subpoenaed, fail to appear and give testimony, the other party may, at his option, have a continuance of the cause as in cases of other witnesses, and at the cost of the delinquent.

SEC. 399. [Papers produced by rule of court.]—The supreme or district court may, by rule, require the production of any papers or books which are material to the just determination of any cause pending before it, for the purpose of being inspected and copied by or for the party thus calling for them.

SEC. 400. [Same—Petition for.]—The petition for that purpose must state the facts expected to be proved by such books or papers, and that as the petitioner believes, such books and papers are under the control of the party against whom the rule is sought, and must show wherein they are material. The rule shall thereupon be granted to produce the book and papers, or show cause to the contrary, if the court deem such rule expedient and proper.

SEC. 401. [Same—Failure to obey rule.].—On failing to obey the rule or show sufficient cause for such failure, the same consequences shall ensue as if the party had failed to appear and testify, when subpoenaed by the party now calling for the books and papers.

SEC. 402. [Writing called for—When used.].—Though a writing called for by one party is by the other produced, the party thus calling for it, is not obliged to use it as evidence in the case.

SEC. 403. [Proof of publication.].—Publications required by law to be made in a newspaper, may be proved by affidavit of any person having knowledge of the fact, specifying the time when and the paper in which the publication was made, but such affidavit must, for the purposes now contemplated, be made within six months after the last day of publication,

SEC. 404. [Proof of service.].—The posting up or service of any notice or other paper required by law, may be proved by the affidavit of any competent witness, attached to a copy of said notice or paper, and made within six months of the time of such posting up.

SEC. 405. [Proof by affidavit.].—Any other fact which is required to be shown by affidavit, and which may be required for future use in any action or other proceeding, may be proved by pursuing the course above indicated, as nearly as the circumstances of the case will admit.

SEC. 406. [Same—Perpetuation.].—Such proof so made may be perpetuated and preserved for future use by filing the papers above mentioned in the office of the judge of probate, and the original affidavit appended to the notice or paper, if there be one, and if not the affidavit by itself is presumptive evidence of the facts stated therein, but does not preclude other modes of proof now held sufficient.

SEC. 407. [Field notes or plat of county surveyor.].—A copy of the field notes of any county surveyor, or a plat made by him, and certified under oath as correct, may be received as evidence to show the shape or dimensions of a tract of land, or any other fact whose ascertainment requires only the exercise of scientific skill or calculation.

SEC. 408. [Certified copies of records.].—Duly certified copies of all records and entries or papers belonging to any public office, or by authority of law filed to be kept therein, shall be evidence in all cases of equal credibility with the original records or papers so filed.

SEC. 409. [Same—How obtained.].—Every officer having the custody of a public record or writing is bound to give any person on demand a certified copy thereof, on payment of the legal fees therefor.

SEC. 410. [Lost official papers—Certificate.].—The certificate of a public officer that he has made diligent and ineffectual search for a paper in his office is of the same efficacy in all cases as if such officer had personally appeared and sworn to such facts.

SEC. 411. [Land office receipts.].—The usual duplicate receipt of the receiver of any land office, or, if that be lost or destroyed, or beyond the reach of the party, the certificate of such receiver, that the books of his office show the sale of a tract of land to a certain individual, is proof of title equivalent to a patent against all but the holder of an actual patent.

SEC. 412. [Official signatures—Genuineness.]—In the cases contemplated in the last three sections, the signature of the officer shall be presumed to be genuine until the contrary is shown.

SEC. 413. [Proof of judicial records.]—A judicial record of this state, or of any other federal court of the United States, may be proved by the producing of the original, or by a copy thereof, certified by the clerk or the person having the legal custody thereof, authenticated by his seal of office, if he have one.

SEC. 414. [Same—Of other states.]—That of a sister state may be proved by the attestation of the clerk and the seal of the court annexed, if there be a seal, together with a certificate of a judge, chief justice, or presiding magistrate, that the attestation is in due form of law.

SEC. 415. [Same—Justices of the peace.]—The official certificate of a justice of the peace of any of the United States, to any judgment, and the preliminary proceeding before him, supported by the official certificate of the clerk of any court of record within the county in which such justice resides, stating that he is an acting justice of the peace of that county, and that the signature of his certificate is genuine, is sufficient evidence of such proceedings and judgment.

SEC. 416. [Same—Foreign countries.]—Copies of records and proceedings in the courts of a foreign country may be admitted in evidence, upon being authenticated as follows: First By the official attestation of the clerk or officer in whose custody such records are legally kept. Second By the certificate of one of the judges or magistrates of such court, that the person so attesting is the clerk or officer legally entrusted with the custody of such records, and that the signature to his attestation is genuine. Third By the official certificate of the officer who has the custody of the principal seal of the government under whose authority the court is held, attested by said seal, stating that such court is duly constituted, specifying the general nature of its jurisdiction, and verifying the seal of the court.

SEC. 417. [Acts of executives.]—Acts of the executive of the United States or of this state or of any state in the union, or of a foreign government are proved by the records of the state department of the respective governments, or by public documents purporting to have been printed by order of the legislature of those governments respectively, or by either branch thereof.

SEC. 418. [Legislative proceedings.]—The proceedings of the legislature of this state, or any state of the union, or of the United States, or of any foreign government are proved by the journals of those bodies respectively, or of either branch thereof, and either by copies officially certified by the clerk of the house in which the proceedings were had, or by a copy purporting to have been printed by their order.

SEC. 419. [Statute law—Printed copies.]—Printed copies of the statute laws of this state, or any of the United States, or of congress, or of any foreign government, purporting or proved to have been published under the authority thereof, or proved to be commonly admitted as evidence of the existing laws in the courts of such state or government, shall be admitted in the courts of this state as presumptive evidence of such law.

SEC. 420. [Same—Public seal—Unwritten law.]—The public seal of the state or county affixed to a copy of a written law or other public writing, is also admissible as evidence of such law or writing respectively; the unwritten law of any other state or government may be proved as fact by parol evidence, and also by the books of reports of cases adjudged in their courts.

PROCEEDINGS TO PERPETUATE TESTIMONY.

SEC. 421. [Petition.]—The testimony of a witness may be perpetuated in the following manner: The applicant shall file in the office of the clerk of the district court,

SEC. 412. 16 Neb. 453.

SEC. 414. Judgment of a state court duly authenticated as prescribed by act of congress is conclusive upon merits or subject matter. But want of jurisdiction, release, payment, limitation by statute, common law prescription, or fraud is a good plea to an action brought on such judgment. 6 Neb. 423.

a petition, to be verified, in which shall be set forth, specially, the subject matter relative to which testimony is to be taken, and the names of the persons interested, if known to the applicant; and if not known, such general description as he can give of such persons as heirs, devisees, alienees, or otherwise. The petition shall also state the names of the witnesses to be examined, and the interrogatories to be propounded to each; that the applicant expects to be a party to an action in a court of this state, in which such testimony will, as he believes, be material; and the obstacles preventing the immediate commencement of the action, where the applicant expects to be plaintiff.

SEC. 422. [Order for examination.]—The court, or judge thereof, may forthwith make an order allowing the examination of such witnesses. The order shall prescribe the time and place of the examination, how long the parties interested shall be notified thereof, and the manner in which they shall be notified.

SEC. 423. [Cross-interrogatories.]—When it appears satisfactorily to the court or judge that the parties interested cannot be personally notified, such court or judge shall appoint a competent attorney to examine the petition and prepare and file cross-interrogatories to those contained therein.

SEC. 424. [Examination—Attorney's fee.]—The witnesses shall be examined upon the interrogatories of the applicant, and upon cross-interrogatories, where they are required to be prepared, and no others shall be propounded to them; nor shall any statement be received which is not responsive to some one of them. The attorney filing the cross-interrogatories shall be allowed a reasonable fee therefor, to be taxed in the bill of costs.

SEC. 425. [Same—Before whom taken—Preservation.]—Such depositions shall be taken before some one authorized by law to take depositions, or before some one specially authorized by the court or judge, and shall be returned to the clerk's office of the court in which the petition was filed.

SEC. 426. [Same—Approval—Effect.]—The court or judge, if satisfied that the depositions have been properly taken, and as herein required, shall approve the same and order them to be filed: and if a trial be had between the parties named in the petition, or their privies or successors in interest, such depositions, or certified copies thereof, may be given in evidence by either party, where the witnesses are dead, or insane, or where their attendance for oral examination cannot be obtained or required; but such depositions shall be subject to the same objections for irrelevancy and incompetency as may be made to depositions taken pending an action.

SEC. 427. [Costs.]—The applicant shall pay the costs of all proceedings under this chapter.

TITLE XI.—JUDGMENT.

JUDGMENT IN GENERAL.

SEC. 428. [Defined.]—A judgment is the final determination of the rights of the parties in an action.

SEC. 429. [Against whom given.]—Judgment may be given for or against one or more of several plaintiffs, and for or against one or more of several defendants;

As to parties before court, and respecting a matter within its jurisdiction, a judgment without a finding to sustain it is not void, but at most, merely erroneous, and subject to reversal by a suitable proceeding in a tribunal having authority to review it. 22 Neb. 87. Finding of fact not a judgment. 23 Neb. 164. Judgment should not be entered without pleadings. 11 Neb. 471. 2 Neb. 286. Not conclusive that no proof was taken. 2 Neb. 314. Want of jurisdiction fatal. 1 Neb. 446. 13 Id. 537. Default should be entered before judgment. 8 Neb. 168. [See 9 Neb. 61.]

SEC. 429. Several judgments may be recovered against several wrongdoers, although but one satisfaction can be had. 1 Neb. 127. [And see 10 Id. 532.] If suit be brought against three parties jointly and severally liable, judgment may be had against those served. 1 Neb. 460. Rule as to judgment non obstante verdicto. 6 Neb. 305. [And see 16 Neb. 473.] Judgment may be void as to one defendant but good as to another. 6 Neb. 410. The journal it may determine the ultimate rights of the parties on either side, as between themselves, and it may grant to the defendant any affirmative relief to which he may be entitled. In an action against several defendants, the court may in its discretion render judgment against one or more of them, leaving the action to proceed against the others, whenever a several judgment may be proper. The court may also dismiss the petition with costs, in favor of one or more defendants, in case of unreasonable neglect on the part of the plaintiff to serve the summons on other defendants, or to proceed in the cause against the defendant or defendants served.

SEC. 429 a. [Transcripts from other counties—Effect—Lien—Execution.]—That the transcript of a judgment of any district court in this state may be filed in the office of the clerk of the district court in any county, and such transcript shall be a lien on the property of the debtor in any county in which such transcript is filed, in like manner as in the county where such judgment was rendered, and execution may be issued on judgment obtained by such transcript, as on the original judgment; Provided, That such transcript shall at all times be effected and be in the same plight as the original judgment. [1869, 158. G. S. 712.]

SEC. 429 b. [Decree for conveyance—Effect.]—When any judgment or decree shall be rendered for a conveyance, release, or acquittance, in any court of this state, and the party or parties against whom the judgment or decree shall be rendered do not comply therewith within the time mentioned in said judgment or decree, such judgment or decree shall have the same operation and effect, and be as available as if the conveyance, release, or acquittance had been executed conformable to such judgment or decree. [1869, 70. G. S. 711.]

SEC. 429 c. [Transcripts from U. S. courts.]—That a transcript of any judgment or decree rendered in a circuit or district court of the United States, within the state of Nebraska, may be filed in the office of the clerk of the district court in any county in this state, and such transcript, when so filed and entered on the judgment record, shall be a lien on the property of the debtor in any county in which such transcript is so filed, in the same manner and under the same conditions only as if such judgment or decree had been rendered by the district court of such county; Provided, That such transcript shall at all times be affected and be in the same plight as the original judgment. [Laws 1889, chap. 30.]

SEC. 429 d. [Same.]—Nothing herein shall be construed to require the docketing of a judgment or a decree of a United States court, or the filing of a transcript thereof in any state office within the same county in this state in which the judgment or decree is rendered, in order that such judgment or decree may be a lien on any property within such county. [Id. § 2.]

SEC. 430. [Action dismissed without prejudice.]—An action may be dismissed without prejudice to a future action. First—By the plaintiff, before the final entry is indisputable evidence of what judgment is. 9 Neb. 76. The bringing of a cause into the supreme court does not oust the district court of jurisdiction to modify its judgment during the same term at which it was rendered, pending the action in error in the supreme court. 9 Neb. 218. Presumptions are in favor of the correctness of judgments. 4 Neb. 415, 10 Neb. 185. Judgment in excess of that properly recoverable, where there are no other errors in record, plaintiffs may remit excess. 14 Neb. 163. SECS. 429 c-d. "An act authorizing transcripts of judgments and decrees rendered in the state of Nebraska, by the circuit and district courts of the United States, to be filed in the counties of said state, and prescribing the conditions under which they may be filed." Passed and took effect March 28, 1889. Laws 1889, chap. 30.

SEC. 430. Dismissal by court without a hearing on merits, not a bar to future action. 14 Neb. 418. 16 Id. 283. 23 Id. 827. Submission of cause on pleadings, decree dismissing action is bar to future action. 23 Neb. 843. For want of prosecution; change of statute in time of holding court no ground for reinstating cause. 2 Neb. 143. Notice of motion to dismiss for want of prosecution must be served upon adverse party; action dismissed without notice, reinstated. 24 Neb. 765. Dismissal where plaintiff has not appeared for two successive terms. 3 Neb. 372. In replevin, after delivery of property to plaintiff, he cannot dismiss without prejudice. 9 Neb. 483. Where before trial plaintiff dismisses action, defendant has right to proceed with trial and have question of right of possession of property determined; but not if action is dismissed unconditionally on motion of defendant; qualified dismissal with proof of right of possession in defendant. Held, After judgment, error without prejudice. 17 Neb. 701. Plaintiff cannot as a matter of right dismiss action after final submission. 22 Neb. 639. For failure to give submission of the case to the jury, or to the court, where the trial is by the court. Second—By the court, where the plaintiff fails to appear on the trial. Third—By the court, for want of necessary parties. Fourth—By the court, on the application of some of the defendants, where there are others whom the plaintiff fails to prosecute with diligence. Fifth—By the court, for disobedience by the plaintiff of an order concerning the proceedings in the action. In all other cases, upon the trial of the action, the decision must be upon the merits.

SEC. 430 a. [Plaintiff may dismiss in vacation.]—That the party, plaintiff, in any case pending in the district or supreme court of the state, shall, when no counter-claim or set-off has been filed by the opposite party, have the right in the vacation of any of said courts to dismiss his said action without prejudice, upon payment of costs, which said dismissal shall be, by the clerk of any of said courts, entered upon the journals and take effect from and after the date thereof. [1867, 51.]

SEC. 431. [Action dismissed when set-off or counter-claim pleaded.]—In any case where a set-off or counter-claim has been presented, the defendant shall have the right of proceeding to the trial of his claim, although the plaintiff may have dismissed the action or failed to appear.

SEC. 432. [On failure to answer.]—If the taking of an account, or the proof of a fact, or the assessment of damages, be necessary to enable the court to pronounce judgment upon a failure to answer, or after a decision of an issue of law, the court may, with the assent of the party not in default, take the account, hear the proof, or assess the damages; or may, with the like assent, refer the same to a referee, master, or commissioner, or may direct the same to be ascertained or assessed by a jury. If a jury be ordered, it shall be on or after the day on which the action is set for trial.

SEC. 433. [By confession.]—Any person indebted or against whom a cause of action exists may personally appear, in a court of competent jurisdiction, and, with the assent of the creditor or person having such cause of action, confess judgment therefor, whereupon judgment shall be entered accordingly.

SEC. 434. [Same—Cause of action stated.]—The debt or cause of action shall be briefly stated in the judgment, or in a writing to be filed as pleadings in other actions.

SEC. 435. [Same—Effect.]—Such judgment shall authorize the same proceedings for its enforcement as judgments rendered in actions regularly brought and prosecuted; and the confession shall operate as a release of errors.

SEC. 436. [Same—By attorney.]—Every attorney who shall confess judgment in any case shall, at the time of making such confession, produce the warrant of attorney for making the same to the court before which he makes the confession, and the original, or a copy of the warrant shall be filed with the clerk of the court in which the judgment shall be entered.

SEC. 437. [Same—By person in custody.]—If any person be in custody in a civil action, at the suit of another, no warrant of attorney executed by the person in custody, to confess judgment in favor of the person at whose suit he is in custody, security for costs; security subsequently given; cause reinstated. 25 Neb. 467. Where cause was submitted to supreme court on demurrer to petition, and a decision rendered sustaining demurrer, but no opinion filed, and afterwards and before the preparation of opinion plaintiff attempted to dismiss the action, to which defendant objected. Held, That attempt to dismiss was unavailing, and that, the cause having been finally submitted, final judgment in the case would be rendered. Id. Dismissal by assignee of plaintiff set aside, on facts stated. 15 Neb. 258. Court cannot dismiss after plaintiff has introduced evidence to jury without verdict on merits. 15 Neb. 584. Dismissal as to one defendant during trial, proper. 18 Neb. 676. Failure to entitle papers or to properly entitle them, if it is apparent to what case they relate, not sufficient to justify the court in dismissing action. 20 Neb. 334. Replevin before justice; return of sheriff showing value of goods to be in excess of jurisdiction; agreement of both parties to dismiss suit, and sheriff ordered to return goods; Held, Valid agreement to dismiss, independently of question of jurisdiction of justice. 20 Neb. 355. Cause dismissed for want of prosecution; reinstated upon showing neglect of attorneys without fault of plaintiffs. 25 Neb. 72. Supreme cannot reinstate cause dismissed in district court. 27 Neb. 605.

SEC. 430 a. "An act for the dismissal of certain actions in vacation." Passed and took effect June 12, 1867. Laws 1867, 51. If plaintiff in an action wherein no counter-claim or set-off has been filed, dismisses it in vacation, it is incompetent for the court at next term to permit an intervention in said cause. 17 Neb. 477.

SEC. 432. See section 896. 11 Neb. 898.

SEC. 433. Defendant not served with process appearing before justice of peace and confessing judgment, assent of plaintiff necessary to give justice jurisdiction. After, where creditor brings action, issues and serves process, as in such case assent of plaintiff is presumed. 22 Neb. 236.

shall be of any force, unless some attorney expressly named by the person in custody be present, and sign the warrant of attorney as a witness.

MANNER OF GIVING AND ENTERING JUDGMENT.

SEC. 438. [Upon general verdict.]—When a trial by jury has been had judgment must be rendered by the clerk in conformity to the verdict, unless it is special, or the court order the case to be reserved for future argument or consideration.

SEC. 439. [Upon special finding—Reserved case.]—Where the verdict is special, or where there has been a special finding on particular questions of fact, or where the court has ordered the case to be reserved, it shall order what judgment shall be entered.

SEC. 440. [Upon pleadings.]—Where, upon the statements in the pleadings, one party is entitled by law to judgment in his favor, judgment shall be so rendered by the court, though a verdict has been found against such party.

SEC. 441. [Upon set-off—Counter-claim.]—If a counter-claim or set-off established at the trial exceeds the plaintiff's claim so established, judgment for the defendant must be given for the excess; or, if it appear that the defendant is entitled to any affirmative relief, judgment shall be given therefor.

SEC. 442. [Infant's rights, reserved.]—It shall not be necessary to reserve, in a judgment or order, the right of an infant to show cause against it after his attaining full age; but in any case in which, but for this section, such reservation would have been proper, the infant, within one year after arriving at the age of twenty-one years, may show cause against such order or judgment.

SEC. 443. [Entered on journal.]—All judgments and orders must be entered on the journal of the court, and specify clearly the relief granted or order made in the action.

SEC. 444. [Complete record.]—The clerk shall make a complete record of every cause as soon as it is finally determined, unless such record or some part thereof be duly waived.

SEC. 445. [Same—When made.]—He shall make up such record in each cause, in the vacation next after the term at which the same was determined, and the presiding judge of such court shall, at its next term thereafter, subscribe the same.

SEC. 446. [Same—Contents.]—The records shall be made up from the petition, the process, return, the pleadings subsequent thereto, reports, verdicts, orders, judgments, and all material acts and proceedings of the court; but if the items of an account, or the copies of a paper attached to the pleadings be voluminous, the court may order the record to be made by abbreviating the same or inserting a pertinent description thereof, or by omitting them entirely. Evidence must not be recorded.

SEC. 447. [Records signed by judge.]—When the judicial acts or other proceedings of any court have not been regularly brought up and recorded by the clerk thereof, such court shall cause the same to be made up and recorded within such time as it may direct. When they are made up, and upon examination found to be correct, the presiding judge of such court shall subscribe the same.

SEC. 448. [Complete record—Unnecessary when.]—No complete record shall be made: First—In criminal prosecutions where the indictment has been quashed, or where the prosecuting attorney shall have entered a nolle prosequi on the indictment. Second—In cases where an action has been dismissed without prejudice to a future action. Third—In actions in which, in open court, at the term at which the final order or judgment shall be made, both parties shall declare their agreement that no record shall be made.

SEC. 440. See note to sec. 428. 11 Neb. 471.

SEC. 446. 2 Neb. 317.

SEC. 447. 20 Neb. 101.

SEC. 449. [Same—Action dismissed.]—In cases where an action has been dismissed without prejudice to a future action, the clerk shall make a complete record of the proceedings upon being paid for making the same by the party desiring the record to be made.

SEC. 450. [Same—Set-off—Counter claim.]—A complete record shall be made in the case mentioned in section four hundred and thirty-one, unless waived by the parties.

CONVEYANCE BY COMMISSIONERS.

SEC. 451. [Realty—When conveyed.]—Real property may be conveyed by master commissioners as hereinafter provided: First—When, by an order or judgment in an action or proceeding, a party is ordered to convey such property to another, and he shall neglect or refuse to comply with such order or judgment. Second—When specific real property is required to be sold under an order or judgment of the court.

SEC. 452. [Sheriff may act—Sales.]—A sheriff may act as a master commissioner under the second subdivision of the preceding section. Sales made under the same shall conform in all respects to the laws regulating sales of land upon execution.

SEC. 453. [Deed, how made.]—The deed of a master commissioner shall contain the like recital, and shall be executed, acknowledged, and recorded as the deed of a sheriff, of real property sold under execution.

TITLE XII.—CAUSES OF ACTION WHICH SURVIVE, AND ABATEMENT OF ACTIONS.

SEC. 454. [Causes of action which survive.]—In addition to the causes of action which survive at common law, causes of action for mesne profits, or for an injury to real or personal estate, or for any deceit or fraud, shall also survive, and the action may be brought notwithstanding the death of the person entitled or liable to the same.

SEC. 455. [Actions which do not abate.]—No action pending in any court shall abate by the death of either or both the parties thereto, except an action for libel, slander, malicious prosecution, assault, or assault and battery, for a nuisance, or against a justice of the peace for misconduct in office; which shall abate by the death of the defendant.

TITLE XIII. REVIVOR.

SEC. 456. [Of action—Death of one of several parties.]—Where there are several plaintiffs or defendants in an action, and one of them dies, or his powers as a personal representative cease, if the right of action survive to or against the remaining parties, the action may proceed, the death of the party, or the cessation of his powers, being stated on the record.

SEC. 457. [Same—Action to proceed.]—Where one of several plaintiffs or defendants dies, or his powers as a personal representative cease, if the cause of action do not admit of a survivorship, and the court is of opinion that the merits of the controversy can be properly determined, and the principles applicable to the case fully settled, it may proceed to try the same as between the remaining parties; but the judgment shall not prejudice any who were not parties at the time of the trial.

SEC. 458. [Revivor in name of representatives.]—Where one of the parties to an action dies, or his powers as a personal representative cease, before the judgment, if the right of action survive in favor of or against his representatives or successor, the action may be revived, and proceed in their names.

SEC. 451. See section 429 b. 14 Neb. 367.

SEC. 458. 6 Neb. 521.

SEC. 459. [Order of revivor.]—The revivor shall be by a conditional order of the court if made in term, or by a judge thereof if made in vacation, that the action be revived in the names of the representatives or successor of the party who died, or whose powers ceased, and proceed in favor of or against them.

SEC. 460. [Same—Made upon order.]—The order may be made on the motion of the adverse party, or of the representatives or successor of the party who died, or whose powers ceased, suggesting his death or the cessation of his powers, which, with the names and capacities of his representatives or successor, shall be stated in the order.

SEC. 461. [Same—Service of order.]—If the order is made by consent of the parties, the action shall forthwith stand revived; and if not made by consent, the order shall be served in the same manner, and returned within the same time, as a summons, upon the party adverse to the one making the motion, and if sufficient cause be not shown against the revivor, the action shall stand revived.

SEC. 462. [Notice by publication.]—When the plaintiff shall make an affidavit, that the representatives of the defendant, or any of them, in whose name the action may be ordered to be revived, are non-residents of the state, or have left the same to avoid the service of the order, or so conceal themselves that the order cannot be served upon them, or that the names and residence of the heirs or devisees of the person against whom the action may be ordered to be revived, or some of them, are unknown to the affiant, a notice may be published for four consecutive weeks, as provided by section seventy-nine, notifying them to appear on a day therein named, not less than ten days after the publication is complete, and show cause why the action should not be revived against them; and if sufficient cause be not shown to the contrary, the action shall stand revived.

SEC. 463. [Death of plaintiff.]—Upon the death of the plaintiff in an action, it may be revived in the names of his representatives, to whom his right has passed. Where his right has passed to his personal representative, the revivor shall be in his name; where it has passed to his heirs or devisees, who could support the action if brought anew, the revivor may be in their names.

SEC. 464. [Death of defendant.]—Upon the death of a defendant in an action, wherein the right or any part thereof survives against his personal representative, the revivor shall be against him; and it may also be against the heirs or devisees of the defendant, or both, when the right of action, or any part thereof, survives against them.

SEC. 465. [Same—Action concerning realty.]—Upon the death of a defendant in an action for the recovery of real property only, or which concerns only his rights or claims to such property, the action may be revived against his heirs or devisees, or both, and an order therefor may be forthwith made in the manner directed in the preceding sections of this title.

SEC. 466. [Same—Revivor, when made.]—An order to revive an action against the representatives or successor of a defendant shall not be made without the consent of such representatives or successor, unless in one year from the time it could have been first made.

SEC. 467. [Death of plaintiff—Revivor, when made.]—An order to revive an action in the names of the representatives or successor of a plaintiff, may be made forthwith, but shall not be made without the consent of the defendant, after the expiration of one year from the time the order might have been first made; but where the defendant shall also have died, or his powers have ceased in the meantime, the order of revivor on both sides may be made in the period limited in the last section.

SEC. 468. [Action, when stricken from docket.]—When it appears to the court by affidavit that either party to an action has been dead, or, where a party sues or is sued as a personal representative, that his powers have ceased, for a period so long that the action cannot be revived in the names of his representatives or successor, without the consent of both parties, it shall order the action to be stricken from the docket.

SEC. 469. [Same—Death of plaintiff.]—At any term of the court succeeding the death of the plaintiff, while the action remains on the docket, the defendant having given to the plaintiff's proper representatives, in whose names the action might be revived, ten days notice of the application therefor, may have an order to strike the action from the docket and for costs against the estate of the plaintiff, unless the action is forthwith revived.

SEC. 470. [Revived action, when tried.]—When, by the provisions of the preceding sections, an action stands revived, the trial thereof shall not be postponed by reason of the revivor, if the action would have stood for trial at the term the revivor is complete, had no death or cessation of powers taken place.

REVIVOR AND NEW PARTIES TO JUDGMENT.

SEC. 471. [Joint debtors.]—When a judgment is recovered against one or more persons jointly indebted upon contract, those who were not originally summoned may be made parties to the judgment by action.

SEC. 472. [Death of parties.]—If either or both the parties die after judgment, and before satisfaction thereof, their representatives, real or personal, or both, as the case may require, may be made parties to the same, in the same manner as is prescribed for reviving actions before judgment; and such judgment may be rendered and execution awarded as might or ought to be given or awarded against the representatives, real or personal, or both, of such deceased party.

SEC. 473. [Dormant judgment.]—If a judgment become dormant, it may be revived in the same manner as is prescribed for reviving actions before judgment.

TITLE XIV.—EXECUTIONS.

SEC. 474. [Issuance.]—Executions shall be deemed process of the court, and shall be issued by the clerk and directed to the sheriff of the county. They may be directed to different counties at the same time.

SEC. 475. [Different kinds.]—Executions are of three kinds: First—Against the property of the judgment debtor. Second—Against his person. Third—For the delivery of the possession of real property with damages for withholding the same, and costs.

AGAINST THE PROPERTY OF THE JUDGMENT DEBTOR.

SEC. 476. [Property subject to levy.]—Lands, tenements, goods, and chattels, not exempt by law, shall be subject to the payment of debts, and shall be liable to be taken on execution and sold as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 477. [Lien of judgment.]—The lands and tenements of the debtor within the county where the judgment is entered, shall be bound for the satisfaction thereof, from the first day of the term at which judgment is rendered; but judgments by confession, and judgments rendered at the same term at which the action is commenced, shall bind such lands only from the day on which such judgments are rendered. All other lands, as well as goods and chattels of the debtor, shall be bound from the time they shall be seized in execution.

SEC. 478-481. [Repealed 1875, 51.]

SEC. 477 a. [Stay of execution—Order of sale.]—Hereafter no stay of execution or order of sale upon any judgment or decree shall be granted for a longer time than nine months from and after the rendition of such judgment or decree. [1875, 49.]

SEC. 477 b. [Same—Mortgaged premises.]—The order of sale on all decrees for the sale of mortgaged premises shall be stayed for the period of nine months from and after the rendition of such decree, whenever the defendant shall within twenty days after the rendition of such decree, file with the clerk of the court a written request for the same; Provided, That if the defendant make no such request within said twenty days, the order of sale may issue immediately after the expiration thereof.

SEC. 477 c. [Same—Judgments.]—On all judgments for the recovery of money only, except those rendered in any court on an appeal or writ of error thereto or against any officer or person or corporation, or the sureties of any of them, for money received in a fiduciary capacity, or for the breach of any official duty, there may be a stay of execution if the defendant therein shall, within twenty days from the rendition of judgment, procure two or more sufficient freehold sureties to enter into a bond, acknowledging themselves security for the defendant for the payment of the judgment, interest, and costs, from the time of rendering judgment until paid, as follows: First—If the sum for which judgment was rendered, exclusive of costs, does not exceed fifty dollars, three months. Second—If the sum for which judgment was rendered, exclusive of costs, exceeds fifty dollars and does not exceed one hundred dollars, six months. Third—If the sum for which judgment was rendered, exclusive of costs, exceeds one hundred dollars, nine months.

SEC. 477 d. [Same—Bond.]—Officers approving stay bonds shall require the affidavits of the signers of such bonds that they own real estate not exempt from execution, and aside from incumbrance, to the value of twice the amount of the judgment.

SEC. 477 e. [Error—Appeal—Surety.]—No proceedings in error or appeal shall be allowed after such stay has been taken, nor shall a stay be taken on a judgment entered as herein contemplated, against one who is surety in the stay of execution.

SEC. 477 f. [Bond—Effect.]—The sureties for the stay of execution may be taken and approved by the clerk, and the bond shall be recorded in a book kept for that purpose, and have the force and effect of a judgment confessed from the date thereof against the property of the sureties, and the clerk shall enter and index the same in the proper judgment docket, as in the case of other judgments.

SEC. 477 g. [Execution recalled.]—When the surety is entered after execution issued, the clerk shall immediately notify the sheriff of the stay, and he shall forthwith return the execution, with his doings thereon.

SEC. 477 a. "An act to provide for stay of execution and orders of sale," passed and took effect Feb. 23, 1875, the last section of which repealed sections 478, 479, 480, and 481. Under the former statute, section 481, which read that defendant "shall enter into a bond with one or more sufficient sureties," it was held that a bond executed by sureties alone was void, the plaintiff not being a party to it. 7 Neb. 418. Under this section requiring two sureties, a bond was given by principal and one surety only; held that such surety was not liable. 7 Neb. 13. Bond may be amended. 17 Neb. 201.

SEC. 477 h. [Property levied upon relinquished.]—All property levied on before stay of execution, and all written undertakings for the delivery of personal property to the sheriff, shall be relinquished by the officer upon stay of execution being entered.

SEC. 477 i. [Expiration—Execution.]—At the expiration of the stay the clerk shall issue a joint execution against the property of all the judgment debtors and sureties, describing them as debtors or sureties therein.

SEC. 477 j. [Effect on judgment lien.]—Where a stay of execution has been taken, such confessed judgment shall not release any judgment lien by virtue of the original judgment for the amount then due. The officer holding the execution shall return thereon what amount was made from the principal debtor, and how much from the sureties.

SEC. 482. [Dormant judgment.]—If execution shall not be sued out within five years from the date of any judgment that now is or may hereafter be rendered in any court of record in this state, or if five years shall have intervened between the date of the last execution issued on such judgment and the time of suing out another writ of execution thereon, such judgment shall become dormant, and shall cease to operate as a lien on the estate of the judgment debtor.

SEC. 483. [Contents of writ.]—The writ of execution against the property of the judgment debtor, issuing from any court of record in this state, shall command the officer to whom it is directed that of the goods and chattels of the debtor he cause to be made the money specified in the writ, and for want of goods and chattels he cause the same to be made of the lands and tenements of the debtor; and the exact amount of the debt, damages, and costs for which the judgment is entered shall be endorsed on the execution.

SEC. 484. [Several writs—Preference.]—When two or more writs of execution against the same debtor shall be sued out during the term in which judgment was rendered, or within ten days thereafter, and when two or more writs of execution against the same debtor shall be delivered to the officer on the same day, no preference shall be given to either of such writs; but if a sufficient sum of money be not made to satisfy all executions, the amount made shall be distributed to the several creditors in proportion to the amount of their respective demands. In all other cases the writ of execution first delivered to the officer shall be first satisfied. And it shall be the duty of the officer to endorse on every writ of execution the time when he received the same; but nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to affect any preferable lien which one or more of the judgments on which execution issued may have on the lands of the judgment debtor.

SEC. 485. [Levy.]—The officer to whom a writ of execution is delivered, shall proceed immediately to levy the same upon the goods and chattels of the debtor; but if no goods and chattels can be found, the officer shall endorse on the writ of execution "no goods," and forthwith levy the writ of execution upon the lands and tenements of the debtor, which may be liable to satisfy the judgment.

SEC. 486. [Intervening claimants—Trial right of property.]—If the officer, by virtue of any writ of execution issued from any court of record in this state, shall levy the same on any goods and chattels claimed by any person other than the defendant, it shall be the duty of said officer forthwith to give notice in writing to some justice of the peace in the county, in which shall be set forth the names of the plaintiff and defendant, together with the name of the claimant; and at the same time he shall furnish the said justice of the peace with a schedule of the property claimed. And it shall be the duty of such justice of the peace immediately upon the receipt of such notice and schedule to make an entry of the same upon his docket, and issue a writ of summons, directed to the sheriff or any constable of the county, commanding him to summon five disinterested men, having the qualification of electors, who shall be named in said summons, to appear before him, the said justice, at the time and place therein mentioned, which time shall not be more than three days after the date of said writ, to try and determine the right of the claimant to the property in controversy. And it shall be the duty of the claimant to give two days notice in writing to the plaintiff or other party for whose benefit such execution was issued and levied as aforesaid, his agent or attorney, if within the county, of the time and place of such trial; and he shall, moreover, prove to the satisfaction of said justice that such notice was given, or that the same could not be given by reason of the absence of the party, his agent, or attorney.

SEC. 487. [Same—Proceedings.].—The jury summoned as aforesaid, shall be sworn to try and determine the right of the claimant to the property in controversy, and a true verdict to give, according to the evidence. If the jury shall find the right to said goods and chattels, or any part thereof, to be in the claimant, they shall also find the value thereof, and the justice shall render judgment upon such finding of the jury, for the claimant, that he recover his costs against the plaintiff in execution, or other party to the same for whose benefit the execution issued, and also that he have restitution of said goods and chattels, or any part thereof according to the finding of the jury. But if the right of the said goods and chattels, and every part thereof, shall not be in the claimant according to the finding of said jury, then the said justice shall render judgment on such finding, in favor of the plaintiff in execution, or other party for whose benefit the same was issued and levied, against said claimant for costs, and award execution thereon. Said justice of the peace, in the taxation of costs accruing by reason of such claim and trial, shall allow each juror summoned and sworn, the sum of fifty cents; and for the sheriff, constable, or other officer, and witnesses, and for himself, he shall tax such fees as are allowed by law to each respectively, for like services rendered in other cases. Such judgment for the claimant (unless an undertaking shall be executed, as provided in the next section), shall be a justification of the officer in returning "no goods" to the writ of execution, by virtue of which the levy has been made, as to such part of the goods and chattels as were found to belong to such claimant.

SEC. 488. [Same—Sale of property—Bond.].—If the jury shall find the property, or any part thereof, to be in the claimant, and the plaintiff in execution shall at any time within three days after said trial, tender to the sheriff or other officer having such property in his custody on execution, an undertaking, with good and sufficient sureties payable to such claimant, in double the amount of the value of such property as assessed by the jury, to the effect that they will pay all damages sustained by reason of the detention or sale of such property, then the sheriff or other officer shall deliver said undertaking to the claimant, and proceed to sell such property, as if no such trial of the right of property had taken place, and shall not be liable to the claimant therefor.

SEC. 489. [Goods unsold—Delivery bond.].—In all cases where a sheriff, coroner, or other officer, shall, by virtue of an execution, levy upon any goods and chattels which shall remain upon his hands unsold, for want of bidders, for the want of time to advertise and sell, or any other reasonable cause, the officer may, for his own security take of the defendant an undertaking with security in such sum as he may deem sufficient, to the effect that the said property shall be delivered to the officer holding an execution for the sale of the same, at the time and place appointed by said officer, either by notice given in writing to said defendant in execution, or by advertisement, published in a newspaper printed in the county, naming therein the day and place of sale. If the defendant shall fail to deliver the goods and chattels at the time and place mentioned in the notice to him given, or to pay to the officer holding the execution, the full value of said goods and chattels, or the amount of said debt and costs, the undertaking, given as aforesaid, shall be considered as broken, and may be proceeded on as in other cases.

SEC. 490. [Notice of sale—Re-sale.]—The officer who levies upon goods and chattels, by virtue of an execution issued by a court of record, before he proceeds to sell the same, shall cause public notice to be given of the time and place of sale, for at least ten days before the day of sale. The notice shall be given by advertisement published in some newspaper printed in the county, or in case no newspaper be printed therein, by putting up advertisements in five public places in the county; two advertisements shall be put up in the precinct where the sale is to be held. And where goods and chattels levied upon cannot be sold for want of bidders, the officer making such return shall annex to the execution a true and perfect inventory of such goods and chattels; and the plaintiff in such execution may thereupon sue out another writ of execution, directing the sale of the property levied upon as aforesaid; but such goods and chattels shall not be sold unless the time and place of sale be advertised as hereinbefore provided.

SEC. 491. [Same property—Several levies.]—When any writ shall issue, directing the sale of property previously taken in execution, the officer issuing said writ shall at the request of the person entitled to the benefit thereof, his agent, or attorney, add thereto a command to the officer to whom such writ shall be directed, that if the property remaining in his hands not sold, shall, in his opinion, be insufficient to satisfy the judgment, he shall levy the same upon the lands and tenements, goods and chattels, or either, as the law shall permit, being the property of the judgment debtor, sufficient to satisfy the debt.

SECS. 492, 493. [Repealed 1875, 61.]

SEC. 491 a. [Appraisal of lands levied on.]—Whenever, hereafter, execution shall be levied on any lands and tenements, the officer levying the same shall call an inquest of two disinterested freeholders, who shall be residents of the county where the lands taken on execution are situated, and administer to them an oath impartially to appraise the interest of the person, or persons, or corporation against whom the execution is levied, in the property so levied upon, and such officer, together with said freeholders, shall appraise said interest at its real value in money, and such appraisal shall be signed by such officer and said freeholders, respectively. [1875, 60.]

SEC. 491 b. [Same—How made.]—That for the purpose of the appraisal mentioned in the last preceding section, the officer and the freeholders therein named shall deduct from the real value of the lands and tenements levied on, the amount of all liens and incumbrances for taxes or otherwise, prior to the lien of the judgment under which execution is levied, and to be determined as hereinafter provided, and which liens and incumbrances shall be specifically enumerated, and the sum thereafter remaining shall be the real value of the interest therein of the person, or persons, or corporation against whom or which the execution is levied.

SEC. 491 f. [Construction.].—This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage, but shall not apply to executions which shall issue upon judgments already entered.

SEC. 494. [Same—Lands sold by state.].—Nothing contained in this and the preceding sections of this title shall in anywise extend to affect the sale of any land by the state, but all lands therein, the property of individuals indebted to the state for any debt or taxes, or in any other manner, shall be sold without valuation, for the discharge of such debt or taxes, agreeably to the laws for such cases made and provided.

SEC. 495. [New appraisalment.].—In all cases where real estate may hereafter be levied upon, by virtue of any execution or order of sale, and shall have been appraised, and twice advertised and offered for sale, and shall remain unsold for want of bidders, it shall be the duty of the officer to cause a new appraisalment of such real estate to be made, and successive executions or orders of sale may issue at any time in vacation, after the return of the officer "not sold for want of bidders," at the request of the plaintiff or his attorney.

SEC. 496. [Delinquent officers' property levied upon.].—If the property of any clerk, sheriff, coroner, justice of the peace, constable, or any collector of state, county, town, or township tax, shall be levied on, for or on account of any moneys that now are, or may hereafter be, by them collected or received in their official capacity, the property so levied on shall be sold without valuation.

SEC. 497. [Sale of lands—Notice.].—Lands and tenements, taken in execution, shall not be sold until the officer cause public notice of the time and place of sale [to] be given, for at least thirty days before the day of sale, by advertisement in some newspaper printed in the county, or, in case no newspaper be printed in the county, in some newspaper in general circulation therein, and by putting up an advertisement on the court house door, and in five other public places in the county, two of which shall be in the precinct where such lands and tenements lie. SEC. 497 a. "An act providing for the redemption of real estate from decree and judgment liens," passed and took effect Feb. 25, 1875. LAWS 1875, 57. Cited 4 Neb. 404. Where sale is made to person not party plaintiff, owner may redeem by payment of purchase money with interest from date of sale. 12 Neb. 338.

The owners of any real estate against which a decree of foreclosure has been rendered in any court of record, or any real estate levied upon to satisfy any judgment or decree of any kind, may redeem the same from the lien of such decree or levy at any time before the sale of the same shall be confirmed by a court of competent jurisdiction by paying into court the amount of such decree or judgment, together with all interests and costs; and in case the said real estate has been sold to any person not a party plaintiff to the suit, the person so redeeming the same shall pay to said purchaser twelve per cent. interest on the amount of the purchase price from the date of sale to the date of redemption, or deposit the same with the clerk of the court where the decree or judgment was rendered. [1875, 57.]

SEC. 498. [Confirmation of sale.]—If the court upon the return of any writ of execution or order of sale for the satisfaction of which any lands and tenements have been sold, shall, after having carefully examined the proceedings of the officer, be satisfied that the sale has in all respects been made in conformity to the provisions of this title, the court shall direct the clerk to make an entry on the journal that the court is satisfied of the legality of such sale, and an order that the officer make to the purchaser a deed of such lands and tenements; and the officer on making such sale may retain the purchase money in his hands until the court shall have examined his proceedings as aforesaid, when he shall pay the same to the person entitled thereto, agreeable to the order of the court; Provided, That the judge of any district court may confirm any such sale at any time after such officer has made his return, on motion and ten days notice to the adverse party or his attorney of record, if made in vacation. When any sale is confirmed in vacation, the judge confirming the same shall cause his order to be entered on the journal by the clerk. [Amended 1875, 38. Took effect Feb. 25, 1875.]

SEC. 499. [Deed to purchaser.]—The sheriff or other officer, who, upon such writ or writs of execution, shall sell the said lands and tenements, or any part thereof, shall make to the purchaser or purchasers thereof, as good and sufficient a deed of conveyance of lands and tenements sold as the person or persons against whom such writ or writs of execution were issued could have made of the same, at the time they became liable to the judgment, or at any time thereafter.

SEC. 500. [Same—Estate conveyed.]—The deed shall be sufficient evidence of the legality of such sale and the proceedings therein until the contrary be proved, and shall vest in the purchaser as good and as perfect an estate in the premises therein mentioned as was vested in the party, at or after the time when such lands and tenements became liable to the satisfaction of the judgment. And such deed of conveyance, to be made by the sheriff or other officer, shall recite the execution or executions or the substance thereof, and the names of the parties, the amount, and date of term of rendition of each judgment, by virtue whereof the said lands and tenements were sold as aforesaid; and shall be executed, acknowledged, and recorded as is or may be provided by law, to perfect the conveyance of real estate in other cases.

SEC. 501. [Fees of officers—When paid.].—The officer who levies upon goods and chattels, or lands and tenements, or who is charged with the duty of selling the same by virtue of any writ or execution, may refuse to publish a notice of the sale thereof by advertisement in a newspaper until the party for whose benefit such execution issued, his agent or attorney, shall advance to such officer so much money as will be sufficient to discharge the fees of the printer for publishing such notice.

SEC. 502. [Same.].—Before any officer shall be excused from giving the notification mentioned in the last section, he shall demand of the party for whose benefit the execution was issued, his agent or attorney, (provided either of them resides in the county), the fees in said section specified.

SEC. 503. [Sale, where held.].—All sales of lands or tenements under execution shall be held at the court house, if there be one in the county in which such lands and tenements are situated, and if there be no court house, then at the door of the house in which the district court was last held. No sheriff or other officer making the sale of property, either personal or real, or any appraiser of such property shall, either directly or indirectly, purchase the same; and every purchase so made shall be considered fraudulent and void.

SEC. 504. [Other writs.].—If lands and tenements levied on as aforesaid are not sold upon one execution, other executions may be issued to sell the lands so levied upon.

SEC. 505. [Several writs, how served.].—In all cases when two or more executions shall be put into the hands of any sheriff or other officer, and it shall be necessary to levy on real estate to satisfy the same, and either of the judgment creditors in whose favor one or more of said executions is issued, shall require the sheriff, or other officer, to make a separate levy to satisfy his execution or executions, it shall be the duty of the sheriff, or other officer, to levy said executions, or so many thereof as may be required, on separate parcels of real property of the judgment debtor or debtors, giving to the officer making the levy on behalf of the creditor, whose execution may, by the provisions of this chapter, be entitled to a preference, the choice of such part of the real property of the judgment debtor or debtors, as will be sufficient, at two-thirds of the appraised value, to satisfy the same. And in all cases where two or more executions, which are entitled to no preference over each other, are put into the hands of the same officer, it shall be the duty of the officer, when required, to levy the same on separate parcels of the real property of the judgment debtor or debtors, when, in the opinion of the appraisers, the same may be divided without material injury; and if the real property of said debtors will not be sufficient, at two-thirds of its appraised value, to satisfy all the executions chargeable thereon, such part of the same shall be levied on to satisfy each execution as will bear the same proportion in value to the whole as the amount due on the execution bears to the amount of all the executions chargeable thereon, as near as may be, according to the appraised value of each separate parcel of said real property.

SEC. 506. [Deed by sheriff's successor.].—If the term of service of the sheriff, or other officer, who has made or shall hereafter make sale of any lands and tenements, shall expire, or if the sheriff or other officer shall be absent, or be rendered unable, by death or otherwise, to make a deed of conveyance of the same, any succeeding sheriff or other officer, on receiving a certificate from the court from which the execution issued, for the sale of said lands and tenements, signed by the clerk, by order of said court, setting forth that sufficient proof has been made to the court that such sale was fairly and legally made, and on tender of the purchase money, or if the same or any part thereof be paid, then, on proof of such payment and tender of the balance, if any, may execute to the said purchaser or purchasers, or his or their legal representatives, a deed of conveyance of said lands and tenements so sold. Such deed shall be as good and valid in law and have the same effect as if the sheriff or other officer who made sale had executed the same.

SEC. 507. [Proceeds of sale—Disposition.—If, on any sale made as aforesaid, there shall be in the hands of the sheriff or other officer more money than is sufficient to satisfy the writ or writs of execution, with interest and costs, the sheriff or other officer shall, on demand, pay the balance to the defendant in execution, or his legal representatives.

SEC. 508. [Reversal of judgment—Title of purchaser.—If any judgment or judgments, in satisfaction of which any lands or tenements are sold, shall at any time thereafter be reversed, such reversal shall not defeat or affect the title of the purchaser or purchasers; but, in such case, restitution shall be made by the judgment creditor, of the moneys for which such lands or tenements were sold, with lawful interest from the day of sale.

SEC. 509. [Lien lost if execution not issued.—No judgment heretofore rendered, or which hereafter may be rendered, on which execution shall not have been taken out and levied before the expiration of five years next after its rendition, shall operate as a lien upon the estate of any debtor, to the preference of any other bona fide judgment creditor; but in all cases where judgment has been or may be rendered in the supreme court, and a special mandate awarded to the district court to carry the same into execution, the lien of the judgment creditor shall continue for five years after the first day of the next term of the district court to which such mandate may be directed. Nothing in this section contained shall be construed to defeat the lien of any judgment creditor who shall fail to take out execution and cause a levy to be made as herein provided, when such failure shall be occasioned by appeal, proceedings in error, injunction, or by a vacancy in the office of sheriff and coroner, or the inability of such officer, until one year after such disability shall be removed. In all cases where real estate has been or may hereafter be taken on execution, and appraisal, [appraised] and twice advertised and offered for sale, and shall remain unsold for want of bidders, it shall be the duty of the court from which such execution issued, on application of the plaintiff to set aside such appraisal and order a new one to be made, or to set aside such levy and appraisal and award a new execution to issue, as the case may require. [Amended to take effect Feb. 27, 1873. G. S. 613.]

SEC. 510. [Return of writ.—The sheriff or other officer, to whom any writ of execution shall be directed, shall return such writ to the court to which the same is returnable, within sixty days from the date thereof.

SEC. 511. [Judgment against principal and surety—How rendered.—In all cases where judgment is rendered in any court of record within this state, upon any other instrument of writing, in which two or more persons are jointly and severally bound, and it shall be made to appear to the court, by parol or other testimony, that one or more of said persons so bound signed the same as surety or bail for his or their co-defendant, it shall be the duty of the clerk of said court, in recording the judgment thereon, to certify which of the defendants is principal debtor, and which are

And the clerk of the court aforesaid shall issue execution on such judgment, commanding the sheriff or other officer to cause the money to be made of the goods and chattels, lands and tenements, of the principal debtor, but for want of sufficient property of the principal debtor to make the same, that he cause the same to be made of the goods and chattels, lands and tenements, of the surety or bail. In all cases the property, both personal and real, of the principal debtor, within the jurisdiction of the court, shall be exhausted before any of the property of the surety or bail shall be taken in execution.

SEC. 512. [Appraisers—Fees—Refusal to serve.]—Each freeholder, summoned to appraise real state under the provisions of this chapter, shall be allowed and receive for his services the sum of fifty cents, for each day he may be so engaged as such appraiser, to be collected on the execution, by virtue of which the property appraised was levied on, if claimed at the time of making the return of such appraisement. And when any freeholder, summoned as aforesaid, shall fail to appear at the time and place appointed by the officer, and discharge his duty as appraiser, he shall, on complaint being made to any justice of the peace of the precinct in which such freeholder resides, forfeit and pay the sum of fifty cents for every such neglect, unless he can render a reasonable excuse. Such sum shall be collected by said justice, and paid into the county treasury for the use of the county.

SEC. 513. [Sheriff—Neglect of duty.]—If any sheriff or other officer shall refuse or neglect to execute any writ of execution to him directed, which has come to his hands; or shall neglect or refuse to sell any goods and chattels, lands, and tenements; or shall neglect to call an inquest and return a copy thereof forthwith to the clerk's office; or shall neglect to return any writ of execution to the proper court, on or before the return day thereof; or shall neglect to return a just and perfect inventory of all and singular the goods and chattels by him taken in execution, unless the said sheriff or other officer shall return, that he has levied and made the amount of the debt, damages, and costs; or shall refuse or neglect on demand to pay over to the plaintiff, his agent, or attorney of record, all moneys by him collected or received, for the use of said party, at any time after collecting or receiving the same, except as provided in section four hundred and ninety-eight; or shall neglect or refuse, on demand made by the defendant, his agent, or attorney of record, to pay over all moneys by him received for any sale made, beyond what is sufficient to satisfy the writ or writs of execution, with interest and legal costs, such sheriff or other officer shall, on motion in court and two days notice thereof in writing, be amerced in the amount of said debt, damages, and costs, with ten per centum thereon, to and for the use of said plaintiff or defendant, as the case may be.

SEC. 514. [Clerk—Neglect of duty—Amercement.]—If any clerk of a court shall neglect or refuse, on demand made by the person entitled thereto, his agent or attorney of record, to pay over all money by him received, in his official capacity, for the use of such person, every such clerk may be amerced; and the proceedings against him and his sureties shall be the same as provided for in the foregoing section against sheriffs and their sureties.

SEC. 515. [Amercement—Amount.]—When the cause of amercement is for refusing to pay over money collected as aforesaid, the said sheriff or other officer shall not be amerced in a greater sum than the amount so withheld, with ten per centum thereon.

execution shall be issued in any county in this state, and directed to the sheriff or coroner of another county, it shall be lawful for such sheriff or coroner having the execution, after having discharged all the duties required of him by law, to inclose such execution, by mail, to the clerk of the court who issued the same. On proof being made by such sheriff or coroner that the execution was mailed soon enough to have reached the office where it was issued within the time prescribed by law, the sheriff or coroner shall not be liable for any amercement or penalty, if it do not reach the office in due time.

SEC. 517. [Money made—How returned by mail.]—No sheriff shall forward by mail any money made on any such execution, unless he shall be specially instructed to do it by the plaintiff, his agent, or attorney of record. In all cases of a motion to amerce a sheriff or other officer of any county other than the one from which the execution issued, notice in writing shall be given to such officer, as hereinbefore required, by leaving it with him, or at his office, at least fifteen days before the first day of the term at which such motion shall be made, or by transmitting the notice by mail at least sixty days prior to the first day of the term at which such motion shall be made. All amercements, so procured, shall be entered on the record of the court, and shall have the same force and effect as a judgment.

SEC. 518. [Surety of officers—Party to amercement.]—Each and every surety of any sheriff or other officer may be made a party to the judgment as rendered as aforesaid, against the sheriff or other officer, by action, to be commenced and prosecuted as in other cases. But the goods and chattels, lands and tenements of any such surety shall not be liable to be taken on execution, when sufficient goods and chattels, lands and tenements of the sheriff or other officer, against whom execution may be issued, can be found to satisfy the same. Nothing herein contained shall prevent either party from proceeding against such sheriff or other officer by attachment, at his election.

SEC. 519. [Same—Benefit of uncollected judgment.]—In cases where a sheriff or other officer may be amerced, and shall not have collected the amount of the original judgment, he shall be permitted to sue out an execution, and collect the amount of said judgment in the name of the original plaintiff, for his own use.

SEC. 531 c. [Attachment and garnishment of exempt wages.]—That it be, and is hereby declared, unlawful for any creditor of, or other holder of any evidence of debt, book account, or claim of any name or nature against any laborer, servant, clerk, or other employe of any corporation, firm, or individual, in this state, for the purpose below stated, to sell, assign, transfer, or by any means dispose of any such claim, book account, bill, or debt of any name or nature whatever, to any person or persons, firm, corporation, or institution, or to institute in this state or elsewhere, or prosecute any suit or action for any such claim or debt against any such laborer, servant, clerk, or employe by any process seeking to seize, attach, or garnish the wages of such person or persons earned within sixty days prior to the commencement of such proceeding, for the purpose of avoiding the effect of the laws of the state of Nebraska concerning exemptions. [Laws 1889, chap. 25.]

SEC. 531 d. [Same.]—That it is hereby declared unlawful for any person or persons to aid, assist, abet, or counsel a violation of section one of this act for any purpose whatever.

SEC. 531 e. [Evidence.]—In any proceeding, civil or criminal, growing out of a breach of sections one or two of this act, proof of the institution of a suit, or service of garnishment summons by any persons, firm, or individual, in any court of any state or territory other than this state or in this state to seize by process of garnishment or otherwise, any of the wages of such persons as defined in section one of this act, shall be deemed prima-facie evidence of an evasion of the laws of the state of Nebraska and a breach of the provisions of this act on the part of the creditor or resident in Nebraska causing the same to be done.

SEC. 531 f. [Penalty.]—Any persons, firm, company, corporation, or business institution guilty of a violation of sections one or two of this act shall be liable to the party injured through such violation of this act, for the amount of the debt sold, assigned, transferred, garnished, or sued upon, with all costs and expenses and a reasonable attorney's fee, to be recovered in any court of competent jurisdiction in this state; and shall further be liable by prosecution to punishment by a fine not exceeding the sum of two hundred dollars and costs of prosecution.

PROCEEDINGS IN AID OF EXECUTION.

SEC. 532. [Interest of debtor subjected.]—Where a judgment debtor —who is the head of a family—earned within sixty days prior to the service of garnishee process, are not liable to garnishment in the hands of his employer for the satisfaction of a debt for the wages of another laborer. 22 Neb. 754. Creditor of debtor not subject to garnishment in foreign state, exemption will continue in this state in case an action is brought on claim. 19 Neb. 181. Exemption of laborers' wages extends to non-residents. Id. 182. Laborer may maintain action against creditor for wages wrongfully appropriated by garnishee process, unless he waives right of exemption. 17 Neb. 208.

SEC. 531 b. "An act to exempt from levy and sale on execution or attachment, all pension money and property purchased and improved exclusively therewith of the soldiers, sailors, and marines who were disabled in the service of the United States." Laws 1887, chap. 101. Took effect July 1, 1887.

SEC. 531 c-f. "An act to provide for the better protection of the earnings of laborers, servants, and other employes of corporations, firms, or individuals engaged in inter-state business." Passed and took effect March 29, 1889. Laws 1889, chap. 25.

has not personal or real property subject to levy on execution, sufficient to satisfy the judgment, any interest which he may have in any banking, turnpike, bridge, or other joint stock company, or any interest he may have in any money, contracts, claims, or choses in action, due or to become due to him, or in any judgment or decree, or any money, goods, or effects which he may have in possession of any person, body-politic, or corporate, shall be subject to the payment of such judgment by proceedings in equity, or as in this chapter prescribed.

SEC. 533. [Order to disclose property.]—When an execution against the property of a judgment debtor, or one of the several debtors in the same judgment, is issued to the sheriff of a county where he resides, or, if he do not reside in the state, to the sheriff of the county where the judgment was rendered, or a transcript of a justice's judgment has been filed, is returned unsatisfied in whole or in part, the judgment creditor is entitled to an order from a probate judge or a judge of the district court of the county to which the execution was issued, requiring such debtor to appear and answer concerning his property, before such judge, or referee appointed by such judge, at a time and place specified in such order, within the county to which the execution was issued.

SEC. 534. [Same—How obtained.]—After the issuing of an execution against property, and upon proof by affidavit of the judgment creditor or otherwise, to the satisfaction of the district court, or a judge thereof, or a probate judge of the county in which the order may be served, that the judgment debtor has property which he unjustly refuses to apply towards the satisfaction of the judgment, such court or judge may, by order, require the judgment creditor to appear at a time and place in said county to answer concerning the same. And such proceedings may thereupon be had for the application of the property of the judgment debtor towards the satisfaction of the judgment as are prescribed in this chapter.

SEC. 535. [Same—Arrest of debtor.]—Instead of the order requiring the attendance of the judgment debtor, as provided in the last two sections, the judge may, upon proof to his satisfaction, by affidavit of the party, or otherwise, that there is danger of the debtor leaving the state or concealing himself to avoid the examination herein mentioned, issue a warrant, requiring the sheriff to arrest him and bring him before such judge within the county in which the debtor may be arrested. Such warrant can be issued only by a probate judge or a judge of the district court of the county in which such debtor resides or may be arrested. Upon being brought before the judge, he shall be examined on oath, and other witnesses may be examined on either side, and if on such examination it appear that there is danger of the debtor leaving the state, and that he has property which he unjustly refuses to apply to such judgment, he may be ordered to enter into an undertaking, in such sum as the judge may prescribe, with one or more sureties, that he will from time to time attend for examination before the judge or referee as shall be directed. In default of entering into such undertaking, he may be committed to the jail of the county by warrant of the judge, as for a contempt.

SEC. 536. [Criminating answers.]—No person shall, on examination pursuant to this chapter, be excused from answering any question on the ground that his examination will tend to convict him of a fraud, but his answer shall not be used as evidence against him in a prosecution for such fraud.

SEC. 537. [Payment by debtor's debtor.]—After the issuing of execution against property, any person indebted to the judgment debtor may pay to the sheriff the amount of his debt, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the execution, and the sheriff's receipt shall be a sufficient discharge for the amount so paid or directed to be credited by the judgment creditor on the execution.

SEC. 538. [Examination of debtor's debtor.]—After the issuing or return of an execution against property of the judgment debtor, or of any one of several debtors in the same judgment, and upon proof by affidavit or otherwise, to the satisfaction of the judge, that any person or corporation has property of such judgment debtor, or is indebted to him, the judge may, by an order, require such person or corporation, or any officer or member thereof, to appear, at a specified time and place, within the county in which such person or corporation may be served with the order to answer, and answer concerning the same. The judge may also, in his discretion, require notice of such proceeding to be given to any party in the action, in such manner as may seem to him proper.

SEC. 539. [Same—Witnesses.].—Witnesses may be required, upon the order of the judge, or by a subpoena issued by the clerk of the district court, to appear and testify upon any proceedings under this chapter, in the same manner as upon the trial of an issue.

SEC. 540. [Same.].—The party or witness may be required to attend before the judge, or before a referee appointed by the court or judge. If before a referee, the examination must be taken by the referee, and certified by the judge. All examinations and answers before a judge or referee under this chapter, must be on oath, but when a corporation answers, the answer must be on the oath of an officer thereof.

SEC. 541. [Same—Application of property.].—The judge may order any property of the judgment debtor not exempt by law, in the hands of either himself or any other person or corporation, or due to the judgment debtor, to be applied towards the satisfaction of the judgment; but the earnings of the debtor for his personal services, at any time within three months next preceding the order, cannot be so applied, where it is made to appear by the debtor's affidavit, or otherwise, that such earnings are necessary for the use of a family supported wholly or partly by his labor.

SEC. 542. [Receiver.].—The judge may also, by order, appoint the sheriff of the proper county, or other suitable person, a receiver of the property of the judgment debtor, in the same manner, and with the like authority as if the appointment was made by the court. The judge may also, by order, forbid a transfer or other disposition of the property of the judgment debtor, not exempt by law, and any interference therewith.

SEC. 543. [Same—Undertaking—Oath.].—If the sheriff shall be appointed receiver, he and his sureties shall be liable on his official bond for the faithful discharge of his duties as such receiver; if any other person shall be appointed receiver, he shall give a written undertaking in such sum as shall be prescribed by the judge, with one or more sureties, to the effect that he will faithfully discharge his duties of receiver, and he shall also take an oath to the same effect before acting as such receiver. The undertaking mentioned in this section shall be to the state of Nebraska, and actions may be prosecuted for a breach thereof, by any person interested, in the same manner as upon a sheriff's official bond.

SEC. 544. [Proceedings—Continuance.].—The judge or referee, acting under the provisions of this chapter, shall have power to continue his proceedings from time to time until they are completed.

SEC. 545. [Reference.].—The judge may, in his discretion, order a reference to a referee agreed upon or appointed by him, to report the evidence of facts.

SEC. 546. [Disobedience of order.].—If any person, party, or witness disobey an order of the judge, or referee, duly served, such person, party, or witness may be punished by the judge as for contempt; and if a party, he shall be committed to the jail of the county, wherein the proceedings are pending, until he shall comply with such order; or, in case he has, since the service of such order upon him, rendered it impossible for him to comply therewith, until he has restored to the opposite party what such party has lost by such disobedience, or until discharged by due course of law. [Amended 1875, 39. Took effect Feb. 4, 1875.]

SEC. 547. [Orders—Service—Filing, etc.].—The orders to judgment debtors and witnesses, provided for in this chapter, shall be in writing and signed by the judge making the same, and shall be served as a summons in other cases. The judge shall reduce all his orders to writing, which, together with a minute of his proceedings, signed by himself, shall be filed with the clerk of the court of the county in which the judgment is rendered, or the transcript of the justice filed, and the clerk shall enter on his execution docket the time of filing the same.

SEC. 548. [Fees.—The judge shall allow to clerks, sheriffs, referees, receivers, and witnesses, such compensation as is allowed for like services in other cases, to be taxed as costs in the case, and shall enforce by order the collection thereof from such party or parties as ought to pay the same.

SEC. 549. [Same.—The probate judge shall be allowed for his services, under this chapter, the sum of three dollars in each case, and such fees as are allowed by law to clerks of the district court for similar services.

EXECUTION AGAINST THE PERSON.

SEC. 550. [Command of writ.—An execution against the person of a judgment debtor, shall require the officer to arrest such debtor and commit him to the jail of the county until he pay the judgment, or be discharged according to law.

SEC. 551. [Causes for issuance.—An execution against the person of the debtor may be issued upon any judgment for the payment of money. First—When the judgment debtor has removed, or begun to remove any of his property out of the jurisdiction of the court, with intent to prevent the collection of the money due on the judgment. Second—When he has property, rights in action, evidences of debt, or some interest or stock in some corporation or company, which he fraudulently conceals with like intent. Third—When he has assigned or disposed of all, or any part of his property, or rights in action, or has converted the same into money, with intent to defraud his creditors, or with the intent to prevent such property from being taken into execution. Fourth—When he fraudulently contracted the debt, or incurred the obligation upon which the judgment was rendered. Fifth—When he was arrested on an order before judgment, and has not been discharged as an insolvent debtor, or the order has not been set aside as improperly made.

SEC. 552. [Allowance.—An execution against the person of the debtor can be issued only when the same is allowed by the supreme court, district court, or probate court, or any judge of either, upon being satisfied, by the affidavit of the judgment creditor, or his attorney, and such other evidence as may be presented, of the existence of one or more of the particulars mentioned in the last preceding section.

SEC. 553. [Same—By justice of peace.—A justice of the peace may issue an execution against the person of a judgment debtor, upon being satisfied of the existence of one or more of the same particulars, by the like affidavit and evidence.

SEC. 554. [Issued of course—When.—In all cases in which the judgment debtor was arrested before judgment, and where the order for such arrest has not been adjudged improper, an execution against the person of such judgment debtor may issue of course.

SEC. 555. [Discharge from arrest—Delivery of property.—Any person taken in execution as aforesaid, shall be discharged by delivering or setting off to the officer serving the same, if issued from a court of record, real or personal property, if issued from a justice of the peace, personal property only, sufficient to satisfy the judgment and costs for which the writ issued.

SEC. 556. [Death of debtor.—The death of a person under arrest in an action does not satisfy the judgment, but an execution may issue thereon, as if the arrest had been made.

SEC. 557. [Discharge.—If a person imprisoned under an order of arrest made before judgment, is not charged in execution within ten days after judgment, he shall be discharged from such imprisonment.

SEC. 558. [Same.—In cases of commitment under this chapter, or upon arrest before or after judgment in civil cases, the person imprisoned, in case of his inability to perform the act or endure the imprisonment may be discharged from imprisonment by the court or judge committing him, or the court or judge thereof in which the judgment was or might be rendered, on such terms as may be just.

EXECUTION FOR THE DELIVERY OF REAL PROPERTY.

SEC. 559. [Contents of writ.]—If the execution be for the delivery of the possession of real property, it shall require the officer to deliver the same, particularly describing the property, to the party entitled thereto, and may at the same time require the officer to satisfy any costs or damages recovered in the same judgment, out of the goods and chattels of the party against whom it was rendered, and for want of such goods and chattels, then out of the lands and tenements, and in this respect it shall be deemed an execution against the property.

SEC. 560. [Judgment enforced by attachment.]—When the judgment is not for the recovery of money or real property, the same may be enforced by attachment, by the court rendering the judgment, upon motion made, or by a rule of the court upon the defendant; but in either case, notice of the motion, or a service of a copy of the rule shall be made on the defendant a reasonable time before the order of attachment is made.

JUDGMENTS OF A JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.

SEC. 561. [Transcript filed in district court clerk's office.]—In all cases in which judgment shall be rendered by a justice of the peace, the party in whose favor the judgment shall be rendered may file a transcript of such judgment in the office of the clerk of the district court of the county in which the judgment was rendered, and thereupon the clerk shall on the day on which the same shall be filed, enter the case on the execution docket, together with the amount of the judgment and the time of filing the transcript.

SEC. 562. [Same—Lien.]—Such judgment, if the transcript shall be filed in term time, shall have a lien on the real estate of the judgment debtor, from the day of the filing; if filed in vacation, as against the judgment debtor, said judgment shall have a lien from the day of the filing, and as against subsequent judgment creditors from the first day of the next succeeding term, in the same manner, and to the same extent as if the judgment had been rendered in the district court.

SEC. 563. [Execution upon.]—Execution may be issued thereon to the sheriff by the clerk of the court, in the same manner as if the judgment had been taken in court and the sheriff shall execute and return the same as other executions; and in case of sale of real estate, his proceedings shall be examined and approved by the court, as in other cases.

SEC. 564. [Certificate of justice—Costs.]—The justice of the peace shall certify on the transcript the amount, if any, paid on such judgment. The costs of the transcript, the filing of the same, and the entry of the case on the execution docket, shall be paid by the party filing the same, and not be taxed to the other party.

TITLE XV.—MISCELLANEOUS PROCEEDINGS.

OFFER TO COMPROMISE.

SEC. 565. [Before Trial—Effect.]—The defendant in an action for the recovery of money only, may, at any time before the trial, serve upon the plaintiff, or his attorney, an offer in writing, to allow judgment to be taken against him for the sum specified therein. If the plaintiff accept the offer, and give notice thereof to the defendant or his attorney, within five days after the offer is served, the offer, and an affidavit that the notice of acceptance was delivered in the time limited, may be filed by the plaintiff, or the defendant may file the acceptance, with a copy of the offer verified by affidavit; and in either case, the offer and acceptance shall be noted in the journal, and judgment shall be rendered accordingly. If the notice of acceptance be not given, in the period limited, the offer shall be deemed withdrawn, and shall not be given in evidence, or mentioned on the trial. If the plaintiff fails to obtain judgment for more than was offered by the defendant, he shall pay the defendant's costs from the time of the offer.

SEC. 566. [Same—Continuance.].—The making of an offer pursuant to the provisions contained in the foregoing section, shall not be a cause for a continuance of an action, or a postponement of a trial.

SUBMITTING A CONTROVERSY.

SEC. 567. [Submission without action.].—Parties to a question which might be the subject of a civil action, may, without action, agree upon a case containing the facts upon which the controversy depends, and present a submission of the same to any court which would have jurisdiction if an action had been brought. But it must appear by affidavit that the controversy is real, and the proceedings in good faith, to determine the rights of the parties. The court shall thereupon hear and determine the case and render judgment as if an action were pending.

SEC. 568. [Record.].—The case, the submission, and the judgment shall constitute the record.

SEC. 569. [Judgment—Effect.].—The judgment shall be with costs, may be enforced, and shall be subject to reversal, in the same manner as if it had been rendered in an action, unless otherwise provided in the submission.

OFFER TO CONFESS JUDGMENT.

SEC. 570. [After action brought.].—After an action for the recovery of money is brought, the defendant may offer in court to confess judgment for part of the amount claimed, or part of the causes involved in the action. Whereupon, if the plaintiff, being present, refuse to accept such confession of judgment in full of his demands against the defendant in the action, or, having had such notice that the offer would be made, of its amount, and of the time of making it, as the court shall deem reasonable, fail to attend, and on the trial do not recover more than was so offered to be confessed, such plaintiff shall pay all the costs of the defendant, incurred after the offer. The offer shall not be deemed to be an admission of the cause of action or amount to which the plaintiff is entitled, nor be given in evidence upon the trial.

SEC. 571. [Before action brought.].—Before any action for the recovery of money is brought against any person, he may go into the court of the county of his residence, or of that in which the person having the cause of action resides, which would have jurisdiction of the action, and offer to confess judgment in favor of such person for a specified sum on such cause of action. Whereupon, if such person, having had such notice that the offer would be made, of its amount, and of the time and place of making it, as the court shall deem reasonable, do not attend to accept the confession, or attending, refuse to accept it, and should afterwards commence an action upon such cause, and not recover more than the amount so offered to be confessed, he shall pay all the costs of the action; and on the trial thereof, the offer shall not be deemed to be an admission of the cause of action, or amount to which the plaintiff is entitled, nor be given in evidence.

MOTIONS AND ORDERS.

SEC. 572. [Motion—Defined.]—A motion is an application for an order addressed to the court or a judge in vacation, by any party to a suit or proceeding, or one interested therein.

SEC. 573. [Same—Several objects.]—Several objects may be included in the same motion, if they all grow out of or are connected with the action or proceeding in which it is made.

SEC. 574. [Same—Notice—Contents.]—Where notice of a motion is required, it must be in writing, and shall state the names of the parties to the action or proceeding in which it is to be made, the name of the court or judge before whom it is to be made, the place where and the day on which it will be heard, the nature and terms of the order or orders to be applied for, and if affidavits are to be used on the hearing, the notice shall state that fact. It shall be served a reasonable time before the hearing.

SEC. 575. [Notice—Service.]—Notices of motions mentioned in this chapter may be served by a sheriff, coroner, or constable, or by any disinterested person, and the return of any such officer, or affidavit of any such person, shall be proof of service. The service shall be on the party or his attorney of record, if the said party or his attorney be resident within the county in which the motion is made, and in case there is more than one party adverse to such motion, service shall be made upon each party or his attorney.

SEC. 576. [Same.]—The service of a notice shall be made, as is required by law for the service of a summons, and when served by an officer, he shall be entitled to like fees.

SEC. 577. [Motions to strike pleadings from files.]—Motions to strike pleadings and papers from the files may be made with or without notice, as the court or judge shall direct.

SEC. 578. [Order—Defined.]—Every direction of a court or judge made, entered in writing and not included in a judgment, is an order.

SEC. 579. [Same—Out of court—Entry.]—Orders made out of court, shall be forthwith entered by the clerk in the journal of the court, in the same manner as orders made in term.

TITLE XVI.—ERRORS IN CIVIL CASES.

But alias summons issued after year is up of no effect. 13 Neb. 231, 262. Cause dismissed for want of jurisdiction, petition in error being filed more than one year after rendition of final judgment below. 21 Neb. 674. Prior to the expiration of the time within which a proceeding in error might be instituted in the supreme court, the defendant in error stipulated with plaintiff in error waiving the issuance and service of summons in error, and agreeing that the cause might be heard at a term then in session. It was held that such waiver and stipulation did not give authority to plaintiff in error to commence the action after the expiration of the time fixed by statute, and after the final adjournment of the term at which it was agreed the cause should be submitted. 21 Neb. 674. Equity causes may be reviewed either upon error or appeal. 25 Neb. 514. Court has no power to call jury in appeal cases. 2 Neb. 19. Action at law reviewable only on error. 9 Neb. 95. Decision of board of equalisation not reviewable on agreed statement of facts. 5 Neb. 367. Judgment settled by compromise not reviewable. 10 Neb. 261. Appeal dismissed, there being nothing to show that attention of court below was called to entry of default complained of. 12 Neb. 309. If defendant in trial court omit a defense to merits which he might have made, he will in supreme court be bound by record. 12 Neb. 192. Stipulation for continuance not waiver of right to dismiss cause for want of jurisdiction. 14 Neb. 432. Stipulation to continue operates as an appearance. 16 Neb. 292. Court has no jurisdiction to require justice to send up amended transcript. 16 Neb. 225. Has jurisdiction to review settlement of assigned estates. 17 Neb. 465.

SEC. 584. Petition in error must be filed before summons issued. 1 Neb. 10. Need not be verified. 9 Neb. 565. Error in date of filing corrected. 4 Neb. 406. Allowed to be filed out of time. 16 Neb. 290. May be amended by leave of court. 13 Neb. 291, 279. And petition filed in court below may be amended in supreme court so as to fully state a cause of action. 14 Neb. 489. All parties in a joint judgment are necessary parties to a petition filed by one of their number to reverse it. 21 Neb. 474. Motion to dismiss sustained, no transcript having been filed, although petition in error was filed and summons issued. 22 Neb. 702. Pleading not amendable in supreme court on original motion. 18 Neb. 113. Where action is brought upon contract instead of quantum meruit, and all the proof introduced without objection, showing the right of plaintiff to recover, court will, if necessary, permit amendment of petition to conform to proof, or remand cause for such amendment. 18 Neb. 653. Petition in error not stricken from files for want of bill of exceptions. 5 Neb. 517. Nor because bill was not settled within statutory time, or motion for new trial not made in time. 14 Neb. 430, 456. To entitle a defendant to review of errors committed against him he should take such steps to bring cause up as plaintiff in error. 11 Neb. 414. Error cannot be assigned upon a ruling of the district court made or taken with the consent of the complaining party. 25 Neb. 438. Defendant omitting defense in trial court cannot interpose it here. 12 Neb. 192. Service by publication must be made four successive weeks in Lancaster county. 12 Neb. 342. No errors considered except those assigned in motion for new trial, and those specifically and definitely set out in petition in error. 3 Neb. 405. 11 Id. 144. 12 Id. 211. 13 Id. 491. Motion for new trial not necessary in cases of appeal. 12 Neb. 211. Probable errors favorable to plaintiff not considered. 16 Neb. 284. Judgment not reversed nor verdict set aside where error has been committed without prejudice. 2 Neb. 297. 3 Id. 130. 6 Id. 142. 7 Id. 533. 8 Id. 167. 9 Id. 161, 108, 181. 10 Id. 183, 275, 534. 13 Id. 54, 175, 331. Presumption in favor of correctness of proceedings. Error must appear affirmatively. 5 Neb. 334. 12 Id. 61, 86. 16 Neb. 422, 609. Error must be prejudicial. 5 Neb. 489. 9 Id. 181. 15 Id. 378, 373, 354, 515, 628. Mere difference of opinion between trial court and this court not sufficient to set aside verdict. 5 Neb. 85. 7 Id. 41. 8 Id. 428. 9 Id. 453. 10 Id. 612. 12 Id. 412. 16 Id. 523. When there is court will reverse. 5 Neb. 526. 8 Id. 372. But where the only questions are those of fact, judgment will be affirmed unless clearly against weight of evidence. 14 Neb. 251. And if there be a conflict of evidence, if it be sufficient to support finding judgment will not be disturbed. 14 Neb. 176. Court cannot consider whether verdict is against evidence unless all testimony brought up. 3 Neb. 168. And if there be no bill of exceptions containing testimony, presumption is there was sufficient to sustain finding, etc. 8 Neb. 437. Where court decided that verdict was sustained by evidence, but that plaintiff could not recover entire amount sued for, a reference was ordered to determine amount of deduction to be made from the verdict. 25 Neb. 274. Where none of the evidence is preserved in the record it is impossible to review the facts. 23 Neb. 194. In cause tried to court without jury judgment will not be reversed on the ground shall be returnable on or before the first day of the next term of court, if issued in vacation, and twenty days before the commencement of the term; if issued in term time, or within twenty days before the commencement of the term, it shall be returnable on a day named in said summons. In all cases in the supreme court, if a case be docketed twenty days or more before the next succeeding term it shall stand for hearing at said term. If less than twenty days intervene the cause shall not stand for trial, except by consent of all the parties thereto, until the second term after the docketing of said cause, except causes brought before the court in the exercise of its original jurisdiction. [Amended 1885, chap. 95.]

SEC. 585. [Summons in error.]—The summons mentioned in the last section shall, upon the written precept of the plaintiff in error, or his attorney, be issued by the clerk of the court in which the petition is filed, to the sheriff of any county in which the defendant in error or his attorney of record may be; and if the writ issue to a foreign county, the sheriff thereof may return the same by mail to the clerk, and shall be entitled to the same fees as if the same had been returnable to the district court of the county in which such officer resides. The defendant in error, or his attorney, may waive in writing the issuing or service of the summons.

SEC. 586. [Transcript.]—The plaintiff in error shall file with his petition a of the admission of immaterial or incompetent evidence if sufficient material and competent evidence was admitted to sustain finding of court. 25 Neb. 429. Error cannot be predicated upon evidence introduced without objection, nor where a party excepts to the introduction of certain evidence and afterwards introduces it, or that of like character. 25 Neb. 543. Where answer fails to constitute a defense to the action, but no objection was made thereto in the court below, nor error on that ground assigned in the supreme court, the question will not be considered. 24 Neb. 629. Verdict may be sustained as to part of defendants though set aside as to others. 2 Neb. 843. [See however 15 Id. 417.] If new trial cannot be awarded, judgment will be entered in supreme court. 2 Neb. 290. Where party elects to stand on demurrer below, and brings cause up for review, and the judgment on demurrer is sustained, cause will not be remanded for leave to answer to merits. 8 Neb. 502. In case stated, mistake in judgment corrected without remanding cause for new trial. 25 Neb. 433. In a case brought on error to district court, to reverse judgment of that court reversing a judgment of a justice of the peace, and upon examination of the petition in error to said justice and the record certified by him, it appears that there is reversible error assigned, it will be presumed by this court that it was upon such error that the judgment of the justice was reversed and not upon other errors assigned, which are believed not to be reversible. 22 Neb. 195. On appeal, evidence below must be certified by judge unless parties waive. 8 Neb. 285. Judgment on condition of filing remittitur. 8 Neb. 539. 16 Id. 23, 58, 580. Judgment reversed with instructions to district court to enter order of removal of cause to U. S. circuit court, nunc pro tunc but without costs in this court. 11 Neb. 208. On affirming decree of divorce reference was ordered to take testimony of income of defendant, so as to allow alimony. 12 Neb. 76. And where judgment below in ejectment is right, reference will be ordered to ascertain amount of taxes due. 11 Neb. 584. Plaintiff in error estopped to further proceed after receiving amount of judgment below from defendant in error. 12 Neb. 447. Review not allowed after stay taken. 11 Neb. 476. 12 Id. 580. Cause will be dismissed for want of prosecution, where plaintiff fails to appear two successive terms. 8 Neb. 372. And on motion of plaintiff where the land in controversy has been conveyed by defendant to him. 14 Neb. 420. And on motion of defendant if not filed in time. 7 Neb. 124. Cause dismissed for want of prosecution; reinstated upon showing neglect of attorneys without fault of plaintiffs. 25 Neb. 72. On motion to dismiss, sufficiency of assignments of error will not be considered. 8 Neb. 96. Where motion to dismiss appeal sustained, leave given to file petition in error. 5 Neb. 567. 20 Id. 318. But not where it is necessary to file amended transcript to show judgment below. 13 Neb. 224. Question discussed in brief not in record, will not be considered. 13 Neb. 43. If cause remanded for judgment and there has been substantial compliance, it will be sustained. 13 Neb. 178. Defendant not required to appear for argument until time when cause is assigned. 13 Neb. 198. After cause submitted, too late to raise objections to bill of exceptions. 13 Neb. 272, 501. If record is imperfect so the court cannot tell whether facts assigned for error exist or not, judgment will be affirmed. 13 Neb. 462. 19 Neb. 215. And where there is no principle of law involved and decided in a case, and verdict not being against evidence, judgment will be affirmed. 15 Neb. 7, 407, 670. And where no brief is filed as required by rule, or cause shown why such rule should not be suspended, judgment will be affirmed unless error plainly appear. 15 Neb. 56. And where the only objection to the judgment is, that the verdict is not sustained by the evidence, and for any cause the bill of exceptions be quashed or stricken from the files, and there being no point raised, or question involved in the case, which can be considered without an examination of the testimony on which the judgment was rendered, the judgment will be affirmed. 15 Neb. 144, 146. Objection to form of judgment of county court, not made in district, will not be considered by supreme. 14 Neb. 9. All parties to joint judgment should be made parties. 23 Neb. 790.

SEC. 585. Attorney of record may waive issuance of summons. 1 Neb. 325. Service of summons in error upon attorney of record in court below sufficient to give court jurisdiction, although attorney may not appear in supreme court. 24 Neb. 173. In absence of issuance and service of summons in error, or general appearance by defendant in error, no jurisdiction can be acquired by supreme court. 24 Neb. 142. On one attorney good. 8 Id. 470. Oral agreement to waive not enforceable. 25 Id. 601. Entry of appearance after time for issuing process: when motion to dismiss should be made. 26 Id. 61.

SEC. 586. A transcript filed before petition in error will not for that reason be stricken from files. 12 Neb. 524. Transcripts should be full and complete, but contain only what is necessary to enable court to pass on questions presented. 1 Neb. 106, 363. 2 Id. 10. 13 Id. 201. Transcripts should only contain such portion of the record below as is necessary to a correct understanding of the case. 24 Neb. 492. Where no objection is made to the summons, or to the return of the officer thereon, such summons should be omitted from the transcript. So with journal entries not involved in the case. 23 Neb. 707. Transcript must show when and where court was held, its terms, judge, and names of officers, and be authenticated by clerk. 1 Neb. 325. 2 Id. 170. 6 Id. 418. If unnecessary matter is put in record, cost of it will be taxed to party in fault. 12 Neb. 201, 476. If defective so court cannot examine questions judgment will be affirmed. 13 Neb. 462. Should include pleadings. After judgment will be affirmed. 14 Neb. 262. But testimony need not be included where facts are not disputed and the only question is one of law. 4 Neb. 55. Notes of clerk are not a part of record. 2 Neb. 66. The affidavit of the clerk of the district court cannot be resorted to for the purpose of correcting a transcript of the record certified to by him. If a false or erroneous record is certified to by him, it should be corrected by a certified transcript of the record as it is. 21 Neb. 597. The transcript of the trial court, duly certified by the clerk, will alone be recognized as to all matters which are properly of record in that court. 23 Neb. 464. Paper not rightly in record stricken out on motion.

transcript of the proceedings containing the final judgment or order sought to be reversed, vacated, or modified. No written or printed abstract or any copy of an abstract of the record shall be required in any case in the supreme court of this state. This act shall apply to cases now pending in the supreme court. [Amended 1887, chap. 96. Took effect July 1, 1887.]

SEC. 537. [Same—How furnished.—Judges of probate courts, justices of the peace, and other judicial tribunals having no clerk, and clerks of every court of record, shall, upon request and being paid the lawful fees therefor, furnish an authenticated transcript of the proceedings, containing the judgment or final order of said courts, to either of the parties to the same, or to any person interested in procuring such transcript.

SEC. 587 a. [Original bills of exceptions may be used.—That in all cases or proceedings now pending or hereafter to be brought in any district court of this state, as well as in all cases or proceedings that have been finally adjudicated in any of said courts within six months next prior to the date of the passage of this act, which it is sought or desired to remove to the supreme court of this state, on proceedings in error, or by appeal in equity in the manner now prescribed by law, it shall not be necessary to copy the bill, or bills of exception, or the deposition, testimony, and proof in cases that have been preserved in form similar to bills of exception or otherwise, as contemplated by an act passed March 3, 1873, entitled, "An act to provide for appeals in actions in equity," taken or used in any such case or proceedings into the transcript or record for the supreme court, but such original bills of exception and testimony in equity and cases at law so as aforesaid preserved, shall be, on the request of any party desiring to so prosecute such case or proceeding to the supreme court, attached to the transcript or record of such other parts of the record in the case or proceeding as may be desired by such party, and the transcript or record for the supreme court, so made up shall be received in all respects as if the said bill or bills of exceptions or depositions, testimony, and proof in equity cases so as aforesaid properly preserved were copied into such transcript or record for the supreme court. [1885, chap. 96.]

SEC. 587 b. [Certificate of clerk.—And it is further enacted that when the original bill or bills of exceptions or testimony in equity and law cases, is so as aforesaid made a part of a transcript or record for the supreme court, the clerk shall state such fact in his certificate thereto, and omit to certify that the same have been copied into such record or transcript.

SEC. 587 c. [Original returned after trial.—When any case or proceeding in which the record or transcript has been so as aforesaid made up, shall have been finally determined in the supreme court, the said original bill or bills of exception, and testimony, shall be by the clerk of the supreme court transmitted to the clerk of the district court below, whence such case or proceeding was removed, on the request of any party to the suit or proceeding, provided the cost of the transmittal thereof shall be first paid to said clerk of the supreme court if he shall demand it, by the party applying therefor.

SEC. 587 d. [Rehearing.—In the event a rehearing of any such cause or proceeding shall be allowed by the supreme court, or if for any other reason said court shall need or desire the use of such original bill or bills of exception or testimony in equity and law cases, it is hereby authorized to order the return of the same

1 Neb. 181. But motion to strike out part of transcript not considered. 3 Neb. 196. Should contain ruling of court on objections made. 10 Neb. 38. And depositions, to review order suppressing them. 12 Neb. 85. If trial court refuse to permit supplemental pleading to be filed, it must be made a part of the record. 21 Neb. 313. Amendment of this section repeals law of 1885 requiring printed abstracts of record. Decisions prior to repeal see 19 Neb. 53. 20 Id. 205.

SEC. 587 a-d. "An act to authorize the use of original bills of exception and testimony preserved in equity cases, in making transcripts and records of cases and proceedings at law and in equity, on removal thereof to the supreme court, and to provide for the costs incidental thereto." Approved and took effect March 1, 1881. Sections 1, 2, and 4 amended 1885, chap. 96. Cited 17 Neb. 520, 642. Rehearing denied, though cause was disposed of without argument or brief of defendant. 7 Neb. 205. Rehearing not granted upon new matter de hors the record. 4 Neb. 253. Leave to file motion for rehearing after rule day denied. 12 Neb. 208. Motion for rehearing must distinctly specify ground upon which it is based. 14 Neb. 21.

to it, and it shall be the duty of the clerk of the court in whose custody the same may be to transmit the same to the clerk of the supreme court upon being personally served with a copy of such order of the supreme court, duly certified under the seal of the court, and the expense of the transmittal of such bills and testimony, together with costs made in recording, certifying, and serving such order shall be taxed to the unsuccessful party to such suit or proceeding unless the supreme shall otherwise order; Provided, That the party at whose instance such expense of transmittal is to be made shall advance the same to the clerk who is desired to incur such expenses if required by him. Service of such certified copy of said order may be made by any person. If done by the sheriff of any county, his official return shall be sufficient evidence of the fact of service. If by any other person, the service shall be sufficiently proved by his affidavit to the fact. [1885, chap. 96.]

SEC. 588. [Stay of execution.].—No proceeding to reverse, vacate, or modify any judgment or final order rendered in the probate court, or district court, except as provided for in the next section, and the fourth subdivision of this section, shall operate to stay execution, unless the clerk of the court in which the record of said judgment or final order shall be, shall take a written undertaking, to be executed on the part of the plaintiff in error to the adverse party, with one or more sufficient sureties, as follows: First—When the judgment or final order sought to be reversed, directs the payment of money, the written undertaking shall be in double the amount of the judgment or order, to the effect that the plaintiff in error will pay the consideration money and costs in case the judgment or final order shall be affirmed in whole or in part. Second—When it directs the execution of a conveyance or other instrument, the undertaking shall be in such sum as may be prescribed by any court of record in this state, or any judge thereof, to the effect that the plaintiff in error will abide the judgment, if the same shall be affirmed, and pay the costs. Third—When it directs the sale or delivery of possession of real property, the undertaking shall be in such sum as may be prescribed by any court of record, or any judge thereof, to the effect that during the possession of such property by the plaintiff in error, he will not commit or suffer to be committed, any waste thereon, and if the judgment be affirmed he will pay the value of the use and occupation of the property, from the date of the undertaking until the delivery of the possession pursuant to the judgment, and all costs. Fourth—When it directs the assignment or delivery of documents, they may be placed in the custody of the clerk of the court in which judgment was rendered, to abide the judgment of the appellate court, or the undertaking may be in such sum as may be prescribed as aforesaid, to abide the judgment and pay costs, if the same shall be affirmed. [Amended 1875, 131. Took effect Feb. 25, 1875.]

SEC. 589. [Same—Instrument deposited in court.].—Instead of the undertaking prescribed in the second subdivision of the last section, the conveyance or other instrument may be executed and deposited with the clerk of the court in which the judgment was rendered or order made, to abide the judgment of the appellate court.

SEC. 590. [Same—When takes effect.].—Before the written undertaking herein mentioned in section five hundred and eighty-eight shall operate to stay execution of the judgment or order, a petition in error must be filed in the appellate court, and the execution of the undertaking and the sufficiency of the sureties must be approved by the court in which the judgment was rendered or order made, or by the clerk thereof; and the clerk shall endorse said approval, signed by himself, upon the undertaking, and file the same in his office for the defendant in error. [Amended to take effect Sept. 1, 1873. G. S. 630.]

SEC. 591. [Judgment, how enforced when error taken.].—In an action arising on contract, for the payment of money only, notwithstanding the execution of the undertaking in the last section mentioned, to stay proceedings, if the defendant in error give adequate security to make restitution in case the judgment is reversed or modified, he may, upon leave obtained from the court below,* or a judge thereof in vacation, proceed to enforce the judgment. Such security must be an undertaking executed to the plaintiff in error by at least two sufficient sureties, to the effect that if the judgment be reversed or modified, he will make full restitution to the plaintiff in error of the money by him received under the judgment.

SEC. 592. [When commenced—Limitation].—No proceedings for reversing, vacating, or modifying judgments or final orders shall be commenced unless within one year after the rendition of the judgment or making of the final order complained of, or in case the person entitled to such proceedings be an infant, a person of unsound mind, or imprisoned within one year as aforesaid, exclusive of the time of such disability; Provided, That the provisions of this act shall only apply to judgments or decrees rendered after the date of its taking effect. [1875, 40. Amended 1877, 14. Took effect June 1, 1877.]

SEC. 593. [Stay of execution—Undertaking].—No proceedings to reverse, vacate, or modify any judgment rendered, or final order made, by a justice of the peace, shall operate as a stay of execution, unless the clerk of the district court shall take a written undertaking to the defendant in error, executed on the part of the plaintiff in error, by one or more sufficient sureties, to the effect that the plaintiff will pay all the costs which have accrued or may accrue on such proceedings in error, together with the amount of any judgment that may be rendered against such plaintiff in error, either on the further trial of the case, after the judgment of the court below shall have been set aside or reversed, or upon and after the affirmance thereof in the district court. Nor shall said proceedings operate as a stay of execution on judgments of restitution rendered in actions for the forcible entry and detention, or the forcible detention only, of lands and tenements, unless a further undertaking shall be taken in the manner aforesaid, conditional for the payment to the defendant in error of all money or sums of money that has accrued or may accrue to said defendant from the plaintiff in error for the use, occupation, or rent of the lands and tenements in controversy, in case the judgment sought to be reversed, shall be affirmed. [Amended 1871, 110. Took effect Mar. 25, 1871.]

SEC. 594. [Proceedings in supreme court on reversal—Mandate].—When a judgment or final order shall be reversed either in whole or in part, in the supreme court, the court reversing the same shall proceed to render such judgment as the court below should have rendered, or remand the cause to the court below for such judgment; and the court reversing such judgment or final order, shall not issue execution in causes that are removed before them on error, on which they pronounced judgment as aforesaid, but shall send a special mandate to the court below, as the case may require, to award execution thereupon; and it shall be the duty of the judges of the supreme court to prepare and file their opinion in every case as brought before them, within sixty days after the decision of the same, and no mandate shall be sent to the court below until the opinion provided for by this section has been filed. The court to which such special mandate is sent, shall proceed in such case in the same manner as if such judgment or final order had been rendered therein, and on motion and good cause shown, it may suspend any execution made returnable before it by order of the supreme court, in the same manner as if such execution had been issued from its own court, but such power shall not extend further than to stay proceedings until the matter can be further heard by the supreme court. [Amended 1875, 40. Took effect Feb. 25, 1875.]

SEC. 595. [Costs on error.—When a judgment or final order is reversed, the plaintiff in error shall recover his costs, and when reversed in part, and affirmed in part, costs shall be equally divided between the parties.

SEC. 596. [No reasonable ground of error—Penalty.—When a judgment or final order shall be affirmed in the supreme court, the said court shall also render judgment against the plaintiff in error for five per cent. upon the amount due from him to the defendant in error, unless the court shall enter upon its minutes, that there was reasonable ground for the proceedings in error.

SEC. 597. [Mistake of clerk.—A mistake, neglect, or omission of the clerk shall not be a ground of error, until the same has been presented and acted upon in the court in which the mistake, neglect, or omission occurred.

SEC. 598. [Premature judgment.—Rendering judgment before the action stood for trial according to the provisions of this code, shall be deemed a clerical error.

SEC. 599. [Certiorari writ abolished.—Writs of error and certiorari to reverse, vacate, or modify judgments or final orders in civil cases, are abolished, but courts shall have the same power to compel, complete, and perfect transcripts of the proceedings containing the judgment or final order sought to be reversed, to be furnished, as they heretofore had under writs of error and certiorari.

SEC. 600. [Affirmance of justice's judgment.—If the judgment of a justice of the peace, taken on error, as herein provided, to the district court, be affirmed, it shall be the duty of such court to render judgment against the plaintiff in error, for the costs of suit, and to award execution therefor; and the court shall thereupon order its clerk to certify its decision in the premises, to the justice, that the judgment affirmed may be enforced, as if such proceedings in error had not been taken; or such court may award execution to carry into effect the judgment of such justice, in the same manner as if such judgment had been rendered in the district court.

SEC. 601. [Reversal of justice's judgment.—When the proceedings of a justice of the peace are taken on error to the district court, in manner aforesaid, and the judgment of such justice shall be reversed or set aside, the court shall render judgment of reversal, and for the costs that have accrued up to that time, in favor of the plaintiff in error, and award execution therefor; and the cause shall be retained by the court for trial and final judgment as in cases of appeal.

SEC. 601 a. [Complete record supreme court.—A complete record of every cause in the supreme court, as soon as it is finally determined, shall be made by the clerk of such court. Such record shall consist of the petition in error, the process and subsequent proceedings, and opinion of the court, but shall not include the transcript of proceedings had in the district court. [G. S. 713.]

or order was made: First—By granting a new trial of the cause, within the time and in the manner prescribed in section three hundred and eighteen. Second—By a new trial granted in proceedings against defendants constructively summoned, as provided in section seventy-seven. Third—For mistake, neglect, or omission of the clerk, or irregularity in obtaining a judgment or order. Fourth—For fraud practiced by the successful party in obtaining the judgment or order. Fifth—For erroneous proceedings against an infant, married woman, or person of unsound mind, where the condition of such defendant does not appear in the record, nor the error in the proceedings. Sixth—For the death of one of the parties before the judgment in the action. Seventh—For unavoidable casualty or misfortune, preventing the party from prosecuting or defending. Eighth—For errors in a judgment shown by an infant in twelve months after arriving at full age, as prescribed in section four hundred and forty-two. Ninth—For taking judgments upon warrants of attorney, for more than was due to the plaintiff, when the defendant was not summoned, or otherwise legally notified of the time and place of taking such judgment.

SEC. 603. [Same—Proceedings.]—The proceedings to vacate or modify the judgment or order on the grounds mentioned in subdivisions four, five, six, seven, eight, and nine of the last preceding section, shall be by petition verified by affidavit, setting forth the judgment or order, the grounds to vacate or modify it, and the defense to the action, if the party applying was defendant. On such petition a summons shall issue and be served as in the commencement of an action; Provided, Such summons shall not issue in any case in which there is upon the minutes of the court, or among the files of the case, a waiver of error by the party or his attorney, unless the court, or a judge thereof, shall endorse upon the petition permission to issue such summons.

SEC. 604. [Correction of mistakes—Vacate judgment—When.]—The proceedings to correct mistakes or omissions of the clerk, or irregularity in obtaining a judgment or order, shall be by motion, upon reasonable notice to the adverse party or his attorney in the action. The motion to vacate a judgment because of its rendition before the action regularly stood for trial, can be made only in the first three days of the succeeding term.

SEC. 605. [Decision of court.]—The court may first try and decide upon the grounds to vacate or modify a judgment or order, before trying or deciding upon the validity of the defense or cause of action.

SEC. 606. [Judgment not vacated—When liens—Securities preserved.]—A judgment shall not be vacated on motion or petition, until it is adjudged that there is a valid defense to the action in which the judgment is rendered, or, if the plaintiff seeks its vacation, that there is a valid cause of action; and where a judgment is modified, all liens and securities obtained under it shall be preserved to the modified judgment.

SEC. 607. [Injunction—Suspending proceedings.]—The party seeking to vacate or modify a judgment or order, may obtain an injunction suspending proceedings on the whole or part thereof, which injunction may be granted by the court, or any judge thereof, upon its being rendered probable, by affidavit or by exhibition of the record, that the party is entitled to have such judgment or order vacated or modified.

SEC. 608. [Same.]—When the judgment was rendered before the action stood for trial, the suspension may be granted as provided in the last section, although no valid defense to the action is shown; and the court shall make such orders concerning the executions to be issued on the judgment, as shall give to the defendant the same rights of delay he would have had if the judgment had been rendered at the proper time.

SEC. 609. [When commenced—Limitation.]—Proceedings to vacate or modify a judgment or order, for the causes mentioned in subdivision four, five, and seven of section six hundred and two, must be commenced within two years after the judgment was rendered or order made, unless the party entitled thereto be an infant, married woman, or person of unsound mind, and then within two years after removal of such disability. Proceedings for the causes mentioned in subdivisions three and six of the same section, shall be within three years, and in subdivision nine within one year, after the defendant has notice of the judgment.

SEC. 610. [Application to supreme and county courts.]—The provisions of this title subsequent to section six hundred and one, shall apply to the supreme court and probate court, so far as the same may be applicable to the judgments or final orders of such courts. The parties shall be limited to the same time in which to commence proceedings; and in estimating time, the probate court shall, for this purpose, be considered as holding, in each year, three terms of four months each, the first commencing on the first day of January of each year.

SEC. 611. [Cases pending in appellate court.]—Cases pending in appellate courts on writs of error or otherwise, when this code takes effect, shall be conducted to final judgment, as if it had not been adopted, and the liens of judgments and decrees rendered when it takes effect shall be preserved.

TITLE XVII.—Costs.

SEC. 612. [Security—Non-resident plaintiff.]—In all cases in which the plaintiff is a non-resident of the county in which the action is to be brought, before commencing such action the plaintiff must furnish a sufficient surety for costs. The surety must be a resident of the county where the action is to be brought, and approved by the clerk. His obligation shall be complete, simply by endorsing the summons, or signing his name on the complaint as security for costs. He shall be bound for the payment of all costs, which may be adjudged against the plaintiff in the court in which the action is brought, or in any other to which it may be carried, and for costs of the plaintiff's witnesses, whether the plaintiff obtain judgment or not.

SEC. 613. [Same—Failure—Action dismissed.]—An action in which security for the costs is required by the last section, and has not been given shall be dismissed on motion and notice by the defendant at any proper time before judgment, unless in a reasonable time to be allowed by the court, such security for costs be given.

SEC. 614. [Same—Plaintiff becoming non-resident.]—If the plaintiff in an action after its commencement, become a non-resident of the county in which it was brought, he shall give security for costs in the manner and under the restrictions provided in the two preceding sections.

SEC. 615. [Additional security.]—In an action in which security for costs has been given, the defendant may at any time before judgment, after reasonable notice to the plaintiff, move the court for additional security on the part of the plaintiff; and if, on such motion, the court be satisfied that the surety has removed from this state, or is not sufficient, the action may be dismissed, unless, in a reasonable time to be fixed by the court, sufficient security be given by plaintiff.

SEC. 610 See chapter 20, Courts.

SEC. 612. Security for costs in case stated; dismissal of action; entry of cause on docket of subsequent term; security given out of time; cause reinstated. 25 Neb. 487. Security given after service of summons sufficient. 12 Neb. 41. Security by partnership. 7 Neb. 246. Statutes relative to costs construed strictly. 10 Neb. 308. Plaintiff and defendant primarily liable. 13 Neb. 248. Infant plaintiff not liable for. 8 Neb. 342. Minor heirs as defendants not liable for costs. 21 Id. 412. Where upon a new trial being granted, the plaintiff was permitted to amend his petition by stating more fully a cause of action arising on his contract (not a new cause of action), Held, That an order requiring him to pay only a part of the costs then accrued would not be set aside. 17 Neb. 139. Where plaintiff in replevin has given an undertaking to prosecute the action and pay all costs, etc., awarded against him, etc., he cannot in addition be required to give other security for costs. 17 Neb. 702. Costs should be taxed separately; if not so done, supreme court will remand for that purpose. 22 Neb. 171, 204. Where plaintiff brings action to reform a contract, which is resisted by defendant, and defendant files cross-petition, seeking reformation of contract in another particular, which is resisted by plaintiff, and both parties are successful in procuring the reformation asked, it was Held, That under the peculiar circumstances of the case the costs of the suit should be equally divided, and one-half taxed to each party. 24 Neb. 489. Exorbitant; remedy by motion to retax. 10 Neb. 558. Motion to retax made necessary by mistake, neglect, etc., of the clerk, or irregularity in obtaining a judgment or order, may be made at any time within three years after judgment, upon reasonable notice to adverse party or his attorney. 17 Neb. 310. Motion to retax should be made in court where the alleged errors occur. 10 Neb. 552. 17 Id. 606. 18 Id. 508. 22 Id. 189. Decision of district court on motion to retax may be reviewed in supreme court. 21 Neb. 229.

SEC. 616. [Judgment against surety for costs.]—After final judgment has been rendered in an action in which security for costs has been given, as required by this chapter, the court on motion of the defendant, or any other person having a right to such costs, or any part thereof, after ten days notice of such motion, may enter up judgment in the name of the defendant, or his legal representatives, against the surety for costs, his executors or administrators, for the amount of the costs adjudged against the plaintiff, or so much thereof as may be unpaid. Execution may be issued on such judgment, as in other cases, for the use and benefit of the persons entitled to such costs.

SEC. 617. [Informers under penal statutes.]—If any informer, under a penal statute, to whom the penalty, or any part thereof, if recovered, is given, shall dismiss his suit or prosecution, or fail in the same, he shall pay all costs accruing on such suit or prosecution unless he be an officer whose duty it is to commence the same.

SEC. 618. [Defendant disclaiming.]—Where defendants disclaim having any title or interest in land or other property, the subject matter of the action, they shall recover their costs, unless for special reasons the court decide otherwise.

SEC. 619. [Motions—Amendments.]—Unless otherwise provided by statute, the costs of motions, continuances, amendments, and the like, shall be taxed and paid as the court in its discretion may direct.

SEC. 620. [Plaintiff—Allowed of course.]—When it is not otherwise provided by this and other statutes, costs shall be allowed of course to the plaintiff, upon a judgment in his favor, in actions for the recovery of money only, or for the recovery of specific real or personal property.

SEC. 621. [Same not allowed.]—If it shall appear that a justice of the peace has jurisdiction of an action, and the same has been brought in any other court the plaintiff shall not recover costs; and in all actions for libel, slander, malicious prosecution, assault, assault and battery, false imprisonment, criminal conversation, seduction, actions for nuisance, or against a justice of the peace for misconduct in office, if the damages assessed be under five dollars, the plaintiff shall not recover any costs.

SEC. 622. [Defendant—Allowed of course.]—Costs shall be allowed of course to any defendant upon a judgment in his favor in the actions mentioned in the last two sections.

SEC. 623. [Under control of court—When.]—In other actions the court may award and tax costs, and apportion the same between the parties on the same or adverse sides, as in its discretion it may think right and equitable.

SEC. 624. [Several actions on one instrument.]—Where several actions are brought on one bill of exchange, promissory note, or other obligation or instrument in writing, against several parties, who might have been joined as defendants in the same action, as allowed by section forty-four, no costs shall be recovered by the plaintiff in more than one of such actions, if the parties proceeded against in the other actions were, at the commencement of the previous action, openly within the state.

SEC. 625. [Fees—Summons issued to another county.]—When a summons is issued to another county than that in which the action or proceeding is pending, it may be returned by mail, and the sheriff shall be entitled to the same fees as if the summons had issued in the county of which he is sheriff.

SEC. 619. On amendment of petition costs taxed to plaintiff. 9 Neb. 5. In bastardy case on verdict of not guilty, court may tax costs against defendant. 14 Neb. 210.

SECS. 620-623. If justice have jurisdiction and action brought in another court, there can be no recovery of costs. 2 Neb. 77. 5 Id. 100. 6 Id. 102. 9 Id. 264, 273, 462. And if action be brought in county court, amount claimed over $100, verdict for less, or amount reduced by set-off to less, there can be no recovery. 5 Neb. 100. 11 Id. 462. But otherwise where plaintiff only claims $50. 9 Neb. 265. And in an action against sheriff to recover value of property levied on, brought in the district court, amount claimed over $100 and recovery less, Held, That justice had jurisdiction, and each party required to pay his own costs. 9 Neb. 473. On trial in county court, plaintiff recovered judgment for $38.77, when defendant appealed; in district court recovered judgment for $13. Held, That plaintiff was not entitled to costs. 16 Neb. 543. In action under sec. 15, chap. 50, Comp. Stat., where damages claimed were five hundred dollars; in county court plaintiff recovered two hundred and five dollars. Upon appeal plaintiff recovered one hundred and eighty-one dollars, Held, That plaintiff was not entitled to costs. 16 Neb. 113. Authority of court to apportion costs. 14 Neb. 211.

SEC. 625 a. [Postponement of trial.]—That when an application shall be made to a court of record to postpone a trial, the payment to the adverse party of a sum not exceeding ten dollars, besides the costs of the term, may in the discretion of the judges be imposed as a condition of granting the postponement. [1875, 63.]

SEC. 625 b. [Motion—Demurrers.]—Costs may be allowed on a motion or demurrer in the discretion of the court or judge, not exceeding ten dollars, which shall be absolute against the losing party on such demurrer or motion; Provided, That this provision shall not apply to verbal motions and demurrer ore tenus during the course of the trial.

TITLE XVIII.—ACTIONS AND PROCEEDINGS IN PARTICULAR CASES.

CHAPTER 1.—ACTIONS CONCERNING REAL PROPERTY.

SEC. 626. [Recovery—Petition—Allegations.]—In an action for the recovery of real property, it shall be sufficient, if the plaintiff state in his petition that he has a legal estate therein, and is entitled to the possession thereof, describing the same, as required by section one hundred and thirty-three, and that the defendant unlawfully keeps him out of the possession. It shall not be necessary to state how the plaintiff's estate or ownership is derived.

SEC. 627. [Answer.]—It shall be sufficient in such action, if the defendant in his answer deny, generally, the title alleged in the petition, or that he withholds possession, as the case may be; but if he deny the title of the plaintiff, possession by the defendant shall be taken as admitted. Where he does not defend for the whole premises, the answer shall describe the particular part for which defense is made.

SEC. 628. [Tenants in common.]—In an action by a tenant in common of real property, against a co-tenant, the plaintiff must state, in addition to what is required in the first section of this chapter, that the defendant either denies the plaintiff's right, or did some act amounting to such denial.

SEC. 629. [Plaintiff's right terminating during pendency of action.]—In an action for the recovery of real property, where the plaintiff shows a right to recover at the time the action was commenced, but it appears that his right has terminated during the pendency of the action, the verdict and judgment must be according to the fact, and the plaintiff may recover for withholding the property.

SEC. 630. [Two trials allowed.]—In an action for the recovery of real property, the party against whom judgment is rendered may, at any time during the term at which the judgment is rendered, demand another trial by notice on the journal, and thereupon the judgment shall be vacated, and the action shall stand for trial at the next term.

SEC. 631. [Same.]—No further trial can be had in such action, except upon appeal, unless for good cause shown, as in other actions.

SEC. 632. [Occupying claimants.]—The parties in an action for the recovery of property may avail themselves, if entitled thereto, of the relief of the statutes in force for the relief of occupying claimants of land.

SEC. 633. [Waste—Damages.]—If a guardian, tenant for life or years, joint tenant or tenant in common of real property, commit waste thereon, he is liable to pay three times the damages which have resulted from such waste, to the person entitled to sue therefor.

Must recover on strength of his own title. 5 Neb. 526. And see generally 6 Neb. 367. 10 Id. 187. 11 Id. 378, 406, 537. 12 Id. 224, 538. 13 Id. 507. 14 Id. 159, 368, 378. 15 Id. 640. 16 Id. 217, 313, 411. 17 Id. 357. 18 Id. 533. 19 Id. 34, 97, 699. 20 Id. 264. 21 Id. 270, 375, 482. 22 Id. 164. 23 Id. 79, 490, 845. 24 Id. 178, 549, 673. 25 Id. 637, 740.

SEC. 630. Party entitled to two trials by jury; trial by jury may be waived orally and cause submitted to court. 13 Neb. 357. Demand for second trial should be at same term of court at which first trial is had. 15 Neb. 144. After adjournment of term, judgment on first trial is final, and not subject to collateral attack. 16 Neb. 220. Only one trial in actions qui timet. 28 Neb. 671.

SEC. 634. See ante chap. 63.

SEC. 634. [Same—Judgment of forfeiture and conviction.—] Judgment of forfeiture and conviction may be rendered against the defendant, whenever the amount of damages so recovered is more than two-thirds the value of the interest such defendant has in the property wasted, and when the action is brought by the person entitled to the reversion.

SEC. 635. [Same—By whom.—] Any person whose duty it is to prevent waste, and who has not used reasonable care and diligence to prevent it, is deemed to have committed it.

SEC. 636. [Wilful trespass—Damages.—] For wilful trespass, injuring any timber, tree, or shrub on the land of another, or in the street or highway in front of another's cultivated ground, yard, or town lot, or on the public grounds of any town, or any land held by this state, for any purpose whatever, the trespasser shall pay treble damages at the suit of any person entitled to protect or enjoy the property aforesaid.

SEC. 637. [Same—Wood from uncultivated lands.—] Nothing herein contained authorizes the recovery of more than the just value of the timber taken from uncultivated wood land for the repair of a public highway or bridge in its immediate neighborhood.

SEC. 638. [Remaindermen—Reversioners.—] The owner of an estate in remainder or reversion may maintain either of the aforesaid actions for injuries done to the inheritance, notwithstanding any intervening estate for life or years.

SEC. 639. [Same—Heirs.—] An heir, whether a minor or of full age, may maintain these actions for injuries done in the time of his ancestors as well as in his own time, unless barred by the statute of limitations.

SEC. 640. [Lands sold on execution.—] Where lands or tenements are sold by virtue of an execution, the purchaser at such sale may maintain his action against any person, for either of the causes above mentioned, occurring or existing after his purchase.

SEC. 641. [Timber used for repairs.—] This provision is not intended to prevent the person who occupies the lands, in the meantime, from using them in the ordinary course of husbandry, or from using timber for the purpose of making suitable repairs thereon.

SEC. 642. [Same—When deemed waste.—] But if for this purpose he employ timber vastly superior to that required for the occasion, he will be deemed to have committed waste, and will be liable accordingly.

CHAPTER II.—ACTIONS ON OFFICIAL SECURITIES.

SEC. 643. [By whom and how brought.—] When an officer, executor, or administrator within this state, by misconduct or neglect of duty, forfeits his bond or renders his sureties liable, any person injured thereby, or who is by law entitled to the benefit of the security may bring an action thereon, in his own name, against the officer, executor, or administrator, and his sureties, to recover the amount to which he may be entitled by reason of the delinquency. The action may be instituted and proceeded in on a certified copy of the bond, which copy shall be furnished by the person holding the original thereof.

SEC. 644. [Several delinquencies.—] A judgment in favor of a party for one delinquency, does not preclude the same or another party from an action on the same security for another delinquency.

CHAPTER III.—PROCEEDINGS UPON MANDAMUS.

SEC. 645. [Office of writ.—] The writ of mandamus may be issued to any inferior tribunal, corporation, board, or person, to compel the performance of an act

SEC. 643. In action by a private person, obligee of bond is not a necessary party, even where a reformation of bond is part of the relief sought. 4 Neb. 566. See note to chap. 10, "Bonds and oaths—Official," ante.

CHAP. III.—See note to sec. 2, chap. 71. The practice in supreme court is regulated by its rules. Jurisdiction at chambers. 24 Neb. 263. 47 N. W. R. 88.

SEC. 645. Right to office cannot be tried by. 1 Neb. 173. 10 Id. 207. Not proper proceeding in which to determine which the law specially enjoins as a duty resulting from an office, trust, or station. But though it may require an inferior tribunal to exercise its judgment, or proceed to the discharge of any of its functions it cannot control judicial discretion.

SEC. 646. [When not issuable—Party interested.]—This writ may not be issued in any case where there is a plain and adequate remedy in the ordinary course of the law. It may issue on the information of the party beneficially interested.

SEC. 647. [Commands of writs.]—The writ is either alternative or peremptory. The alternative writ must state concisely the facts showing the obligation of the defendant to perform the act, and his omission to perform it, and command him, that immediately upon the receipt of the writ, or at some other specified time, he do the act required to be performed, or show cause before the court whence the writ issued, at a specified time, and place, why he has not done so; and that he then and there return the writ, with his certificate of having done as he is commanded. The peremptory writ must be in a similar form, except that the words requiring the defendant to show cause why he has not done as commanded, must be omitted.

SEC. 648. [Which writ issued.]—When the right to require the performance of the act is clear, and it is apparent that no valid excuse can be given for not performing it, a peremptory mandamus may be allowed in the first instance. In all other cases, the alternative writ must first be issued.

SEC. 649. Motion for writ—Notice.]—The motion for the writ must be made upon affidavit, and the court may require a notice of the application to be given to the adverse party, or may grant an order to show cause why it should not be allowed, or may grant the writ without notice.

SEC. 650. [Allowance—Service—Contempt.]—The allowance of the writ must be endorsed thereon, signed by a judge of the court granting it, and the writ must be served personally upon the defendant. If the defendant duly served neglect to return the same, he shall be proceeded against, as for contempt.

SEC. 651. [Answer.]—On the return day of the alternative writ, or such further day as the court may allow, the party on whom the writ shall have been served, may show cause, by answer made, in the same manner as an answer to a petition in a civil action.

SEC. 652. [Same—Default—New matter.]—If no answer be made, a peremptory mandamus must be allowed against the defendant. If an answer be made containing new matter, the same shall not in any respect conclude the plaintiff, who may, on the trial or other proceeding, avail himself of any valid objection to its sufficiency, or may countervail it by proof, either in direct denial or by way of avoidance.

SEC. 653. [Pleadings.]—No other pleading or written allegation is allowed, than the writ and answer. These are the pleadings in the case, and have the same effect and are to be construed and may be amended in the same manner as pleadings in constitutionality of election law as affecting justices of the peace in the city of Omaha. 18 Id. 50. Reviewable in supreme court on error not appeal. 13 Neb. 223. The mere fact that an action at law will lie does not supersede the remedy by mandamus. 11 Neb. 107. Writ only proper against public officer or board to enforce the performance of a present and ascertained duty. 30 Neb. 473. Errors cannot be corrected by mandamus. 10 Neb. 36, 50. Mandamus is not a proceeding to correct errors, but to compel action, and will not be granted in any case where there is a plain and adequate remedy at law. 23 Neb. 641. Writ will not be granted unless right of relator thereto is clear. 21 Neb. 578. Even alternative writ will not issue unless right is clear. 10 Neb. 28. 14 Id. 203. Alternative writ may be cancelled by court. 17 Neb. 567. When the right is clear, a judge at chambers, within his district, may grant peremptory writ. 24 Neb. 263. SEC. 653. Writ and answer only allowed; demurrer filed and overruled writ will issue. 3 Neb. 353. Demurrer lies to alternative writ; if overruled, respondent has right to answer. 17 Neb. 66. Application should be by motion with affidavits setting forth facts; petition verified insufficient. 3 Neb. 99. Application against sole incumbent of a civil action; and the issues thereby joined must be tried, and the further proceedings thereon had in the same manner as in a civil action.

SEC. 654. [Damages.]—If judgment be given for the plaintiff, he shall recover the damages which he shall have sustained, to be ascertained by the court or a jury, or by referees, in a civil action, and costs; and a peremptory mandamus shall also be granted to him without delay.

SEC. 655. [Same—Bar to other action.]—A recovery of damages by virtue of this chapter, against a party, who shall have made a return to a writ of mandamus, is a bar to any other action against the same party for the making of such return.

SEC. 656. [Disobedience—Contempt—Fine.]—Whenever a peremptory mandamus is directed to any public officer, body, or board, commanding the performance of any public duty, specially enjoined by law, if it appear to the court that such officer, or any member of such body or board, has without just excuse, refused or neglected to perform the duty so enjoined, the court may impose a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, upon every such officer, or member of such body or board. Such fine, when collected, shall be paid into the treasury of the county where the duty ought to have been performed; and the payment thereof is a bar to an action for any penalty incurred by such officer, or member of such body or board, by reason of his refusal or neglect to perform the duty so enjoined.

TITLE XIX.—JURIES.

SEC. 657. [Persons competent.]—All free white males residing in any of the counties of this state, having the qualifications of electors, and being over the age of twenty-one years, and of sound mind and discretion, and not being judges of the supreme court or district courts, clerks of the supreme or district courts, sheriffs, coroners, or jailers, or subject to any bodily infirmity amounting to a disability, and who have not been convicted of a criminal offense, punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary, and are not subject to disability for the commission of any offense which by special provision of law does or shall disqualify them, are and shall be competent persons to serve on all grand and petit juries, within their counties respectively; Provided, That persons over sixty years of age, ministers of the gospel, probate judges, county commissioners, licensed attorneys, practicing physicians, postmasters, and carriers of the United States mails, shall not be compelled to serve as jurors.

city office will abate upon such incumbent ceasing to hold or occupy such office, except in cases where such incumbent may resign such office for the purpose of evading such writ. 17 Neb. 116. Application in case stated examined and Held, insufficient. 17 Neb. 645. Omissions in alternative writ cannot be supplied by application. 8 Neb. 92. Application must show demand and refusal. 7 Neb. 133. 14 Id. 203. Facts must be shown which imposed duty asked. 7 Neb. 133. Failure to allege that there is appropriation or fund from which desired payment can legally be made, fatal. 7 Neb. 134. 10 Id. 20. Issues must be made on facts, rights, and duties of parties as they existed at commencement of action or at time they are actually joined. 8 Neb. 293. Application must show that relator is entitled to writ. 13 Neb. 273. Alleged bribery of voters in matter of county seat contest must be pleaded, to be available as defense. 14 Neb. 508. Payment of bonds for works of "internal improvement;" application must contain particular description of works. 9 Neb. 460. Objections to capacity of relator to sue must be raised by demurrer or answer. 11 Neb. 106. Supreme court, in the absence of affidavit on which the writ issued in the court below, will presume that it contains proper allegation of citizenship of the relator. 17 Neb. 62. Affidavit for continuance not sufficient where affiant merely states belief that a greater number of fraudulent votes were cast in one precinct than entire majority, etc. 5 Neb. 96. Affiant charging that election was carried by fraud must state facts. Id. 14 Id. 508. Writ can only require an officer, board, or court to perform a duty which law enjoins. 13 Neb. 487. In application to compel the delivery of dockets, papers, etc., by one claiming to have been elected to office, cause of action consists solely in relator's having been canvassed in, declared elected, awarded certificate of election, taken oath, and given bond required by law, and respondent having refused or failed to deliver up to him such dockets, papers, etc., on demand. To such application or relation nothing may be properly pleaded in answer which does not deny or put in issue some or all of the above facts. 19 Neb. 164. Costs collected only by execution. 19 Neb. 697. Demurrer is the proper course to test sufficiency of petition. 19 Neb. 482. Motion to quash petition for insufficiency, Held, To be demurrer. Id. Where railway company demurred to an alternative writ requiring it to reduce its rates and charges to conform to an order of the board of transportation, and denied the power of the board to reduce such rates and charges, Held, That the court would determine the question of the power of the board to make the order in question before entering upon an examination of the facts, and therefore would not permit the demurrer to be withdrawn. 22 Neb. 318. Supreme court has jurisdiction to issue writ against a railroad neglecting to comply with orders of the board of transportation relative to charges and rates. Id. 326. Submission to court upon petition and answer, there being no evidence, allegations of payment will be disregarded. 25 Neb. 255.

SEC. 657. Colored men competent. 2 Neb. 222. Employe of railroad incompetent, where company is party. 16 Neb. 334. One who has just sat on a jury in a case between present plaintiff and another party for similar cause of action is competent juror. 16 Neb. 384. One belonging to religious denomination not disqualified from sitting as juror in case where a church of same denomination, of which he is not a member, is a party. 14 Neb. 165. Juror must be elector of county. 14 Neb. 574. In absence of showing, juror presumed to be competent. Id.

SEC. 657 a. [Same—Municipal corporations—Party to action.]—That on the trial of any suit in which a municipal corporation is a party, the inhabitants and tax-payers of such municipal corporation shall be competent jurors if otherwise competent and qualified according to law. [1877, 16.]

SEC. 658. [List by county commissioners.]—In each of the counties in this state, wherein a district court is appointed or directed to be holden, the county commissioners of the county shall, at least fifteen days before the first day of the session of the court, meet together, or any two of them may meet, and select sixty persons possessing the qualifications prescribed in section six hundred and fifty-seven, and as nearly as may be, a proportionate number from each precinct in the county, and shall, within five days thereafter, furnish to the clerk of the district court of the county, or his deputy, a list of the names of the persons selected.

SEC. 659. [Same—Duties of district clerk.]—The clerk or deputy clerk receiving the names shall write the name of each person selected on a separate ticket, and place the whole number of tickets into a box or other suitable and safe receptacle, and shall preserve the list of names furnished by the commissioners in the files of his office.

SEC. 660. [How drawn.]—The clerk of the district court or his deputy and the sheriff or his deputy or, if there be no sheriff or deputy sheriff, the coroner of the county shall, at least ten days before the first day of the session of the district court, meet together and draw by lot out of a box, a receptacle wherein shall be kept the tickets mentioned and referred to in section (659) six hundred and fifty-nine of said title, twenty-four names, and the persons whose names are drawn shall be the petit jurors. And when a grand jury is ordered the clerk or deputy clerk and sheriff or deputy sheriff, or coroner if there be no sheriff or deputy sheriff, shall then draw sixteen (16) additional names and the persons whose names are drawn shall be the grand jury. [Amended 1885, chap. 97.]

SEC. 661. [Same—Order to sheriff.]—The clerk shall, on the day of the drawing aforementioned issue an order to the sheriff, deputy sheriff, or coroner, as the case may be, commanding him to summon the persons whose names are drawn as petit jurors to appear before the district court at or before the hour of eleven o'clock on the morning of the first day of the term, stating in the order the day of the week and month and the place of the sitting of the court, to serve as petit jurors, and a like order commanding the sheriff, deputy sheriff, or coroner to summon the grand jury when a grand jury has been ordered and drawn. [Id.]

SEC. 662. [How summoned.]—The sheriff, deputy sheriff, or coroner having received the order shall, at least five days before the first day of the session of the court, make service of said order upon each person whose name was selected and drawn as a petit juror by reading or delivering a copy of the same to the person summoned, or by leaving a copy at his residence, except that the copy shall contain only the name of the person served and not the name of any other petit juror. And when a grand jury is ordered and summoned service of said order shall be made on each person in the same manner as is provided for service on a petit juror in this section. [Id.]

SEC. 663. [Appearance.]—Each grand juror and petit juror summoned shall appear before the court on the day and at the hour specified in the summons and shall not depart without leave of court.

SEC. 657 a. "An act concerning the competency of jurors in certain cases." Took effect June 1, 1877. Laws 1877, p. 18. Tax payer competent. 5 Neb. 453. Tax payer excluded. 15 Neb. 659.

SEC. 658. Same persons should not be selected for successive terms. 9 Neb. 523. Juror must be elector of county. 14 Neb. 574. Objections on ground of not being an elector, after trial, comes too late. 20 Neb. 374. Objections on ground of not being a resident of the county, after trial, comes too late. 12 Neb. 492. Objection to selection of jury on ground that one of the officers had an action pending in court to be determined by a jury, overruled. 25 Neb. 48. Section cited 12 Neb. 63, 379, 389.

SEC. 659. See sec. 465 a, Criminal Code, post.

SEC. 664. [Additional jurors.]—Whenever the proper officers fail to summon a grand or petit jury, or when all persons summoned as grand or petit jurors do not appear before the district courts, or whenever at any general or special term, or at any period of a term for any cause there is no panel of grand jurors or petit jurors, or the panel is not complete, said court may order the sheriff, deputy sheriff, or coroner to summon without delay good and lawful men, having the qualifications of jurors, and each person summoned shall forthwith appear before the court, and if competent, shall serve on the grand jury or petit jury as the case may be, unless such person may be excused from serving or lawfully challenged.

SEC. 665. [Not summoned when.]—No person shall be summoned as a juror in any district court of this state more than once in two years, and it shall be sufficient cause of challenge to any juror called to be sworn in any cause that he has been summoned and attended said court as a juror, at any term of said court held within two years prior to the time of such challenge; Provided, No finding verdict or inquest returned by any jury shall be invalidated, or set aside, because a member of such jury served as a grand or petit juror within the two (2) years immediately preceding such verdict or inquest. [Amended March 1. Took effect June 1, 1881.]

SEC. 666. [Officer's return to order.]—The sheriff, deputy sheriff, or coroner, having received the order or service issued by the clerk, shall make return thereof with his proceedings, to the clerk, before the session of the court.

SEC. 667. [Failure to appear—Neglect of officers—Penalty.]—If any person summoned to appear as grand juror or petit juror, fails, refuses, or neglects to appear, such person shall be considered guilty of contempt of the court, and may be fined by the court in any sum not less than five dollars nor more than fifty dollars; and if any person, when a second order or attachment is issued, neglects or refuses to appear, such person may be fined as above provided, and imprisoned by the court not longer than ten days in the county jail; and if the county commissioners in any county neglect or fail to select and furnish to the clerk names of persons as hereinbefore provided, such persons so offending may be fined by the court not less than five dollars nor more than fifty dollars; and if any clerk of the district court, or deputy clerk, or sheriff, deputy sheriff, or coroner, neglects or fails to perform the duties imposed by this chapter, the person so offending shall be considered guilty of contempt of court, and may be fined by the court not less than five dollars nor more than fifty dollars; and if guilty of gross misconduct in office and contempt, may be imprisoned by the court not longer than thirty days in the county jail.

SEC. 668. [Packing jury—Penalty.]—If a sheriff, or other officer, corruptly, or through favor or ill will, summon a juror, with the intent that such juror shall find a verdict for or against either party, or shall summon a grand juror from like motives, with intent that such grand juror shall or shall not find an indictment or presentment against any particular individual, he shall be fined not exceeding five hundred dollars and forfeit his office, and be forever disqualified from holding any office in this state.

SECS. 669 a-n. "An act to provide for the manner of selecting, drawing, and summoning grand and petit jurors, in counties having a population of seventy thousand (70,000), or more, to prescribe the qualifications of such jurors, to provide for the punishment of persons seeking to serve as jurors or seeking to have other persons selected as jurors, and to repeal sections six hundred fifty-eight (658), six hundred fifty-nine (659), six hundred sixty (660), six hundred sixty-one (661), and six hundred sixty-five (665), of the Code of Civil Procedure and all acts and parts of acts in conflict herewith." Passed and took effect Mar. 30, 1889. Laws 1889, chap. 43.

or more shall, at or before the time of its meeting in January in each year, or at any time thereafter when necessary for the purposes of this act, make a list of a sufficient number, not less than one-tenth of the legal voters of each town or precinct in the county, giving the place of residence of each name on the list, to be known as the jury list. [1889, chap. 43.]

SEC. 669 b. [Same—Selection of persons—Qualifications.]—In making such selection the county board shall choose a proportionate number from the residents of each town or precinct, and shall take the names of such only as are in the opinion of the board: First—Inhabitants of the town or precinct not exempt from serving on juries. Second—Of the age of twenty-one years or upwards, and under sixty years old. Third—In the possession of their natural faculties. Fourth—Free from all legal exceptions, of fair character, of approved integrity, of sound judgment, well informed, and who understand the English language. [Amended 1891, chap. 58.]

SEC. 669 c. [Same—When made.]—If, for any reason, the list or the selection provided for in the foregoing sections of this act, shall not be made at the meeting of the board held at the time specified, such list or selection shall be made at any meeting to be held as soon thereafter as may be.

SEC. 669 d. [Same—Term of service.]—Whenever a person whose name is on said list shall be drawn as a juror, his name shall be checked off from said list, and such person shall not be again drawn as a juror till every person named upon such list qualified to serve as a juror has been drawn. The clerks of the district courts in each county shall at the end of each term of court furnish the county clerk a list of all persons who have served as petit jurors during the term. All jurors on the regular panels shall serve during the weeks for which they were drawn and until discharged from the case in which they may be serving, if any, at the expiration of such time unless sooner excused by the court. [Amended 1891, chap. 58.]

SEC. 669 e. [List exhausted—Additional list.]—As often as one list shall have been exhausted, another shall be furnished, as provided in section one (1) of this act, and the jurors shall be selected therefrom in the manner provided in sections two (2) and three (3). The clerks of the district courts and other courts of record in the county, shall, at the end of each term of court, furnish the county clerk a list of all persons who have served as jurors during the term.

SEC. 669 f. [Duty of county clerk.]—A list of jurors so selected shall be kept in the office of the county clerk, who shall write the name and residence of each person selected upon a separate ticket and put the whole into a box or wheel to be kept for that purpose.

SEC. 669 g. [Names drawn—Failure to appear—Additional panel.]—At least twenty (20) days before the first day of any trial term of the district court, the clerk of such court shall repair to the office of the county clerk, and in the presence of such county clerk, and at least one of the judges of the district court, after the box or wheel containing said names has been well shaken by the county clerk, and without partiality, draw thirty (30) names of persons then residents of said county, for each judge sitting with a jury in said court, as petit jurors for the first three weeks of that term, unless such court shall otherwise order, and said clerk shall immediately after such drawing, post in a conspicuous place in his office the names of the persons so drawn, and shall also immediately notify said persons by registered letters of the fact of their having been drawn as jurors, which notice shall command them to appear at the place of holding such court at the hour of ten (10) A.M. of the first (1st) day of the term of said court. If any person so drawn shall fail to appear at said time and place, the court shall order the clerk to issue a summons for him to appear forthwith, which shall be served as provided in section six hundred and sixty-two (662) of the code of civil procedure, and unless such person upon his appearance shall make it satisfactorily appear to the court that he had no actual notice that he was drawn as a juror, and required to report as aforesaid, he shall be taxed with the costs of such service which shall be entered as a judgment against him in favor of the state and when collected shall be turned over to the treasurer of said county. The court shall examine all jurors so drawn who appear, and if more than twenty-four (24) petit jurors for each judge sitting with a jury who are qualified and not subject to any exemptions or any of the disqualifications provided in this act shall appear and remain after all excuses are allowed, the court shall discharge by lot the number in excess of twenty-four (24) for each judge sitting with a jury. At the same time and in the same manner, the clerk of said court shall also draw the same number of names as petit jurors for the second three weeks of that term, and the persons so drawn shall be notified and summoned the same as those first drawn, and during the term, the court shall direct the clerk to draw, notify and summon other petit jurors in the manner described, as often as the length of the term may require; Provided, That should said clerk draw from the said box the name of a person whom he may know to be dead, it shall be the duty of said clerk to report the name of such person to the county clerk, and said clerk of such court shall draw other names until the required number shall have been selected, Provided, also, that whenever there shall be pending for trial in said court, any criminal cause wherein the defendant is charged with a felony and the judge holding said court shall be convinced from the circumstances of the case that a jury cannot be obtained from the regular panel to try said cause, said judge may in his discretion prior to the day fixed for the trial of said cause direct the clerk to draw (in the same manner as the regular panel is drawn) such number as the judge may direct, as a special panel from which a jury may be selected to try said cause which panel shall be notified and summoned for said day the same as the regular panel. [Amended 1891, chap. 58.]

SEC. 669 h. [Grand jury.—If a grand jury shall be required by law or by order of the judge for any term of court, it shall be the duty of the county board in each of the counties in this state wherein such court is directed to be holden, at least twenty (20) days before the sitting of such court, to select twenty-three (23) persons, possessing the qualifications as provided in section two (2) of this act, and as near as may be a proportionate number from each town or precinct in their respective counties, to serve as grand jurors at such term; and to cause the county clerk, within five days thereafter, to certify the names of the persons so selected as grand jurors to the clerk of the court for which they are selected, who shall issue and deliver to the sheriff of the county wherein the court is to be held, at least ten days before the term of the court for which they shall have been selected, or during term time if the court shall order, a summons commanding him to summon the persons so selected as aforesaid, to appear before such court at or before the hour of eleven (11) o'clock, A.M., on the first day of the term, or upon such other day as the judge shall direct, to constitute a grand jury for such term. The sheriff shall serve such summons in the manner provided for service of summons on petit jurors, and for any refusal or neglect so to do, shall be deemed guilty of contempt of court, and may be fined therefor as provided in section six hundred and sixty-seven (667) of the code of civil procedure. The judge shall examine the jurors who appear, and if more than sixteen grand jurors who are qualified and not subject to any exemption or any of the disqualifications provided in this act shall appear and remain after all excuses are allowed, the sheriff or deputy sheriff shall draw by lot the names of the number in excess of sixteen who shall be discharged by the court; and the sixteen remaining shall constitute the grand jury.

SEC. 669 i. [Order to sheriff.—The clerk of the court shall, within five days after such drawing issue to the sheriff, a summons commanding him to summon as petit jurors, a sufficient number, not less than thirty of the persons so drawn, giving their residences to appear at the place of holding such court, at the hour of ten o'clock, A.M., of the first day of the term or upon such other day of the term as the judge shall direct, and a like number to appear at the same place and hour two weeks after the time at which the former number of jurors were summoned to appear, and the same number for each two weeks thereafter, the court will probably be in session, which summons shall be served as provided in section six hundred sixty-two (662) of the code of civil procedure.

SEC. 669 j. [Additional jurors—Talesmen.—If for any reason the panel of petit jurors shall not be full at the opening of such court, or at any time during the term, the clerk of such court may again repair to the office of the county clerk and draw in the same manner as at the first drawing such number of jurors as the court shall direct, to fill such panel, who shall be notified and summoned in the same manner as the others, and, if necessary, jurors may continue to be so drawn, notified and summoned from time to time until the panel shall be filled. In case a jury shall be required in such court for trial of any cause, before the panel shall be filled in the manner herein provided, the court shall direct the sheriff to summon from the bystanders, or from the body of the county, a sufficient number of persons having the qualifications of jurors, as provided in this act, to fill the panel, in order that a jury to try such cause may be drawn therefrom, and when such jury is drawn, the persons selected from the bystanders, or from the body of the county, to fill the panel, and not chosen on the jury, shall be discharged from the panel, and those who shall be chosen to serve on such jury shall also be discharged from the panel at the conclusion of the trial. Provided, That persons selected from the bystanders, as provided in this section, shall not thereby be disqualified or exempt from service as jurors, when regularly drawn by the clerk for that purpose in the manner provided in this act. [Amended 1891, chap. 58.]

SEC. 669 k. [Regular panel exhausted—Talesmen.]—When by reason of challenge in the selection of a jury for the trial of any cause, or by reason of the sudden sickness or absence of any juror for any cause, the regular panel shall be exhausted, the court may direct the sheriff to summon a sufficient number of persons having the qualifications of jurors to fill the panel for the pending trial; but, upon objection by either party to the cause to the sheriff summoning a sufficient number of persons to fill the panel, the court shall appoint a special bailiff to summon such person; Provided, The same person shall not be appointed special bailiff more than once at any term of court. Any person who shall seek the position of juror, or who shall ask any attorney or other officer of the court or other person to secure his selection as a juror, shall be deemed guilty of a contempt of court, and be fined not exceeding twenty ($20.00) dollars, and shall thereby be disqualified from serving as a juror for that term, and such fact shall be sufficient ground for challenge. Any attorney or party to a suit pending for trial at that term who shall request or solicit the placing of any person upon a jury shall be deemed guilty of a contempt of the court and be fined not exceeding one hundred ($100.00) dollars, and the person so sought to be put upon the jury shall be disqualified to serve as a juror at that term of court.

SEC. 669 l. [Causes for challenge.]—It shall be sufficient cause of challenge of a petit juror that he lacks any one of the qualifications mentioned in section two (2) of this act; or in section (657) six hundred and fifty-seven of the code of civil procedure, or if he is not one of the regular panel, that he has served as a juror on the trial of a cause in any court of record in the county within one year previous to the time of his being offered as a juror; or that he is a party to a suit pending for trial in that court, at that term. It shall be the duty of the court to discharge from the panel all jurors who do not possess the qualifications provided in this act as soon as the fact is discovered; Provided, If a person has served on a jury in a court of record within one year he shall be exempt from again serving during such year unless he waives such exemption; Provided further, That it shall not be a cause of challenge that a juror has read in the newspapers an account of the commission of the crime with which the prisoner is charged, if such juror shall state on oath that he believes he can render an impartial verdict, according to the law and the evidence; And provided further, That in the trial of any criminal cause, the fact that a person called as a juror has formed an opinion or impression based upon rumor or upon newspaper statements (about the truth of which he has expressed no opinion), shall not disqualify him to serve as a juror in such case, if he shall upon oath state that he believes he can fairly and impartially render a verdict therein, in accordance with the law and the evidence, and the court shall be satisfied of the truth of such statement.

SEC. 669 m. [Trial jury, how selected.]—It shall be the duty of the clerk of the court at the commencement of each week of the term to write the name of each petit juror summoned and retained for that week on a separate ticket, and put the whole into a box or other place for safe keeping, and as often as it shall be necessary to empanel a jury, the clerk, sheriff, or coroner shall, in the presence of the court, draw by chance twelve names out of such box or other place, which shall designate the twelve to be sworn on the jury, and in the same manner for the second jury, in their turn, as the court may order and direct.

SEC. 669 n. [Repealing clause.]—Sections six hundred fifty-eight (658), six hundred fifty-nine (659), six hundred sixty (660), six hundred and sixty-one (661), six hundred sixty-five (665) of the code of civil procedure and all acts and parts of acts in conflict herewith shall be repealed so far as respect counties having a population of seventy thousand (70,000) or more; Provided, That the existing law relating to juries shall be in effect in the respective counties until such time as the county boards of the respective counties having a population of seventy thousand (70,000) or more shall have complied with the provisions of this act.

TITLE XX.—CONTEMPTS.

SEC. 669. [Power of court to punish—When.]—Every court of record shall have power to punish by fine and imprisonment, or by either, as for criminal contempt, persons guilty of any of the following acts: First—Disorderly, contemptuous, or insolent behavior towards the court, or any of its officers, in its presence. Second—Any breach of the peace, noise, or other disturbance tending to interrupt its proceedings. Third—Wilful disobedience of, or resistance wilfully offered to any lawful process or order of said court. Fourth—Any wilful attempt to obstruct the proceedings, or hinder the due administration of justice in any suit, proceedings, or process pending before the courts. Fifth—The contumacious and unlawful refusal of any person to be sworn or affirmed as a witness, and when sworn or affirmed, the refusal to answer any legal and proper interrogatory. [R. S. 512. G. S. 645.]

SEC. 670. [How punished.]—Contempts committed in the presence of the court may be punished summarily; in other cases, the party, upon being brought before the court, shall be notified of the accusation against him, and have a reasonable time to make his defense.

SEC. 671. [Same—Indictment.]—Persons punished for contempt under the preceding provisions, shall nevertheless be liable to indictment, if such contempt shall amount to an indictable offense; but the court before which the conviction shall be had, may, in determining the punishment, take into consideration the punishment before inflicted in mitigation of the sentence.

Courts cannot enlarge time for taking appeal. 1 Neb. 113. 2 Id. 65. 4 Id. 131. 20 Id. 104. Time begins at date of judgment. 1d. Allowed after time on account of default of court, absence of judge, etc. 7 Neb. 299. 12 Id. 481. 20 Id. 108. Party not deprived of right of appeal by reason of judge holding bill of exceptions and signing after time up. 19 Neb. 396. Allowed where appellee has waived rights. 11 Neb. 206. 16 Id. 44. If the interests of the parties appealing are united with others so as to require taking up of the whole record the entire case will be reviewed. 16 Neb. 627. Appeal by one party in a case brings case up as to all. 17 Neb. 817. 18 Id. 631. An appeal by principal, in an action on promissory note against him and sureties, as joint makers thereof, brings the case before the appellate court as to all the defendants, and the court has jurisdiction to render judgment against all the defendants. 24 Neb. 370. In case stated, where one defendant had no notice of proceedings in the court below and no notice of appeal to the supreme court, the latter decreed no jurisdiction over that defendant. 25 Neb. 297. Appellee neglecting to take steps to review decree will not on affirmance be entitled to any greater relief than was awarded him in court below. 19 Neb. 307. Judgment on appeal, proper in supreme court although plaintiff below was non-suited. 15 Neb. 35. Where both parties appeal, one cannot obtain dismissal because the other has not served notice of the appeal on him. 15 Neb. 235. Appeal brings up case for trial de novo. 4 Neb. 583. 7 Id. 459. 17 Id. 163. Appeal lies from order overruling motion to set aside. 7 Neb. 459. And from order confirming sale in vacation. 8 Neb. 28 after the date of the rendition of the judgment or decree, or the making of the final order, procure from the clerk of the district court and file in the office of the clerk of the supreme court, a certified transcript of the proceedings had in the cause in the district court, containing the pleadings, the judgment, or decree rendered or final order made therein, and all the depositions, testimony, and proofs offered in evidence on the hearing of the cause, and have the said cause properly docketed in the supreme court; and on failure thereof, the judgment or decree rendered or the final order made in the district court shall stand and be proceeded in as if no appeal had been taken.

SEC. 676. [Testimony reduced to writing.]—In actions hereinafter heard and determined, when the proofs and testimony are taken orally before the court on the hearing of the cause, the same shall be reduced to writing, in form similar to bills of exception, and be allowed by the judge hearing the cause, as in cases at law.

SEC. 677. [Undertaking.]—No appeal in any case in equity, now pending and undetermined, or which shall hereafter be brought shall operate as a supersedeas, unless the appellant, or appellants, shall within twenty days next after the rendition of such judgment, or decree, or the making of such final order, execute to the adverse party a bond with one or more sureties as follows: First—When the judgment, decree, or final order appealed from, directs the payment of money, the bond shall be in double the amount of the judgment, decree, or final order, conditioned that the appellant, or appellants, will prosecute such appeal without delay, and pay all condemnation money and costs which may be found against him, or them, on the final determination of the cause in the supreme court. Second—When the judgment, decree, or final order directs the execution of a conveyance or other instrument, the bond shall be in such sum as shall be prescribed by the district court, or judge thereof in vacation, conditioned that the appellant, or appellants, will prosecute such appeal without delay; and will abide and perform the judgment or decree rendered, or final order which shall be made by the supreme court in the cause. Third—When the judgment, decree, or order directs the sale or delivery of possession of real estate, the bond shall be in such sum as the court, or judge thereof in vacation, shall prescribe, conditioned that the appellant, or appellants, will prosecute such appeal without delay, and will not during the pendency of such appeal commit, or suffer to be committed, any waste upon such real estate. Fourth—When the judgment, decree, or final order dissolves or modifies any order of injunction, which has been, or hereafter may be granted, the supersedeas bond shall be in such reasonable sum as the court, or judge thereof in vacation, shall prescribe, conditioned that the appellant or appellants, will prosecute such appeal without delay, and will pay all costs which may be found against him, or them, on the final determination of the cause in the supreme court; and such supersedeas bond shall stay the doing of the act or acts, sought to be restrained by the suit, and continue such injunction in force, until the case is heard and finally determined in the supreme court. The undertaking given upon the allowance of the injunction shall be and remain in effect, until it is finally decided whether or not the injunction ought to have been granted. [Amended 1889, chap. 26.]

SEC. 678. [Same—Approval—Supersedeas.]—Before any bond executed as aforesaid shall operate as a supersedeas, the execution of the same, and the sufficiency of the sureties therein, must be approved by the clerk of the court in which the judgment or decree was rendered or the final order was made.

SEC. 677. Amount of bond discretionary. 8 Neb. 305. Must contain conditions prescribed. 19 Neb. 221. Innocent purchaser pending unstayed appeal protected from consequences of reversal. 28 Id. 605.

SEC. 679. [Bond on dissolution of injunction.]—That in case of the dissolution or modification by any court, or any judge at chambers, of any temporary order of injunction, which has been or may hereafter be granted, the court or judge, so dissolving or modifying said order of injunction, shall at the same time fix a reasonable sum as the amount of a supersedeas bond, which the person or persons applying for said injunction may give, and prevent the doing of the act, or acts, the commission of which was, or may be sought to be restrained by the injunction so dissolved or modified. [1889, chap. 27.]

SEC. 680. [Same.]—Such supersedeas bond shall be executed on or before twenty (20) days from the time of the order dissolving or modifying such injunction, shall be signed by one or more sufficient sureties to be approved by the clerk of the court, and shall be conditioned that the party, or parties who obtained such injunction shall pay to the defendant, or defendants, all damages which he or they shall sustain by reason of said injunction, if it be finally decided that such injunction ought not to have been granted. [Id.]

SEC. 681. [Same—Effect.]—Such supersedeas bond shall stay the doing of the act or acts sought to be restrained by the suit, and continue such injunction in force until the case is heard and finally determined by the judgment, decree, or final order of the court in term time. [Id.]

TITLE XXII.—BOATS. [Repealed. Gen. Stat. 713.]

TITLE XXIII.—INFORMATIONS.

SEC. 704. [Filed against whom.]—An information may be filed against any person unlawfully holding or exercising any public office or franchise within this state, or any office in any corporation created by the laws of this state, or when any public officer has done or suffered any act which works a forfeiture of his office, or when any persons act as a corporation within this state without being authorized by law, or if, being incorporated, they do or omit acts which amount to a surrender or forfeiture of their rights and privileges as a corporation, or when they exercise powers not conferred by law.

SEC. 705. [By whom.]—Such information may be filed by the prosecuting attorney of the proper county whenever he deems it his duty so to do.

SEC. 706. [Same.]—He must file such information when directed to do so by the governor, the legislative assembly, or the district court.

SEC. 707. [Petition—Contents.]—Such information shall consist of a plain statement of the facts which constitute the grounds of the proceeding, addressed to the court which shall stand for an original petition.

SEC. 708. [Same—Filing—Summons.]—Such statement shall be filed in the clerk's office, and summons issued and served in the same manner as hereinbefore provided for the commencement of actions in the district court.

SEC. 709. [Answer.]—The defendant shall appear and answer such information in the usual way, and issue being joined it shall be tried in the ordinary manner.

SEC. 710. [Claimant—Rights of parties determined.]—When the defendant is holding an office to which another is claiming the right, the information should set forth the name of such claimant, and the trial must, if practicable, determine the rights of contesting parties.

SEC. 711. [Judgment of claimant.]—If judgment be rendered in favor of such claimant, he shall proceed to exercise the functions of the office after he has qualified as required by law.

SECS. 679-681. "An act to provide for supersedeas bonds in certain cases." Passed and took effect March 29, 1889. Laws 1889, chap. 27. Does not apply to restraining order. 28 Neb. 431.

SEC. 704. Provisions of election law cumulative. 28 Neb. 438.

SEC. 705. Information filed by consent of district attorney, though not signed by him, Held, Good. 4 Neb. 512. Attorney-general proper officer to institute in supreme court. 15 Neb. 446. Private person cannot maintain unless he claims right to the office. 13 Neb. 532.

SEC. 712. [Same—Delivery of books and papers.]—The court, after such judgment, shall order the defendant to deliver over all books and papers in his custody or under his control belonging to said office.

SEC. 713. [Same—Damages.]—When the judgment has been rendered in favor of the claimant, he may at any time within one year thereafter bring suit against the defendant and recover the damages he has sustained by reason of the act of the defendant.

SEC. 714. [Several claimants.]—When several persons claim to be entitled to the same office or franchise, an information may be filed against all or any portion thereof, in order to try their respective rights thereto.

SEC. 715. [Ouster.]—If the defendant be found guilty of unlawfully holding or exercising any office, franchise, or privilege, or if a corporation be found to have violated the law by which it holds its existence, or in any other manner to have done acts which amount to a surrender or forfeiture of its privileges, judgment shall be rendered that such defendant be ousted, and altogether excluded from such office, franchise, or privilege, and also that he pay the costs of the proceeding.

SEC. 716. [Judgment in other cases.]—If the defendant be found to have exercised merely certain individual powers and privileges to which he was not entitled, the judgment shall be the same as above directed, but only in relation to those particulars in which he is thus exceeding the lawful exercise of his rights and privileges.

SEC. 717. [Title of cause—Costs.]—When an information is upon the relation of a private individual, it shall be so stated in the petition and proceedings, and such individual shall be responsible for costs in case they are not adjudged against the defendant. In other cases the title of the cause shall be the same as in a criminal prosecution, and the payment of costs shall be regulated by the same rule.

SEC. 718. [Same.]—In case judgment is rendered against a pretended, but not real, corporation, the costs may be collected from any person who has been acting as an officer or proprietor of such pretended corporation.

SEC. 719. [Dissolved corporation—Trustees.]—If a corporation is ousted and dissolved by the proceedings herein authorized, the court shall appoint three disinterested persons as trustees of the creditors and stockholders.

SEC. 720. [Same—Bond.]—Such trustees shall enter into bond, in such a penalty, and with such security as the court may approve, conditioned for the faithful discharge of their trust.

SEC. 721. [Same—Suit on bond.]—Suit may be brought on such bond by any person injured by the negligence or wrongful act of the trustees in the discharge of their duties.

SEC. 722. [Trustees—Duties.]—The trustees shall proceed immediately to collect the debts and pay the liabilities of the corporation, and to divide the surplus among those thereto entitled.

SEC. 723. [Books, etc., of corporation.]—The court shall, upon an application for that purpose, order any officer of such corporation, or any other person having possession of any of the effects, books, or papers of the corporation in any wise necessary for the settlement of its affairs, to deliver up the same to the trustees.

SEC. 724. [Trustees—Inventory.]—As soon as practicable, after their appointment, the trustees shall make and file in the office of the clerk of the court, an inventory of all the effects, rights, and credits which come to their possession or knowledge, the truth of which inventory shall be sworn to.

SEC. 725. [Same—Act as executors.]—They shall sue for and recover the debts and property of the corporation, and shall be responsible to the creditors and stockholders, respectively, to the extent of the effects which come to their hands, in the same manner as though they were the executors of a deceased person.

SEC. 715. Court in its discretion may grant supersedeas on judgment of ouster. But its refusal to do so cannot be reviewed on error. 10 Neb. 249. Judgment of ouster in cases stated. 16 Neb. 36, 549. 18 Id. 232.

SEC. 726. [Officers of corporations—Liability.]—When judgment of ouster is rendered against a corporation on account of the misconduct of the directors or officers thereof, such officers shall be jointly and severally liable to an action by any one injured thereby.

SEC. 727. [Contempt of court—Penalty.]—Any person who, without good reason, refuses to obey any order of the court as herein provided, shall be deemed guilty of a contempt of court, and shall be fined in any sum not exceeding five thousand dollars and imprisoned in the county jail until he comply with said order, and shall be further liable for the damages resulting to any person on account of his refusal to obey such order.

SEC. 728. [Letters patent—Vacated.]—A proceeding of this kind may be instituted, in the manner above contemplated, for the purpose of annulling or vacating any letters patent granted by the proper authorities of this state, where there is reason to believe that the same were obtained by fraud, or through mistake or ignorance of a material fact, or when the patentee, or those claiming under him, have done or omitted an act in violation of the terms and conditions on which the letters were granted, or have by any other means forfeited the interest acquired under the same.

TITLE XXIV.—CHANCERY. [Repealed. 1867, 71. G. S. 707.]

TITLE XXV.—PROBATE COURT.

CHAPTER I.—[Repealed. G. S. 271.]

CHAPTER II.—ADOPTION OF CHILDREN.

SEC. 796. [How consummated.]—Whenever it may be desirable that any person or persons shall adopt the child of another, the same may be consummated in the manner hereinafter provided.

SEC. 797. [Same—Proceedings.]—The parents, guardians, or other person or persons having lawful control or custody of any minor child, may make a statement in writing before the county judge of the county where the person or persons desiring to adopt such child reside, that he, she, or they voluntarily relinquish all right to the custody of and power and control over such child (naming him or her), and all claim and interest in and to the services and wages of such child, to the end that such child shall be fully adopted by the party or parties (naming them) desiring to adopt such child, which statement shall be signed and sworn to by the party making the same, before said county judge, in the presence of at least two witnesses, and the person or persons desiring to adopt such child, shall also make a statement in writing, to the effect that he, she, or they freely and voluntarily adopt such child (naming him or her) as their own, with such limitations and conditions as shall be agreed upon by the parties, which said statement shall also be signed and sworn to by the parties making the same before said county judge, in the presence of at least two witnesses; but when such child is an inmate of "The Home for the Friendless," or of any orphans' home organized under the laws of this state, and has been voluntarily surrendered in writing by its parents or guardians, for the purpose of adoption, to the directors or trustees of the "Society of the Home for the Friendless," or of such orphans' home, or has no father or mother living, or has been previously abandoned by its parents or guardians, or left in any such charitable institution for four months without being claimed, then the written consent of the president of the board of directors or trustees of said society, or of such orphans' home, shall be given to such adoption signed in the presence of any county judge of this state and certified by him to the county judge of the county where the person or persons desiring to adopt such child reside, which shall be received in the place of the relinquishment as herein required; Provided, In all cases where such child shall be of the age of fourteen years and upward, the written consent of such child shall be necessary to the validity of such proceeding; And provided further, Whenever it shall be desirable the party or parties adopting such child may, by stipulations to that effect in such statement, adopt such child and bestow upon him or her equal rights, privileges, and immunities of children born in lawful wedlock, and such statement or consent shall be filed with and recorded by said county judge in a book kept in his office for that purpose. [Amended 1885, chap. 98.]

SEC. 798. [Hearing.].—And such county judge shall appoint a time and place for the hearing of said matter. [Id.]

SEC. 799. [Decree.].—At the time and place of the hearing of such matter, if said hearing shall not be adjourned, the said probate judge shall render a decree therein, in accordance with the conditions and stipulations of said statement; Provided, In case it shall appear to the satisfaction of said probate judge, that such proceedings are not for the best interest of the child or children, he may refuse to enter such decree, and the matter shall there upon be dismissed.

SEC. 800. [Same—Conclusive.].—All decrees entered in such case in conformity with the provisions and requirements of this chapter, shall be conclusive upon all the persons interested in such proceedings or matter, and the child or children thus adopted shall take the surname of the person or persons adopting the same, and all relations of parent and child, agreeable to such stipulations and the decree of the probate court, shall attach, and such child or children, if so stated in such decree, shall be subject to the exclusive control and custody of such parent or parents, and shall possess and enjoy all the rights, privileges, inheritance, heirships, and immunities of children born in lawful wedlock.

SEC. 801. [Fees.].—The probate judge shall be entitled to charge the same fees for such services as now are or hereafter may be provided by law for like services in other cases.

TITLE XXVI.—PARTITION.

SEC. 802. [Petition.].—When the object of the action is to effect the partition of real property among several joint owners, the petition must describe the property, and the several interests and estates of the several joint owners thereof, if known. All tenants in common, or joint tenants of any estate in land may be compelled to make or suffer partition of such estate or estates in the manner hereinafter prescribed. [Amended 1871, 112.]

SEC. 803. [Same—Unknown owners.].—If the number of shares or interests is known, but the owners thereof are unknown, or if there are or are supposed to be, any interests which are unknown, contingent, or doubtful, these facts must be set forth in the petition with reasonable certainty.

SEC. 804. [Lien holders—Parties.].—Creditors having a specific or general lien upon all or any portion of the property may or may not be made parties, at the option of the plaintiff.

SEC. 805. [Liens upon undivided interest.].—If the lien is upon one or more undivided interests of any of the parties, it shall, after partition or sale, remain a charge upon those particular interests or the proceeds thereof. But the due proportion of costs is a charge upon those interests paramount to all other liens.

SEC. 806. [Answer.].—The answers of the defendants must state, among other things, the amount and nature of their respective interests. They may deny the interest of any of the plaintiffs, and by supplemental pleading, if necessary, may deny the interests of any of the other defendants.

SEC. 807. [Reply.].—Where there are two or more plaintiffs they may reply jointly, or either of them may reply to any or all the answers of the defendants.

SEC. 802. Party out of possession whose title is denied cannot maintain partition against one in possession, claiming title. He must first establish his estate in the land. 21 Neb. 244. While in a proper case a court of equity will retain a petition for partition, where title of plaintiff is denied or is not clear until he can try his title at law, yet, where it is apparent from the whole record that plaintiff has no interest in the premises, right will be denied. 141. Purchasing in outstanding title by one tenant in common. 1 Neb. 450. Accounting for rents and profits. 4 Neb. 382. Dower interest insufficient to authorize. 20 Neb. 182. Only joint tenant or tenants in common can institute. Id. Jurisdiction of court. 18 Neb. 589. 20 Id. 489. 28 Id. 116.

SEC. 808. [Issues.]—Issues may thereupon be joined and tried between any of the contesting parties, the question of costs on such issues being regulated between the contestants agreeably to the principles applicable to other cases.

SEC. 809. [Proof of title.]—Each of the parties appearing, whether as plaintiff or defendant, must exhibit his documentary proof of title, if he has any, and must file the same, or copies thereof, with the clerk.

SEC. 810. [Pleadings taken as true.]—If the statements in the petition and answers are not contradicted in the manner aforesaid, or by the documentary proof exhibited as above required, they shall be taken as true.

SEC. 811. [Judgment.]—After all the shares and interests of the parties have been settled in any of the methods aforesaid, judgment shall be rendered confirming those shares and interests, and directing partition to be made accordingly.

SEC. 812. [Referee to make partition.]—Upon entering such judgment the court shall appoint referees to make partition into the requisite number of shares.

SEC. 813. [Special allotments.]—For good and sufficient reasons appearing to the court, the referees may be directed to allot particular portions of the land to particular individuals. In other cases the shares must be made as nearly as possible of equal value.

SEC. 814. [Referees report.]—If it appears to the referees that partition cannot be made without great prejudice to the owners, they shall so report to the court.

SEC. 815. [Order of sale.]—If satisfied with such report the court shall cause an order to be entered, directing the referees to sell the premises so situated and shall also fix the terms of sale.

SEC. 816. [Referee—Security.]—Before proceeding to sell, the referees shall each give security, to be approved by the court or judge thereof, conditioned for the faithful discharge of his duties. At any time thereafter the court may require further and better security.

SEC. 817. [Sale—How conducted—Notice.]—The same notice of sale shall be given as when lands are sold on execution by the sheriff, and the sale shall be conducted in like manner.

SEC. 818. [Referees, report of sale.]—After completing said sale, the referees must report their proceedings to the court, with a description of the different parcels of land sold to each purchaser, and the price bid therefor, which report shall be filed with the clerk.

SEC. 819. [Report of incumbrances by the clerk.]—After making the order of sale as aforesaid, the court shall direct the clerk to report whether there be any general incumbrance by mortgage, judgment, or otherwise, upon any portion of the property.

SEC. 820. [Same—By referee.]—If deemed advisable, the court may appoint a referee to inquire into the nature and amount of incumbrances, and report accordingly. From that report an appeal lies to the court.

SEC. 821. [Same—Duties.]—The referee shall give the parties interested at least five days notice of the time and place when he will receive proof of the amount of such incumbrances.

SEC. 822. [Same—Proof.]—In taking such proof he may receive, with other evidence, the affidavit of the parties interested.

SEC. 823. [Incumbrances—Payment.]—If any incumbrance be ascertained to exist, the proceeds of the sale of that portion, after the payment of costs, or so much thereof as is necessary, shall if the owner consent, be paid over to the incumbrancer.

SEC. 824. [Same—Proceeds of sale.]—If the owner object to the payment of such incumbrance, the money shall be retained or invested by order of the court to await final action in relation to its disposition, and notice thereof shall be forthwith given to the incumbrancer, unless he has already been made a party.

SEC. 825. [Issue between owner and incumbrancer.—The court may direct an issue to be made up between the incumbrancer and the owner, which shall be decisive of their respective rights.

SEC. 826. [Estates for life or years.—If an estate for life or years be found to exist as an incumbrance upon any part of said property, and if the parties cannot agree upon the sum in gross which they will consider an equivalent for such estate, the court shall direct the avails of the incumbered property to be invested and the proceeds to be paid to the incumbrancer during the existence of the incumbrance.

SEC. 827. [Proceedings not delayed.—The proceedings in relation to the incumbrances shall not delay the distribution of the proceeds of other shares in respect to which no difficulties exist.

SEC. 828. [Security from parties.—The court in its discretion may require all or any of the parties before they receive the moneys arising from any sale authorized in this title, to give satisfactory security, to refund such moneys with interest, in case it afterward appears that such parties were not entitled thereto.

SEC. 829. [Sale—Confirmed—Conveyance.—If the sales aforesaid be approved and confirmed by the court, an order shall be entered directing the referees, or any two of them, to execute conveyances pursuant to such sales. But no conveyance can be made until all the money is paid, without receiving from the purchaser a mortgage of the land so sold, or other equivalent security.

SEC. 830. [Conveyance—Effect.—Such conveyances so executed, being recorded in the county where the premises are situate, shall be valid against all subsequent purchasers, and also against all persons interested at the time who were made parties to the proceedings in the mode pointed out by law.

SEC. 831. [Proceeds of shares—Investment.—If the owner of any share thus sold has a husband or wife living, and if such husband and wife do not agree as to the disposition that shall be made of the proceeds of such sale, the court must direct it to be invested in real estate under the supervision of such person as it may appoint, taking the title in the name of the owner, of the share sold as aforesaid.

SEC. 832. [Sale disapproved—Money returned.—If the sales are disapproved, the money paid and the securities given must be returned to the persons respectively entitled thereto.

SEC. 833. [Partition—How made—Surveyor.—When a partition is deemed proper the referees must make out the shares by visible monuments, and may employ a competent surveyor and the necessary assistants to aid them.

SEC. 834. [Referees report—Plat.—The report of the referees must be in writing, signed by at least two of them. It must describe the respective shares with reasonable particularity, and be accompanied by a plat of the premises.

SEC. 835. [Shares drawn by lot.—Unless the shares are allotted to their respective owners by the referees as hereinbefore contemplated, the clerk shall number the shares and then draw the names of the future owners by lot.

SEC. 836. [Partition in part.—When partition can be conveniently made of part of the premises, but not of all, one portion may be partitioned and the other sold as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 837. [Report set aside.—On good cause shown, the report may be set aside and the matter again referred to the same or other referees.

SEC. 838. [Judgment.—Upon the report of the referees being confirmed, judgment thereon shall be rendered that the partition be firm and effectual forever.

SEC. 839. [Defendants, how served.—The defendants may be served in the same manner as in ordinary civil action by summons, or by publication as provided in this code, and when all the parties in interest have been duly served, any of the proceedings herein prescribed shall be binding and conclusive upon them all. If only a portion of such parties be served, they only shall be bound by such proceedings. [Amended 1871, 112.]

SEC. 840. [Judgment—Effect.]—The judgment of partition shall be presumptive evidence of title in all cases, and as between the parties themselves it is conclusive evidence thereof, subject, however, to be defeated by proof of a title paramount to, or independent of, that under which the parties held as joint tenants or tenants in common.

SEC. 841. [Costs.]—All the costs of the proceedings in partition shall be paid in the first instance by the plaintiffs, but eventually by all the parties in proportion to their interests, except those costs which are created by contests above provided for.

SEC. 842. [Incumbrancers—Appearance.]—Any person claiming to hold an incumbrance upon any portion of the property involved in the suit, may, in default of the owner, appear and act as his representative in any of the proceedings under this title.

SEC. 843. [Contingent interests.]—Persons having contingent interests in such property may be made parties to the proceedings, and the proceeds of the property so situated (or the property itself, in case of partition), shall be subject to the order of the court until the right becomes fully vested.

SEC. 844. [Share of absent owner.]—The ascertained share of any absent owner shall be retained, or the proceeds invested for his benefit.

TITLE XXVII.—FORECLOSURE OF MORTGAGES BY ACTION.

SEC. 845. [Petition—Where filed.]—All petitions for the foreclosure or satisfaction of mortgages shall be filed in the district court in chancery where the mortgaged premises are situated.

SEC. 846. [Sale—Decreed by court.]—Whenever a petition shall be filed for the foreclosure or satisfaction of a mortgage, the court shall have power to decree a sale of the mortgaged premises, or such part thereof as may be sufficient to discharge the amount due on the mortgage, and the cost of suit.

SEC. 847. [Decree for deficiency.]—When a petition shall be filed for the satisfaction of a mortgage, the court shall not only have the power to decree and compel the delivery of the possession of the premises to the purchaser thereof, but on the coming in of the report of sale, the court shall have power to decree and direct the payment by the mortgagor of any balance of the mortgage debt that may remain unsatisfied after a sale of the mortgaged premises, in the cases in which such balance is recoverable at law; and for that purpose may issue the necessary execution, as in other cases, against other property of the mortgagor.

SEC. 848. [Bar to action for debt.].—After such petition shall be filed, while the same is pending, and after a decree rendered thereon, no proceedings whatever shall be had at law for the recovery of the debt secured by the mortgage, or any part thereof, unless authorized by the court.

SEC. 849. [Other security—Additional parties.].—If the mortgage debt be secured by the obligation or other evidence of debt of any other person besides the mortgagor, the complainant may make such person a party to the petition, and the court may decree payment of the balance of such debt remaining unsatisfied after a sale of the mortgaged premises, as well against such other person as the mortgagor, and may enforce such decree as in other cases.

SEC. 850. [Petition—Allegation as to debt.].—Upon filing a petition for the foreclosure or satisfaction of a mortgage, the complainant shall state therein whether any proceedings have been had at law for the recovery of the debt secured thereby, or any part thereof, and whether such debt, or any part thereof, has been collected and paid.

SEC. 851. [Judgment at law—Bar to foreclosure.].—If it appear that any judgment has been obtained in a suit at law for the money demanded by such petition, or any part thereof, no proceedings shall be had in such case, unless, to an execution against the property of the defendant in such judgment, the sheriff or other proper officer shall have returned that the execution is unsatisfied in whole or in part, and that the defendant has no property whereof to satisfy such execution except the mortgaged premises.

SEC. 852. [Sales—By whom made.].—All sales of mortgaged premises under a decree in chancery shall be made by a sheriff, or some other person authorized by the court in the county where the premises or some part of them are situated, and in all cases where the sheriff shall make such sale he shall act in his official capacity and he shall be liable on his official bond for all his acts therein, and shall receive the same compensation as is provided by law for like services upon sales under speculation [execution]. [Amended 1875, 42. Took effect Feb. 25, 1875.]

SEC. 853. [Deed to purchaser—Effect.].—Deeds shall thereupon be executed by such sheriff, which shall vest in the purchaser the same estate that would have vested in the mortgagee if the equity of redemption had been foreclosed, and no other or greater; and such deeds shall be as valid as if executed by the mortgagor and mortgagee, and shall be an entire bar against each of them, and all parties to the suit in which the decree for such sale was made, and against their heirs respectively, and all persons claiming under such heirs.

SEC. 854. [Avails of sale—Application.].—The proceeds of every sale made under a decree in chancery, shall be applied to the discharge of the debt adjudged by such court to be due, and of the costs awarded, and if there be any surplus, it shall be brought into court for the use of the defendant, or of the person entitled thereto, subject to the order of the court.

SEC. 855. [Surplus—Disposition.].—If such surplus, or any part thereof, shall remain in said court for the term of three months without being applied for, the court may direct the same to be put out at interest under the direction of the court, for the benefit of the defendant, his representatives, or assigns, to be paid to them by the order of such court.

SEC. 856. [Petition dismissed on payment.].—Whenever a petition shall be filed for the satisfaction or foreclosure of any mortgage, upon which there shall be due any interest on any portion or installment of the principal, and there shall be other portions or installments to become due subsequently, the petition shall be dismissed upon the defendant bringing into court, at any time before the decree of sale, the principal and interest due, with costs.

SEC. 857. [Decree—Subsequent default.]—If, after a decree for sale, entered against a defendant in such case, he shall bring into court the principal and interest due, with costs, the proceedings in the suit shall be stayed, but the court shall enter a decree of foreclosure and sale, to be enforced by further order of the court, upon a subsequent default in the payment of any portion or installment of the principal, or any interest thereafter to become due.

SEC. 858. [Reference—Situation of premises.]—If the defendant shall not bring into court the amount due, with costs, or if for any other cause a decree shall pass for the complainant, the court may direct a reference to a sheriff to ascertain and report the situation of the mortgaged premises, or may determine the same on oral or other testimony, and if it shall appear that the same can be sold in parcels, without injury to the parties, the decree shall direct so much of the mortgaged premises to be sold as will be sufficient to pay the amount then due on such mortgage, with costs, and such decree shall remain a security for any subsequent default.

SEC. 859. [Further order of court.]—If, in the case mentioned in the preceding section, there shall be any default subsequent to such decree in the payment of any portion or installment of the principal, or any interest due upon such mortgage, the court may, upon the petition of the complainant, by a further order, founded upon such first decree, direct a sale of so much of the mortgaged premises to be made, under such decree, as will be sufficient to satisfy the amount so due, with the costs of such petition and the subsequent proceedings thereon, and the same proceedings may be had as often as a default shall happen.

SEC. 860. [Sale of entire property.]—If, in any of the foregoing cases, it shall appear to the court that the mortgaged premises are so situated that a sale of the whole will be most beneficial to the parties, the decree shall, in the first instance, be entered for the sale of the whole premises accordingly.

SEC. 861. [Same—Proceeds—Application.]—In such case the proceeds of such sale shall be applied as well to the interest, portion, or installment of the principal due as towards the whole or residue of the sum secured by such mortgage, and not due and payable at the time of such sale, and if such residue do not bear interest, then the court may direct the same to be paid with a rebate of the legal interest, for the time during which such residue shall not be due and payable, or the court may direct the balance of the proceeds of such sale, after paying the sum due, with costs, to be put out at interest, for the benefit of the complainant, to be paid to him as the installments or portions of the principal or interest may become due, and the surplus for the benefit of the defendant, his representatives, or assigns, to be paid to them on the order of the court.

TITLE XXVIII. ARBITRATION.

SEC. 862. [Controversies submitted.]—All controversies which might be the subject of civil actions, may be submitted to the decision of one or more arbitrators as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 863. [Written agreement to submit.]—The parties themselves, or those persons who might lawfully have controlled a civil action in their behalf for the same subject matter, must sign a written agreement specifying particularly what demands are to be submitted, the names of the arbitrators, and the court by which the judgment on their award is to be rendered.

SEC. 864. [Acknowledgement before justice.]—They shall then appear before some justice of the peace of the county and acknowledge the instrument by them signed to be their free act and deed.

SEC. 865. [Demands submitted.]—The submission may be of some particular matters or demands, or of all demands which the one party has against the other, or of all mutual demands on both sides.

SEC. 866. [Submission by order of court.]—A submission to arbitrators of the subject matter of a suit may also be made by an order of court, upon an agreement of parties, after suit is commenced.

SEC. 867. [Rules applicable.]—All the rules prescribed by law in cases of referees are applicable to arbitrators, except as herein otherwise expressed, or except as otherwise agreed upon by the parties.

SEC. 868. [Revocation of submission.]—Neither party shall have the power to revoke the submission without the consent of the other.

SEC. 869. [Default in appearance.]—If either party neglect to appear before the arbitrators, after due notice, they may nevertheless proceed to hear and determine the cause upon the evidence which is produced before them.

SEC. 870. [Award—When made.]—If the time within which the award is to be made is fixed in the submission, no award made after that time shall have any legal effect, unless made upon a recommitment of the matter by the court to which it is reported.

SEC. 871. [Same—Filing.]—If the time of filing the award is not fixed in the submission, it must be filed within one year from the time such submission is signed and acknowledged, unless by mutual consent the time is prolonged.

SEC. 872. [Same—In writing.]—The award must be in writing, and shall be delivered by one of the arbitrators to the court designated in the agreement, or it may be enclosed and sealed by them and transmitted to the court, and not opened until the court so orders.

SEC. 873. [Same—Docketing—Notice.]—The cause shall be entered on the docket of the court at the term to which the award is returned, and shall be called up and acted upon in its order. But the court may require actual notice to be given to either party, when it appears necessary and proper, before proceeding to act on the award.

SEC. 874. [Same—Rejection by court.]—The award may be rejected by the court for any legal and sufficient reasons, or it may be recommitted for a rehearing to the same arbitrators, or any others agreed upon by the parties.

SEC. 875. [Same—Effect—Judgment.]—When the award has been confirmed, it shall be filed and entered on the record, and shall have the same force and effect as the verdict of a jury. Judgment may be entered and execution issued accordingly.

SEC. 876. [Appeal.]—When an appeal is taken from such judgment, copies of the submission and award, together with all affidavits, shall be returned to the supreme court.

SEC. 877. [Costs.]—If there is no provision in the submission respecting costs, arbitrators may award them at their discretion.

SEC. 878. [Fees.]—The compensation of the arbitrators shall be two dollars per day, for the time actually and necessarily spent, unless the court fix a less amount; and the fees of the justice of the peace shall be twenty-five cents for making out the agreement of submission (in case he does so), and the like amount for taking and certifying the acknowledgment thereto.

SEC. 879. [Construction of act.]—Nothing herein contained shall be construed to affect in any manner the control of the district court over the parties, the TITLE XXIX.—GENERAL PROVISIONS.

SEC. 880. [Process.]—The style of all process shall be, "The state of Nebraska, _____ county." It shall be under the seal of the court from whence the same shall issue, shall be signed by the clerk, and dated the day it issued. [Const. sec. 24, Art. VI.]

SEC. 881. [When sheriff party.]—An order for a provisional remedy or any other process, in an action wherein the sheriff is a party, or is interested, shall be directed to the coroner. If both these officers are interested, the process shall be directed to and executed by a person appointed by the court or judge.

SEC. 882. [Service by authorized person.]—The court or judge, for good cause, may appoint a person to serve a particular process or order, who shall have the same power to execute it which the sheriff has. The person may be appointed on the motion of the party obtaining the process or order, and the return must be verified by affidavit. He shall be entitled to the fees allowed to the sheriff for similar services.

DUTIES OF CLERKS.

SEC. 883. [Issuing process—Precipe.]—All writs and orders for provisional remedies and process of every kind, shall be issued by the clerks of the several courts. Before they shall be issued, a precipe shall be filed with the clerk, demanding the same; which precipe shall be for the direction of the clerk, and not material to the papers in the case after the issuing of such writ or process.

SEC. 884. [Filing papers.]—It is the duty of the clerk of each of the courts to file together and carefully preserve in his office, all papers delivered to him for that purpose, in every action or special proceeding.

SEC. 885. [Same—Endorsement of date.]—He shall endorse upon every paper filed with him, the day of filing it; and upon every order for a provisional remedy, and upon every undertaking given under the same, the day of its return to his office.

SEC. 886. [Docket entry of persons summoned.]—He shall, upon the return of every summons served, enter upon the docket the name of the defendant or defendants summoned, and the day of the service upon each one. The entry shall be evidence of the service of the summons, in case of the loss thereof.

SEC. 887. [Records and books.]—He shall keep the records and books and papers appertaining to the court, and record its proceedings.

SEC. 888. [Article 8 title 9 applicable.]—The provisions of article eight, title nine, of this code, prescribing the duties of clerks of the district court, shall, as far as they are applicable, apply to the clerks of other courts of record.

SEC. 889. [General powers and duties.]—The clerk of each of the courts shall exercise the powers and perform the duties conferred and imposed upon him by other provisions of this code, by other statutes, and by the common law. In the performance of his duty he shall be under the direction of his court.

DUTIES OF SHERIFFS.

SEC. 890. [Endorsement of receipt on process.]—The sheriff shall endorse upon every summons, order of arrest, or for the delivery of property, or of attachment or injunction, the day and the hour it was received by him.

SEC. 891. [Execution of process—Penalty.]—He shall execute every summons, order, or other process, and return the same as required by law; and if he fail to do so, unless he make it appear to the satisfaction of the court that he was prevented by inevitable accident from so doing, he shall be amerced by the court in a sum not exceeding one thousand dollars, and shall be liable to the action of any person aggrieved by such failure.

SEC. 892. [General powers and duties.]—The sheriff shall exercise the powers and perform the duties conferred and imposed upon him by other provisions of this code, by other statutes, and by the common law.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

SEC. 893. [Acts performed by deputy.]—Any duty enjoined by this code upon a ministerial officer, and any act permitted to be done by him, may be performed by his lawful deputy.

SEC. 894. [Oaths—Affirmations.]—Whenever an oath is required by this code, the affirmation of a person conscientiously scrupulous of taking an oath, shall have the same effect.

SEC. 895. [Time—Computation—Sunday.]—The time within which an act is to be done as herein provided, shall be computed by excluding the first day and including the last; if the last day be Sunday, it shall be excluded.

SEC. 896. [Jury trial—Party in default.]—Section four hundred and thirty-two shall not be construed to impair the right of a party to a jury, if he appear at the trial by himself or attorney, and demand the same.

SEC. 897. [Sureties—Proof of qualification.]—The ministerial officer, whose duty it is to take security in an undertaking provided for by this code, shall have the right to require the person offered as surety to make an affidavit of his qualifications, which affidavit may be made before such officer. The taking of such an affidavit shall not exempt the officer from any liability to which he might otherwise be subject for taking insufficient security.

SEC. 898. [Same—Qualifications.]—The surety in every undertaking provided for by this code, must be a resident of this state, and worth double the sum to be secured, beyond the amount of his debts, and have property liable to execution in this state, equal to the sum to be secured. Where there are two or more sureties in the same undertaking, they must in the aggregate have the qualifications prescribed in this section.

SEC. 899. [Court rules—Revision by supreme court.]—The judges of the supreme court shall, during the month of the first January after this code shall take effect, and every two years thereafter, meet at the capitol of the state, and revise their general rules, and make such amendments thereto as may be necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this code; and they shall make such further rules consistent therewith, as they may deem proper. The rules so made shall apply to the supreme court and the district courts.

SEC. 900. [Application of code to pending suits.]—The provisions of this code do not apply to proceedings in actions or suits pending when it takes effect. They shall be conducted to final judgment or decree, in all respects as if it had not been adopted; but the provisions of this code shall apply after a judgment, order, or decree heretofore or hereafter rendered, to the proceedings to enforce, vacate, modify, or reverse it.

SEC. 901. [Rights secured by existing laws.]—Rights of civil action given or secured by existing laws shall be prosecuted in the manner provided by this code, except as provided in the following section. If a case ever arise in which an action for the enforcement or protection of a right, or the redress or prevention of a wrong, cannot be had under this code, the practice heretofore in use may be adopted so far as may be necessary to prevent a failure of justice.

SEC. 808. [Issues.].—Issues may thereupon be joined and tried between any of the contesting parties, the question of costs on such issues being regulated between the contestants agreeably to the principles applicable to other cases.

SEC. 809. [Proof of title.].—Each of the parties appearing, whether as plaintiff or defendant, must exhibit his documentary proof of title, if he has any, and must file the same, or copies thereof, with the clerk.

SEC. 810. [Pleadings taken as true.].—If the statements in the petition and answers are not contradicted in the manner aforesaid, or by the documentary proof exhibited as above required, they shall be taken as true.

SEC. 811. [Judgment.].—After all the shares and interests of the parties have been settled in any of the methods aforesaid, judgment shall be rendered confirming those shares and interests, and directing partition to be made accordingly.

SEC. 812. [Referee to make partition.].—Upon entering such judgment the court shall appoint referees to make partition into the requisite number of shares.

SEC. 813. [Special allotments.].—For good and sufficient reasons appearing to the court, the referees may be directed to allot particular portions of the land to particular individuals. In other cases the shares must be made as nearly as possible of equal value.

SEC. 814. [Referees report.].—If it appears to the referees that partition cannot be made without great prejudice to the owners, they shall so report to the court.

SEC. 815. [Order of sale.].—If satisfied with such report the court shall cause an order to be entered, directing the referees to sell the premises so situated and shall also fix the terms of sale.

SEC. 816. [Referee—Security.].—Before proceeding to sell, the referees shall each give security, to be approved by the court or judge thereof, conditioned for the faithful discharge of his duties. At any time thereafter the court may require further and better security.

SEC. 817. [Sale—How conducted—Notice.].—The same notice of sale shall be given as when lands are sold on execution by the sheriff, and the sale shall be conducted in like manner.

SEC. 818. [Referees, report of sale.].—After completing said sale, the referees must report their proceedings to the court, with a description of the different parcels of land sold to each purchaser, and the price bid therefor, which report shall be filed with the clerk.

SEC. 819. [Report of incumbrances by the clerk.].—After making the order of sale as aforesaid, the court shall direct the clerk to report whether there be any general incumbrance by mortgage, judgment, or otherwise, upon any portion of the property.

SEC. 820. [Same—By referee.].—If deemed advisable, the court may appoint a referee to inquire into the nature and amount of incumbrances, and report accordingly. From that report an appeal lies to the court.

SEC. 821. [Same—Duties.].—The referee shall give the parties interested at least five days notice of the time and place when he will receive proof of the amount of such incumbrances.

SEC. 822. [Same—Proof.].—In taking such proof he may receive, with other evidence, the affidavit of the parties interested.

SEC. 823. [Incumbrances—Payment.].—If any incumbrance be ascertained to exist, the proceeds of the sale of that portion, after the payment of costs, or so much thereof as is necessary, shall if the owner consent, be paid over to the incumbrancer.

SEC. 824. [Same—Proceeds of sale.].—If the owner object to the payment of such incumbrance, the money shall be retained or invested by order of the court to await final action in relation to its disposition, and notice thereof shall be forthwith given to the incumbrancer, unless he has already been made a party.

SEC. 825. [Issue between owner and incumbrancer.].—The court may direct an issue to be made up between the incumbrancer and the owner, which shall be decisive of their respective rights.

SEC. 826. [Estates for life or years.].—If an estate for life or years be found to exist as an incumbrance upon any part of said property, and if the parties cannot agree upon the sum in gross which they will consider an equivalent for such estate, the court shall direct the avails of the incumbered property to be invested and the proceeds to be paid to the incumbrancer during the existence of the incumbrance.

SEC. 827. [Proceedings not delayed.].—The proceedings in relation to the incumbrances shall not delay the distribution of the proceeds of other shares in respect to which no difficulties exist.

SEC. 828. [Security from parties.].—The court in its discretion may require all or any of the parties before they receive the moneys arising from any sale authorized in this title, to give satisfactory security, to refund such moneys with interest, in case it afterward appears that such parties were not entitled thereto.

SEC. 829. [Sale—Confirmed—Conveyance.].—If the sales aforesaid be approved and confirmed by the court, an order shall be entered directing the referees, or any two of them, to execute conveyances pursuant to such sales. But no conveyance can be made until all the money is paid, without receiving from the purchaser a mortgage of the land so sold, or other equivalent security.

SEC. 830. [Conveyance—Effect.].—Such conveyances so executed, being recorded in the county where the premises are situate, shall be valid against all subsequent purchasers, and also against all persons interested at the time who were made parties to the proceedings in the mode pointed out by law.

SEC. 831. [Proceeds of shares—Investment.].—If the owner of any share thus sold has a husband or wife living, and if such husband and wife do not agree as to the disposition that shall be made of the proceeds of such sale, the court must direct it to be invested in real estate under the supervision of such person as it may appoint, taking the title in the name of the owner, of the share sold as aforesaid.

SEC. 832. [Sale disapproved—Money returned.].—If the sales are disapproved, the money paid and the securities given must be returned to the persons respectively entitled thereto.

SEC. 833. [Partition—How made—Surveyor.].—When a partition is deemed proper the referees must make out the shares by visible monuments, and may employ a competent surveyor and the necessary assistants to aid them.

SEC. 834. [Referees report—Plat.].—The report of the referees must be in writing, signed by at least two of them. It must describe the respective shares with reasonable particularity, and be accompanied by a plat of the premises.

SEC. 835. [Shares drawn by lot.].—Unless the shares are allotted to their respective owners by the referees as hereinbefore contemplated, the clerk shall number the shares and then draw the names of the future owners by lot.

SEC. 836. [Partition in part.].—When partition can be conveniently made of part of the premises, but not of all, one portion may be partitioned and the other sold as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 837. [Report set aside.].—On good cause shown, the report may be set aside and the matter again referred to the same or other referees.

SEC. 838. [Judgment.].—Upon the report of the referees being confirmed, judgment thereon shall be rendered that the partition be firm and effectual forever.

SEC. 839. [Defendants, how served.].—The defendants may be served in the same manner as in ordinary civil action by summons, or by publication as provided in this code, and when all the parties in interest have been duly served, any of the proceedings herein prescribed shall be binding and conclusive upon them all. If only a poration may be served upon the president, mayor, chairman of the board of directors or trustees, or other chief officer; or, if its chief officer be not found in the county, upon its cashier, treasurer, secretary, clerk, or managing agent; or if none of the aforesaid officers can be found, by a copy left at the office or usual place of business of such corporation, with the person having charge thereof.

SEC. 913. [Same—Insurance company.].—When the defendant is an incorporated insurance company, and the action is brought in a county in which there is an agency thereof, the service may be upon the chief officer of such agency.

SEC. 914. [Same—Foreign corporation.].—When the defendant is a foreign corporation, having a managing agent in this state, the service may be upon such agent.

SEC. 915. [Same—Minors.].—When the defendant is a minor under the age of fourteen years, the service must be upon him and upon his guardian or father; or, if neither of these can be found, then upon his mother, or the person having the care or control of the infant, or with whom he lives. If neither of these can be found, or if the minor be more than fourteen years of age, service on him alone shall be sufficient. The manner of service may be the same as in the case of adults.

APPEARANCE.

SEC. 916. [Parties entitled to one hour.].—The parties are entitled to one hour in which to appear, after the time mentioned in the summons for appearance, but are not bound to remain longer than that time, unless both parties have appeared, and the justice being present, is engaged in the trial of another cause. In such case, the justice may postpone the time of appearance until the close of such trial.

ARREST BEFORE JUDGMENT.

SEC. 917. [Grounds for order.].—An order for the arrest of the defendant in a civil action shall be made by the justice of the peace before whom the same is brought, when there is filed in his office an affidavit of the plaintiff, his authorized agent or attorney, made before any person authorized by law to administer oaths, stating the nature of the plaintiff's claim, that it is just, the amount thereof as near as may be, and establishing one or more of the following particulars: First—That the defendant has removed or begun to remove any of his property out of the county, with the intent to defraud his creditors. Second—That the defendant has begun to convert his property, or any part thereof, into money, for the purpose of defrauding his creditors. Third—That he has property or rights in action which he fraudulently conceals. Fourth—That he has assigned, removed, or disposed of, or begun to assign, remove, or dispose of his property, or any part thereof, with intent to defraud his creditors. Fifth—That the defendant fraudulently contracted the debt or incurred the obligation for which suit is about to be brought. The affidavit shall also contain a statement of the facts claimed to justify the belief in the existence of one or more of the above particulars.

SEC. 918. [Order—When made.].—The order of arrest may be made to accompany the summons, or at any time afterwards, before judgment.

SEC. 919. [Undertaking.].—The order of arrest shall not be issued by a justice of the peace until there has been executed by the plaintiff, if a resident freeholder of the county where the suit is brought, otherwise by one or more sufficient sureties of the plaintiff, a written undertaking, to the effect that the plaintiff shall pay the defendant all damages which he may sustain by reason of the arrest, if the order be wrongfully obtained, not exceeding double the amount of the plaintiff's claim, stated in the affidavit.

SEC. 920. [Order—Contents—Requirements.].—The order of arrest shall be addressed and delivered, with a copy of the affidavit, to a constable or sheriff of the proper county; it shall state the names of the parties, the amount of the plaintiff's claim specified in the affidavit, be signed by the justice of the peace issuing it, and shall require the constable or sheriff to arrest the defendant and bring him forthwith before said justice.

SEC. 921. [Same—Execution.]—The officer receiving said order shall execute the same by forthwith arresting the defendant and delivering to him a copy thereof, and of the affidavit. And the defendant, so arrested, unless the claim of the plaintiff, specified in the affidavit, and costs of suit, are paid, or unless discharged from custody by order of the plaintiff, shall be taken by such constable or sheriff forthwith before the justice of the peace by whom said order of arrest was issued, and kept in custody until discharged by law.

SEC. 922. [Proceedings upon return.]—Upon return of said order of arrest, executed in pursuance of the preceding section, the trial of said cause shall proceed, unless for good cause shown, upon the application of either party, or at the instance of the justice himself, the same shall be continued, as is provided for in other cases before justices of the peace. And when the trial of said cause is continued for any period, the defendant, upon executing with one or more sufficient sureties, a written undertaking to the effect that he will pay the amount of the judgment that may be rendered against him upon the final determination of the action, or upon depositing in the hands of the justice of the peace the amount of money mentioned in the order of arrest, and the probable amount of costs of suit, shall be forthwith discharged from custody; Provided, however, That in no case shall the defendant be detained in the custody of the officer, when said continuance has been for a period of more than forty-eight hours, unless said continuance has been made at the instance or with the consent of the defendant himself.

ARREST AFTER JUDGMENT.

SEC. 923. [How made.]—On the judgment against the defendant in any civil suit before a justice of the peace, when the defendant is in the custody of the officer, as hereinbefore provided for, or if, after judgment against him, there is filed in the office of such justice an affidavit of the plaintiff, his authorized agent or attorney, made before any person competent to administer an oath, stating the amount of said judgment remaining unpaid, and establishing one or more of the particulars mentioned in section nine hundred and seventeen, said justice of the peace shall, unless otherwise ordered by the plaintiff, issue an execution, and accompany the same with an order for the arrest of the defendant.

SEC. 924. [Order—Proceedings.]—Said order of arrest shall be addressed and delivered, with a copy of the affidavit, to the officer having said execution, and shall state the names of the parties, be signed by the justice issuing it, and state the amount of the judgment and costs unpaid, and shall require the officer, in case the same shall not be paid, or an amount of property of the defendant whereon to levy execution sufficient to satisfy the same cannot be found in his county, to arrest the defendant, if not already in the custody of the officer, and deliver him to the sheriff of the proper county, to be committed by him to the jail of the county, and kept in custody until discharged by law; Provided, however, That no such order of arrest be issued until the undertaking required by the nine hundred and nineteenth section of this code shall have been executed.

ATTACHMENT.

SEC. 925. [Grounds for order.]—The plaintiff shall have an order of attachment against the property of the defendant, in a civil action before a justice of the peace, for the recovery of money before or after the commencement thereof, when there is filed in his office an affidavit of the plaintiff, his agent, or attorney, showing the nature of the plaintiff's claim, that it is just, the amount which the affiant believes the plaintiff ought to recover, and the existence of some one or more of the following particulars: First—That the defendant, or one of the several defendants, is a foreign corporation, or is a non-resident of the state; or, Second—Has absconded, with intent to defraud his creditors; or, Third—Has left the county of his residence to avoid the service of a summons; or, Fourth—So conceals himself, that a summons cannot be served upon him; or, Fifth—Is about to remove his property, or a part thereof, out of the county, with the intent to defraud his creditors; or, Sixth—Is about to convert his property, or a part thereof, into money, for the purpose of placing it beyond the reach of his creditors; or, Seventh—Has property or rights in action, which he conceals; or, Eighth—Has assigned, removed, or disposed of or is about to dispose of his property, or a part thereof, with intent to defraud his creditors; or, Ninth—Fraudulently contracted the debt, or incurred the obligation for which suit is about to be, or has been, brought. When the defendant is a foreign corporation, or a non-resident of the state, the attachment shall not be granted, unless the claim is for a debt or demand arising upon contract, judgment, or decree.

SEC. 926. [Undertaking.]—When the ground of attachment is that the defendant is a foreign corporation, or a non-resident of the state, the order of attachment may be issued without an undertaking, but in all other cases the order of attachment shall not be issued by the justice until there has been executed in his office, by one or more sufficient sureties of the plaintiff, to be approved by the justice, an undertaking not exceeding double the amount of the plaintiff's claim, to the effect that the plaintiff shall pay the defendant all damages which he may sustain by reason of the attachment, if the order be wrongfully obtained.

SEC. 927. [Order—When issued—Contents.]—The order of attachment may be made to accompany the summons, or it may be issued at any time afterwards, before judgment; it shall be addressed and delivered to any constable or sheriff of the proper county, and shall require him to attach the goods, chattels, stocks, or interests in stocks, rights, credits, moneys, and effects of the defendant in his county, not exempt by law from being applied to the payment of the plaintiff's claim, or so much thereof, as will satisfy the plaintiff's claim, to be stated in the order as in the affidavit, and the probable costs of the action, not exceeding fifty dollars.

SEC. 928. [Same—Returnable.]—The return day of the order of attachment, when issued at the commencement of the action, shall be the same as that of the summons; when issued afterwards, it shall be executed and returned forthwith.

SEC. 929. [Same—Execution—Several orders.]—When there are several orders of attachment against the same person, in the hands of the same officer they shall be executed in the order in which they are received by said officer; he shall go to the place where the defendant's property may be found, and there, in the presence of two credible persons, declare that, by virtue of said order, he attaches said property at the suit of said plaintiff; and the officer, with two residents of the county, who shall be first sworn or affirmed by the officer, shall make a true inventory and appraisement of all property attached, which shall be signed by the officer and said residents, and returned with the order; when the property can be come at, he shall take the same into his custody, and hold it subject to the order of the justice.

SEC. 930. [Property delivered on bail.]—The officer shall deliver the property attached to the person in whose possession it was found, upon the execution by such person, in the presence of the officer of an undertaking to the plaintiff, with one or more sufficient sureties resident in the county, to the effect that the parties to the same are bound, in double the appraised value thereof, that the property, or its appraised value in money, shall be forthcoming to answer the judgment of the court in the action; but if it shall appear to the court that any part of said property has been lost or destroyed by unavoidable accident, the value thereof shall be remitted to the person or persons so bound.

SEC. 931. [Several attachments—Appraisement.]—Different attachments of the same property may be made, and one inventory and appraisement shall be sufficient. The lien of the attachments shall be in the order in which they are served, and the subsequent attachments shall be served on the property, as in the hands of the officer, and subject to the prior attachments. The justice who issued the attachment having the priority of lien shall determine all questions as to the priority of liens on the property attached.

SEC. 932. [Order—Service.]—If the order of attachment is made to accompany the summons, a copy thereof, and the summons, shall be served upon the defendant in the usual manner for the service of a summons, if the same can be done within the county; and when any property of the defendant has been taken under the order of attachment, and it shall appear that the summons issued on the action has not been and cannot be served on the defendant in the county, in the manner prescribed by law, the justice of the peace shall continue the cause for a period not less than forty days nor more than sixty days, whereupon the plaintiff shall proceed for three consecutive weeks to publish, in some newspaper printed in the county, or if none be printed therein, then in some newspaper of general circulation in said county, a notice, stating the names of the parties, the time when, by what justice of the peace, and for what sum said order was issued, and shall make proof of such publication to the justice; and thereupon said action shall be proceeded with, the same as if summons had been duly served.

SEC. 933. [Sale of perishable property.]—When the cause is continued as provided for in the preceding section, and it shall appear that any of the property taken under the attachment is live stock, or is of a perishable nature, the justice may issue his order, directing the officer having the custody thereof to dispose of the same as upon execution; and the moneys realized therefrom shall be paid over to the justice, and applied as other money realized from the sale of property attached is applied.

SEC. 934. [Garnishment—Affidavit—Notice.]—When the plaintiff, his agent, or attorney, shall make oath in writing that he has good reason to believe, and does believe, that any person or corporation, to be named, and within the county where the action is brought, has property of the defendant (describing the same) in his possession, if the officer cannot come at such property, he shall leave with such garnishee a copy of the order of attachment, with a written notice, that he appear before the justice at the return of the order of attachment, and answer as provided in section nine hundred and thirty-six.

SEC. 935. [Garnishee, how served.]—The copy of the order and the notice shall be served upon the garnishee, as follows: If he be a person, they shall be served upon him personally, or left at his usual place of residence; if a corporation, they shall be left with the president or other head of the same, or the secretary, cashier, or managing agent thereof.

SEC. 936. [Same—Answer.]—The garnishee shall appear before the justice, in accordance with the command of the notice, and shall answer, under oath, all questions put to him touching the property of every description, and credits of the defendant in his possession or under his control, and he shall disclose, truly, the amount owing by him to the defendant, whether due or not, and, in case of a corporation, any stock therein held by or for the benefit of the defendant, at or after the service of the notice.

SEC. 937. [Same—Payment by—Discharge—Costs.]—A garnishee may pay the money owing to the defendant by him, to the officer having the order of attachment, or into the court. He shall be discharged from liability to the defendant for any money so paid, not exceeding the plaintiff's claim. He shall not be subjected to costs beyond those caused by his resistance of the claim against him; and if he disclose the property in his hands, or the true amount owing by him, and deliver or pay the same according to the order of the court, he shall be allowed his costs.

SEC. 938. [Same—Failure to answer.]—If the garnishee do not appear and answer, as required by section nine hundred and thirty-six, the justice may proceed against him by attachment, as for a contempt.

SEC. 939. [Same—When debtor—Proceedings.]—If the garnishee appear and answer, and it is discovered on his examination that at or after the service of the order of attachment and notice upon him he was possessed of any property of the defendant, or was indebted to him, the justice may order the delivery of such property and the payment of the amount owing by the garnishee into the court, or may permit the garnishee to retain the property or the amount owing, upon the execution of an undertaking to the plaintiff, by one or more sufficient sureties to the effect that the amount shall be paid, or the property forthcoming, as the court may direct.

SEC. 940. [Further proceedings against garnishee.]—If the garnishee fail to appear and answer, or if he appear and answer, and his disclosure is not satisfactory to the plaintiff, or if he fail to comply with the order of the justice to deliver the property and pay the money owing into the court, or give the undertaking required in the preceding section, the plaintiff may proceed against him in an action in his own name, as in other cases; and thereupon such proceedings may be had as in other actions and judgment may be rendered in favor of the plaintiff, for the amount of property and credits of every kind of the defendant, in the possession of the garnishee, and for what shall appear to be owing by him to the defendant, and for the costs of the proceedings against the garnishee. If the plaintiff proceed against the garnishee by action, for the cause that his disclosure was unsatisfactory, unless it appear in the action that such disclosure was incomplete, the plaintiff shall pay the costs of such action. The judgment in this action may be enforced as judgments in other cases. When the claims of the plaintiff in attachment are satisfied, the defendant in the attachment may, on motion, be substituted as the plaintiff in the judgment.

SEC. 941. [Judgment, when rendered—Discharge of garnishee.]—Final judgment shall not be rendered against the garnishee until the action against the defendant in attachment has been determined; and if, in such action, judgment be rendered for the defendant in attachment, the garnishee shall be discharged and recover costs. If the plaintiff shall recover against the defendant in attachment, and the garnishee shall deliver up all property, moneys, and credits of the defendant, in his possession, and pay all the moneys from him due as the court may order, the garnishee shall be discharged and the costs of the proceedings against him shall be paid out of the property and moneys so surrendered, or as the court may think right and proper.

SEC. 942. [Judgment for defendant.]—If judgment be rendered in the action for the defendant, the attachment shall be discharged, and the property attached, or its proceeds shall be returned to him.

SEC. 943. [Same—For plaintiff—Satisfaction.]—If judgment be rendered for the plaintiff, it shall be satisfied as follows: So much of the property remaining in the hands of the officer, after applying the moneys arising from the sale of perishable property, if any, whether held by legal or equitable right, as may be necessary to satisfy the judgment, shall be sold by order of the justice, under the same restrictions and regulations as if the same had been levied on by execution; and the money arising therefrom, with the amount which may be recovered from the garnishee, shall be applied to satisfy the judgment and costs. If there be not enough to satisfy the same, the judgment shall stand, and execution may issue thereon for the residue, in all respects as in other cases. Any surplus of the attached property or its proceeds shall be returned to the defendant.

SEC. 944. [Property retaken, when.]—The justice may order the officer to repossess himself, for the purpose of selling it, of any of the attached property which may have passed out of his hands without being sold or converted into money, and the officer shall, under such order, have the same power to take the property as he would have under an order of attachment.

SEC. 945. [Intervening claimants.]—If any of the property which has been attached be claimed by any person other than the defendant, the claimant may have the validity of such claim tried, and such proceedings must be had thereon, with like effect, as in case the property had been seized upon execution issued by the justice and claimed by a third person.

SEC. 946. [Priority of attachments.]—Where several attachments are executed on the same property, or the same persons are made garnishees, the justice issuing the first order, served on the motion of any of the plaintiffs, may determine the amounts and priorities of the several attachments, and the proceeds shall be applied accordingly.

SEC. 947. [Return to writ.]—The officer shall return upon every order of attachment what he has done under it. The return must show the property attached and the time it was attached. When garnishees are served, their names, and the time each was served, must be stated. The officer shall also return, with the order, all undertakings given under it.

SEC. 948. [Order binds property—When.]—An order of attachment binds the property attached from the time of service, and the garnishee shall stand liable to the plaintiff in attachment for all property, moneys, and credits in his hands, or due from him to the defendant, from the time he is served with the written notice, mentioned in section nine hundred and thirty-four; but when property is attached in the hands of a consignee, or other person having a prior lien, his lien thereon shall not be affected by the attachment.

SEC. 949. [Property released on bail.]—If the defendant or other person in his behalf, at any time before judgment, cause an undertaking to be executed to the plaintiff by one or more sureties resident in the county, to be approved by the justice, in double the amount of the plaintiff's claim, to be stated in his affidavit to the effect that the defendant shall perform the judgment of the justice, the attachment in such action shall be discharged and restitution made of any property taken under it, or the proceeds thereof; such undertaking shall also discharge the liability of a garnishee in such action, for any property of the defendant in his hands.

SEC. 950. [Action transferred to district court.]—If in any case where an order of attachment has been issued by a justice of the peace, it shall appear from the return of the officer and from the examination of the garnishee, that no property, moneys, rights, credits, or effects of the defendant have been taken under the attachment, but that the defendant is the owner of an interest in real estate in the county, the justice before whom said action is pending shall, at the request of the plaintiff, forthwith certify his proceedings to the district court of the proper county, and thereupon the clerk of said court shall docket said cause, and the action shall be proceeded with in said court, in all respects as if the same had originated therein.

CHAPTER III.—BILL OF PARTICULARS.

SEC. 951. [Filing.]—In all cases before a justice, the plaintiff, his agent or attorney, shall file with such justice a bill of the particulars of his demand, and the defendant, if required by the plaintiff, his agent or attorney, shall file a like bill of the particulars he may claim as a set-off; and the evidence on the trial shall be confined to the items set forth in said bills.

SEC. 952. [Contents.]—The bill of particulars must state, in a plain and direct manner, the facts constituting the cause of action, or the claim to be set-off.

SEC. 953. [Amendments.]—The bill of particulars may be amended at any time before the trial, or during the trial, or upon appeal, to supply any deficiency or omission in the items, when by such amendments substantial justice will be promoted. If the amendment be made at the time of or during the trial, and it be made to appear to the satisfaction of the justice, by oath, that an adjournment is necessary to the adverse party in consequence of such amendment, an adjournment must be granted. The justice may also, in his discretion, require as a condition of an amendment, the payment of costs to the adverse party, to be fixed by the justice; but such payment cannot be required unless an adjournment is made necessary by the amendment.

CHAPTER IV.—CHANGE OF THE PLACE OF TRIAL.

SEC. 954. [Grounds for.].—The place of trial may be changed if on the return of process, or at any time before trial shall have commenced, it shall be made satisfactorily to appear to the justice of the peace before whom any cause is instituted, or is pending for trial, by the affidavit of either of the parties in the case, that such justice is a material witness for either party, or if a jury be demanded by the adverse party, then that he cannot, as he verily believes, have a fair and impartial trial in the precinct or place for which said justice may have been elected, on account of the bias or prejudice of the citizens thereof.

SEC. 955. [Where transferred.].—If the place of trial be changed on account of the justice being a material witness in the cause, such cause may be transferred for trial before some other justice of the peace in the same precinct. If the place of trial be changed on account of the bias or prejudice of the citizens of such precinct or place, the case shall be taken to some justice in an adjoining precinct in the same county.

SEC. 956. [Transfer of papers and record.].—The justice granting such change shall deliver or transmit the papers in the cause, together with a certified transcript of the proceedings before him, to the justice to whom such change may be granted, who shall proceed therein and have the same jurisdiction, powers, and duties, in all respects whatever, as if suit had been originally instituted before him.

SEC. 957. [Costs.].—Before any such change shall be allowed, the costs, as specified in the next following section, shall be paid by the party applying for such change.

SEC. 958. [Same.].—When such change is at the instance of the plaintiff, he shall be taxed with all the costs which have accrued and which shall accrue in the cause, until such transcript and papers shall be delivered to the justice to whom such cause is removed for trial; and when on the application of the defendant, he shall be taxed for the costs which have accrued for issuing subpoenas for witnesses and service thereof, witness fees, and costs of the justice for transferring the cause to the docket of the other justice.

SEC. 958 a. [Same—Interest—Bias of justice.].—That in all civil and criminal proceedings before justices of the peace, any defendant in such proceedings may apply for and obtain a change of venue, by filing an affidavit in the case made by the defendant, his agent, or attorney, stating that the defendant cannot, as affiant verily believes, have a fair and impartial hearing in the case on account of the interest, bias, or prejudice of the justice, and by paying the costs now required to be paid by defendant on change of venue, for the causes and in the cases mentioned in chapter four of title thirty, part two of the revised statutes, and thereupon the proceedings shall be transferred to the nearest justice of the peace, to whom the said objections do not apply, of the same county, to be proceeded with in the manner pointed out for the transfer and procedure in cases on change of venue for cause mentioned in said chapter four. [1871, § 1, 110.]

SEC. 954. Change can be had only before first trial commenced. 46 N. W. R. 153.

These provisions do not apply to county courts. 10 Neb. 439. Where cause is transferred to a justice of the peace, who by reason of bias and prejudice is unable to try the case, a motion to dismiss, filed by the defendant, Held, Properly overruled. Proper motion in such case is to remand. 21 Neb. 152. Party moving cannot complain if motion granted. Id. Where a justice made an order transferring cause to A, supposed to be the nearest justice to whom no objection would apply; but on the next day ascertained that said justice had resigned, whereupon he changed the order, transferring said cause to B, the nearest justice exercising the duties of his office, all parties being notified of said change, and a trial thereafter had before B and a jury, at which the parties appeared, Held, No error. Id. In case stated where cause was taken on change of venue to another justice, Held, That by the appearance and trial before the second justice, plaintiff waived whatever error might have been committed by the first justice in setting aside judgment and granting a new trial. 25 Neb. 638.

SEC. 958 b. [Same—Application—When made.]—The application shall be made before entering upon the merits of the case by the introduction and reception of evidence; and no second change of venue shall be allowed for the same cause in the same proceeding.

CHAPTER V.—ADJOURNMENTS.

SEC. 959. [On motion of justice.]—Upon the return day, if a jury be required, or if the justice be actually engaged in other official business, he may adjourn the trial without the consent of either party, as follows: First—Where a party is in attendance who is not a resident of the county, or where the defendant is in attendance under arrest, the adjournment not to exceed forty-eight hours, and the defendant, if under arrest, to continue in custody. Second—In other cases, not to exceed eight days, unless by consent of parties. If the trial be not adjourned, it must take place immediately upon the return of the summons.

SEC. 960. [On application of party.]—The trial may be adjourned upon the application of either party, without the consent of the other, for a period not exceeding thirty days, as follows; the party asking the adjournment must, if required by his adversary, prove by his own oath, or otherwise, that he cannot, for want of material testimony which he expects to procure, safely proceed to trial.

SEC. 961. [Same—Further adjournments.]—An adjournment may be had either at the return day, or at any subsequent time to which the cause may stand adjourned, on the application of either party, for a period longer than thirty days, but not to exceed ninety days from the time of the return of the summons, upon compliance with the provisions of the preceding section, and upon proof by oath of the party, or otherwise, to the satisfaction of the justice, that such party cannot be ready for trial before the time to which he desires an adjournment for want of material evidence, describing it, that the delay has not been made necessary by any act or negligence on his part since the action was commenced, and that he expects to procure the evidence at the time stated by him.

CHAPTER VI.—WITNESS.

SEC. 962. [Subpoena—When issued.]—Any justice may issue subpoenas to compel the attendance of witnesses to give evidence on any trial pending before himself, or for the purpose of taking depositions, or to perpetuate testimony.

SEC. 963. [Same—Service.]—A subpoena may be served by a constable or any other person, and shall be served by reading the same or stating the contents thereof to the witness, or by leaving a copy thereof at his usual place of residence.

SEC. 964. [Fees.]—When not served by a constable or sheriff, or some person deputed for that purpose by a justice, no fees shall be charged in the suit for serving it.

SEC. 965. [Costs.]—If any witness, having been subpoenaed, attend and be not examined by either party, the costs of such witness shall be paid by the party ordering the subpoena, unless the adverse party, by confessing the matter, or otherwise, render unnecessary the examination of such witness.

SEC. 966. [Contempt of subpoena—Arrest, etc.]—Whenever it shall appear to the satisfaction of a justice, by proof made before him, that any person has been duly served with a subpoena to appear and give testimony before him in any matter in which he has authority to require such witness to appear and testify, that his testimony is material, and that he refuses or neglects to attend as such witness in conformity with such subpoena, the justice shall issue a warrant for the arrest of the delinquent, for the purpose of compelling his attendance, and punishing his disobedience.

SEC. 967. [Same—Punishment.]—When a person arrested is brought before the justice, or when a person in attendance refuses to testify as a witness, and no valid excuse be shown, the justice may impose a fine on him not exceeding five dollars. An entry of such fine, stating the reason therefor, must be made by the justice in his docket, and thereupon shall have the effect of a judgment in favor of the state of Nebraska against the delinquent, and may be enforced against his person or property.

SEC. 960. Nature of testimony need not be stated. 28 Neb. 90. Nor name, whereabouts, or what absent witnesses will testify to, or effort made to procure attendance. 29 Neb. —. 45 N. W. R. 929.

SEC. 961. It should appear that same facts cannot be proved by witnesses in jurisdiction of court. 27 Neb. 494.

SEC. 968. [Neglect of witness—Liability.]—Every person subpoenaed as aforesaid, and neglecting to appear, or refusing to testify, shall also be liable to the party in whose behalf he shall have been subpoenaed, for all damages which such party shall sustain by reason of such delinquency.

SEC. 969. [Deposition—When taken.]—Depositions may be taken to be read in a cause pending before a justice of the peace, in like manner, and subject to the same restrictions and rules of law as in cases pending in the district court.

CHAPTER VII.—THE TRIAL.

SEC. 970. [When held.]—At the time appointed for trial, if no jury shall have been demanded by either party, the justice shall proceed to try the action, shall hear the proofs, and determine the cause according to law and the right.

SEC. 971. [Appearance without process.]—Where parties agree to enter, without process, before a justice, any action of which such justice has cognizance, such justice shall enter the same on his docket, and proceed to trial, judgment, and execution, in all respects in the same manner as if summons had been issued, served, and returned.

SEC. 972. [Jury trial—Adjournment.]—In all civil actions, after the appearance of the defendant, and before the court shall proceed to inquire into the merits of the cause, either party may demand a jury to try the action, which jury shall be composed of six good and lawful men, having the qualifications of electors, unless the parties shall agree on a less number. When a jury is demanded, the trial of the cause must be adjourned until a time fixed for the return of the jury. If neither party desire an adjournment, the time must be determined by the justice, and must be on the same day, or within the next two days the jury must be immediately selected, as herein provided.

SEC. 973. [Jury selection.]—The justice shall write in a panel the names of eighteen persons, citizens of the county, from which the defendant, his agent, or attorney, shall strike one, and then the plaintiff, his agent, or attorney, shall strike one, and so on alternately, until each shall have stricken six names, and the remaining six shall constitute the jury to try such case; and if either party neglect or refuse to aid in striking the jury as aforesaid, the justice shall strike the same in behalf of such party. [Amended 1869, 90. Took effect first Monday in April, 1869.]

SEC. 974. [Venire.]—The justice thereupon shall issue a summons for the jury, in which the following form shall be observed in substance, as near as practicable:

THE STATE OF NEBRASKA, }
 County, }

To any Constable or the Sheriff of said County:

You are hereby commanded to summon _____ to appear before me at my office, in said county, on the — day of —, A.D. —, at — o'clock in the — noon, to serve as jurors in a case pending before me, then and there to be tried. And this they shall in nowise omit. And have you then and there this writ, with your doings thereon.

Given under my hand, this — day of —, A.D. —.

[Const., sec. 24, Art. VI.]

SEC. 975. [Same—Service—Neglect of Juror—Penalty.]—The officer shall serve such summons by a personal service thereof, and return the same, endorsed with the names of the persons summoned, at the time appointed for the trial of the case. Jurors, for neglecting to attend when properly summoned, or refusing to serve when in attendance, shall be liable to the like penalty, and be proceeded against in the same manner as witnesses who fail to attend or refuse to testify.

SEC. 970. If jury is waived, there must be finding of facts by justice. 12 Neb. 221. If judgment be based on verdict, unnecessary that justice should make findings of fact. 24 Neb. 830. Whether justice can submit special findings to jury, quære. 17 Neb. 824. Recital of the fact that verdict was rendered, entered by justice on docket. Held, Error without prejudice. 24 Neb. 830. Presumption that account sued on was before justice when he rendered judgment. 21 Neb. 528. If note is in possession of justice and no affidavit filed by defendant or deaying its execution, nor any defense to action, justice may render judgment on it, though plaintiff fail to appear. 18 Neb. 185.

SEC. 976. [Officer attend trial—Additional jurors.]—The constable or sheriff shall be in attendance on the court at and during the progress of the trial; and if, from challenge or other cause, the panel shall not be full, he may fill the same in the same manner as is done by the sheriff in the district court.

SEC. 977. [Continuance—Notice to jurors.]—When a jury shall be in attendance, and the cause shall be continued, the jurors must attend at the time and place appointed for trial, without further notice.

SEC. 978. [Objections to jurors.]—If either party object to the competency of a juror, the question thereon must be tried in a summary manner by the justice, who may examine the juror or other witness under oath.

SEC. 979. [Oath of jury.]—The justice shall administer an oath or affirmation to the jury, well and truly to try the matter in difference between the parties, and a true verdict to give according to the evidence.

SEC. 980. [Conduct of jury before verdict.]—After the jury shall have been sworn, they shall sit together and hear proofs and allegations of the parties; and after hearing the same, shall be kept together in some convenient place, under charge of a constable or sheriff, until they have agreed upon their verdict, or shall be discharged by the justice.

SEC. 981. [Verdict—Entry.]—When the jury shall have agreed upon their verdict, they shall deliver it to the justice, publicly, who shall enter it upon his docket.

SEC. 982. [Failure to agree—Continuance.]—Whenever the justice shall be satisfied that a jury, sworn in any cause before him, cannot agree in the verdict, after having consulted upon it a reasonable time, he may discharge them and continue the cause, and may, if required by either party, proceed to strike another jury, as hereinbefore provided. The cause shall be continued to such time as the justice thinks reasonable, unless the parties, or their attorneys, agree on a longer or shorter time, or unless they agree that the justice may render judgment on the evidence already before him.

SEC. 983. [New trial—When granted.]—It shall be lawful for the justice before whom a cause has been tried, on motion, and being satisfied that the verdict was obtained by fraud, partiality, or undue means, at any time within four days after the entering of judgment, to grant a new trial, and he shall set a time for the new trial, of which the opposite party shall have three days notice.

SEC. 984. [Same—Notice of motion.]—The opposite party shall also have a reasonable notice of such motion for a new trial, if the same is not made on the day of the former trial, and in the presence of such party; such notice to be given by the applying party. If the new trial shall be granted or the jury be unable to agree, the proceedings shall be in all respects as upon the return of the summons.

SEC. 985. [Appeal, when allowed.]—If either the plaintiff or defendant, in his bill of particulars, claims more than twenty dollars, the case may be appealed to the district court; but if neither party demands a greater sum than twenty dollars, and the case is tried by a jury, there shall be no appeal.

SEC. 986. [Judgment in district court.]—If, on an appeal by the plaintiff, from a judgment in his favor, he shall not recover a larger sum than twenty dollars exclusive of interest since the rendition of the judgment before the justice, he shall be adjudged to pay all costs in the district court including a fee of five dollars to the defendant's attorney; and in case the defendant shall demand a set-off greater than twenty dollars, and he appeals from a judgment in his favor, and does not recover twenty dollars, he shall, in like manner, pay all costs in the appellate court, including a like fee to the plaintiff's attorney. SEC. 987. [Fees of jury—Costs.]—Upon the verdict being delivered to the justice, and before judgment being rendered thereon, each juror shall be entitled to receive fifty cents at the hands of the successful party, which shall be taxed in the cost bill against the losing party. When the jury shall be unable to agree upon a verdict, the same compensation shall be paid them by the party calling the jury, and the same shall be taxed in the cost bill against the losing party.

SEC. 988. [Bill of exceptions.]—In all cases which shall be tried by a jury before a justice of the peace, either party shall have the right to except to the opinion of the justice, upon any question of law arising during the trial of the cause; and when either party shall allege such exception, it shall be the duty of the justice to sign and seal a bill, containing such exception, if truly alleged, with the point decided, so that the same may be made part of the record in the cause.

ARBITRATION.

SEC. 989. [Submission.]—At any time before trial and judgment rendered the plaintiff and defendant consenting thereto, may have the cause submitted to the arbitrament of three disinterested men, who shall be chosen by the parties; and if the arbitrators be present they shall hear and determine the cause on oath or affirmation, to be administered by the justice. But if the persons chosen as arbitrators be not present, the justice shall issue summons for them to attend at the time and place appointed for the trial, which shall be served by any constable, sheriff, or the parties, as they may agree. The fees of arbitrators shall be the same as that paid to jurors.

SEC. 990. [Award.]—When the arbitrators shall convene and be qualified, they shall proceed to hear and determine the cause, and make out their award in writing, which shall be valid when signed by any two of them, and return the same to the justice, who shall thereupon enter such award upon his docket, and thereon render judgment and issue execution as in other cases.

SEC. 991. [Judgment on award.]—Every judgment rendered on such award shall conclude the rights of the parties thereto, unless it shall be made to appear to the justice of the peace who rendered such judgment, and within ten days of the rendition of the same, or to the district court, on appeal, that such award was obtained by fraud, corruption, or other undue means.

SEC. 992. [Award set aside—When.]—Whenever satisfactory proof shall be adduced before such justice, within the period aforesaid, that such award was obtained by fraud, corruption, or other undue means, it shall be competent for such justice to set aside such award and his judgment thereon rendered, and thereupon proceed to such final trial and judgment, as if such award had never been made.

SEC. 993. [Same—Appeal—Affidavit.]—But no appeal shall be allowed to the district court from a judgment of a justice of the peace rendered on an award, unless the party praying such appeal shall file with such justice an affidavit, therein stating that he or she does verily believe that such award was obtained by fraud, corruption, or other undue means.

SEC. 994. [Judgment of district court.]—And if on appeal from the judgment of a justice rendered on any such award, the district court shall be satisfied that the award was obtained by fraud, corruption, or other undue means, such court shall set aside the award, and proceed to hear and determine the cause on the merits, as in other cases of appeal.

SEC. 995. [Same.]—But if the court shall be of the opinion that the award was not obtained by fraud, corruption, or other undue means, they shall render judgment thereon for the costs of suit and award execution as in other cases.

SEC. 989. Bill of exceptions is not proper unless cause is tried to jury. 3 Neb. 241. 4 Id. 96. Objections to bill of exceptions not made in district court will not be considered in supreme. 14 Neb. 486. Section 511, relative to bill of exceptions, not applicable. 11 Neb. 528.

TRIAL OF THE RIGHT OF PROPERTY LEVIED ON OR ATTACHED.

SEC. 996. [Trial.]—When a constable or sheriff shall levy on or attach property claimed by any person or persons other than the party against whom the execution or attachment issued, the claimant or claimants shall give three days notice, in writing, to the plaintiff or his agent, or if not found within the county, then such notice shall be served by leaving a copy thereof at his usual place of abode in such county, of the time and place of the trial of the right to such property, which trial shall be had before some justice of the county, at least one day prior to the time appointed for the sale of such property.

SEC. 997. [Judgment for claimant.]—If on the trial, the justice shall be satisfied from the proof that the property, or any part thereof, belongs to the claimant or claimants (or in case when a jury is demanded, the jury so find), such justice shall render judgment against the party in whose favor such execution or attachment issued for the costs and issue execution therefor, and shall, moreover, give a written order to the officer who levied on, or who may be charged with the duty of selling such property, directing him to restore the same, or so much thereof as may have been found to belong to such claimant or claimants. [Amended 1875, 43. Took effect Feb. 25, 1875.]

SEC. 998. [Judgment against claimant.]—But if the claimant or claimants fail to establish his or their right to such property, or any part thereof, the justice shall render judgment against such claimant or claimants for the costs that have accrued on account of such trial, and issue execution therefor; and the officer shall not be liable to the claimant or claimants for the property so taken.

CHAPTER VIII.—JUDGMENT.

SEC. 999. [Action dismissed without prejudice.]—Judgment that the action be dismissed without prejudice to a new action, may be entered with costs in the following cases: First—When the plaintiff voluntarily dismisses the action before it is finally submitted. Second—When he fails to appear at the time specified in the summons, or upon adjournment, or within one hour thereafter.

SEC. 1000. [Failure to appear.]—If the plaintiff fail to appear at the return day of the summons, and his bill of particulars be not filed, and there be no evidence before the justice, the action must be dismissed. If the defendant fail to appear at the return day of the summons, or if either party fail to attend at the time to which a trial has been adjourned, or fail to make the necessary bill of particulars, or fail in the proof on his part, the cause may proceed at the request of the adverse party, and judgment must be given in conformity with the bill of particulars and proofs.

SEC. 1001. [In absence of defendant, how set aside.]—When judgment shall have been rendered against a defendant in his absence, the same may be set

Defendant having default set aside, and voluntarily permitting second default to be taken, cannot have same set aside. 16 Neb. 295. Setting aside judgment rendered in absence of defendant; order should be made conditional only in the first instance; order cannot be finally made unless conditions are complied with by parties seeking to open judgment; giving of notice is jurisdictional. 19 Neb. 590. Application to set aside judgment is a recognition of its regularity and a waiver of objection that it was prematurely rendered. Id. 592. Attorney has authority to aside upon the following conditions: First—That his motion be made within ten days after such judgment was entered. Second—That he pay or confess judgment for the costs awarded against him. Third—That he notify in writing the opposite party, his agent, or attorney, or cause it to be done, of the opening of such judgment and of the time and place of trial, at least five days before the time, if the party reside in the county, and if he be not a resident of the county, by leaving a written notice thereof at the office of the justice ten days before the trial.

SEC. 1002. [On verdict.]—Upon a verdict, the justice must immediately render judgment accordingly. When the trial is by the justice, judgment must be entered immediately after the close of the trial, if the defendant has been arrested or his property attached; in other cases it must be entered either at the close of the trial, or if the justice then desire further time to consider, on or by the fourth day thereafter, both days inclusive.

SEC. 1003. [Amount in excess of jurisdiction.]—When the amount due to either party exceeds the sum for which the justice is authorized to enter judgment, such party may remit the excess, and judgment may be entered for the residue. A defendant need not remit such excess, and may withhold setting the same off; and a recovery for the amount set off and allowed, or any part thereof, shall not be a bar to his subsequent action for the amount withheld.

SEC. 1004. [Offer to confess.]—If the defendant, at any time before trial offer, in writing, to allow judgment to be taken against him for a specified sum, the plaintiff may immediately have judgment therefor, with the costs then accrued. But if he do not accept such offer before the trial, and fail to recover in the action a sum equal to the offer, he cannot recover costs accrued after the offer; but costs must be adjudged against him. But the offer and failure to accept it cannot be given in evidence, to affect the recovery, otherwise than as to costs as above provided.

SEC. 1005. [When defendant subject to arrest.]—Where judgment is rendered in a case where the defendant is subject to arrest and imprisonment, it must be so stated in the judgment, and entered in the justice's docket.

SEC. 1013. [Costs—Against appellant, when.]—If any person appealing from a judgment rendered in his favor shall not recover a greater sum than the amount for which judgment was rendered, besides costs and the interest accruing thereon, every such appellant shall pay the costs of such appeal.

SEC. 1014. [Surety in undertaking—Liability.]—When any appeal shall be dismissed, or when judgment shall be entered in the district court against the appellant, the surety in the undertaking shall be liable to the appellee for the whole amount of the debt, costs, and damages, recovered against the appellant.

SEC. 1015. [Appeal quashed—Proceedings.]—When an appeal taken to the district court shall there be quashed, by reason of irregularity in taking or consummating the same, the cause for quashing shall be stated in the order of the court, and a transcript of such order shall be lodged with such justice, who shall thereupon proceed to issue execution in the same manner as if no appeal had been taken.

SEC. 1016. [Undertaking—Further security.]—In proceedings on appeal when the surety in the undertaking shall be insufficient or such undertaking may be insufficient in form or amount, it shall be lawful for the court, on motion, to order a change or renewal of such undertaking, and direct the same to be certified to the justice from whose judgment the appeal was taken, or that it be recorded in said court.

SEC. 1017. [Appeal—Not allowed—When.]—Appeals in the following cases shall not be allowed: First—On judgments rendered on confession. Second—In jury trials, where neither party claims in his bill of particulars a sum exceeding twenty dollars. Third—In trials of the right of property, under the statutes, either levied upon by execution or attached. [Amended 1885, chap. 99.]

SEC. 1018. [Expiration of term of justice.]—When the term of office of a justice shall expire between the date of the judgment and the time limited for appeal, such justice may take the undertaking for appeal at any time before he has delivered the docket to his successor, and give the appealing party a transcript. After the delivery of the docket the undertaking shall be given to his successor, and it shall be his duty to give the transcript, and do and perform all things required of his predecessor.

SEC. 1016. Appellant ordered to give further undertaking within certain time; failed to do so; appeared at subsequent term and made showing that security on first undertaking was sufficient, and asked further time to file additional undertaking; time granted; Held, No error. 22 Neb. 680.

CHAPTER X.—ACTIONS FOR THE FORCIBLE ENTRY AND DETENTION, OR FORCIBLE DETENTION ONLY, OF PROPERTY.

SEC. 1019. [Jurisdiction].—Any justice, within his proper county, shall have power to inquire, in the manner hereinafter directed, as well against those who make unlawful and forcible entry into lands and tenements, and detain the same, as against those who, having a lawful and peaceable entry into lands or tenements, unlawfully and by force hold the same; and if it be found, upon such inquiry, that an unlawful and forcible entry has been made, and that the same lands or tenements are held by force, or that the same, after a lawful entry, are held unlawfully, then said justice shall cause the party complaining to have restitution thereof.

SEC. 1020. [Against whom].—Proceedings under this article may be had in all cases against tenants holding over their terms; in sales of real estate on executions, orders, or other judicial process, when the judgment debtor was in possession at the time of the rendition of judgment or decree, by virtue of which such sale was made; in sales by executors, administrators, or guardians, and on partition, where any of the parties to the partition were in possession at the commencement of the suit, after such sale so made, on execution or otherwise, shall have been examined by the proper court, and the same by such court adjudged legal; and in cases where the defendant is a settler or occupier of lands or tenements, without color of title, and to which the complainant has the right of possession. This section shall not be construed as limiting the provisions of section one thousand one hundred and nineteen.

SEC. 1021. [Tenant holding over—Action not a bar].—A tenant shall be deemed to be holding over his term whenever he has failed, neglected, or refused to pay the rent, or any part thereof, when the same was due, and judgments, either before

Action cannot be maintained by vendor against purchaser in possession under contract who has made default in payment. 13 Neb. 390. 16 Id. 349. 17 Id. 671. 22 Id. 234. Title to real estate not drawn in question. 5 Neb. 422. Action not proper remedy to try title, but merely right of possession. 11 Neb. 528. If on trial it appear that action is to determine a question of title, case must be dismissed; but court may proceed until this fact is established; mere filing of answer setting up title not sufficient. 13 Neb. 154. 25 Id. 95. Where testimony shows that defendant is in possession under contract for title, the action should be dismissed. 13 Neb. 390. 17 Id. 672. Denial by defendant of plaintiff's title does not necessarily raise the question of title so as to oust justice of jurisdiction, and court may proceed with trial until it is clear that the question of title is involved. 17 Neb. 187. Action will not lie where both parties claim land itself. 18 Neb. 390. And see 24 Neb. 768. In absence of stipulation to the contrary, where tenant fails and refuses to pay rent according to his lease, such refusal terminates lease, and tenant is liable to; in such case no other notice than the three days' notice to quit is necessary. 21 Neb. 63. Sufficient to maintain action that party in possession refuses to vacate premises on lawful notice. 23 Neb. 259. The building of a few rods of fence, cutting of a few brush, or plowing of a few furrows upon land will not constitute such acts of possession as to entitle a party to maintain action against a tenant who has been in possession for more than one year under a written lease from one who claimed adversely to the plaintiff. 23 Neb. 402. While justice of the peace cannot determine questions of title, yet he may receive deeds, in connection with other evidence, in order to show the right of either party to the possession of the premises. Id. 403. 24 Id. 134. Action against lessee whose term has not expired, dismissed at costs of plaintiff. 17 Neb. 324. Action does not lie where the question presented by the pleadings and proof is the particular interest of the parties in the real estate in controversy, and not mere right of possession. 20 Neb. 365. Assignee of lessor may maintain action against tenant holding over his term. 17 Neb. 187. One who has never been in possession cannot maintain against owner of fee. 14 Neb. 197. Notice to quit may be given in evidence. 10 Neb. 474. Notice to quit and complaint must describe premises. 12 Neb. 489. Where occupancy of tenant covered and included all of the real estate described in the notice and part of one story of the building being held by others, such notice was Held, Sufficient. 20 Neb. 210. In notice to quit a description of the land by number is sufficient. 19 Neb. 720. Notice may be served after expiration of term. 14 Neb. 437. Action cannot be maintained without notice to quit has been given. 11 Neb. 264. Objections to form of notice not considered, there being no bill of exceptions. 21 Neb. 153. Notice signed by authorized agent or attorney of lawful claimant and duly served, is sufficient. 23 Neb. 260. Notice to quit, dated and served on tenant thirteen days or more before termination of lease, and while it was in full force of effect, by terms of which notice tenant was required to quit, surrender, and deliver up possession forthwith; Held, Insufficient. 22 Neb. 305. Complaint alleging that "plaintiff served notice on defendant describing said premises to defendant," Held, A sufficient allegation that the notice was in writing. 21 Neb. 153. Complaint; necessary to allege entry and detention to have been "unlawful." 9 Neb. 150. Sufficient to sustain charge that party unlawfully in possession refuses to vacate premises on lawful notice so to do. 22 Neb. 295. Plea of "not guilty" requires plaintiff to prove every fact necessary to entitle him to recover. 23 Neb. 403. Outstanding paramount title under which defendant holds will not be presumed, but must be shown either by pleading or proof. 11 Neb. 320. Former adjudication wherein plaintiff was non-suited, and record showing no final decision or merits, Held, No bar to present action. 11 Neb. 322. New pleadings not necessary on appeal. 16 Neb. 577. Party may introduce deed in evidence when necessary to show his right to possession. 13 Neb. 142. 17 Id. 187. Justice cannot charge jury on law of the case. 15 Neb. 628. Judgment merely determines right of possession. 9 Neb. 145. Judgment is final as to matter in issue, but not a bar to another action concerning title. Id. Where defendant pleaded that he had erected certain improvements under agreement with owner that he would pay him actual cost of the same, and that in pursuance to said agreement he offered to take $400 for said improvements, which owner refused to pay, Held, Not to constitute a defense. 24 Neb. 133. Said contract was not void under the statute of frauds, and an action could be maintained thereon and the value of the property recovered. Id. Bond on appeal, in proper form, signed by at least two sureties, duty of justice to approve the same. 24 Neb. 320. the justice or in the district court, under this chapter, shall not be a bar to any after action brought by either party. [Amended 1875, 45. Took effect Feb. 25, 1875.]

SEC. 1022. [Notice—Service.]—It shall be the duty of the party desiring to commence an action under this chapter, to notify the adverse party to leave the premises for the possession of which the action is about to be brought, which notice shall be served at least three days before commencing the action, by leaving a written copy with the defendant, or at his usual place of abode, if he cannot be found.

SEC. 1023. [Complaint—Contents.]—The summons shall not issue until the plaintiff shall have filed his complaint in writing with the justice, which shall particularly describe the premises so entered upon or detained, and shall set forth either an unlawful and forcible entry and detention, or an unlawful and forcible detention after a peaceable or lawful entry of the described premises. The complaint shall be copied into and made a part of the record.

SEC. 1024. [Summons—Service.]—The summons shall be issued and directed, shall state the cause of the complaint, the time and place of trial, and shall be served and returned as in other cases. Such service shall be three days before the day of trial appointed by the justice.

SEC. 1025. [Defendant—Failure to appear.]—If the defendant does not appear in accordance with the requisitions of the summons, and it shall have been properly served, the justice shall try the cause as though he was present.

SEC. 1026. [Continuance—Undertaking.]—No continuance shall be granted for a longer period than eight days, unless the defendant applying therefor shall give an undertaking to the adverse party, with good and sufficient surety to be approved by the justice, conditioned for the payment of the rent that may accrue, if judgment be rendered against the defendant.

SEC. 1027. [Trial—By justice.]—If the suit be not continued, place of trial changed, or neither party demand a jury, upon the return day of the summons, the justice shall try the cause; and if, after hearing the evidence, he shall conclude that the complaint is not true, he shall enter judgment against the plaintiff or costs; if he find the complaint true, he shall render a general judgment against the defendant and in favor of the plaintiff, for restitution of the premises and costs of suit; if he find the complaint true in part, he shall render a judgment for the restitution of such part only, and the costs shall be taxed as the justice shall deem just and equitable.

SEC. 1028. [Same—By jury.]—If a jury be demanded by either party, the proceedings until the impaneling thereof shall be in all respects as in other cases. The jury shall be sworn or affirmed to well and truly try and determine whether the complaint of (naming the plaintiff), about to be laid before them, is true according to the evidence. If the jury shall find the complaint true, they shall render a general verdict of guilty against the defendant; if not true, then a general verdict of not guilty; if true in part, then a verdict setting forth the facts they find true.

SEC. 1029. [Judgment on verdict.]—The justice shall enter the verdict upon his docket, and shall render such judgment in the action as if the facts authorizing the finding of such verdict had been found to be true by himself.

SEC. 1030. [Exceptions.]—Exceptions to the opinion of the justice, in cases under this chapter upon questions of law and evidence, may be taken by either party, whether tried by a jury or otherwise; or either party may appeal from the judgment rendered by such justice by giving bond, with two responsible sureties to be approved by the justice, conditioned: If the plaintiff appeals to satisfy the final judgment and costs; if the defendant appeals to satisfy the final judgment and costs, and pay a reasonable rent for the premises during the time he wrongfully withholds the same. [Amended 1883, chap. LXXXII.]

SEC. 1031. [Writ of execution.]—Where a judgment of restitution shall be entered by a justice, he shall, at the request of the plaintiff, his agent, or attorney, issue a writ of execution thereon, which shall be in the following form, as near as practicable:

THE STATE OF NEBRASKA, } ss.
COUNTY. }

To any Constable or Sheriff of _____ County:

WHEREAS, In a certain action for the forcible entry and detention (or the forcible detention, as the case may be) of the following described premises, to wit: _____ lately tried before me, wherein _____ was plaintiff, and _____ was defendant, judgment was rendered on the _____ day of _____, A.D. _____, that the plaintiff have restitution of said premises; and also that he recover costs in the sum of _____. You therefore are hereby commanded to cause the defendant to be forthwith removed from said premises, and the said plaintiff to have restitution of the same; also that you levy of the goods and chattels of the said defendant, and make the costs aforesaid and all accruing costs; and of this writ make legal service and due return.

Witness my hand, this _____ day of _____, A.D. _____.

[Const., sec. 24, Art. VI.]

SEC. 1032. [Same—Execution of writ.]—The officer shall, within ten days after receiving the writ, execute the same by restoring the plaintiff to the possession of the premises, and shall levy and collect the costs, and make return as upon other executions. If the officer shall receive a notice from the justice that the proceedings have been stayed by an allowance of a writ of error, he shall immediately delay all further proceedings upon the execution; and if the premises have been restored to the plaintiff, he shall immediately place the defendant in the possession thereof, and return the writ, with his proceedings and costs taxed thereon.

CHAPTER XI.—REPLEVIN.

SEC. 1033. [Jurisdiction.]—The plaintiff may recover possession of specific personal property of less value than two hundred dollars, before a justice of the peace as herein provided. [Amended Feb. 28. Took effect June 1, 1881.]

SEC. 1034. [Affidavit.]—An action for this purpose shall not be brought until there is filed in the office of the justice an affidavit of the plaintiff, his agent or attorney, showing: First—A description of the property claimed. Second—That the plaintiff is the owner thereof, or has a special ownership therein, stating the facts in relation thereto, and that he is entitled to the immediate possession of the property. Third—That the property is wrongfully detained by the defendant. Fourth—That it was not taken in execution on any order or judgment against said plaintiff, or for the payment of any tax, fine, or amercement assessed against him, or by virtue of an order of delivery issued under this chapter, or any other meane or final process issued against said plaintiff.

SEC. 1035. [Summons—Order.]—Upon such affidavit being made, and filed with the justice, he shall issue a summons as in other cases, but in addition commanding the officer immediately to seize and take into custody, wherever they may be found in the county, the goods and chattels mentioned in the affidavit, and deliver the same to the plaintiff.

SEC. 1036. [Same—Execution of writ.]—The constable or sheriff shall execute the writ by taking the property therein mentioned; he shall also deliver a copy of the summons to the person charged with the unlawful detention of property, or leave such copy at his usual place of residence; and shall make return of the time and manner of service, the appraisalment of property, and any undertaking taken by him.

SEC. 1037. [Undertaking.]—The officer shall not deliver to the plaintiff, his agent, or attorney, the property so taken, until there has been executed by one or more sufficient sureties of the plaintiff a written undertaking to the defendant, in at least double the value of the property taken, but in no case less than fifty dollars, to the effect that the plaintiff shall duly prosecute the action and pay all costs and damages which may be awarded against him.

SEC. 1033. Jurisdiction. 13 Neb. 516. 14 Id. 140. Bill of particulars not required. 25 Neb. 106. Value of plaintiff's interest found to be in excess of two hundred dollars, plaintiff may remit excess, and justice will retain jurisdiction to render judgment for two hundred dollars. 25 Neb. 106.

SEC. 1037. Sureties must be residents of county where action is pending. 23 Neb. 168.

SEC. 1038. [Same—Appraisement.]—For the purpose of fixing the amount of the undertaking, the value of the property taken shall be ascertained by the oath of two responsible persons, whom the officer shall swear truly to assess the value thereof.

SEC. 1039. [Same—Transfer to district court.]—Whenever the appraised value of the property so taken shall exceed two hundred dollars, the justice shall certify the proceedings upon the said writ to the district court of his county, and thereupon shall file the original papers, together with a certified transcript of his docket entries, in the clerk's office of the said court; the case there to be for trial at the first term of said court on the original papers without further pleadings, except by the leave of the court granted on sufficient showing. [1881, chap. 30. Amended 1887, chap. 98. Took effect July 1, 1887.]

SEC. 1040. [Undertaking—Failure to give.]—If the undertaking required by section one thousand and thirty-seven, be not given within twenty-four hours from the taking of the property under said order, the officer shall return the property to the defendant. And if the officer deliver any property so taken, to the plaintiff, his agent, or attorney, or keep the same from the defendant without taking such security within the time aforesaid, or if he take insufficient security, he shall be liable to the defendant in damages.

SEC. 1041. [Trial—When property delivered to plaintiff.]—If the property has been delivered to the plaintiff, and judgment be rendered against him, or if he otherwise fail to prosecute his action to final judgment, the justice shall, on application of the defendant, or his attorney, impanel a jury to inquire into the right of property and right of possession of the defendant to the property taken. If the jury shall be satisfied that the said property was the property of the defendant at the commencement of the action, or if they shall find that the defendant was entitled only to the possession of the same, at such time, then in either case they shall assess such damages for the defendant as are right and proper, for which, with costs of suit, the court shall render judgment for the defendant. And in all cases where the property has been delivered to the plaintiff, unless the jury shall find for the defendant, they shall also find whether the defendant had the right of property, or the right of possession only at the commencement of the suit; and if they find either in his favor, they shall assess such damages as they think right and proper for the defendant, for which, with costs of suit, the court shall render judgment for the defendant.

SEC. 1042. [Damages for detention.]—In all cases, when the property has been delivered to the plaintiff, where the jury shall find for the plaintiff, on trial, or on inquiry of damages, they shall assess adequate damages to the plaintiff for the illegal detention of the property, for which, with costs of suit, the justice shall render judgment against the defendant.

SEC. 1043. [Trial when property not delivered.]—When the property claimed has not been taken, or has been returned to the defendant, for want of the undertaking required by section one thousand and thirty-nine, the action may proceed as one for damages only, and the plaintiff shall be entitled to such damages as are right and proper; but if the property be returned for want of the undertaking required by said section, the plaintiff shall pay all costs made by taking the same.

SEC. 1044. [Execution of writ—Power of officer.]—The officer, in executing the writ, may break open any building or enclosure in which the property claimed, or any part thereof, is concealed; but not until he has been refused an entrance into said building or enclosure, and the delivery of the property after having demanded the same.

SEC. 1045. [Suit on undertaking.]—No suit shall be instituted on the undertaking given under section one thousand and thirty-seven, before an execution, issued on a judgment in favor of the defendant in the action, shall have been returned that sufficient property whereon to levy and make the amount of such judgment cannot be found in the county.

SEC. 1046. [Writ issued without undertaking—Penalty.—If any justice shall issue a writ to replevin property, as is provided by this chapter, without the affidavit being made and filed in his office as is provided in section one thousand and thirty-four, the same shall be set aside at his costs, and he shall be liable in damages to the party injured.

CHAPTER XII.—EXECUTIONS.

SEC. 1047. [When issued.—Execution for the enforcement of a judgment before a justice of the peace (except where it has been taken to the district court on error or appeal, or docketed therein, or during the time it may be stayed, as provided by this title), may issue by the justice before whom the judgment was rendered, or by his successor in office, on the application of the party entitled thereto, at any time within five years of entry of the judgment, or the date of the last execution issued thereon.

SEC. 1048. [Same—Without demand.—It shall be the duty of the justice, if the case be not appealed, taken up on error, docketed in the district court, or bail has not been given for the stay of execution, at the expiration of ten days from the entry of the judgment, to issue execution, without a demand, and proceed to collect the judgment, unless otherwise directed by the judgment creditor.

SEC. 1049. [Stay.—Any person against whom judgment may be rendered under the provisions of this title, except as hereinafter excepted, may have stay of execution for the several periods hereinafter mentioned, by entering into an undertaking with the adverse party, within ten days after the rendition of such judgment, with good and sufficient surety, resident of the county, as the justice shall approve, conditioned for the payment of the amount of such judgment, interest, and costs, and costs that may accrue, which undertaking shall be entered on the docket of the justice, and be signed by the surety.

SEC. 1050. [Same—For what time.—The stay of execution hereby authorized shall be graduated as follows, namely: First—On any judgment for $10.00 and under, the stay shall be for sixty days. Second—On any judgment exceeding $10.00, and under $50.00, the stay shall be for ninety days. Third—On any judgment exceeding $50.00 and under $100.00, the stay shall be for six months. Fourth—On any judgment exceeding $100.00 and not exceeding $200.00, the stay shall be for nine months. Fifth—Where judgment is rendered against a surety and he takes a stay thereon, and he obtains a judgment against the principal, stay of execution must be allowed on the judgment against the principal only so long that the stay will expire one month before that allowed to the surety on the judgment against him. [Amended 1885, chap. 100.]

SEC. 1051. [Same—When not allowed.—No stay of execution on judgments rendered in the following cases shall be allowed: First—On judgments rendered against justices of the peace, for refusing to pay over money by them collected or received in their official capacity. Second—On any judgment rendered against an officer for failing to make return, making a false return, or refusing to pay over money collected in his official capacity. Third—On judgments against bail for the stay of execution. Fourth—Where judgment is rendered in favor of bail, who have been compelled by judgment to pay over money on account of their principal. Fifth—On judgments obtained by constables or sheriffs, on undertakings executed to them for the delivery of property.

SEC. 1052. [Same—Writ recalled.—If the execution issued before the undertaking for stay, or that required in case of appeal, be given, and such undertaking be given afterwards and within the time allowed, the justice shall recall the execution.

SEC. 1053. [Bail leaving county—Proceedings.—Where any person who has become bail for stay of execution shall remove out of the county before the expiration of such stay, the justice shall, on demand, issue execution against the goods and chattels of the defendant or other party against whom the original judgment was rendered, to be proceeded with as in other cases.

SEC. 1054. [Execution notwithstanding stay.].—When any surety for the stay of execution shall become apprehensive that, by delaying the execution until the expiration of the full time of such stay, he or she may be compelled to pay the judgment, it shall be lawful for such surety to make and file affidavit of that fact before the justice on whose docket the judgment is entered; whereupon such justice shall issue execution against the judgment debtor, which shall be proceeded in as in other cases. Provided, Such bail shall not thereby be discharged from liability, but may be proceeded against after the expiration of the term of stay, in the same manner as if execution had not issued as aforesaid.

SEC. 1055. [Same—Further security.].—If the judgment debtor shall, within ten days after levying such execution, enter into a further undertaking for the stay of execution, during so much of the first stay as remains then unexpired, and shall pay costs of the execution issued against him, as aforesaid, it shall be the duty of the justice to take such further undertaking, and recall the execution; and the person who last became surety shall first be proceeded against, until it shall appear by the return of the officer that he or she has no goods whereon to levy, before proceedings shall be instituted on the undertaking first given.

SEC. 1056. [Judgment against surety—Subrogation.].—When any judgment shall be obtained against any person who shall have entered himself bail on the docket of any justice of the peace, agreeably to the provisions of this title, the original judgment shall remain good and valid in law, for the use of such bail, who, at any time thereafter, may sue out execution on such judgment, against the goods and chattels of the defendant, for the use of such bail, which shall be so endorsed by the justice, and such bail shall also be entitled to a transcript of such judgment, for his own use, which shall have the same force and effect as transcripts in other cases.

SEC. 1057. [Additional security.].—At any time before the stay shall expire, if the justice taking the surety, or his successor in office, shall become satisfied that the surety is insufficient, it shall be his duty to cause written notice thereof to be given to the defendant, or if he be absent, that the same be left at his residence, requiring him to give additional surety, on or by the third day after the giving of such notice: such facts shall be entered on the docket, and he shall immediately issue execution against the defendant for the collection of the judgment. If within ten days after the issuing of such execution, surety to the satisfaction of the justice be given, the execution shall be recalled and stayed until the expiration of the original stay.

SEC. 1058. [Writ—Contents.].—The execution must be directed to a constable or sheriff of the county, and subscribed by the justice by whom the judgment was rendered, or by his successor in office, and must bear date the day of its delivery to the officer to be executed. It must intelligibly refer to the judgment, by stating the names of the parties, and the name of the justice before whom, and of the county where, and the time when, it was rendered, the amount of the judgment, and, if less than the whole is due, the true amount due thereon. It must require the officer substantially as follows: First—If it be a case where the defendant cannot be arrested, it must direct the officer to collect the amount of the judgment out of the personal property of the debtor, and pay the same to the party entitled thereto. Second—If it be a case where any of the judgment debtors are certified on the docket as surety, it shall command that the money be made of the personal property of the principal debtor, and for want thereof of the personal property of the surety. In such cases the personal property of the principal, subject to execution within the jurisdiction, shall be exhausted before any property of the bail shall be taken in execution. Third—If it be a case where the defendant may be arrested, in addition to the foregoing it must direct the officer, if sufficient property of the defendant subject to the execution cannot be found to satisfy the judgment, that he arrest the debtor and commit him to the jail of the county until he pay the judgment, or be discharged according to law, unless the execution be accompanied by an order of arrest, as provided in sections nine hundred and twenty-three, and nine hundred and twenty-four. Fourth—It must in all cases direct the officer to make return of the execution and the certificate thereon, showing the manner in which he has executed the same, in thirty days from the time of his receipt thereof.

SEC. 1059. [Same—Against joint debtors—Arrest of debtor.]—Upon an execution on a judgment against joint debtors, upon one or more of whom the summons was not served, the execution must contain a direction to collect the amount out of the joint property of all the defendants, or the separate property of the persons upon whom the summons was served, to be specified by name. If such judgment be also such that the defendants are subject to arrest thereon, the justice must further specify the names of those defendants served with the summons, who may be arrested for want of property.

SEC. 1060. [Arrest—Liability of officer.]—The officer may, at his peril, omit to arrest a debtor, or after arrest suffer him to go at large before the return day, subject only for his liability for an escape, or for omitting to arrest, if he fail to have either the money or the person of the debtor in custody at the expiration of thirty days.

SEC. 1061. [Discharge of prisoner by officer.]—It shall be lawful for the sheriff or jailer receiving any person imprisoned on execution issued in any civil proceeding, at any time when there is no money in his hands to pay for the sustenance of such prisoner, to discharge him from prison. The jailer may, however, detain such prisoner, the adverse party being liable for such sustenance.

SEC. 1062. [Imprisonment—Duration.]—The debtor committed as herein provided may be held in prison ten days, and, if he be a person without a family for which he provides, one day in addition for every dollar over ten, due on the execution; or, if he has a family for which he provides, one day in addition for every two dollars over twenty, due on the execution.

SEC. 1063. [Same—Discharge on affidavit.]—The affidavit of an imprisoned debtor that he has a family for which he provides, specifying by name one or more persons, members of such family, and the place of their residence, is sufficient evidence thereof to authorize his discharge by the jailer.

SEC. 1064. [Neglect of officer—Liability.]—The officer is liable to the party in whose favor an execution issued to him for the amount thereof, in the following cases: First—Where he suffers thirty days to elapse without making a true return thereof to the justice, and paying to him, or to the party entitled, the money collected thereon by him. Second—Where he wilfully and carelessly omits to levy on property within thirty days, or if the defendant be liable to be imprisoned, then to arrest and commit him to the jail of the county within thirty days.

SEC. 1065. [Action on undertaking for stay.]—When an execution shall be returned unsatisfied for the want of goods and chattels, the justice shall, unless otherwise directed by the party for whom the execution issued, commence an action on the undertaking for the stay of execution, and so soon as judgment is obtained thereon, shall issue execution, and if such execution be returned unsatisfied in whole or in part, for want of goods and chattels of the bail whereon to levy, then the plaintiff may demand and have execution on the original judgment for the amount remaining due.

SEC. 1066. [Same—Death of defendant.]—Where bail is given for the stay of execution, and the defendant against whom the judgment was rendered shall die before the same is satisfied, the creditor may proceed against the surety in the undertaking in like manner as if execution had been issued against the defendant, and returned not satisfied for want of goods and chattels whereon to levy.

SALE ON EXECUTION.

SEC. 1067. [Sale of property—Advertisement—When held]—All property taken in execution under the provisions of this title shall be advertised for sale at four of the most public places within the precinct where such property was seized, at least ten days previous to the time appointed for such sale, which shall be held within the hours of ten o'clock A.M. and four o'clock P.M., at the house, or on the premises, where such property was taken, or at one of the most public places within the precinct.

SEC. 1068. [Same—Justice or officer purchaser—Penalty.—It shall not be lawful for any justice of the peace who issued the execution, nor for the officer holding the execution, to purchase, either directly or indirectly, any property sold on such execution. And any justice or officer who shall offend against the provisions of this section shall forfeit and pay, for every such offense, any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars nor less than five dollars, to be recovered by civil action, in the name of the state of Nebraska, before any court having jurisdiction thereof, for the use of the county where such offense was committed; and shall, moreover, be liable to the action of the party issued thereby.

SEC. 1069. [Keeping stock—Compensation.—When any cattle, or other live stock, shall be taken in execution, it shall be the duty of the justice who issued the execution, or other justice charged with the duty of collecting the judgment whereon such execution issued, to allow the officer for keeping the same a reasonable compensation, to be taxed and collected as other costs in the suit.

SEC. 1070. [Inventory of property levied on.—When a constable or sheriff shall levy on and sell any goods and chattels, he shall make out and annex to his return to the execution in virtue of which such sale was made, a true inventory of all such property, and of each article thereof, and the price at which the same was sold.

SEC. 1071. [Schedule of goods not sold—Further sale.—Where a constable or sheriff shall have levied on any goods and chattels which remain unsold for want of bidders or other just cause, it shall be his duty to return, with the execution, a schedule of all such goods and chattels. And the justice shall, unless otherwise directed by the party for whom such execution issued, or his agent, immediately thereafter issue an order, thereby commanding any officer to whom the same may be directed or delivered, to expose such property for sale; which sale, and the proceedings thereon, shall be the same as if such property had been sold on the original execution.

SEC. 1072. [Property released on bail.—Any officer having levied on goods and chattels, of which he permits the party against whom the execution issued to retain the possession, is hereby authorized to take such security for his own indemnity as he may require that such property shall be delivered at the time and place appointed for the sale thereof.

SEC. 1073. [Rights of landlord and tenant—Growing crops.—In all cases where any lands may have been let, reserving rent in kind, and when the crops or emblements growing or grown thereon shall be levied on or attached, by virtue of any execution, attachment, or any other process against the landlord or tenant, the interest of such landlord or tenant, against whom such process did not issue, shall not be affected thereby.

SEC. 1074. [Additional writs—When issued.—In cases where the constable or sheriff shall make it appear to the satisfaction of the justice that he has been deprived of an opportunity of levying an execution within the time prescribed by this chapter, or otherwise prevented from making the whole of the money therein required to be made, and shall make return to the justice who issued the same, to that effect, such justice is hereby authorized and required to issue further process of execution, for the amount of balance remaining unsatisfied, which shall be served and returned, in all respects, as other executions are under this chapter.

CHAPTER XIII.—CONSTABLES AND SHERIFFS.

SEC. 1075. [Ministerial officers—Jurisdiction.—All constables and sheriffs shall be ministerial officers in justices' courts, in their respective counties, in civil and criminal cases, and civil and criminal process may be executed by them throughout the county.

SEC. 1076. [Duties.—It shall be the duty of every constable to serve and execute all warrants, writs, precepts, executions, and other process to him directed and delivered, and in all respects whatever to do and perform all things pertaining to the office of constable. And sheriffs shall have all the powers and be subject to all the liabilities of constables in the service and return of all processes issued by justices of the peace in their respective counties.

SEC. 1077. [Posse comitatus—Return of process.—In discharging their duties, constables may call to their aid the power of the county, or such assistance as may be necessary. It shall be the duty of every constable or sheriff to make due return of all process to him directed and delivered, at the proper office and on the proper return day thereof; or if the judgment be docketed in the district court, appealed or stayed, upon which he has an execution, on notice thereof to return the execution, stating thereon such fact.

SEC. 1078. [Receipt of process—Endorsement.—It shall be the duty of every constable or sheriff, on the receipt of any writ or other process (subpoenas excepted), to note thereon the time of receiving the same; he shall also state in his return on the same, the time and manner of executing it.

SEC. 1079. [Return of "not found."—No officer shall make a return on any process of "not found," as to any defendant, unless he shall have been once, at least, to the usual place of residence of the defendant, if such defendant have any in the county.

SEC. 1080. [Criminal arrests—Keepers of peace.—It shall be the duty of every constable and sheriff to apprehend on view or warrant, and bring to justice all felons and disturbers and violators of the criminal laws of this state, to suppress all riots, affrays, and unlawful assemblies, which may come to his knowledge, and generally to keep the peace in his proper county.

SEC. 1081. [Constables—Authority—Powers.—In serving all process, either civil or criminal, and in doing his duties generally, when not otherwise restricted by law, the authority of a constable shall extend throughout the whole county in which he may be appointed; and in executing and serving process issued by a justice of the peace, he shall have and exercise the same authority and powers over goods and chattels and the persons of parties as is granted by law to a sheriff, under like process issued from courts of record.

SEC. 1082. [Arrest—Copy of mittimus to jailer—Return.—When it shall become the duty of the officer to take the body of any person to the jail of the county, he shall deliver to the sheriff or jailer a certified copy of the execution, commitment, or other process, whereby he holds such person in custody, and return the original to the justice who issued the same; which copy shall be sufficient authority to the sheriff or jailer to keep the prisoner in jail, until discharged by due course of law.

SEC. 1083. [Moneys received—Payment.—Constables and sheriffs shall pay over to the party entitled thereto all money received by them in their official capacity, if demand be made by such party, his agent, or attorney, at any time before he returns the writ upon which he has received it; if not paid over by that time, he shall pay the same to the justice when he returns the writ.

SEC. 1084. [False return—Penalty.—Constables and sheriffs shall be liable to twenty per cent. penalty upon the amount of damages for which judgment may be entered against them, for failing to make return, making false return, or failing to pay over money by them collected or received in their official capacity, and such judgment must include, in addition to the damages and costs, the penalty herein provided.

CHAPTER XIV.—GENERAL PROVISIONS.

SEC. 1085. [Application of code.]—The provisions of this code, which are in their nature applicable, and in respect to which no special provision is made by statute, shall apply to proceedings before justices of the peace.

SEC. 1086. [Justice's docket—Contents.]—Every justice must keep a book, denominated a docket, in which must be entered by him: First—The title of every action in which the writ is served, or where the parties voluntarily appear. Second—The date of the writ, the time of its return, and if an order to arrest the defendant or attach property was made, such fact must be stated, together with the affidavit upon which such order was made. Third—The filing of the bill of particulars of either party, and the nature thereof, and when not of too great length, the same shall be entered at length on the docket. Fourth—Which of the parties, if either of them, appear at the trial. Fifth—Every adjournment, stating on whose application, whether on oath or consent, and to what time. Sixth—When trial by jury is demanded, the demand must be stated, and by whom made, the names of the jurors selected, and the time appointed for the trial. Seventh—The names of the jurors who appear and of those sworn, the names of all witnesses sworn and at whose request. Eighth—The exceptions to the ruling of the justice, on questions of law, taken by either party. Ninth—The verdict of the jury, and when received; if the jury disagree and are discharged, that fact must be stated. Tenth—The judgment of the justice, specifying the items of costs included, and the time when rendered. Eleventh—The issuing of execution and orders to sell, when issued and to whom, the renewals thereof, if any, and when made, the return and when made, and a statement of any money paid to the justice, and by whom. Twelfth—The giving of a transcript to be filed in the clerk's office, and when given. Thirteenth—If appeal be taken, the undertaking and the time of entering into the same, and by which party taken. Fourteenth—The undertaking for stay of execution, and the time of giving the same. Fifteenth—The satisfaction of the judgment, and the time of satisfying the same.

SEC. 1087. [Same—Entries, when made—Evidence.]—The several particulars in the last section specified must be entered under the title of the action to which they relate, and at the time when they occurred, except that bills of exceptions in regard to the rulings on questions of law or evidence need not be entered until after the judgment, unless required by the justice or one of the parties; such entries in a justice's docket, or a transcript thereof, certified by the justice or his successor in office, shall be evidence to prove the facts stated therein.

SEC. 1088. [Same—Index—Papers how kept.]—A justice must keep an alphabetical index to his docket, in which must be entered the names of the parties to each judgment, with reference to the page of the entry; the names of the plaintiffs must be entered in the index in the alphabetical order of the first letter of the family names; he shall number the cases progressively upon his docket, and shall correspondingly number the papers in each case; he shall keep the entire papers in each action together and in packages of a proper and convenient size, and in the order in which the cases are numbered on his docket.

SEC. 1089. [Same—Delivery to successor.]—It is the duty of every justice, upon the expiration of his term of office, to deposit with his successor his official docket, as well his own as those of his predecessor which may be in his custody, together with all files and papers, laws and statutes pertaining to his office, there to be kept as public records and property. If there be no successor elected and qualified, or if the office become vacant by death, removal from the county, or otherwise, before his successor is elected and qualified, the docket and papers in the possession of such justice must be deposited with the nearest justice in the county, there to be kept until a successor be chosen and qualified, then to be delivered over to such successor on request.

SEC. 1090. [Same—Receipt.].—A justice receiving by succession or on deposit, any such docket, papers, and laws, shall, if requested, give a receipt therefor to the person from whom he receives the same.

SEC. 1091. [Same—Authority of successor.].—The justice with whom the docket of another may be deposited, either during vacancy or as a successor, is hereby authorized, while having such docket legally in his possession, to issue execution on any judgment there entered and unsatisfied, and not docketed in the district court, in the same manner and with the same effect as the justice by whom the judgment was rendered might have done; to take bail in appeals or for stay of execution, to issue certified transcripts of judgments on such docket, and proceed in all cases in like manner as if the same had been originally had or instituted before him.

SEC. 1092. [Disability of justice—Proceedings.].—In case of sickness or other disability, or necessary absence of a justice, at the time appointed for trial, another justice of the same county may, at his request, attend in his behalf, and shall thereupon become vested with the powers, for the time being, of the justice before whom the summons was returnable. In that case the proper entry of the proceeding before the attending justice, subscribed by him, must be made in the docket of the justice before whom the writ was returnable. If the case be adjourned, the justice before whom the summons was returnable must resume jurisdiction.

SEC. 1093. [Papers containing blanks void.].—The summons, execution, and every other paper made or issued by a justice must be filled up without a blank to be filled by another; otherwise it is void.

SEC. 1094. [Deputation to serve process.].—A justice, at the request of a party, and on being satisfied that it is expedient, may specially depute any discreet person of suitable age, and not interested in the action, to serve a summons or execution with or without an order to arrest the defendants or to attach property. Such deputation must be in writing on the process.

SEC. 1095. [Same—Fees.].—The person so deputed has the authority of a constable, in relation to the service, execution, and return of such process, and is subject to the same obligation, but there can be no fee for his services taxed in the bill of costs.

SEC. 1096. [Contempts punishable.].—A justice may punish as for contempt, persons guilty of the following acts, and no others: First—Disorderly, contemptuous, or insolent behavior toward the justice, tending to interrupt the due course of the trial or other judicial proceedings before him. Second—A breach of the peace, boisterous conduct, or violent disturbance, tending to interrupt the due course of a trial or other judicial proceeding. Third—Wilful resistance in the presence of the justice, to the execution of a lawful order or process made or issued by him.

SEC. 1097. [Same—Arrest—Punishment.].—A warrant of arrest may be issued by such justice, on which the person so guilty may be arrested and brought before the justice, when an opportunity to be heard in his defense or excuse must be given. The justice may thereupon discharge him or may convict him for the offense and adjudge a punishment by fine or imprisonment, or both; such fine not to exceed twenty dollars, and such imprisonment ten days.

SEC. 1098. [Same—Entry of judgment—Warrant.].—The conviction, specifying particularly the offense and the judgment thereon, must be entered in his docket; a warrant of commitment to the jail of the county, until the fine be paid, or for the term of imprisonment, may then be issued; such warrant must contain a transcript of the entry in the docket, and the same must be executed by any constable or sheriff to whom it may be given, and by the jailer of the county.

SEC. 1099. [Security for costs—Non-resident.]—When a person intending to bring an action before a justice of the peace is a non-resident of the county in which he intends to commence such action, the justice may, previous to his issuing process, require such person to give security for costs of suit, which may be done by depositing a sum of money, deemed by the justice to be sufficient to discharge the costs that may accrue in the action, or by giving an undertaking, with security approved by the justice, payable to the adverse party, for the payment of all costs that may accrue in the action. If any plaintiff or plaintiffs, after commencing an action before a justice in the county in which he or they reside, afterwards remove out of the county, the justice may require such plaintiff or plaintiffs to deposit a sum of money, equal to the costs that have accrued, and that probably will accrue, or require, in place thereof, that such party give sufficient security for all costs that have accrued, or which may accrue in the action, and in default to do either, shall enter a non-suit against the plaintiff or plaintiffs.

SEC. 1100. [Evidence of debt—Filing.]—In all actions instituted before a justice of the peace, founded upon any bond, bill, promissory note, or other instrument of writing, for the payment of a sum of money certain, of which the whole amount of money promised therein is due, it shall be the duty of the plaintiff, his agent, or attorney, to file said bond, bill, promissory note, or other written evidence of indebtedness, upon which said suit is brought, with such justice of the peace; and if upon the trial judgment shall be entered thereon, in favor of the plaintiff, such bond, bill, promissory note, or other instrument in writing, shall be retained by the justice so rendering judgment, who shall endorse thereon the sum for which he shall have entered judgment (provided the same shall in no wise exceed one hundred dollars), and shall subscribe his name thereto. And upon payment, or tender of the amount of such payment, together with the costs accruing thereon, or securing the payment of the same by putting in bail for the stay of execution, it shall not be lawful for the plaintiff to institute any other suit or suits upon such bond, bill, promissory note, or other instrument of writing, for the recovery of any other sum or sums, the payment of which is secured by the same bond, bill, promissory note, or other written evidence of indebtedness; Provided, That when an appeal shall be taken from the judgment of such justice, it shall be his duty to transmit any bond, bill, promissory note, or other written evidence produced before him on trial to the clerk of the district court, to which such cause shall have been appealed, on or before the second day of the term of the court next after taking such appeal; Provided also, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to lessen or in anywise affect the right which any creditors now have to demand from any justice of the peace any joint and several obligation, for the purpose of prosecuting any party to said obligation, other than the party against whom judgment may have been rendered.

SEC. 1100 a. [Proof of written instrument.]—That in all civil actions before justices of the peace, in which the defendant has been served with summons in this state, it shall not be necessary to prove the execution of any bond, promissory note, bill of exchange, or other written instrument, or any indorsement thereon, upon which the action is brought, or set-off or counter-claim is based, unless the party sought to be charged as the maker, acceptor, or indorser, of such bond, promissory note, or bill of exchange, or other written instrument, shall make and file with the justice of the peace, before whom the suit is pending, an affidavit that such instrument was not made, given, subscribed, accepted, or indorsed by him. [G. S. § 1, 717.]

SEC. 1101. [Justice purchasing judgment—Penalty.]—It shall not be lawful for any justice of the peace to purchase any judgment upon any docket in his possession; and for so doing, and for every such offense, such justice shall forfeit and pay a sum not more than fifty dollars, nor less than ten dollars, to be recovered by an action before any court having jurisdiction thereof, and when collected, shall be paid into the treasury of the county where such offense was committed.

SEC. 1102. [Application of code to pending suits.].—The provisions of this title do not apply to proceedings in actions or suits pending when it takes effect. They shall be conducted to final judgment and determination in all respects as if it had not been adopted.

SEC. 1103. [Jurisdiction.].—Justices of the peace shall have jurisdiction in all cases where the sum in question does not exceed two hundred dollars except in cases limited in this title. [Amended Feb. 28. Took effect June 1, 1881.]

TITLE XXXI.—MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

SEC. 1104. [Pending chancery cases.].—The final orders or decrees of chancery heretofore rendered, or which may hereafter be rendered, in any chancery proceedings pending at the time this act shall take effect, may be enforced or reviewed in the same manner, and within the same time, as if this act had not taken effect; and all suits in chancery pending at the time of the taking effect of this act may be prosecuted to final decree in like manner. [1867, 71.]

SEC. 1105. [Definitions.].—The words hereinafter found in the code of civil procedure shall be construed and held to mean as follows, to-wit: "complainant" shall mean plaintiff; "bill" or "complaint" shall mean petition; "suit" shall mean action or civil action; and "decree" shall mean judgment; and all other words and terms found in said code of civil procedure, heretofore applicable to the chancery practice hereby repealed, shall be so construed and held as to carry out the intention of this act, prevent a failure of justice, and give adequate relief in all cases. [Id.]

SUITS BY AND AGAINST STATE.

SEC. 1106. [District court—Jurisdiction.].—That the several district courts of the judicial districts of the state as now provided for and established by the constitution of the state, and of such judicial districts as may hereafter be provided by law, shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine the following matters: First—All claims against the state filed therein, which have previously been presented to the auditor of public accounts, and have been in whole or in part rejected or disallowed. Second—All claims or petitions for relief that may be presented to the legislature, and which may be by any law, or by any rule or resolution of the legislature, or either house thereof, referred to either of said courts for adjudication. Third—Of all set-offs, counter-claims, claims for damages, liquidated or unliquidated, on the part of the state, against any person making a claim against the state, or against the person in whose favor such claim arose. [1877, 19.]

SEC. 1107. [Petition.].—The claimant shall, in all cases, file a petition, setting forth the facts out of which his claim originally arose; the action of the legislature, or of either house thereof, or of any department of government thereon, if any such has been had; what person or persons, is the owner, or are owners thereof, or in anywise interested therein; that no assignment or transfer of the same, or any part thereof, or interest therein, has been made, except as stated in the petition; and that the claimant is justly entitled to the amount claimed therein from the state after allowance of all just credits and set-offs. The petition shall be verified as now required in civil actions in the district courts.

SEC. 1108. [Summons—Service.].—Summons shall issue upon the filing of such petition, and shall be served upon the state by the sheriff of the county in which the petition may be filed, by serving the same upon the governor and attorney general; and in any action, the subject matter of which, in whole or in part, relates to or grew out of the conduct of any special department or institution of the government, summons shall also be served by such sheriff upon the chief officer of such department or institution, and the return day thereof shall be as now provided by law in other actions in the district courts.

SEC. 1109. [Trial — Judgment — Review.]—The court in which such action may be brought shall hear and determine the matter upon the testimony according to justice and right, as upon the amicable settlement of a controversy, and shall render award and judgment against the claimant, or the state, as upon the testimony right and justice may require. Either party may take their judgment, by proceedings in error, to the supreme court for review.

SEC. 1110. [Judgment certified to legislature.]—On the first day of each regular session of the legislature the clerks of the several district courts shall transmit a full and complete statement of all claims adjudicated in said courts during the two years previous, certified by himself and signed by the judge of such court, showing the claimant, the amounts claimed, and the judgment rendered for or against the claimant.

SEC. 1111. [Place of trial.]—The state may be sued in the district court of the county wherein the capital is situate, in any matter founded upon or growing out of a contract, expressed or implied, originally authorized or subsequently ratified by the legislature, or founded upon any law of the state. The petition in such a case shall be as provided in section two of this act, summons shall issue and be served in the same manner as hereinbefore provided, and the rules of pleading and practice in regard to other civil actions in the district court shall be observed in all actions by or against the state, as far as applicable, except as otherwise herein provided.

SEC. 1112. [Set-off against state.]—In any civil action instituted by the state, except in actions for the collection of revenue, or for school or other trust funds, or against defaulting officers and their bondsmen, the defendant may, as matter of defense, plead any set-off, counter claim, or cross demand that he may have arising to him in his own right, and upon which an action could be maintained by him against the state.

SEC. 1113. [Priority of trial — Attendance of witnesses.]—Civil actions to which the state is a party shall, on motion of counsel on behalf of the state, have priority of trial over other civil actions; and the several district courts having jurisdiction to try actions to which the state is a party, shall have power to compel attendance of witnesses, as is now had by such courts in other civil actions, and on payment of fees and mileage by the party desiring their attendance, may compel the attendance of witnesses from any county within the state.

SEC. 1114. [Fraud in proof of claim—Penalty.]—Any person who corruptly practices, or attempts to practice, any fraud against the state in the proof, statement, establishment, or allowance of any claim or cause of action, or any part thereof, in the matter out of which the same arose, shall ipso facto forfeit the same to the state; and it shall be the duty of the court in such case to find specifically that fraud was practiced, or attempted to be practiced, and to render judgment of forfeiture, and that the claimant be forever barred from prosecuting the same against the state, and for costs.

SEC. 1115. [Fees of officers.]—The fees of sheriff, the clerk, or other officers, or of witnesses in claims or suits to which the state is a party, shall be the same, and be paid and taxed in the same manner as in other civil actions in the district courts.

SEC. 1116. [Attorney for state.]—It shall be the duty of the attorney general to appear and defend actions or claims against the state. He may require the assistance of the district or prosecuting attorney of the district or county wherein the action is brought, and in any case of importance or difficulty the governor or chief officer of the department or institution to which it relates, may retain and employ a competent attorney to appear on behalf of the state.

SEC. 1117. [Judgment certified to auditor—Payment—Stay.]—The court by which any judgment is rendered against the state shall certify the same to the auditor of public accounts, who shall pay the same from any special fund or appropriation applicable thereto, and if none such have been provided or made, then from any appropriations made to the department or institution relating to which the cause of action arose; Provided, That a certificate of the auditor of public accounts or of the chief officer of such department or institution that the current appropriations will not permit the payment of such judgment without great public inconvenience, shall operate as a stay of such judgment until the adjournment of the next regular session of the legislature; and in case of such stay being claimed or taken, interest shall run on such judgment from its date at the rate of ten per centum per annum.

SEC. 1118. [Same—Against claimant—Docketed where.]—In any action in which a judgment is rendered in any sum, or for costs against the claimant, the clerk of the court in which such judgment was rendered shall make and transmit a certified copy thereof on application of the attorney general, or other counsel on behalf of the state, to the clerk of the district court of any county within the state, and the same shall thereupon be filed and docketed in such court and become and be a judgment thereof; and all judgments against the claimant or plaintiff shall be collected by execution as other judgments in the district courts.

SEC. 1119. [Error—Appeal—Proceedings—Supersedeas.]—Proceedings in error or appeal from the several district courts to the supreme court, as in other civil cases, may be taken by either party within the same limitations of time as in other civil actions. No appeal or supersedeas bond shall be required of the state, and the filing of notice signed by the governor, or chief officer of the proper department, or by the attorney general, or counsel for the state, of intention to take such proceedings, shall operate as a supersedeas of such judgment, and until the time that final judgment in the court of review be rendered in said cause, but the same shall not so operate longer than six months, unless proceedings in error or appeal are taken, and in case of the affirmance of such judgment or failure on the part of the state to take proceedings in error or appeal, after notice thereof, interest shall run and be computed on such judgment from its date.

SEC. 1120. [Payment—Bar of claim.]—Payment and receipt of the amount due on any judgment rendered in any action brought under the provisions of this act, shall be a full discharge of the state in such matter, and any final judgment shall forever bar further controversy upon the subject thereof.

SEC. 1121. [Action, when brought—Limitation.]—Every claim and demand against the state shall be forever barred, unless action be brought thereon within two years after the claim arose; Provided, That claims now subsisting shall not be barred until two years after the taking effect of this act, and every claim and demand in behalf of the state except for revenue, or upon official bonds, or for loans or moneys belonging to the school fund, or loans of school or other trust funds or to lands or interest in lands thereto belonging, shall be barred by the same lapse of time as is provided by the law in case of like demands between private parties; Provided, however, That in any action on behalf of the state the defendant may plead and avail himself of any set-off or counter claim growing out of or connected with the same matter or transaction upon which action is brought against him. [Amended and took effect Feb. 28, 1881.]

SEC. 1122. [Change of venue.]—Change of venue may be taken from the district court of the county in which the action is brought as in other civil cases, on payment of the costs of removal, by the party making application for such change of venue.

PART III.

CRIMINAL CODE.

PART I.—CRIMES AND OFFENSES.

CHAPTER I.—ACCESSORIES IN FELONY.

SECTION 1. [Aiding and abetting felony].—If any person shall aid, abet or procure any other person to commit any felony, every person so offending shall, upon conviction thereof, be imprisoned in the penitentiary for any time between the respective periods for which the principal offenders could be imprisoned for the principal offense; or, if such principal offender would on conviction be punishable with death, or be imprisoned for life, then such aider, abettor, or procurer shall be punished with death, or be imprisoned for life, the same as the principal offender would be. [G. S. § 1, 719.]

SEC. 2. [Accessories after the fact].—An accessory after the fact is a person who, after full knowledge that a felony has been committed, conceals it from the magistrate, or harbors and protects the person charged with or found guilty of the crime. Any person found guilty of being an accessory after the fact shall be imprisoned in the jail of the county for any term not exceeding two years, and fined in a sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, in the discretion of the court, to be regulated by the circumstances of the case and the enormity of the crime.

NOTE.—“An act to establish a criminal code.” Passed March 4. Took effect Sept. 1, 1873. G. S. 719. Provisions relative to costs are embraced in title and are constitutional. 10 Neb. 300.

CHAP. I. Facts showing that accused was accessory only, whether before or after the fact, will not warrant conviction under an indictment for murder. 8 Neb. 82. Acting as agent of another in commission of offense, no excuse or justification. 21 Neb. 595. Words “requested, advised, and incited,” instead of “aid, abet, or procure,” used in an instruction to jury sustained. 23 Neb. 45. Malice defined; premeditation and deliberation defined. 6 Neb. 143. 23 Id. 755. 24 Id. 623, 843. Statutory distinction in degrees. 6 Neb. 139. 9 Id. 303. Murder in first degree; evidence must show that accused perpetrated act purposely; that he did it with intent to kill, and of deliberate and premeditated malice. 6 Neb. 140. 14 Id. 568. 15 Id. 213. 24 Id. 623. Verdict fixing degree of criminality is conclusive. 9 Neb. 243. Act of killing required to be “done with reflection” and “conceived beforehand.” 14 Neb. 569. Evidence, Heid, insufficient to show deliberation. 6 Neb. 141. 14 Id. 671. Conviction may be had for murder in second degree or manslaughter. 4 Neb. 562. Murder in second degree; where fact of killing is shown, and no explanatory circumstance is shown, malice is presumed and degree established. 5 Neb. 384. 6 Neb. 140. Murder in second degree; malice implied only in cases where killing alone is shown; where evidence shows all the circumstances by the testimony of eye-witnesses, malice not presumed. 24 Neb. 843. A malicious killing, although done upon a sudden quarrel and in the heat of passion, is at least murder in the second degree. 15 Neb. 214. Evidence must show that prisoner either personally committed the deed or else present aiding and abetting therein; facts showing him to be accessory only will not warrant conviction under an indictment for murder. 8 Neb. 82. Malice presumed where no considerable provocation appears. 5 Neb. 384. 14 Id. 569. Persons may resist an unlawful attempt at arrest, and if necessary, rather than submit, he may lawfully kill the person making it. 14 Neb. 572. Arrest may be made by private person without warrant. 16 Neb. 623. Manslaughter; failure of jury to negative the fact that the crime was of higher grade no ground for reversal of judgment. 6 Neb. 843. Testimony tending to show that act was committed in self-defense must be submitted to jury. 9 Neb. 165. Self-defense; general rules. 24 Neb. 843. It must appear that accused endeavored by all reasonable means, before giving the fatal blow, to escape from scene of difficulty. 14 Neb. 67. If accused have mental capacity to distinguish right from wrong in respect to particular act charged, he is responsible. 4 Neb. 409. 11 Id. 538. 14 Id. 577. Where on a trial for murder the defendant is found guilty of a lower degree of homicide than the highest degree charged in the indictment, and on his motion a new trial is granted, the effect of granting a new trial is to set aside the whole verdict and leave the case for retrial upon the same issues as upon the first trial. 18 Neb. 77. Evidence tending to lower degree of homicide should be submitted to jury. 18 Neb. 407. 24 Id. 843. Ingredients of crime stated; intent must be averred in indictment; indictment examined and Heid, insufficient; omission not cured by ordinary formal conclusion. 22 Neb. 559. Instructions, copied from instruction numbered nine in 6 Neb. 384, and printed therein at page 336, criticised, and concluding words thereof held unnecessary. 22 Neb. 563. Accused relying upon insanity as a defense, burden of proof lies on prosecution to show sanity. 4 Neb. 409. 19 Id. 619. Degree of mental unsoundness necessary must be such as to create uncontrollable impulse to do act charged. 4 Neb. 409. If accused lack mental capacity to distinguish right from wrong in reference to the particular act complained of, law will not hold him responsible. Id. 11 Id. 538. Temporary insanity, produced by intoxication, does not destroy responsibility, if accused, when sane and responsible, made himself voluntarily drunk. 9 Neb. 253. Law requires something more than occasional oddity or hypochondria to exempt accused. 11 Neb. 538. Refusal to instruct as to insanity when there is no evidence of it, not error. 11 Neb. 414. One of weak mind, but of sufficient capacity to distinguish right from wrong in respect to the particular act charged, is accountable for his acts. 23 Neb. 555. Jury may consider intoxication of accused as a circumstance to show that act was not premeditated, and to rebut the idea that it was done in a cool and deliberate state of mind, necessary to constitute murder in the first degree. 4 Neb. 389. 9 Id. 252.

CHAPTER II.—HOMICIDE AND FETICIDE.

SEC. 3. [Murder, first degree.].—If any person shall purposely, and of deliberate and premeditated malice, or in the perpetration, or attempt to perpetrate any rape, arson, robbery, or burglary, or by administering poison, or causing the same to be done, kill another; or, if any person, by wilful and corrupt perjury, or by subornation of the same, shall purposely procure the conviction and execution of any innocent person, every person so offending shall be deemed guilty of murder in the first degree, and, upon conviction thereof, shall suffer death.

SEC. 4. [Murder, second degree.].—If any person shall purposely and maliciously, but without deliberation and premeditation, kill another, every such person shall be deemed guilty of murder in the second degree; and on conviction thereof, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than ten years, or during life, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 5. [Manslaughter.].—If any person shall unlawfully kill another without malice, either upon a sudden quarrel, or unintentionally, while the slayer is in the commission of some unlawful act, every such person shall be deemed guilty of manslaughter; and, upon conviction thereof, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than ten years nor less than one year.

SEC. 6. [Feticide—Homicide in committing same.].—Any physician or other person who shall administer, or advise to be administered, to any pregnant woman with a vitalized embryo, or fetus, at any stage of utero gestation, any medicine, drug, or substance whatever, or who shall use or employ, or devise to be used or employed, any instrument or other means with intent thereby to destroy such vitalized embryo, or fetus, unless the same shall have been necessary to preserve the life of the mother, or shall have been advised by two physicians to be necessary for such purpose, shall in case of the death of such vitalized embryo, or fetus, or mother, in consequence thereof, be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one nor more than ten years.

CHAPTER III.—FIGHTING BY AGREEMENT.

SEC. 7. [Prize fighting.].—If any person shall actually engage as a principal in any premeditated fight or contention, commonly called a prize fight, every person so offending shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one year nor more than ten years, and pay the costs of prosecution.

SEC. 8. [Aiders and abettors.].—If any person shall engage, or be concerned in, or attend any such fight or contention as is described in the last preceding section, as backer, trainer, second, umpire, assistant, or reporter, every person so offending shall, on conviction, be fined in any sum not less than five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, and imprisoned in the jail of the county not less than ten days nor more than three months, and pay the costs of prosecution. [Amended 1875, 2.]

SEC. 9. [Dueling.].—If any person shall engage in or fight a duel with another, or shall be second to such person who shall fight a duel, or if any person shall, by word, message, letter, or in any other way, challenge another to fight a duel, or shall accept a challenge to fight a duel, although no duel be fought, or shall, knowingly, be the bearer of such challenge, or shall advise, prompt, encourage, or persuade any person to fight a duel, or challenge another to fight a duel, whether such duel be fought or not, every person so offending shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than ten years, nor less than one year, and shall forever after be incapable of holding any office of honor, profit, or trust within this state; Provided, however, If death ensue from such duel, the person or persons concerned shall be deemed guilty of murder, and shall be punished for murder in the first or second degree (as the case may be), as is provided in this act, anything in this section to the contrary notwithstanding.

SEC. 10. [Affray.].—If any two persons shall agree and wilfully fight or box at fisticuffs, the persons so offending shall be deemed guilty of an affray, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined, each, in a sum not exceeding fifty dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding ten days, or both, at the discretion of the court.

CHAPTER IV.—VIOLENCE TO PERSONS, NOT RESULTING IN DEATH.

SEC. 11. [Rape upon daughter or sister.].—If any person shall have carnal knowledge of his daughter or sister, forcibly and against her will, every such person so offending shall be deemed guilty of a rape, and shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary during life.

SEC. 12. [Rape upon other female.].—If any person shall have carnal knowledge of any other woman, or female child, than his daughter or sister, as aforesaid, forcibly and against her will; or if any male person, of the age of eighteen years or upwards, shall carnally know or abuse any female child under the age of fifteen years, with her consent, every such person so offending shall be deemed guilty of a rape, and shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than 20 nor less than 3 years. [Amended 1887, chap. 105. Took effect July 1, 1887.]

SEC. 13. [Robbery.].—If any person shall forcibly, and by violence, or by putting in fear, take from the person of another any money or personal property, of any value whatever, with the intent to rob or steal, every person so offending shall be deemed guilty of robbery, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than fifteen nor less than three years.

SEC. 14. [Felonious assault.].—If any person shall assault another with intent to commit a murder, rape, or robbery upon the person so assaulted, every person so offending shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than fifteen nor less than two years.

SEC. 15. [Maiming and disfiguring.].—If any person shall voluntarily, unlawfully, and on purpose cut or bite the nose, lip or lips, ear or ears, or cut out or disable the tongue, put out an eye, slit the nose, ear or lip, cut or disable any limb or member of any person, with intent to murder, kill, maim, or disfigure such person, every person so offending shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than twenty years nor less than one year.

SEC. 16. [Shooting and stabbing with intent to kill.].—If any person shall maliciously shoot, stab, cut, or shoot at any other person, with intent to kill, wound, or maim such person, every person so offending shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than twenty years nor less than one year.

SEC. 17. [Assault and battery—Menacing threat.].—If any person

Evidence; statements of prosecutrix; must resist to extent of her ability. 11 Neb. 279. 19 Id. 333. Proof of emission not necessary: presumed from fact of penetration. 14 Neb. 208. Failure of prosecutrix to call expert testimony to the fact of penetration does not weaken other competent evidence on that point. Id. 207. Child is competent to testify as to the fact of its parentage. Id. 207. Evidence in cases stated. 9 Neb. 65. 15 Id. 348. Change of venue allowed in case stated. 16 Neb. 389. Where accused testifies and explicitly denies accusation, there must be testimony corroborating prosecutrix to warrant conviction. 9 Neb. 65. 19 Id. 335. Not essential to conviction that prosecutrix should be corroborated by testimony of other witnesses as to the particular act constituting offense. Sufficient if she be corroborated as to material facts and circumstances which tend to support her testimony, and for which, together with her testimony as to principal fact, inference of guilt may be drawn. 22 Neb. 333. An instruction that "there must be an assault and also an accompanying intent, and this intent may be gathered or inferred from any circumstances attending the commission of the alleged crime tending in any manner to show such intent in the mind of the defendant at the time," is erroneous. 19 Neb. 731. To warrant conviction in such case the circumstances, when taken together, must be of so conclusive a nature as to show intent beyond reasonable doubt. Id. 731. Not necessary to prove that prosecutrix has not reached age of puberty, if it be shown that she is under fifteen years of age. 20 Neb. 41. Not necessary to be against will of child. 47 N. W. R. 854. Instruction cautioning jury against "prejudice and as to resistance. 27 Neb. 90.

SEC. 13. Property must be taken by force or violence and with intent to rob or steal. 19 Neb. 652. Person may be convicted of larceny. Id.

SEC. 14. Indictment should charge the assault to have been made "purposely and maliciously." 4 Neb. 552. Evidence of physicians and surgeons. 5 Neb. 417. Intent an essential and material ingredient. Id. Is but one offense; general verdict good. 5 Neb. 418. Instructions on question of intent. 4 Neb. 553. Cited 47 N. W. R. 854.

SEC. 16. Charging "intent to kill" with "intent to wound;" prosecutor not required to elect on which count he will proceed. 8 Neb. 486. In indictment for shooting with intent to kill the word "maliciously" was omitted, but it was alleged that act was "unlawfully, willfully, purposely, and feloniously" done. Held, That these words included full signification of word "maliciously," and that verdict would not be set aside or indictment quashed as not stating an offense. 17 Neb. 224.

shall unlawfully assault or threaten [another] in a menacing manner, or shall unlawfully strike or wound another, the person so offending shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars, or imprisoned in the jail of the county not exceeding three months, or both, in the discretion of the court, and shall moreover, be liable to the suit of the party injured. [1875, 2.]

SEC. 17 a. [Provoking assault.].—That any person who shall intentionally provoke or attempt to provoke an assault upon himself or another, by the uttering of grossly vile and insulting epithets applied to the assaulting party, or one so tempted to commit an assault, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not exceeding ten ($10) dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding ten days. [1887, chap. 102.]

SEC. 17 b. [Assault with intent to commit bodily injury.].—That if any person assault another with intent to inflict a great bodily injury, he shall be punished, on conviction thereof, by imprisonment in the penitentiary for not less than one (1) year nor more than five (5) years. [1889, chap. 34.]

SEC. 17 c. [Assault with intent to kill.].—If any person shall assault another with the intent to kill the person so assaulted, every person so offending shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one (1) nor more than ten (10) years. [Id. § 2.]

SEC. 18. [Kidnapping.].—Any person or persons who shall kidnap or forcibly or fraudulently carry off or decoy out of this state any person or persons, or shall arrest or imprison any person or persons, with the intention of having such person or persons carried out of the state, unless it be in pursuance of the laws thereof, shall be confined in the penitentiary not less than three nor more than seven years, and shall, moreover, be liable for the costs of prosecution.

SEC. 19. [False imprisonment.].—False imprisonment is the unlawful violation of the personal liberty of another, and consists in confinement or detention without sufficient legal authority. Any person convicted of false imprisonment shall be fined in any sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, or imprisoned not exceeding one year in the county jail.

SEC. 20. [Child stealing.].—Every person who shall maliciously or forcibly or fraudulently lead, take, or carry away, or decoy, or entice away, any child under the age of ten years, with intent unlawfully to detain or conceal such child from its parent or parents, or guardian, or other person having the lawful charge of such child, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than seven years nor less than one year.

SEC. 21. [Aiding and abetting same.].—Every person who shall harbor or conceal, with intent to detain from its parent or parents, or guardian, any child under the age of ten years, so led, taken, carried, decoyed, or enticed away, as in the preceding section specified, shall, upon conviction thereof, be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than seven years nor less than one year.

CHAPTER V.—OFFENSES AGAINST PUBLIC PEACE AND JUSTICE.

SEC. 22. [Treason.].—Any person or persons residing in this state, who shall levy war against this state, or the United States of America, or shall knowingly adhere to the enemies of this state, or the United States, giving them aid and comfort, shall be deemed guilty of treason against the state of Nebraska, and shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary during life.

SEC. 23. [Accessories.].—Any person or persons residing within this state, who shall surrender or betray, or be in any way concerned in the surrendering or betraying any military post, fortification, arsenal, or military stores of this state, or the United States, into the possession or power of any enemies of either, or shall supply arms or ammunition or military stores to such enemies, or who shall unlawfully and without authority, usurp possession and control of any such military post, fortification, arsenal, or military stores, or having knowledge of any treason against this state or the United States, shall wilfully omit or refuse to give information thereof to the governor, or some judge of this state, or to the president of the United States, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than ten years nor more than twenty years.

SEC. 24. [Military expeditions against other states.].—If any person shall, within this state, begin or set on foot, or provide or prepare the means for any unauthorized military expedition or enterprise, to be carried on from thence against the territory or people of any of the United States, every person so offending shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary not less than one nor more than ten years.

SEC. 25. [Carrying concealed weapons.].—Whoever shall carry a weapon or weapons, concealed on or about his person, such as a pistol, bowie-knife, dirk, or any other dangerous weapon, on conviction of the first offense shall be fined not exceeding one hundred dollars, or imprisoned in the county jail not more than thirty days, and for the second offense not exceeding one hundred dollars or imprisoned in the county jail not more than three months, or both, at the discretion of the court; Provided, however, If it shall be proved from the testimony on the trial of any such case that the accused was, at the time of carrying any weapon or weapons as aforesaid, engaged in the pursuit of any lawful business, calling, or employment, and the circumstances in which he was placed at the time aforesaid were such as to justify a prudent man in carrying the weapon or weapons aforesaid, for the defense of his person, property, or family, the accused shall be acquitted. [Amended 1875, 3.]

SEC. 26. [Unlawful assembly and rout.].—If three or more persons shall assemble together with intent to do any unlawful act, with force and violence, against the person or property of another, or to do any unlawful act against the peace; or, being lawfully assembled, shall agree with each other to do any unlawful act as aforesaid, and shall make any movement or preparation therefor, the persons so offending shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars, and be imprisoned in the jail of the county not exceeding three months. [Id.]

SEC. 27. [Proclamation dispersing rioters.].—Whenever three or more persons shall be assembled as aforesaid, and proceed to commit any of the offenses aforesaid, it shall be the duty of all judges, justices of the peace, and sheriffs, and all ministerial officers, immediately, upon actual view, or as soon as may be, on information, to make proclamation in the hearing of such offenders, commanding them in the name of the state of Nebraska to disperse and depart to their several homes or lawful employments; and if, upon such proclamation, such persons shall not disperse and depart as aforesaid, it shall be the duty of such judges, justices of the peace, and sheriffs, and all other ministerial officers, respectively, to call upon all persons near, and, if necessary, throughout the county, to aid and assist in dispersing and taking into custody all persons assembled as aforesaid; and military officers and others, called on as aforesaid, and refusing to render immediate assistance, shall each be fined in any sum not exceeding twenty-five dollars.

SEC. 28. [Riot—Obstructing authorities—Refusing to disperse.].—If any person shall forcibly obstruct any of the authorities aforesaid, or if any three or more persons shall continue together after proclamation made as aforesaid, or attempted to be made, and prevented by such rioters; or, in case of the proclamation, any three or more persons, being assembled as aforesaid, shall commit any unlawful act as aforesaid, every such offender shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars, and imprisoned in the jail of the county not exceeding three months; and shall, moreover, find security for good behavior and to keep the peace for a time not exceeding one year. [Amended 1875, 3.]

SEC. 29. [Rioters injured in resisting officers, slayer held guiltless.]—If any of the persons so unlawfully assembled shall be killed, maimed, or otherwise injured, in consequence of resisting the judges or others in dispersing and apprehending them, or in attempting to disperse and apprehend them, said judges, justices of the peace, sheriffs, and other ministerial officers, and others acting by their authority, or the authority of either of them, shall be holden guiltless; Provided, Such killing, maiming, or injury shall take place in consequence of the use of necessary and proper means to disperse or apprehend any such persons so unlawfully assembled.

SEC. 30. [Resisting and abusing officers.]—If any person shall abuse any judge or justice of the peace, resist or abuse any sheriff, constable, or other officer, in the execution of his office, the person so offending shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars, or imprisoned in the jail of the county not exceeding three months, or both, at the discretion of the court. [Amended 1875, 4.]

SEC. 31. [Rescuing by force.]—If any person shall rescue, by force, any offender, charged with, or convicted of, any offense, by the laws of this state made punishable with imprisonment, from any jail or other place of confinement, or from the custody of any officer, or other person charged with the safe keeping of such offender, every person so offending shall be fined in any sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, and be imprisoned in the jail of the county not exceeding thirty days.

SEC. 32. [Disturbing religious meetings.]—If any person or persons shall at any time interrupt or molest any religious society or any member thereof; or any persons when meeting or met together, for the purpose of worship, or performing any duties enjoined on, or appertaining to them, as members of such society, the person or persons so offending shall be fined in any sum not exceeding twenty dollars; Provided, That this section shall not be so construed as to deprive any religious society of the right of laying hands upon the person or persons who may be disturbing the congregation, and turning him or them out of the church or place of worship.

SEC. 33. [Exciting disturbance at tavern or meeting of citizens.]—If any person or persons shall be found making or exciting any contention or disturbance at any tavern, court, election, or other meetings of the citizens for the purpose of transacting or doing any business appertaining to, or enjoined on them, the person or persons so offending shall be fined in any sum not exceeding five dollars, nor less than fifty cents, each, and, if necessary, imprisoned until such meeting shall be ready to disperse.

SEC. 34. [Disturbing school, society, or meeting, etc.]—If any person or persons shall hereafter wilfully disturb, molest, or interrupt any literary society, school, or society formed for the intellectual improvement of its members, or any other school or society organized under any law of this state, or any school, society, or meeting formed or convened for improvement in music, letters, or for social amusement, such person or persons so offending shall be fined in any sum not less than five, nor more than twenty dollars.

SEC. 35. [Molesting county surveyor.]—If any county surveyor, or deputy surveyor, shall be molested or prevented from doing or performing any of his official duties, by means of the threats or improper interference of any person or persons, such surveyor shall call on the sheriff of the county, who shall accompany him, and remove all force; and the person or persons thus threatening, or improperly interfering with any surveyor, while performing his official duties, shall be fined in a sum not exceeding one hundred dollars; and, moreover, be liable for all damages by any person sustained by the hindrance of the surveyor, and also for all expenses and costs that may accrue in consequence of the attendance of the sheriff.

SEC. 36. [Neglect by conservators of the peace.]—If any judge, justice of the peace, sheriff, or other officer bound to preserve the public peace, shall have knowledge of an intention on the part of any two persons to fight with any deadly weapon or weapons, and such officer shall not use and exert his official authority to arrest the parties and prevent the duel, every such officer shall be fined not exceeding one hundred dollars.

SEC. 37. [Influencing witness, juror or officer—Obstructing administration of justice.]—If any person or persons shall, corruptly or by threats, or force, endeavor to influence, intimidate, or impede any juror, witness, or officer, in any court of this state, in the discharge of his duty, or shall corruptly, or by threats or force, obstruct or impede, or endeavor to obstruct or impede, the due administration of justice therein, every person or persons so offending, shall be punished by fine, not exceeding one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment, not exceeding twenty days, or both.

CHAPTER VI.—ATTEMPTS AND INDUCEMENTS TO POISONING AND ABORTION.

SEC. 38. [Poisoning with intent, etc.]—If any person or persons shall administer poison to another with the intent to destroy or take the life of the person or persons to whom the same shall be administered, or do him, her, or them, an injury, or if any person or persons shall mix poison in water, food, drink, or medicine with the aforesaid intent, the person or persons so offending, their aidors and abettors, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than fifteen nor less than two years.

SEC. 39. [Attempting to procure abortion.]—Any physician or other person who shall wilfully administer to any pregnant woman any medicine, drug, substance, or thing whatever, or shall use any instrument or other means whatever, with intent thereby to procure the miscarriage of any such woman, unless the same shall have been necessary to preserve the life of such woman, or shall have been advised by two physicians to be necessary for that purpose, shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail not more than one year, or by fine, not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 40. [Administering medicine while intoxicated.]—If any physician, or other person, while in a state of intoxication, shall prescribe any poison, drug, or medicine, to another person, which shall endanger the life of such other person, he shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars.

SEC. 41. [Administering secret medicine.]—If any physician, or other person, shall prescribe any drug or medicine to another person, the true nature and composition of which he does not, if inquired of, truly make known, but allow the same a secret medicine or composition, thereby endangering the life of such other person, he shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars.

SEC. 42. [What done when poisons sold.]—Every apothecary, druggist, or other person who shall sell or give away, except upon the prescription of a physician, any article or articles of medicine belonging to the class usually known as poisons, shall be required: First—To register, in a book kept for that purpose, the name, age, sex, and color of the person obtaining such poison. Second—The quantity sold. Third—The purpose for which it is required. Fourth—The day and date on which it was obtained. Fifth—The name and place of abode of the person for whom the article is intended. Sixth—To carefully mark the word "poison" upon the label or wrapper of each package. Seventh—To neither sell or give away any article of poison to minors of either sex.

SEC. 43. [Indigo or soot.]—No apothecary, druggist, or other person shall be permitted to sell, or give away, any quantity of arsenic less than one pound, without first mixing either soot or indigo therewith, in the proportion of one ounce of soot or half an ounce of indigo to the pound of arsenic.

SEC. 44. [Penalty.]—Any person offending against the provisions of either of the last two preceding sections shall be fined in any sum not less than twenty nor more than one hundred dollars. [Amended 1875, 4.]

SEC. 45. [Advertisement or sale of secret drug, etc., for females—Obscene notices.]—If the publishers of any newspaper in the state shall print or publish any advertisement of any secret drug or nostrum, purporting to be exclusively for the use of females, or if any druggist or other person shall sell or keep for sale, or shall give away any such secret drug or nostrum, purporting to be exclusively for the use of females; or if any person shall, by printing or writing, or in any other way publish an account or description of any drug, medicine, instrument, or apparatus for the purpose of preventing conception, procuring abortion, or miscarriage, or shall, by writing or printing in any circular, newspaper, pamphlet, or book, or in any other way publish or circulate any obscene notice, or shall, within the state of Nebraska, keep for sale or gratuitous distribution any newspaper, circular, pamphlet, or book containing such notice of such drugs, instruments, or apparatus, or shall keep for sale, or gratuitous distribution any secret nostrum, drug, or medicine for the purpose of preventing conception, procuring abortion, or miscarriage, such person or persons so violating any of the provisions of this section shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one thousand dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding six months, or both, at the discretion of the court; Provided, That nothing in this section shall be so construed as to affect teaching in regular chartered medical colleges, or the publication of standard medical books.

CHAPTER VII.—LIBEL AND THREATENING LETTERS.

SEC. 46. [Threatening letters.]—If any person shall, knowingly, send or deliver any letter or writing, with or without a name subscribed thereto, or signed with a fictitious name, containing wilful and malicious threats of injury of any kind whatever, or with intent, or for the purpose of extorting money, or other valuable things, from any person, every person so offending shall be fined in any sum not less than fifty, nor more than five hundred dollars, or be imprisoned in the jail of the county not exceeding ten days, or both, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 47. [Libel.]—If any person shall write, print, or publish any false and malicious libel of, or concerning another, or shall cause or procure any such libel to be written or published, every person so offending shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not exceeding five hundred ($500) dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding six (6) months, or both, at the discretion of the court, and moreover, be liable to the party injured; Provided, That if said libel is published in a newspaper having a general circulation, the person so offending shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary not less than one (1) nor more than three (3) years. [Amended 1887, chap. 104.]

CHAPTER VIII.—BREAKING AND ENTERING BUILDINGS.

SEC. 48. [Burglary.]—If any person shall, in the night season, wilfully, maliciously and forcibly break and enter into any dwelling house, kitchen, smoke house, shop, office, store house, mill, pottery, factory, water craft, school house, church, or

SEC. 47. A libelous charge made by A against B contained in a letter written and mailed in this state to C residing in another state, is sufficient to render A liable in this state for the offense. 18 Neb. 577.

SEC. 48. Where preliminary examination was held upon a complaint charging the crime of burglary with intent to steal, and information filed charges the same offense, but with intent to commit a rape, it was Held, that the same crime, to-wit, burglary, was described, both in the complaint and in the information. 24 Neb. 101. Evidence of entry through an open transom, it not appearing that there was any breaking either actual or constructive, Held, insufficient to sustain conviction. 25 Neb. 783. Evidence examined, and Held, insufficient to sustain verdict. 21 Neb. 496. Where party hears of intended crime, does not prevent it, but effects capture of burglar, this does not affect guilt of burglar. 22 Neb. 486. A person promising to act as accomplice is competent witness to prove declarations and acts of party committing the offense. Id. 487. If evidence would warrant jury in finding party guilty, it is error for the court to direct acquittal. Id. 487. Name of owner of building and that property within it is intended to be stolen should be averred. 26 Id. 306.

meeting house, barn, or stable, warehouse, malt house, still house, railroad car factory, station house, or railroad car, with intent to kill, rob, commit a rape, or with intent to steal property of any value, or commit any felony, every person so offending shall be deemed guilty of burglary, and shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than ten nor less than one year.

SEC. 49. [Feloniously entering certain buildings.]—If any person shall wilfully and maliciously, either in the day time or night season, enter any dwelling house, kitchen, shop, store, warehouse, malt house, still house, mill, factory, pottery, water craft, school house, church, or meeting house, smoke house, barn, or stable, and shall attempt to kill, disfigure, or maim any person, rob, stab, commit a rape or arson, every person so offending shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than ten years nor less than one year.

SEC. 50. [Possession of burglars' implements.]—If any person shall be found having upon him or her any picklock, crow, key, bit, or other instrument or tool, with intent feloniously to break and enter into any dwelling house, store, warehouse, shop, or other building, containing valuable property, he or she shall be deemed a vagrant, and punished by confinement in the penitentiary for a term not exceeding two years.

SEC. 51. [Breaking and entering a dwelling at night and attempting personal violence.]—If any person shall in the night season unlawfully break open and enter any mansion house, shop, store, ship, boat, or other water craft, in which any person shall reside or dwell, and shall commit, or attempt to commit, any personal violence or abuse, or shall be so armed with any dangerous weapon as to indicate a violent intention, the person so offending shall be fined in any sum not exceeding three hundred dollars, and be imprisoned in the cell or dungeon of the jail of the county not exceeding thirty days, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 52. [Same offense in day time.]—If any person shall, in the day time, unlawfully break open and enter any mansion house, shop, store, ship, boat, or other water craft, in which any person shall or may dwell or reside, and shall commit, or attempt to commit, any personal abuse, force, or violence, he or she so offending shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars, and be imprisoned in the jail of the county not exceeding twenty days, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 53. [Breaking and entering buildings in day time with intent to steal.]—If any person shall wilfully and maliciously, in the day time, break and enter any dwelling house, kitchen, shop, store, warehouse, malthouse, still house, mill, factory, pottery, water craft, school house, church, or meeting house, smoke house, barn, stable, railroad depot, car factory, station house, or railroad car, with intent to steal, every person so offending shall be fined in any sum not exceeding three hundred dollars, and be imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding sixty days, at the discretion of the court.

CHAPTER IX.—BURNING BUILDINGS AND OTHER PROPERTY.

SEC. 54. [Arson.] If any person shall wilfully and maliciously burn, or cause to be burned, any dwelling-house, kitchen, smoke-house, shop, barn, stable, store-house, warehouse, malt-house, still-house, mill, or pottery, the property of any other person; or any buildings, the property of any other person, of the value of fifty dollars, or containing property of the value of fifty dollars; or any church, meeting-house, court-house, work-house, school-house, jail, or other public building; or any ship, boat, or other water-craft, of the value of fifty dollars; or any bridge of the value of fifty dollars, erected across any of the waters within this state: every person so offending shall be deemed guilty of arson, and shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than twenty years nor less than one year.

SEC. 49. Cited 24 Feb. 98.

SEC. 51. Evidence of breaking and violence. 18 Feb. 549.

SEC. 55. [Attempting to commit arson.]—If any person shall wilfully and maliciously set fire to any of the buildings or other property described in the foregoing section, with intent to burn or destroy the same, every person so offending shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary, and kept at hard labor, not more than seven years nor less than one year.

SEC. 56. [Burning of insured property by owner with intent, etc.]—Every person who shall wilfully and maliciously burn or cause to be burned any dwelling house, kitchen, smoke-house, shop, office, barn, stable, store-house, warehouse, still-house, mill, pottery, or any other building of the value of fifty dollars; or, any ship, boat, or other water-craft, of the value of fifty dollars; or any goods, wares, merchandise, or other chattels, of the value of fifty dollars, which shall be at the same time the property of such person, and insured against loss or damage by fire, with intent to prejudice such insurer, every person so offending shall be deemed guilty of arson, and shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than twenty years nor less than one year.

SEC. 57. [Same.]—If any person shall wilfully and maliciously set fire to any of the buildings, water-craft, or other property described in the foregoing section, and which shall be at the same time the property of such person, and insured against loss or damage by fire, with intent to burn or destroy the same, and with intent to prejudice such insurer, every person so offending shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than seven years nor less than one year.

SEC. 58. [Attempting to ignite buildings.]—If any person shall wilfully, maliciously, and unlawfully attempt to burn, or cause to be burned, any dwelling-house, kitchen, smoke-house, shop, barn, stable, store-house, warehouse, malt-house, still-house, mill, or pottery, the property of any other person, of the value of fifty dollars; or, any church, meeting-house, court-house, work-house, school-house, jail, or other public building; or, any ship, boat, or other water-craft, of the value of fifty dollars, or any bridge of the value of fifty dollars, erected across any of the waters within this state; or, if any person shall wilfully, maliciously, or unlawfully attempt to set fire to any of the buildings or other property described herein, with intent to burn or destroy the same, by igniting or trying to set fire to or ignite the same, or any material or thing therein, or any combustible material or thing without the same and nearly adjoining thereto, though the same, or part thereof, be not fired or burned; every person so offending shall be fined in any sum not exceeding three hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail for a term not exceeding four months, or both, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 59. [Firing penitentiary.]—Any person who shall wilfully, maliciously, and unlawfully attempt to ignite, set fire to, or burn the Nebraska penitentiary, or any shop, store house, or building within the enclosed walls of the said penitentiary, by the means and in the manner described in the next preceding section, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than three years nor less than one year.

SEC. 60. [Burning hay, grain, etc., of thirty-five dollars value.]—If any person shall wilfully or maliciously set fire to, or burn, or cause to be burned, any barrack or stack of hay, wheat, rye, oats, barley, flax, hemp, or fodder, or grain of any kind; or, any corn-crib, or place wherein corn may be deposited; or, any fence, boards, plank, scantling, rails, tan-bark, or timber, the property of another, and of the value of thirty-five dollars or upwards; every person so offending shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than three years nor less than one year.

SEC. 61. [Same—Less than thirty-five dollars value.]—If any person shall wilfully or maliciously commit any of the offenses enumerated in the next preceding section, but the injury or damage therefrom shall be of a less value than thirty-five dollars; every person so offending shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars, nor less than five dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding thirty days, or both, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 62. [Setting fire to woods and prairies.]—If any person or persons shall wilfully and intentionally, or negligently and carelessly set on fire, or cause to be set on fire, any woods, prairies, or other grounds whatsoever, in any part of this state, it shall be deemed a misdemeanor, and every person so offending shall be punished by a fine of not less than five (5) dollars nor more than one hundred (100) dollars, and by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than one month nor more than six months; Provided, That this section shall not extend to any person who shall set on fire, or cause to be set on fire, any woods or prairies adjoining his or her own farm, plantation, field, or enclosure, for the necessary preservation thereof from accident by fire between the first day of March and the last day of November, by giving to his or her neighbors two days notice of such intention; Provided, also, That this section shall not be construed to take away any civil remedy which any person may be entitled to, for any injury which may be done or received in consequence thereof. [Amended 1877, 3.]

CHAPTER X.—OFFENSES RELATING TO DOMESTIC ANIMALS.

SEC. 63. [Altering ear mark or brand.]—If any person shall wilfully and maliciously alter or deface any artificial ear mark or brand, upon any horse, mare, foal, filly, mule or ass, sheep, goat, or swine, cow, ox, steer, bull or heifer, the property of another, every person so offending shall be fined in any sum not exceeding fifty dollars, and be liable in treble damages to the party injured.

SEC. 64. [Killing or injuring animals of the value of thirty-five dollars.]—If any person or persons shall wilfully or maliciously kill or destroy any horse, mare, foal, filly, mule, ass, sheep, goat, cow, ox, steer, bull, heifer, or swine, the property of another or others, of the value of thirty-five dollars or upwards, or shall wilfully and maliciously injure any such animal or animals, the property of another or others, to the amount of thirty-five dollars, or upwards, the person or persons so offending shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than three years nor less than one year.

SEC. 65. [Same—Less than thirty-five dollars.]—If any person or persons shall unlawfully and maliciously kill or destroy any horse, mare, foal, filly, mule, or ass, sheep, goat, cow, ox, steer, bull, heifer, or swine, the property of another or others, of less value than thirty-five dollars, or shall wilfully and maliciously injure any such animal or animals, the property of another or others, to an amount less than thirty-five dollars; such person or persons shall be fined in any sum not more than one hundred dollars, nor less than five dollars, or imprisonment in the jail of the county not exceeding three months, or both fined and imprisoned as aforesaid, at the discretion of the court. [Amended 1875, 4.]

SEC. 66. [Poisoning animals.]—If any person or persons shall wilfully and maliciously administer, or cause to be administered, poison of any sort whatever, to any horse, mare, foal, filly, jack, mule, ass, sheep, goat, cow, ox, steer, bull, heifer, or swine, the property of another, with intent to injure or destroy such horse, mare, foal, filly, jack, mule, or ass, sheep, goat, cow, ox, steer, bull, heifer, or swine; the person or persons so offending shall be fined in the sum of one hundred dollars, or imprisoned in the jail of the proper county, not exceeding thirty days, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 67. [Repealed, 1887, Chap. 106.]

SEC. 67 a. [Injuring animals—Abandoning in stormy weather.]
—Any person or persons who shall wilfully or inhumanly beat, strike, kick, wound, kill, or mutilate any horse, mule, cow, ox, sheep, or swine, or any other animal enumerated as among domesticated animals, or any person or persons, whether the offender be owner, agent, or servant, who allows his team, whether horses, mules, or oxen to stand tied upon the street for four hours at a time in cold or stormy weather to the injury of said team, shall upon conviction thereof be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished as hereinafter provided. [1887, chap. 106.]

SEC. 67 a-d. "An act to prevent cruelty to animals and to repeal section 67 of chapter 10 of the criminal code." Laws 1887, chap. 106. Took effect July 1, 1887.

SEC. 67 b. [Overworking, tormenting, etc.]—Any person or persons who shall overdrive, torture, torment, overload, or overwork any horse or horses, mule or mules, or oxen, shall, upon the conviction of any of the offenses enumerated herein, be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be punished as hereinafter provided. [Id. § 2.]

SEC. 67 c. [Starving animals.]—Any person or persons, whether as owner or agent, having in charge horses, mules, cattle, sheep, or swine, or any other domesticated animal or animals commonly called live stock, who shall wilfully or carelessly neglect to provide sufficient sustenance or shelter therefor, at any season of the year, shall, upon the conviction, be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished as hereinafter provided. [Id. § 3.]

SEC. 67 d. [Cruelty to animals—Arrest—Penalty.]—It is hereby made the duty of sheriffs, constables, marshals of cities or villages, or police officers, to immediately arrest any person or persons violating any of the provisions of the foregoing sections of this act, without warrant or process, and call upon bystanders or others for assistance when the same may be necessary to enable them to make such arrest. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this act shall for each offense be fined in any sum not less than five ($5) dollars nor more than fifty ($50) dollars. [Id. § 4.]

SEC. 68. [Impounded animals to be supplied with food and water.]—Any person who shall impound, or cause to be impounded, in any pound or yard, for sale or slaughter or for any other purpose, any domestic animal, shall supply the same during such confinement with a sufficient quantity of good and wholesome food and water, and in default thereof shall, upon conviction, be adjudged guilty of a misdemeanor, and in case any domestic animal shall be at any time impounded or yarded, as aforesaid, and shall continue to be without necessary food and water for more than twenty-four successive hours, it shall be lawful for any person from time to time, and as often as it shall be necessary, to enter into and upon any pound or yard in which any such domestic animal shall be so confined, and to supply it with necessary food and water so long as it shall remain so confined. Such person shall not be liable to any action for such entry, and the reasonable cost for such food and water may be collected by him of the owner of such domestic animal, and the said domestic animal shall not be exempt from levy and sale upon the execution issued upon a judgment therefor.

SEC. 69. [Cruel transportation of animals.]—If any person shall carry or cause to be carried, in or upon any vehicle or otherwise, any domestic animal in a cruel or inhuman manner, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and whenever he shall be taken into custody therefor by any officer, such officer may take charge of such vehicle and its contents, and deposit the same in some safe place of custody; and any necessary expenses which may be incurred for taking charge of and keeping and sustaining the same shall be a lien thereon, to be paid before the same can be lawfully recovered, and if the said expenses, or any part thereof, remain unpaid, they may be recovered by the person incurring the same of the owner of said domestic animal in any action therefor; and it shall be unlawful for any person or corporation engaged in transporting live stock on railway trains, to detain such stock in cars for a longer continuous period than twenty-four hours without supplying the same with food and water.

SEC. 70. [Abandonment of sick or disabled animals.]—If any maimed, sick, infirm, or disabled domestic animal shall be abandoned to die by any person in any public place, such person shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and it shall be lawful for any magistrate or chief of police in this state to appoint suitable persons to destroy such domestic animal, if unfit for further use.

SEC. 71. [Same—Penalty.]—Any person convicted of a violation of any of the provisions of the last four preceding sections, shall pay, for every offense, a fine not less than five nor more than fifty dollars.

SEC. 72. [Bull baiting—Torture of animals.]—Any person or persons who shall confine, or aid or assist in confining, any bull, steer, or other domestic or domesticated animal or animals, either by tying, penning, or inclosing the same, for the purpose of bull baiting, bear baiting, or other purpose of torture, or shall aid or assist in torturing the same, when so tied or penned, either by dogs, whips, spears, or other instruments, shall pay a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars.

SEC. 73. [Cock fighting.]—If any person or persons shall publicly exhibit, or aid and assist in exhibiting the game commonly called cock fighting, such person or persons shall forfeit and pay a fine not exceeding twenty dollars.

SEC. 74. [Horse racing.]—If any two or more persons shall run a match, horse race or races in any public road in common use, for the purpose of trying the speed of their horses, every person so offending shall be fined in any sum not exceeding five dollars nor less than one dollar.

SEC. 75. [Spreading disease among sheep.]—Any person being the owner of sheep or having the same in charge, who shall turn out, or suffer any sheep having any contagious disease, knowing the same to be so diseased, to run at large upon any common, highway, or enclosed ground, or who shall sell any such sheep, knowing the same to be diseased, without fully disclosing the fact to the purchaser, shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty dollars and not more than one hundred dollars, and be imprisoned in the jail of the county not exceeding three months; Provided, This section shall not be so construed as to prevent any person owning such diseased sheep from driving along any public highway. [Amended 1875, 5.]

SEC. 76. [Selling or allowing to run at large diseased animals.]—It shall be unlawful for any person to sell, barter, or dispose of, or permit to run at large any horses, cattle, sheep, or domestic animal, knowing that such horse, cattle, sheep, or domestic animals are infected with contagious or infectious disease, or have been recently exposed thereto, unless he shall first duly inform the person to whom he may sell, barter, or dispose of such horse, cattle, sheep, or other domestic animal, of the same; and any person so offending shall be fined in any sum not less than twenty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, or be confined in the jail of the county not exceeding three months. [Id.]

SEC. 77. [Allowing diseased animals to come in contact with others.]—If any person, being the owner, or having charge of any horses, cattle, sheep, or any kind of stock, knowing the same to be infected with contagious or infectious disease, shall knowingly permit it to come in contact with any other person's horses or stock, without such person's knowledge or permission, such person shall be fined in any sum not less than fifty nor more than five hundred dollars, or be confined in the jail of the county not less than ten nor more than fifty days.

SEC. 78. [Taking and using animals without leave.]—If any person shall unlawfully take any horse, mare, gelding, foal, or filly, ass, or mule, from the stable, lot, or pasture of another, or from a hitching rack, or any other place as aforesaid, have [having] been lawfully placed, without consent of the owner, with intent to injure, set at large, or wrongfully use the animal so taken, such person shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding three months, or both, and shall also be liable to the party injured in double the amount of damages sustained. [Amended 1875, 5.]

SEC. 79. [Repealed. Laws 1879, page 70.]

SEC. 80. [Disturbing impounded cattle.]—It is hereby declared unlawful for any person or persons to interfere with, or set at liberty any domestic animal or animals impounded in a lawful manner by any other person; and every person so offending shall, upon conviction thereof, pay a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars nor less than five dollars.

SEC. 81. [Stealing or interfering with bees or honey.]—If any person shall steal any hive, box, bee palace, or other contrivance containing honey or honey bees, the property of another, of less value than thirty-five dollars; or if any person shall steal honey from any such hive, box, bee palace, or other contrivance, as aforesaid; or if any person shall willfully and maliciously disturb, injure or destroy any such hive, box, bee palace, or other contrivance containing honey or honey bees; or if any person shall steal, or by any art, device, or contrivance, or in any manner whatever, decoy from any such hive, box, bee palace, or contrivance, any such honey bees, with intent to convert the same to his own use, or with intent to damage or defraud the owner thereof; or if any person shall by any art, contrivance, or device, unlawfully and maliciously injure, damage, or destroy any such honey bees, by means of poison and otherwise, every person so offending shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars, and shall be confined in the jail of the county not less than ten nor more than thirty days, and shall, moreover, be liable to the party injured in double the value of the property stolen, injured, or destroyed.

SEC. 82. [Entering premises of another with intent to disturb bees or honey.]—Any person or persons who unlawfully enters the premises of another, for the purpose of disturbing or carrying away any box, gum or vessel containing bees or honey, shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars, or imprisoned in the jail of the county not exceeding sixty days, or both, and shall make restitution to the party injured in double the amount of damages sustained.

CHAPTER XI.—OFFENSES RELATING TO GAME AND FISH.

SEC. 83. [Killing certain birds.]—It shall be unlawful for any person in the state of Nebraska to knowingly and intentionally kill, injure, or harm, except on the lands owned by such person, any robin, lark, thrush, blue bird, king bird, sparrow, wren, jay, swallow, turtle dove, oriole, wood pecker, yellow hammer, cuckoo, yellow bird, bobolink, or other bird or birds of like nature, that promote agriculture and horticulture by feeding on noxious worms and insects, or that are attractive in appearance or cheerful in song. Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not less than three nor more than ten dollars for each bird killed, injured, or harmed.

SEC. 84. [Killing, etc., muskrats, mink, or otter, on lands of another.]—It shall be unlawful for any person, between the fifteenth day of April and the fifteenth day of February following, to trap, catch, kill, or to pursue with such intent, on the premises of another, any muskrat, mink, or otter; and it shall be unlawful for any person, at any time, to enter upon the premises of another, without his consent, with a view of trapping, hunting, killing, or pursuing with intent to kill, any such animal or animals; and it shall furthermore be unlawful for any person to enter upon the premises of another, without his consent, and destroy, tear down, or in any manner injure the muskrat heaps or houses on such premises; any person offending against any of the provisions of this section shall be fined in any sum not exceeding twenty dollars for each offense; Provided, This section shall not be so construed as to prevent the catching and killing of any animals specified, where there is danger of their doing injury to property, either public or private.

SEC. 85. [Certain means of killing forbidden—Eggs protected, etc.]—It shall also be unlawful for any person, at any time, by the aid or use of any swivel, punt gun, big gun (so called), or any gun other than the common shoulder gun; or by the aid or use of any punt boat, or sneak boat used for carrying such gun, to catch, kill, wound, or destroy, or to pursue after with intent to catch, kill, wound, or destroy, upon any of the waters, bays, rivers, marshes, mud flats, or any cover to which wild fowl resort within the state of Nebraska, any wild goose, wood duck, teal, canvas-back, bluebill, or other wild duck, or to destroy or disturb the eggs of any of the birds above named; and any person offending against any of the provisions of this act shall be fined in any sum not less than two dollars nor more than twenty dollars for each offense, or be imprisoned in the county jail not more than twenty days, or both.

SEC. 86. [Killing game at certain seasons—Transportation and disposition.]—It shall be unlawful for any person to kill, ensnare, or trap any wild buffalo, elk, mountain sheep, deer, or antelope (except for the purpose of domestication), between the first day of January and the first day of October in each year, or to kill, ensnare, or trap any grouse between the first day of January and the first day of September in each year, or to kill, ensnare, trap, or net quail or wild turkey, between the first day of January and the first day of October in each year, or to ensnare, trap, or net the same at any time of the year, or to buy, sell, ship, transport, or carry, or have in possession any such animals or birds, between the dates within which the killing, ensnaring, trapping, or netting of such animals or birds is prohibited by law. It shall also be unlawful for any person, agent, or employee of any association, corporation, railroad company, or express company, to receive, carry, transport, or ship any such animal or bird at any time of the year. It shall be unlawful for any person to go upon the premises of another person or corporation for the purpose of hunting, trapping, netting, ensnaring, or killing any animal or bird at any season of the year, unless by the consent of the owner or owners of said premises. It is further enacted that any person, agent, or employee, as aforesaid, who shall violate any provision of this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall pay a fine of fifteen dollars for each buffalo, elk, mountain sheep, deer, antelope, or wild turkey so as aforesaid killed, ensnared, trapped, netted, bought or sold, shipped, transported, or held in possession in violation of this section, and the sum of five dollars for each grouse or quail, so as aforesaid killed, trapped, ensnared, netted, bought, sold, shipped, transported, or held in possession in violation of the provisions of this section. Having in possession any of the named animals or birds between said dates shall be deemed and taken as presumptive evidence that the same were killed, ensnared, netted, or trapped in violation of this section, and the civil authorities of any city, town, or precinct where any animal or bird shall have been killed, or held in possession in violation of law be found, are hereby authorized to cause the same to be seized with or without warrant, and to be distributed among the poor persons of such city, town, or precinct; and any person who shall go upon the land of another, in violation of this section, shall, upon conviction thereof, pay for such offense in any sum not less than five dollars, nor more than fifty dollars, and shall be liable to the owner of the premises in an action for trespass. [1875, 18. Amended 1885, chap. 102.]

SEC. 87. [Interfering with private fish pond.]—That it shall be unlawful for any person to catch, interfere with, injure, or in any manner destroy, or maliciously disturb, to the damage of the private property of another, the fish in, or work connected with any private fish pond, not exceeding ten acres, in this state. Any person or persons violating the provisions of this section shall be fined in any sum not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars; and it shall be lawful for any person to take up, remove, or clear away any fish net, fish lines, or fish pound placed or put in the waters of any lake, pond, or reservoir contrary to the provision of this act. [Amended 1875, 6.]

SEC. 87 a. [Fishing except with hook and line—Free passage of fish—Penalty.]—It shall be unlawful for any person to catch, kill, injure, or destroy any fish in any public water in this state or in the Missouri river along the eastern boundary of this state in any manner whatever, except with the use of the hook and line. The use of seines, nets, and other devices, except the hook and line, being hereby prohibited and made unlawful. It shall also be unlawful for any person, association of persons, or corporation to place or establish any obstruction across any stream of water in this state that shall prevent the free passage of fish along said stream; Provided, That all persons, associations of persons, or corporations, erecting, owning, or maintaining a mill dam across any stream of water in this state shall, at his or its own expense, construct and at all times maintain, subject to the approval of the fish commission, a suitable and substantial fish way whereby all fish passing along said stream can readily pass over or around said dam. Public waters within the meaning of this section shall embrace all lakes, ponds, rivers, creeks, bayous, and streams except private artificial pond

SEC. 105. [Turnpike bridges.].—No person shall carry fire across any wooden bridge, on any lawful public road in this state, unless in a lantern or close vessel; and no person shall ride or drive any horse or horses, stage coach, or other vehicle, over any such bridge faster than a walk; and any person who shall be convicted of a violation of either of the provisions of this section shall pay a fine of five dollars.

SEC. 106. [Turnpike fixtures.].—Any person who shall wilfully and maliciously injure any lawful public road in this state, or any bridge, gate, or mile stone, or other fixture, on any such road, shall, for every such offense, pay a fine not exceeding fifty dollars nor less than ten dollars; and, moreover, be liable to any party injured in double damages.

SEC. 107. [Depositing materials on turnpike road.].—Any person who shall deposit any wood, stone, or other kind of materials, on any part of any lawful public road, in this state, inside of the ditches of such road, or outside of the ditches, but so near thereto as to cause the banks thereof to break into the same, or cause the accumulation of rubbish, or any kind of obstruction, shall, for every such offense, pay a fine of five dollars.

SEC. 108. [Injuring property to the amount of one hundred dollars.].—That if any person shall wilfully and maliciously destroy or injure to the amount of one hundred dollars, any personal property of any description whatsoever, or any building or other structure upon land of any kind whatsoever, owned by any other person or persons, corporation, or association of persons, every person so offending shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary not less than one year, nor more than three years; and, moreover, be liable to the party injured in double the amount of damages sustained thereby.

SEC. 109. [Same—Less than one hundred dollars.].—If any person shall wilfully and maliciously injure or destroy to any amount less than one hundred dollars, any personal property of any description whatsoever, or any building or other structure of any kind, owned by another person, every person so offending shall be imprisoned in the jail of the proper county not exceeding thirty days, and shall, moreover, be fined in double the amount of the damage of the property injured or destroyed.

SEC. 110. [Salt well, furnace, or engine.].—If any person shall wilfully and maliciously destroy or injure to the amount of thirty-five dollars and upwards, any salt well, salt furnace, or engine connected therewith, such person shall be confined in the penitentiary for any term not less than one, nor more than three years, and shall, moreover, be liable to the party injured in double the amount of damages sustained thereby.

SEC. 111. [Buildings and appurtenances.].—If any person shall wilfully and maliciously injure or deface any church edifice, school house, dwelling house, or:

other building, its fixtures, books, or appurtenances, or shall commit any nuisance therein, or shall purposely and maliciously commit any trespass upon the enclosed grounds attached thereto, or any fixtures placed thereon, or any inclosure or sidewalk about the same, such person shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars.

SEC. 112. [Interfering with water crafts.]—If any person shall unlawfully and maliciously or wantonly loose, take, sink, injure, or deface, or in any other manner render the same unfit for use by the owner, any boat or other craft used or kept by any person or persons within the state of Nebraska, to be used on any river, or other water course, or on any lake or pond within this state, such person shall be fined in any sum not less than five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding forty days, or both, at the discretion of the court, and shall, moreover, be liable to the party injured in double the amount of the damages.

SEC. 113. [Periodicals in libraries or reading rooms.]—If any person shall intentionally deface, obliterate, tear, or destroy in whole or in part, any newspaper, magazine, or periodical on file in any reading room belonging to the state, or any library or other association in this state, or shall cut therefrom any article or advertisement, such person shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars, nor less than ten dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding thirty days, or both, at the discretion of the court.

CHAPTER XV.—STEALING, ABETTING THE SAME, AND DESTROYING WRITTEN INSTRUMENTS.

SEC. 113 a. [Larceny from person.]—Every person who steals property of any value by taking the same from the person of another without putting said person in fear by threats or the use of force and violence, shall be deemed guilty of grand larceny, and shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by confinement in the penitentiary for not less than one nor more than seven years. [1887, chap. 103.]

SEC. 114. [Stealing money or property of the value of thirty-five dollars.]—If any person shall steal any money, or goods and chattels of any kind whatever, whether the same be wholly money, or wholly in other property, or partly in money and partly in other property, the property of another, of the value of thirty-five dollars or upward; or shall steal, or maliciously destroy any money, promissory note, bill of exchange, order, draft, receipt, warrant, check, or bond, given for the payment of money, or receipt acknowledging the receipt of money, or other property, of the value of thirty-five dollars or upwards, every such person shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than seven years nor less than one year; Provided, The word "money," in this section, shall be deemed and taken as including bank bills or notes, United States treasury notes, or other bills, bonds, or notes issued by lawful authority, and intended to pass and circulate as money.

SEC. 115. [Receiving or buying stolen bank bills, bonds, receipts, etc.]—If any person shall receive or buy any bank bill or bills, or promissory note or notes, bill of exchange, order, receipt, draft, warrant, check, or bond, given for the payment of money, of thirty-five dollars or upwards, which have been stolen, knowing the same to be stolen, with intent to defraud the owner thereof, every person so offending shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than seven years, nor less than one year.

SEC. 116. [Receiving stolen goods—Concealing thief.]—If any person shall receive or buy any goods or chattels of the value [of] thirty-five dollars or upwards, that shall be stolen or taken by robbers with intent to defraud the owner, or shall harbor or conceal any robber or thief guilty of felony, knowing him or her to be such, every person so offending shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary no more than seven years, nor less than one year. [Amended 1875, 7.]

SEC. 117. [Horse stealing—Receiving or buying stolen horses—Concealing such horse thief.]—If any person shall steal any horse, mare, gelding, foal, or filly, ass, or mule, of any value; or, if any person shall receive or buy any horse, mare, gelding, foal, or filly, ass, or mule, that shall have been stolen, knowing the same to have been stolen, with intent, by such receiving or buying, to defraud the owner; or, if any person shall conceal any horse thief, knowing him to be such; or, if any person shall conceal any horse, mare, or gelding, foal or filly, ass or mule, knowing the same to have been stolen; every such person so offending shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than ten nor less than one year. [Amended 1883, chap. LXXXVII.]

SEC. 118. [Wills or testamentary instrument.]—If any person or persons shall, either during the life of the deviser, testator, or testatrix, or after his or her death, steal, or for any fraudulent purpose destroy or secrete any will, codicil, or other testamentary instrument, whether the same relate to real or personal estate, or both, or shall procure the same to be done, every such person shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one year nor more than ten years. It shall not be necessary, in any indictment for the offense herein named, to allege that such will, codicil, or other instrument is the property of any person, or that the same is of any value.

SEC. 119. [Petit larceny—Destruction of bank notes, bonds, etc.]—If any person shall steal any money or goods and chattels of any kind whatever, of less value than thirty-five dollars, the property of another, or shall steal or maliciously destroy any money, promissory note, bill of exchange, order, draft, receipt, warrant, check, or bond given for the payment of money, or receipt acknowledging the receipt of money or other property of less value than thirty-five dollars, every person so offending shall make restitution to the party injured in two-fold the value of the property stolen or destroyed, and be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars, or shall be imprisoned in the county jail for any time not exceeding thirty days. The word "money," in the section, shall be held to include bank bills or notes, United States treasury notes, or other bills, bonds, or notes, issued by lawful authority and intended to pass [and] circulate as money. [Amended 1875, 7.]

SEC. 120. [Concealing stolen property.]—If any person shall conceal any stolen money, goods, or chattels of any kind whatever, of less value than thirty-five dollars, or shall conceal any bank bill or bills, promissory note or notes, bill of exchange, order, warrant, draft, check, or bond, or any accountable receipt for money, given for the payment or acknowledgment of any sum under thirty-five dollars, the person so concealing, knowing the same to have been stolen, shall be fined for every such offense in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars, or shall be imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding thirty days, either or both, at the discretion of the court. SEC. 121. [Embezzlement.]—If any clerk, agent, attorney-at-law, or servant of any private person or any co-partnership, except apprentices and persons within the age of eighteen years, or if any officer, attorney-at-law, agent, clerk, or servant of any incorporated company or joint stock company shall embezzle or convert to his own use, or fraudulently take or make away with or secrete with intent to embezzle or fraudulently convert to his own use without the assent of his or her employer or employers, or the owner or owners thereof, any money, goods, rights in action, or other valuable security, or effects whatever, belonging to any other persons, body politic or corporate, which shall come into his or her possession or care, by virtue of such employment, or if any officer elected or appointed to any office of public trust in the state, or if any executor, administrator, guardian, or assignee for the benefit of creditors shall embezzle or convert to his or her own use any money, property, rights in action, or other valuable security or effects whatever, belonging to any individual, or company, or association that shall come into his or her possession by virtue or under color of his or her relation as officer, executor, administrator, guardian, or assignee, every such person so offending shall be punished in the manner provided by law for feloniously stealing property of the value of the article so embezzled, taken, or secreted, or of the value of any sum of money payable or due upon any right in action so embezzled. Every embezzlement of any evidence of debt negotiable by delivery only, and actually executed by the master or employer of any such clerk, agent, officer, attorney-at-law, or servant, but not delivered or issued as a valid instrument, shall be deemed an offense within the meaning of this section. [Amended 1885, chap. 103.]

SEC. 121 a. [Same.]—That if any clerk, apprentice, or servant, whether bound or hired, to whom any money, bank bill, or note, or goods, or chattels shall be entrusted or delivered by his or her master or mistress, shall withdraw himself or herself from his or her master or mistress, and go away with the said money, bank bill, or note, or goods, or chattels, or any part thereof, with intent to steal the same and defraud his or her master or mistress thereof, contrary to the trust and confidence in him or her reposed by his or her said master or mistress, shall embezzle the said money, bank bill, or note, goods, or chattels, or any part thereof, or otherwise shall convert the same to his or her own use, with like purpose to steal the same, every such person so offending shall be deemed guilty of larceny, and be punished accordingly. [1875, § 2, 26.]

SEC. 121 b. [Conversion by bailee.]—That if any bailee of any money, bank bill, or note, goods, or chattels shall convert the same to his or her own use, with an intent to steal the same, he shall be deemed guilty of larceny in the same manner as if the original taking had been felonious, and on conviction thereof, shall be punished accordingly. [Id.]

SEC. 121 c. [Larceny of bedding, furniture, etc.]—That if any lodger shall take away, with intent to steal, embezzle, or purloin any bedding, furniture, goods or chattels which he or she is to use in or with his or her lodging, he or she shall be deemed guilty of larceny, and on conviction, shall be punished accordingly. [Id.]

SEC. 122. [Buying and receiving embezzled property.]—Every person who shall buy or in any way receive any money, goods, rights in action, or any valuable security or effects whatever, knowing the same to have been embezzled, taken, or secreted, contrary to the provisions of the last section, shall be punished in the same manner, and to the same extent, as therein prescribed, upon a conviction of a servant for such embezzlement.

[Embezzlement by carriers or innkeepers.]—If any carrier or other person to whom any goods, money, right in action, or any valuable personal property or effects shall have been delivered to be transported or carried for hire; or if any person employed in such transportation or carrying shall, without assent of his employer, take, embezzle, or convert to his own use such goods, moneys, rights in action, property, or effects, or any part of them, and before delivery of such article at the place or to the person entitled to receive them; or if any innkeeper shall embezzle or convert to his own use, or fraudulently take, make away with, or secrete, with intent to embezzle or fraudulently convert to his own use, without the consent of his guest, any money, bank notes, jewelry, articles of gold or silver manufacture, precious stones or bullion, delivered to such inn keeper by his guest for safe custody, every such person shall be punished in the manner prescribed by law for feloniously stealing property of the value of the article or articles so embezzled, taken, or secreted.

SEC. 124. [Embezzlement of public money.]—If any officer or other person charged with the collection, receipt, safe keeping, transfer, or disbursement of the public money, or any part thereof, belonging to the state or to any county, or precinct, organized city or village, or school district in this state, shall convert to his own use, or to the use of any other person or persons, body-corporate, association or party whatever, in any way whatever, or shall use by way of investment in any kind of security, stock, loan, property, land, or merchandise, or in any other manner or form whatever, or shall loan, with or without interest, to any company, corporation, association, or individual, any portion of the public money, or any other funds, property, bonds, securities, assets, or effects of any kind, received, controlled, or held by him for safe keeping, transfer, or disbursement, or in any other way or manner, or for any other purpose; or, if any person shall advise, aid, or in any manner participate in such act, every such act shall be deemed and held in law to be an embezzlement of so much of the said moneys or other property, as aforesaid, as shall be thus converted, used, invested, loaned, or paid out as aforesaid, which is hereby declared to be a high crime,* and such officer or person or persons shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one year nor more than twenty-one years, according to the magnitude of the embezzlement, and also pay a fine equal to double the amount of money or other property so embezzled as aforesaid, which fine shall operate as a judgment at law on all of the estate of the party so convicted and sentenced, and shall be enforced to collection by execution or other process, for the use only of the party or parties whose money or other funds, property, bonds, or securities, assets, or effects of any kind as aforesaid, has been so embezzled. And in all cases, such fine so operating as a judgment, shall only be released or entered as satisfied by the party in interest as aforesaid. Any failure or refusal to pay over the public money or any part thereof, by any officer or other person, charged with the collection, receipt, transfer, disbursement, or safe-keeping of the public money or any part thereof, whether belonging to the state, or to any county, or precinct, or school district, or organized city or incorporated village in this state, or any other public money whatever; or any failure to account to, or to make settlement within a reasonable time after a notice so to do, with any proper and legal authority of the official accounts of such officer or person, shall be held and taken as prima facie evidence of such embezzlement. And the refusal of any such officer or person, whether in or out of office, to pay any draft, order, or warrant which may be drawn upon him, by the proper officer, for any public money in his hands, no matter in what capacity the same may have been received or may be held by him, or any refusal, by any person or public officer named in this act, to pay over to his successor any public moneys, or securities promptly, on the legal requirement of any authorized officer of the state or county, shall be taken on the trial of any indictment against such officer or person for embezzlement, as prima facie evidence of such embezzlement.

SEC. 125. [Obtaining money, etc., by false pretenses.]—If any person, by false pretense or pretenses, shall obtain from any other person any money, goods, merchandise, or effects whatsoever, with intent to cheat or defraud such person of the same, as shall sell, lease, or transfer any void or pretended patent right or certificate of in a pretended corporation and take the promissory note or other valuable thing of such purchaser, or shall fraudulently make and transfer any bond, bill, deed, of sale, gift, grant or other conveyance to defraud his creditors of their just demands, or if he shall obtain the signature or endorsement of any person to any promissory note bank check, draft, bill of exchange or any other instrument in writing fraudulently or by misrepresentation, if the value of the property or promissory note or written instrument, fraudulently obtained or conveyed as aforesaid, shall be thirty-five dollars ($35), or upwards, such persons so offending shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than five years nor less than one year, but if the value of the property be less than thirty-five dollars ($35), the person so offending shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars ($100), or be imprisoned in the jail of the county not exceeding thirty days, and be liable to the party injured in the amount of damages sustained. [Amended 1883, chap. LXXXVIII. Amended 1891, chap. 59.]

SEC. 126. [False personation.]—If any person shall falsely personate any other, before any court of record, or judge thereof, or before any justice of the peace, clerk of either the supreme court or other court, or any other officer of this state, who is, or may hereafter be, authorized to take the acknowledgment of deeds, powers or warrants of attorney, or to grant marriage licenses, with intent to defraud any person, body politic or corporate, any person so offending shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not exceeding six years.

SEC. 127. [Selling land without title.]—If any person or persons shall knowingly sell or convey any tract of land without having a title to the same, either in law or equity, by descent, device, or evidence, by a written contract or deed of conveyance, with intent to defraud the purchaser, or other person, every person so offending shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than seven years nor less than one year.

SEC. 128. [Fraudulent appropriation of merchandise by agent.]—Every factor or agent who shall deposit any merchandise intrusted or consigned to him, or any document so possessed or intrusted aforesaid, as a security for any money borrowed, or negotiable instrument received by such factor or agent, and shall apply or dispose of the same to his own use, contrary to good faith, and with intent to defraud the true owner, and every factor or agent who shall sell any merchandise or other property intrusted or consigned to him, in the like manner, and with the like fraudulent intent, and every other person who shall knowingly connive with, or aid, or assist any such factor or agent in any such fraudulent deposit or sale, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not exceeding three years nor less than one year.

SEC. 129. [Frauds by consignors.]—If the owner of any merchandise, or other person in whose name any merchandise shall be shipped or delivered to the keeper of any warehouse, or other factor, or agent, to be shipped, shall, after the advancement to him or them of any money, or the giving to him or them of any negotiable security, by the consignee or consignees of such merchandise, without the consent of such consignee or consignees being therefore first had and obtained, make any disposition of such merchandise, different from, and inconsistent with that agreed upon between such owner or other person aforesaid, and such consignee or consignees, at the time of said money being so advanced, or said negotiable security being so given, with intent to defraud or injure such consignee or consignees, said owner or other person aforesaid, and all other persons conniving with him or them for the purpose of deceiving, defrauding, or injuring the said consignee, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than three years nor less than one year; Provided, however, That no person shall be subject to prosecution under this section, who shall, before disposing of such merchandise, pay, or offer to pay to the consignee or consignees the full amount of any advancement made thereon.

SEC. 125. Jurisdiction of police court. 11 Neb. 310. Where information alleges that "by reason of the false pretenses" accused obtained the money. Held, That allegation was sufficient. 22 Neb. 522. See 47 N. W. R. 423.

SEC. 130. [False bills of lading and receipts.]—If any person shall execute or deliver, or shall cause, or procure to be executed and delivered to any person, any false or fictitious bill of lading, receipt, schedule, invoice, or other written instrument, to the purport and effect that any goods, wares, merchandise, live stock, or other property usually transported by carriers, had been or were held, delivered, received, placed, or deposited on board of any steamboat, or water-craft, navigating the waters in or bordering upon the state of Nebraska, or at the freight office, depot, station, or other place designated or used by any railroad company or other common carrier, for the reception of any such property so usually transported by carriers, when such goods, wares, merchandise, live stock, or other property were not held, or had not in fact and in good faith been delivered, received, or deposited on board of such steamboat, or other water-craft, or at such freight office, depot, station, or other place so designated or used by any common carrier for the reception of such property, when such bill of lading, receipt, invoice, schedule, or other written instrument was made and delivered, according to the purport and effect of such bill of lading, receipt, invoice, schedule, or other written instrument, with intent to deceive, defraud, or injure any person or corporation, or if any person shall attempt to endorse, assign, transfer, or put off any such false or fictitious bill of lading, receipt, invoice, schedule, or other written instrument, knowing the same to be false, fraudulent, or fictitious, the person so offending shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not exceeding four years nor less than one year.

SEC. 131. [Same.]—If any person shall execute and deliver, or shall cause or procure to be executed and delivered to any other person, any false and fictitious warehouse receipt, acknowledgment, or other instrument of writing, to the purport and effect that such person, or any other person or persons, copartnership, firm, body politic or corporate, which he or she represents, or pretends to represent, held or had received in store, or held or had received in any warehouse, or in any other place, or held or had received into possession, custody, or control, of such person or persons, copartnership, firm, or body-politic, any goods, wares, or merchandise, when such goods, wares, or merchandise were not held and had not been received in good faith, according to the purport and effect of such warehouse receipt, receipt, acknowledgment, or instrument of writing, with intent to defraud, deceive, or injure any person whomsoever, or if any person shall indorse, assign, transfer, or deliver, or shall attempt to indorse, transfer, or deliver, to any other person any such false and fictitious warehouse receipt, receipt, acknowledgment, or instrument of writing, knowing the same to be false, fraudulent, or fictitious, such person shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary not more than three years nor less than one year.

SEC. 132. [Frauds of parties having possession of merchandise by virtue of warehouse receipts, etc.]—If any person or persons, or the agent of any person or persons, having in his or their possession, custody, or control, any goods, wares, or merchandise, by virtue of any genuine instrument of writing, of the purport or effect of any such instrument of writing as is mentioned in either of the last two preceding sections, shall without authority, and with intent to injure or defraud the rightful owner thereof, sell, assign, transfer, or incumber such goods, wares, or merchandise, or any part thereof, to the value of fifty dollars or upward, or shall in any way convert the same to his own use, or if the consignor or consignors, or the agent of such consignor or consignors of any goods, wares, or merchandise, not being the absolute owner thereof, and not having authority to stop, countermand, or change the consignment thereof, or not having authority to sell or incumber the same during the transit, shall, after the shipment thereof on board any water-craft, or, after the deposit thereof in or upon any vehicle for land carriage, in any way stop, countermand, or change the consignment thereof, or shall sell, dispose of, or incumber such goods, wares, or merchandise, during their transit, or after their delivery, or shall in any way convert the same, or any part thereof, to his or her own use, to the value of fifty dollars or upward, so that the rightful owner thereof shall sustain a loss thereby to the value of fifty dollars or upward, the person so offending, with intent as aforesaid, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary for a term not less than one nor more than four years.

SEC. 133. [Railroad agent diverting freight.]—Any railroad company, whose agent or agents shall knowingly divert, or permit to be diverted, any freights that may come under his or their control, from the railroad or railroads over which the same may have been ordered to be conveyed, as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay to the railroad company or companies from which said freights have been so diverted, three times the amount received for transporting such freights; and such agent or agents shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars, or imprisoned in the county jail not more than thirty days, or both, at the discretion of the court; Provided, That the provisions of this act shall in no way interfere with any lawful obligations heretofore entered into by any railroad company.

SEC. 151. [Gilding current coin.]—If any person shall gild any of the silver coins currently passing in this state, or shall gild any other metal having the likeness and similitude of any of the coins currently passing in this state, so as to give it the appearance of any of the gold coins of the United States or any other gold coins currently passing in this state, with intent to injure or defraud, or if any person shall pass, or put in circulation, any such false or gilded money, knowing that it is not genuine, the person so offending shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than five years nor less than one year.

SEC. 152. [Counterfeit coin or bank notes.]—If any person shall attempt to pass any base or counterfeit coin or coins, knowing them to be such, or shall attempt to pass any false, forged, and counterfeited bank note or notes, knowing them to be such, every person so offending shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than five years nor less than one year, and pay a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars nor less than one hundred dollars.

SEC. 153. [Spurious coin for sale.]—If any person shall sell, barter, or in any manner dispose of any false, forged, or counterfeit coin, made in the likeness and similitude of any of the gold, silver, copper, or nickel, coin or coins currently passing in this state, or if any person shall be detected with any such false, forged, or counterfeit coin or coins in his or her possession for the purpose of selling, bartering, or disposing of the same, knowing the same to be false, forged, or counterfeit, every person so offending shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than ten years nor less than one year, and pay a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars.

SEC. 154. [Having in possession spurious coin or bank bills.]—If any person shall be detected with any false, forged, base, or counterfeit coin or coins, made in the similitude of any gold, silver, copper or nickel coin or coins currently passing in this state, in his or her possession, for the purpose of uttering and publishing the same as true and genuine, knowing the same to be false, forged, base, or counterfeit, every such person shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than ten years nor less than one year.

CHAPTER XVIII.—PERVERSION OF PUBLIC JUSTICE.

SEC. 155. [Perjury.—If any person having taken a lawful oath, or made lawful affirmation in any judicial proceeding, or in any other matter where, by law, an oath or affirmation is required, shall upon such oath or affirmation wilfully and corruptly depose, affirm, or declare any matter to be fact, knowing the same to be false, or shall in like manner deny any matter to be fact, knowing the same to be true, every person so offending shall be deemed guilty of perjury, and shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than fourteen years nor less than one year.

SEC. 156. [Subornation of perjury.—If any person shall persuade, procure, or suborn any other person to commit wilful and corrupt perjury, every person so offending shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than ten years nor less than one year.

SEC. 157. [Extortion.—If any judge, justice, sheriff, coroner, constable, jailer, or other officer of this state, either judicial or ministerial, shall knowingly ask, demand, or receive any fee or reward to execute or do his duty, other than is or shall be allowed by the laws of this state, every person so offending shall be fined in any sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, or imprisoned in the jail of the county not exceeding ten days, or both, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 158. [Usurpation.—If any person shall take upon himself to exercise or officiate in any other office or place of authority, in this state, without being legally authorized, the person so offending shall be fined in a sum not exceeding two hundred dollars, or imprisoned in the jail of the county, and be fed on bread and water only, not exceeding ten days, or both, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 159. [Stirring up suits and controversies.—If any judge, justice of the peace, clerk of any court, sheriff, coroner, constable, attorney, or counsellor at law shall encourage, excite, and stir up any suit, quarrel, or controversy between two or more persons, with intent to injure such person or persons, such judge, justice of the peace, clerk, sheriff, constable, attorney, or counsellor at law shall be fined in any sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, and shall be answerable to the party injured in treble damages.

SEC. 160. [Oppression under color of office.—If any sheriff, coroner, constable, jailer, clerk, county recorder, county clerk, county treasurer, or assessor, by color of or in the execution of his office shall designedly, wilfully, or corruptly injure, defraud, or oppress any person, or shall attempt to defraud, injure, or oppress any person, such sheriff, coroner, constable, jailer, clerk, county recorder, county clerk, county treasurer, or assessor shall, on conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not exceeding two hundred dollars, and be answerable to the party so injured, defrauded, or oppressed, in treble damages.

SEC. 161. [Refusing to aid officer arresting criminal.—If any person having been called upon by the sheriff, or other ministerial officer, in any county in this state to assist such sheriff or other officer in apprehending any person charged with, or convicted of, any offense against any of the laws of this state, or in securing such offender when apprehended, or in conveying such offender to the jail of the county, shall neglect or refuse to render such assistance, every person so offending shall be fined in any sum not exceeding fifty dollars.

SEC. 162. [Sheriff, etc., suffering criminal to escape.—If any sheriff, coroner, jailer, or other person whatsoever having any offender in custody, charged with, or convicted of, any offense made punishable by the laws of this state, shall voluntarily suffer such offender to escape and go at large, every sheriff, coroner, jailer, or other person so offending, shall be fined in any sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, or be imprisoned not exceeding ten days, or both, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 155. Sufficient to charge generally, that false testimony was in respect to a matter material in the action in which it is given. 23 Neb. 442. Perjury may be assigned on false swearing on the fact in issue in an action, or to any circumstance which tends to prove, or does prove, such fact. Id. Prosecutor must prove substance of the whole of what is set out in information as having been sworn to by accused; and assignment of perjury must be proved substantially as laid in information. Id. Evidence necessary to convict. Id. It is error for district court, in instructing jury, to copy this section, and inform jury that section copied indicates to them clearly what is necessary and material to be proven in case then on trial, without further instructions as to what are the material allegations of the information and what facts are necessary to be established before they can convict. Id.

SEC. 163. [Assisting criminal, etc., to escape.].—If any person shall aid or assist any prisoner, confined in any jail, or other place of confinement, charged with, or convicted of, any offense against the laws of this state, to make his or her escape from such jail or place of confinement, although no escape be actually made, every person so offending shall be fined not more than five hundred nor less than fifty dollars, or be imprisoned in the jail of the county not exceeding thirty days, or both, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 164. [Bribing or influencing a juror or witness.].—If any person shall attempt to corrupt or influence any juror or witness, either by promises, threats, letters, money, or other undue means, either directly or indirectly, every person so offending shall be fined in any sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, and imprisoned in the jail of the county, not exceeding thirty days.

SEC. 165. [Juror or witness receiving a reward.].—If any juror or witness shall corruptly take and receive any money, goods, chattels, or other reward, either directly or indirectly, in any action or suit instituted before any court having jurisdiction thereof, such juror or witness so offending shall be fined in any sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, and imprisoned in the jail of the county not exceeding thirty days.

SEC. 166. [Bribing to procure the escape of a criminal.].—If any person shall by bribery, persuasion, seduction, or any other arts or means whatever, attempt to prevail upon any ministerial officer, or other person charged with the safe keeping of any person accused or convicted of any offense against the laws of this state, to permit such person to escape from the custody of such officer or other person, every person so offending shall be fined in any sum not more than five hundred, nor less than twenty-five dollars.

SEC. 167. [Suffering jail to become unclean.].—If any sheriff or jailer, or any other person having the care and custody of any jail, shall suffer the same to become foul and unclean, so that the health of any prisoner may be endangered, such sheriff, jailer, or other person shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars.

SEC. 168. [Neglecting to serve warrant in felonies.].—When any warrant legally issued by any magistrate of this state, in any criminal case, shall be delivered into the hand of any constable or other officer, to be executed, whose duty it shall be to execute such warrant, it is hereby made the duty of such constable or other officer to serve the same immediately; and if such constable or other officer shall neglect or delay to serve any such warrant, delivered to him as aforesaid, when in his power to serve the same, either alone or by calling upon assistance, according to law, such constable or other officer shall, if the offense charged for which the warrant issued be a felony, be fined in any sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, or imprisoned in the county jail ten days, or both, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 169. [Same, in misdemeanors.].—If any constable or other officer shall be guilty as specified in the preceding section, of neglect or delay in serving any warrant, when the offense charged, for which such warrant may issue, be an offense not punishable by death or imprisonment in the penitentiary, such constable or other officer shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars, or imprisoned not exceeding ten days, or both, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 170. [Conviction—Forfeiture of office.].—A conviction of any officer of either of the offenses specified in the two last preceding sections, shall be a forfeiture of his office, and the same shall immediately become vacant.

SEC. 172. [Dealing with prisoner less severely than sentence warrants.]—If any sheriff or jailer, or any other person, having the care and custody of any jail, shall suffer any person sentenced to imprisonment therein for any offense, to be dealt with in a manner less severe than is required by law, such sheriff or jailer shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars.

SEC. 173. [Rescue of prisoners.]—If any person or persons shall set at liberty or rescue any person who shall have been found guilty or convicted of a crime, the punishment of which is death, or shall aid in the escape of such convict, such person shall be punished by confinement in the penitentiary for a term not less than one year nor more than fourteen years; and if any person or persons shall set at liberty or rescue any person who shall have been found guilty or convicted of a crime, the punishment of which is confinement in the penitentiary, whether such person be in the custody of an officer or in the penitentiary, or shall aid in the escape of such convict, the person so offending, on conviction thereof, shall be sentenced to the same punishment that would have been inflicted on the person so set at liberty or rescued.

SEC. 174. [Disguise, arms, or tools to aid an escape.]—Every person who shall convey into a state prison, jail, or other place of confinement, any disguise, instrument, arms, or other thing proper or useful to aid any prisoner in his escape, with intent thereby to facilitate the escape of any prisoner committed to, or detained in such prison, jail, or place of confinement, charged with, or convicted of any offense against the laws of this state, or the United States, whether such escape be effected or attempted, or not, shall be fined not more than five hundred, nor less than fifty dollars, or be imprisoned in the jail, not exceeding three months, or both, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 175. [Bribery—Accepting bribes.]—If any person shall, directly or indirectly, give any sum or sums of money, or any other bribe, present, or reward, or any promise, contract, obligation, or security, for the payment of any money, present, or reward, or any other thing, to any judge, justice of the peace, sheriff, coroner, clerk, constable, jailer, prosecuting attorney, member of the legislative assembly, or other officer, ministerial or judicial, but such fees as are allowed by law, with intent to induce or influence such officer to appoint or vote for any person for office, or to execute any of the powers in him vested, or perform any duty of him required, with partiality or favor, or otherwise than is required by law, or in consideration that such officer hath appointed or voted for any person for any office, or exercised any power in him vested, or performed any duty of him required, with partiality or favor, or otherwise contrary to law, the person so giving, and the officer so receiving any money, bribe, present, reward, promise, contract, obligation, or security, with intent or for the purpose or consideration aforesaid, shall be deemed guilty of bribery, and shall be punished by confinement in the penitentiary not less than one year nor more than five years.

SEC. 176. [Same.]—Every person who shall offer or attempt to bribe any member of the legislative assembly, judge, justice of the peace, sheriff, coroner, clerk, constable, jailer, prosecuting attorney, or other ministerial or judicial officer in any of the cases mentioned in the last preceding section, and every member of the legislative assembly, judge, justice of the peace, sheriff, coroner, clerk, constable, jailer, prosecuting attorney, or other ministerial or judicial officer, who shall propose or agree to receive a bribe in any of the cases mentioned in the said preceding section, shall be fined in a sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, nor less than three hundred dollars.

SEC. 177. [Compounding crimes.]—If any person shall take money, goods, chattels, lands, or other reward, or promise thereof, to compound any criminal offense, such person shall be fined in double the sum or value of the thing agreed for or taken, but no person shall be debarred from taking his goods or property from the thief or felon, or receiving compensation for the private injury occasioned by the commission of any such criminal offense.

with, or convicted of, any offense made punishable by the laws of this state, shall voluntarily suffer such offender to escape and go at large, every sheriff, coroner, jailer, or other person so offending, shall be fined in any sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, or be imprisoned not exceeding ten days, or both, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 163. [Assisting criminal, etc., to escape.—If any person shall aid or assist any prisoner, confined in any jail, or other place of confinement, charged with, or convicted of, any offense against the laws of this state, to make his or her escape from such jail or place of confinement, although no escape be actually made, every person so offending shall be fined not more than five hundred nor less than fifty dollars, or be imprisoned in the jail of the county not exceeding thirty days, or both, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 164. [Bribing or influencing a juror or witness.—If any person shall attempt to corrupt or influence any juror or witness, either by promises, threats, letters, money, or other undue means, either directly or indirectly, every person so offending shall be fined in any sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, and imprisoned in the jail of the county, not exceeding thirty days.

SEC. 165. [Juror or witness receiving a reward.—If any juror or witness shall corruptly take and receive any money, goods, chattels, or other reward, either directly or indirectly, in any action or suit instituted before any court having jurisdiction thereof, such juror or witness so offending shall be fined in any sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, and imprisoned in the jail of the county not exceeding thirty days.

SEC. 166. [Bribing to procure the escape of a criminal.—If any person shall by bribery, persuasion, seduction, or any other arts or means whatever, attempt to prevail upon any ministerial officer, or other person charged with the safe keeping of any person accused or convicted of any offense against the laws of this state, to permit such person to escape from the custody of such officer or other person, every person so offending shall be fined in any sum not more than five hundred, nor less than twenty-five dollars.

SEC. 167. [Suffering jail to become unclean.—If any sheriff or jailer, or any other person having the care and custody of any jail, shall suffer the same to become foul and unclean, so that the health of any prisoner may be endangered, such sheriff, jailer, or other person shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars.

SEC. 168. [Neglecting to serve warrant in felonies.—When any warrant legally issued by any magistrate of this state, in any criminal case, shall be delivered into the hand of any constable or other officer, to be executed, whose duty it shall be to execute such warrant, it is hereby made the duty of such constable or other officer to serve the same immediately; and if such constable or other officer shall neglect or delay to serve any such warrant, delivered to him as aforesaid, when in his power to serve the same, either alone or by calling upon assistance, according to law, such constable or other officer shall, if the offense charged for which the warrant issued be a felony, be fined in any sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, or imprisoned in the county jail ten days, or both, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 169. [Same, in misdemeanors.—If any constable or other officer shall be guilty as specified in the preceding section, of neglect or delay in serving any warrant, when the offense charged, for which such warrant may issue, be an offense not punishable by death or imprisonment in the penitentiary, such constable or other officer shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars, or imprisoned not exceeding ten days, or both, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 170. [Conviction—Forfeiture of office.—A conviction of any officer of either of the offenses specified in the two last preceding sections, shall be a forfeiture of his office, and the same shall immediately become vacant.

SEC. 172. [Dealing with prisoner less severely than sentence warrants.]—If any sheriff or jailer, or any other person, having the care and custody of any jail, shall suffer any person sentenced to imprisonment therein for any offense, to be dealt with in a manner less severe than is required by law, such sheriff or jailer shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars.

SEC. 173. [Rescue of prisoners.]—If any person or persons shall set at liberty or rescue any person who shall have been found guilty or convicted of a crime, the punishment of which is death, or shall aid in the escape of such convict, such person shall be punished by confinement in the penitentiary for a term not less than one year nor more than fourteen years; and if any person or persons shall set at liberty or rescue any person who shall have been found guilty or convicted of a crime, the punishment of which is confinement in the penitentiary, whether such person be in the custody of an officer or in the penitentiary, or shall aid in the escape of such convict, the person so offending, on conviction thereof, shall be sentenced to the same punishment that would have been inflicted on the person so set at liberty or rescued.

SEC. 174. [Disguise, arms, or tools to aid an escape.]—Every person who shall convey into a state prison, jail, or other place of confinement, any disguise, instrument, arms, or other thing proper or useful to aid any prisoner in his escape, with intent thereby to facilitate the escape of any prisoner committed to, or detained in such prison, jail, or place of confinement, charged with, or convicted of any offense against the laws of this state, or the United States, whether such escape be effected or attempted, or not, shall be fined not more than five hundred, nor less than fifty dollars, or be imprisoned in the jail, not exceeding three months, or both, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 175. [Bribery—Accepting bribes.]—If any person shall, directly or indirectly, give any sum or sums of money, or any other bribe, present, or reward, or any promise, contract, obligation, or security, for the payment of any money, present, or reward, or any other thing, to any judge, justice of the peace, sheriff, coroner, clerk, constable, jailer, prosecuting attorney, member of the legislative assembly, or other officer, ministerial or judicial, but such fees as are allowed by law, with intent to induce or influence such officer to appoint or vote for any person for office, or to execute any of the powers in him vested, or perform any duty of him required, with partiality or favor, or otherwise than is required by law, or in consideration that such officer hath appointed or voted for any person for any office, or exercised any power in him vested, or performed any duty of him required, with partiality or favor, or otherwise contrary to law, the person so giving, and the officer so receiving any money, bribe, present, reward, promise, contract, obligation, or security, with intent or for the purpose or consideration aforesaid, shall be deemed guilty of bribery, and shall be punished by confinement in the penitentiary not less than one year nor more than five years.

SEC. 176. [Same.]—Every person who shall offer or attempt to bribe any member of the legislative assembly, judge, justice of the peace, sheriff, coroner, clerk, constable, jailer, prosecuting attorney, or other ministerial or judicial officer in any of the cases mentioned in the last preceding section, and every member of the legislative assembly, judge, justice of the peace, sheriff, coroner, clerk, constable, jailer, prosecuting attorney, or other ministerial or judicial officer, who shall propose or agree to receive a bribe in any of the cases mentioned in the said preceding section, shall be fined in a sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, nor less than three hundred dollars.

SEC. 177. [Compounding crimes.]—If any person shall take money, goods, chattels, lands, or other reward, or promise thereof, to compound any criminal offense, such person shall be fined in double the sum or value of the thing agreed for or taken, but no person shall be debarred from taking his goods or property from the thief or felon, or receiving compensation for the private injury occasioned by the commission of any such criminal offense.

SEC. 178. [Conspiracy.]—If any two or more persons shall conspire or agree, falsely and maliciously, to charge or indict, or cause or procure to be charged or indicted, any person for any criminal offense, each of the persons so offending shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one thousand dollars, and imprisoned not exceeding one year.

SEC. 179. [Mutilating records.]—If any person shall wilfully and maliciously alter, deface, mutilate, destroy, abstract, or conceal any record, or part thereof, authorized to be made by any law of this state, of or pertaining to any court, justice of the peace, or any state, county, district, or municipal office or officer, or any other public record so authorized, or any paper or writing duly filed with, in, or by any such court, justice of the peace, office, or officer, every such person shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined in any sum not exceeding three hundred dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding three months, or both, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 180. [Neglect or malfeasance of certain officers.]—Any magistrate, clerk of the court, sheriff, constable, or other officer mentioned in chapter fifty of this code, who shall neglect or refuse to perform any duty required of such officer by any provision of said chapter fifty, or any clerk, sheriff, coroner, constable, county commissioner, justice of the peace, recorder, county surveyor, prosecuting or district attorney, or any ministerial officer, who shall be guilty of any palpable omission of duty, or who shall wilfully or corruptly be guilty of malfeasance or partiality in the discharge of his official duties, shall be fined in a sum not exceeding two hundred dollars, and the court shall have power to add to the judgment that any officer so convicted shall be removed from office; Provided, That the removal of a clerk of the district court from office shall not remove such officer from the office of the county clerk, but in such case the judge shall have power to appoint such clerk of the district court until the next general election of county officers. The court shall have the power, whenever any clerk of the district or supreme court, or the district or prosecuting attorney, shall be presented or indicted, to appoint for that occasion a prosecuting attorney or clerk, as the case may require, who shall thereby be invested, in relation to such presentment or indictment, with all the powers of clerk or prosecuting attorney. It shall be the duty of the court, when the judgment shall extend to removal from office, to cause immediate notice of such removal to be given to the proper department, in order that the vacancy thus occasioned may be filled.

CHAPTER XIX.—OFFENSES AGAINST ELECTION LAWS.

SEC. 181. [Effect of chapter.]—The provisions of this chapter shall apply to all elections authorized by the laws of this state.

SEC. 182. [Voting out of precinct.]—Any person who shall vote in any precinct, or in any ward of a city in this state, in which he has not actually resided ten days, or such length of time as required by law, next preceding the election, or into which he shall have come for temporary purposes merely, shall be fined in any sum not exceeding five hundred dollars nor less than fifty dollars, and be imprisoned in the jail of the proper county not more than six months.

SEC. 183. [Voting out of county.]—Any person being a resident of this state who shall go or come into any county, and vote in such county, not being an actual resident thereof for forty days next preceding the election, or for such time as may at the time be required by law, shall, on conviction thereof, be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than three years.

SEC. 184. [Voting more than once.]—Any person who shall vote more than once at the same election shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than five years nor less than one year.

CHAP. XIX. See Chap. 26, part I, ante.

SEC. 181. Illegal voting at village elections not within statute. 47 N. W. R. 334.

SEC. 185. [Resident of another state.—Any resident of another state who shall vote in this state shall, on conviction thereof, be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than five years.

SEC. 186. [Want of residence.—Any person who shall vote who shall not have been a resident of this state for six months, or such time as required by law, immediately preceding the election, or who, at the time of the election, is not twenty-one years of age, knowing that he is not twenty-one years of age, or who is not a citizen of the United States, and has not filed his declaration to become such according to the laws of the United States, knowing that he is not such citizen, and that he has not filed such declaration, or who, being disqualified by law, by reason of his conviction of some infamous crime, shall not have been pardoned and restored to all the rights of a citizen, shall be imprisoned in the county jail of the proper county not more than six months.

SEC. 187. [Assisting another to vote unlawfully.—Any person who shall procure, aid, or assist, counsel, or advise another to give his vote, knowing that such other person has not been a resident of this state six months, or such time as required by law, immediately preceding the election, or that, at the time of the election, he is not twenty-one years of age, or that he is not a citizen of the United States, and that he has made no declaration according to law to become such citizen; or that he is not duly qualified from other disability to vote at the place where, and the time when the vote is to be given, shall be fined in any sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, and imprisoned in the county jail not more than six months.

SEC. 188. [Procuring another to go into another county to vote.]—Any person who shall procure, aid, assist, counsel, or advise another to go or come into any county, for the purpose of giving his vote in such county, knowing that the person is not duly qualified to vote in such county, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than five years nor less than one year.

SEC. 189. [Bribing or threatening to influence vote.—Any person who shall, by bribery, attempt to influence any elector of this state, in giving his vote or ballot, or who shall use any threat to procure any elector to vote contrary to the inclination of such elector, or to deter him from giving his vote or ballot, shall be fined in any sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, and be imprisoned in the county jail not more than six months.

SEC. 190. [Deceiving illiterate electors.—Any person who shall furnish an elector who can not read, with a ticket, informing him that it contains a name or names different from those which are written or printed thereon, with an intent to induce him to vote contrary to his inclination; or who shall fraudulently or deceitfully change a ballot of any elector, by which such elector shall be prevented from voting for such candidate or candidates as he intended, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than three years.

SEC. 191. [Misconduct by officers of elections.—If any judge of the election shall knowingly receive or sanction the reception of a vote from any person not having all the qualifications of an elector prescribed by the laws of this state; or shall receive, or sanction the reception of a ballot from any person who shall refuse to answer any question which shall be put to him in accordance with the requirements of the laws of this state; or who shall refuse to take the oath prescribed by the laws of this state; or shall refuse or sanction the refusal by any other judge of the board to which he shall belong, to administer any oath or affirmation required by the laws of this state, and in such case required to be administered; or if any judge of the election shall refuse to receive, or shall sanction the rejection of a ballot from any person, knowing him to have the qualifications of an elector under the provisions of the laws of this state, at the place where such elector offers to vote, or if any judge, or clerk of the election, on whom any duty is enjoined by the laws of this state, shall be guilty of any wilful neglect of any such duty, or of any corrupt conduct in the execution of the same; such judge or clerk shall be fined in any sum not more than one thousand dollars nor less than three hundred dollars, and be imprisoned in the jail of the county, not more than six months nor less than three months; Provided, That so much of the provisions of this section as may be superseded by any registration laws in force, shall not be operative where such laws are in force.

SEC. 192. [Fraudulent voting.]—Any person or persons who shall, either before or after proclamation is made of the opening of the polls, fraudulently put a ballot or ticket into the ballot-box, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than three years nor less than one year.

SEC. 193. [Same, by judge.]—Any judge or judges of the election who shall, after proclamation made of the opening of the polls, put a ballot or ticket into the ballot-box, except his or their own ballot or ticket, or such as may be received in the regular discharge of his or their duties as such judge or judges, or who shall knowingly permit any ballot or ticket, fraudulently placed or deposited in such ballot-box by any other person or persons, to remain therein, or be counted with the legal votes cast at such election, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than three years nor less than one year.

SEC. 194. [Penalty for fraud in relation to poll books, ballots, etc.]—Any judge or clerk of any election under the laws of this state, or any other person or persons who shall at any time, wilfully, knowingly, and with fraudulent intent, inscribe, write, or cause to be inscribed or written, in or upon any poll-book, tally-sheet, tally-list, in or upon any book or paper purporting to be such, or upon any election returns under the laws of this state, or upon any book or paper containing the same, the name or names of any person or persons not entitled to vote at such election, or not voting thereat, or any fictitious name, with intent to defeat, hinder, or prevent a fair expression of the will of the people at such election, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than three years nor less than one year.

SEC. 195. [Penalty for possession of same.]—Any person or persons who shall, at any time, have in his or their possession any falsely made, altered, forged, or counterfeited poll book, tally sheet, tally list, or election returns of any election under the laws of this state, knowing the same to be falsely made, altered, forged, or counterfeited, with intent to hinder, defeat, or prevent a fair expression of the popular will at any such election, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than three years nor less than one year.

SEC. 196. [Obtaining possession of ballots or ballot-box.]—If any person or persons, at any election held by virtue of any laws of this state, in any ward of any city, or in any village or election precinct in any county of this state, shall unlawfully either by force, violence, fraud, or other improper means, obtain possession of any ballot-box or any ballot or ballots therein deposited, while the voting at such election is going on, or before the ballots shall have been duly taken out of such ballot-box by the judges of election according to law, such person or persons shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than three nor less than one year, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 197. [Destroying ballot-box, ballots, or poll books.]—If any person or persons shall unlawfully destroy any ballot-box used, any ballot or vote deposited, any poll book kept at any election held by virtue of any law of this state, such person or persons shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one nor more than five years, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 198. [Same.]—If any person or persons, at any election held by virtue of any law of this state, in any ward of any city, or in any village or election precinct of any county in this state, shall unlawfully, either by force, violence, fraud, or other improper means, attempt to obtain possession of any ballot-box, or any ballot or ballots therein deposited, while the voting at such election is going on, or before the ballots shall all have been duly taken out of such ballot-box by the judges of such election, according to law; or if any person or persons shall unlawfully attempt to destroy any ballot-box used, any ballot or vote deposited, any poll book kept at any election held by virtue of any law of this state, such person or persons shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one nor more than three years, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 199. [Selling liquors on election day.]—It shall be unlawful for any person in this state to sell or give away, or dispose of with intent to evade the law, any intoxicating liquors on the day of any general or special election. Any person offending against this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and be punished by fine not less than twenty-five dollars nor exceeding one hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding thirty days, or both such fine and imprisonment.

CHAPTER XX.—OFFENSES AGAINST MARRIAGE AND THE RELATION OF SEX.

SEC. 200. [Carnal knowledge of insane woman.]—If any male person, seventeen years old and upward, shall have carnal knowledge of any woman, other than his wife, such woman being insane, he knowing her to be such, every person so offending shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than ten nor less than three years.

SEC. 201. [Bigamy.]—That if any married person, having a husband or wife living, shall marry any other person, every person so offending shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not more than seven years nor less than one year. But nothing contained in this section shall be construed to extend to any person whose husband or wife shall be continually and wilfully absent for the space of five years together and unheard from, next before the time of such marriage.

SEC. 202. [Incestuous marriage.]—Marriages between parents and children, including grand parents and grand children of every degree, between brothers and sisters of the half as well as of the whole blood, and between uncles and nieces, aunts and nephews, are declared to be incestuous and absolutely void. This section shall extend to illegitimate as well as legitimate children and relations.

SEC. 203. [Lascivious cohabitation with relations.]—Persons within the degrees of consanguinity within which marriages are declared by the preceding section to be incestuous and void, who shall intermarry with each other, or who shall commit adultery or fornication with each other, or shall lewdly and lasciviously cohabit with each other, shall be liable to indictment, and upon conviction, be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary not exceeding ten years.

SEC. 204. [Father with daughter.]—If a father shall rudely or licentiously cohabit with his own daughter, the father shall, on conviction, be punished by confinement in the penitentiary for a term not exceeding twenty years.

SEC. 205. [Sabbath breaking.]—If any person of the age of fourteen years or upward shall be found on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday, sporting, rioting, quarreling, hunting, fishing, or shooting, he or she shall be fined in a sum not exceeding twenty dollars, or be confined in the county jail for a term not exceeding twenty days, or both, at the discretion of the court. And if any person of the age of fourteen years or upward shall be found on the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday, at common labor (work of necessity and charity only excepted), he or she shall be fined in any sum not exceeding five dollars nor less than one dollar; Provided, Nothing herein contained in relation to common labor on said first day of the week, commonly called Sunday, shall be construed to extend to those who conscientiously do observe the seventh day of the week as the Sabbath, nor to prevent families emigrating from traveling, watermen from landing their passengers, superintendents or keepers of toll bridges or toll gates from attending and superintending the same, or ferrymen from conveying travelers over the water, or persons moving their families on such days, or to prevent railway companies from running necessary trains.

SEC. 242. [Vagrants.]—All idle persons not having visible means of support and maintenance and who live without employment, and all persons wandering abroad and living in taverns, groceries, beer houses, market places, sheds, barns, or in open air, and not giving a good account of themselves, and all persons wandering about and begging, or who go about from door to door, or from place to place, or occupy public places for the purpose of begging and receiving alms, and all prostitutes, and all keepers, occupants, lessees, tenants, and pimps of houses used for prostitution or gambling, shall be deemed and are hereby declared to be vagrants; and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not exceeding fifty dollars, or imprisoned in the jail of the county not exceeding three months, and be subject to hard labor in said jail or elsewhere in the county, as the court may order; Provided, That any person so convicted, who shall be disqualified for manual labor by physical inability, and shall be a proper object for relief, shall be sent to the alms house of the proper city or county, or otherwise cared for, according to law. [Amended 1875, 15.]

SEC. 242 a. [Tramp defined.]—Any person going about from place to place and asking or subsisting on charity shall be taken and deemed to be a tramp. [1879, § 1, 64.]

SEC. 242 b. [Begging by tramp.]—Any tramp who shall ask and receive from any person of any precinct, town, village, or city within this state any food, clothing, lodging, or other assistance, may be requested by such person, in his or her discretion, to perform a reasonable amount of labor therefor, and any such tramp who shall refuse to perform any such labor when so requested shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than three dollars or more than twenty dollars and cost of prosecution, and shall stand committed until the same is paid, but not exceeding one day for each dollar of fine; or may be imprisoned in the county jail, at hard labor, not less than three days nor more than twenty days, in the discretion of the court; but no such tramp shall be required to perform any such labor before six o'clock in the morning, or after six o'clock in the evening.

SEC. 242 c. [Torts by tramps.]—Any tramp who shall wilfully and maliciously do any injury to any person, or to the property, real or personal, of any person, or who shall procure food, clothing, or other property from any person by threats, or by force, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and, on conviction thereof, shall be punished by confinement, at hard labor, in the state prison for a term not exceeding three years, and not less than one year.

SEC. 242 d. [Excepted persons.]—This act shall not apply to any minor under the age of sixteen years nor to any female, nor any blind person.

SEC. 242 e. [Prosecutions, where had.]—All prosecutions for any of the offenses described in section two of this act may be tried and determined by the county judge, any justice of the peace or magistrate of the county in which the offense is committed, or, if in the limits of any city, town, or village, by the police court of said city, town, or village, and any court before whom such prosecution is tried may sentence the offender to pay a fine not exceeding twenty dollars, and may issue his warrant to carry such judgment into effect in case no appeal is taken.

SEC. 242 f. [Arrests without warrant—Officer's duties.]—Whenever any tramp in this state shall have committed any offense described in this act, any sheriff, deputy sheriff, constable, city marshal, or policeman of the county, precinct, town, or city in which such offense is committed may, without warrant, and it is hereby made their duty, to apprehend such person and retain him in custody, at the expense of the county, city, town, or village in any place within the county, and to prepare and file with the proper magistrate or court his complaint against such offender, and it shall be the duty of the officer making the arrest, to forthwith file with the proper magistrate, or court, his complaint against such offender, and to prosecute the same.

SEC. 242. The original section was: "If any person of the age of fourteen years and upward shall publicly curse or damn, or profanely swear by the name of God, Jesus Christ, or the Holy Ghost, each and every person offending shall be fined in a sum not exceeding one dollar nor less than twenty-five cents for each offense."

SEC. 242 g. [Costs of prosecution.]—In all prosecutions before a justice of the peace, or police court, for violations of the provisions of section two of this act, the costs of prosecution shall be paid out of the county, city, town, or village treasury.

SEC. 243. [Unlicensed puppet show.]—If any person or persons shall exhibit any puppet-show, wire-dancing, or tumbling, juggling, or sleight of hand, within this state, without first obtaining license as may be required by law, or by municipal ordinance, and shall ask and receive any money or other property for exhibiting the same, every person so offending shall forfeit and pay for every such offense the sum of ten dollars.

SEC. 244. [Disinterring dead bodies.]—If any person or persons shall open the grave or tomb where the body or bodies of any deceased person or persons shall have been deposited, and shall remove the body or bodies, or remains of any deceased person or persons, from the grave or place of sepulture, for the purpose of dissection, or any surgical, or any anatomical experiment, or for any other purpose, without the knowledge and consent of the near relations of the deceased, or shall in any way aid, assist, counsel, or procure the same to be done, every such person or persons so offending shall, on conviction, be fined not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars.

SEC. 245. [Same.]—The preceding section shall not extend to the dissection of any criminal, where the same shall be directed to be delivered up for that purpose by competent authority, nor shall it be so construed as to prevent any person from removing the body or bodies of their deceased relations or intimate friends, to any other place of sepulture that he or she may think proper.

THREE CARD MONTE.

SEC. 245 a. [Three card monte.]—Whoever shall, in this state, deal, play, and practice, or be in any manner accessory to the dealing, playing, or practicing of the confidence game or swindle known as three card monte, or of any such game, play, or practice, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, and by confinement in the penitentiary not less than two nor more than five years. [1875, § 1, 21.]

SEC. 245 b. [Prize packages.]—Whoever shall in this state, on any railroad car, coach, or train, practice any confidence game not mentioned in the preceding section, or shall sell any prize packages, or other prize, or offer the same for sale, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars, and by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding three months.

SEC. 245 c. [Duties of conductor and brakemen.]—It is hereby made the duty of railroad conductors, brakemen on railroad trains, and of all other persons cognizant of the act, to immediately arrest the person so offending, without warrant or other process, and call upon all bystanders or others for assistance, when the same may be necessary to enable them to make such arrests; and when such offense is committed on any railroad car, coach, or train, the venue shall lie, and the person be tried in any county through which such railroad may run, any law to the contrary notwithstanding; and the employees of any such railroad company shall have the power and authority to eject any such person or persons by force from the cars of such company whenever such person or persons shall be found practicing or attempting to practice any such game therein.

CRIME AGAINST NATURE.

SEC. 245 d. [Crime against nature.]—That the infamous crime against nature, either with man or beast, shall subject the offender to be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary for a term not less than one year, and may [may] extend to life. [1875, § 1, 26.]

FALSE PEDIGREE OF STOCK.

SEC. 245 a. [False pedigree.]—If any person shall knowingly and with intent to deceive, furnish to any purchaser of stock a printed or written false pedigree of the same, whereby such purchaser shall be induced to buy said stock, the person so offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof, be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars, nor more than two hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than three nor more than six months, or by both fine and imprisonment, as the court may direct. [1883, chap. V.]

SODA AND MINERAL WATERS.

SEC. 245 f. [Soda and mineral waters.]—That all persons engaged in the manufacture, bottling, or selling of soda, mineral water, or other beverages in casks, barrels, kegs, bottles, or boxes, with their names or other marks of ownership stamped or marked thereon, may file in the office of the county clerk of the county in which such articles are manufactured, bottled, or sold a description of the name or marks so used by them, and cause the same to be printed for two (2) successive weeks in a weekly newspaper printed in the English language, and in counties where such articles are manufactured, bottled, or sold. [1883, chap. LIV.]

SEC. 245 g. [Same—Using packages marked.]—It shall be unlawful for any person or persons hereafter, without the written consent of the owner or owners thereof, to fill with soda, mineral water, or other beverages, or any other articles of merchandise, medicine, compound, or preparation, for sale, or to be furnished to customers, any such casks, barrels, kegs, bottles, or boxes, so marked or stamped, or to sell, dispose of, buy, or traffic in, or wantonly destroy any such casks, barrel, keg, bottle, or box so marked or stamped by the owner or owners thereof, after such owner or owners shall have complied with the provisions of the first section of this act. Any person or persons who shall violate any provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof before any justice of the peace or police judge in this state shall be fined five dollars ($5) for each and every cask, barrel, keg, or box, and fifty cents (50) for each and every bottle so by him, her, or them filled, bought, sold, used, trafficked in, or wantonly destroyed, or by him, her, or them caused to be filled, bought, sold, used, trafficked in or wantonly destroyed, together with the costs of suit for the first offense, and ten dollars ($10) for each and every cask, barrel, keg, or box, one dollar ($1) for each and every bottle so filled, bought, sold, used, trafficked in or wantonly destroyed, or caused to be so filled, bought, sold, used, trafficked in or wantonly destroyed, together with the costs of suit for each subsequent offense.

SEC. 245 h. [Same—Written permission—Arrest—Fine.]—The using by any other person than the rightful owner thereof, without such written permission, of any such cask, barrel, keg, bottle, or box, for the sale therein of soda, mineral water, or other beverage, or any other article of merchandise, medicine, compound, or preparation, or to be furnished to customers, or the buying, selling, or trafficking in any such barrel, cask, keg, bottle, or box by any person other than the owner without such written permission; or the fact that any junk dealer, or dealers in casks, barrels, kegs, bottles, or boxes shall have in his or her possession any such cask, barrel, keg, bottle, or box so marked or stamped, and registered as aforesaid, without such written permission shall and is hereby declared to be prima facie evidence that such use, buying, selling, trafficking in, or having in possession any such cask, barrel, keg, box, or bottle is unlawful within the meaning of this act, and any person or persons found guilty of any such use, buying, selling, trafficking in, or having in possession any soda cask, barrel, keg, box, or bottle, without such written permission, shall be liable to be arrested and fined as provided in the second section of this act, and it is hereby declared to be the duty of any justice of the peace or police judge within this state, upon oath having been made in writing before him by any owner, or by the agent of any owner or owners, that any person has violated the provisions of this act, to immediately issue his warrant and cause such person or persons so accused to be brought before him and proceed to try such accused party as in cases of misdemeanor; and in case such accused party shall be found guilty of having violated any of the provisions of this act, shall assess the fine as provided in the second section of this act, such fine and costs to be collected as provided by law in other cases of misdemeanor.

SEC. 245 i. [Search warrant—Arrest—Trial.].—In case the owner or owners of any cask, barrel, keg, bottle, or box so marked, stamped, and registered as aforesaid, shall in person or by agent, make oath in writing before any justice of the peace or police judge, that he has reason to believe, and does believe, that any manufacturer or bottler of soda, mineral water, or other beverage, or any other person is using in any manner by this act declared to be unlawful, any of the casks, barrels, kegs, bottles, or boxes of such person or his principal; or that any junk dealer or dealers in casks, barrels, kegs, bottles, or boxes, or any other dealer, manufacturer or bottler has any such cask, barrel, keg, bottle, or box secreted in, about, or upon his, her, or their premises, the said justice of the peace or police judge shall issue his search warrant and cause the premises designated to be searched, as in other cases where search warrants are issued, as is now provided by law; and in case any such cask, barrel, keg, bottle, or box duly marked or stamped, and registered as aforesaid, shall be found in, upon, or about the premises so designated, the officer executing such search warrant shall thereupon arrest the person or persons named in such search warrant and bring him, her, or them before the justice of the peace or police judge who issued such warrant, who shall thereupon hear and determine such case, and if the accused is found guilty, he, she, or they shall be fined as provided in the second section of this act.

SEC. 245 j. [Costs.].—All costs incurred in the enforcement of the provisions of this act shall be assessed and collected in the same manner as in criminal cases, and all fines collected by virtue of this act shall be turned over by the justice of the peace or police judge collecting the same, in the same manner, and for the same purpose, as fines in cases of misdemeanor are now by law disposed of.

OLEOMARGARINE AND BUTTERINE.

SEC. 245 k. [Oleomargarine and butterine.].—That any person, company or corporation who shall manufacture for sale any article, or who may offer or expose for sale any article or substance in semblance of butter or cheese, not the legitimate product of the dairy, and not made exclusively of milk or cream, but into which any vegetable oil or the oil or fat of animals not produced from milk enters as a component part, or into which melted butter or any oil thereof has been introduced to take the place of cream, shall distinctly and durably stamp, brand, or mark upon every tub, firkin, box, or package, of such article or substance the word oleomargarine or butterine, in plain Roman letters not less than half an inch square, placed horizontally in proper order, and in case of retail sales of such articles or substances in parcels, the seller shall in all cases deliver therewith to the purchaser a written or printed label, bearing the plainly written or printed word oleomargarine or butterine in type or letters as aforesaid, and every sale of such article or substance not so stamped, branded, marked, or labeled, shall be void, and no action shall be maintained for the price thereof. [1883, chap. LIII.]

SEC. 245 l. [Penalty.]—Any person, company, or corporation who shall sell, or offer to sell, or have in his or her possession with intent to sell, contrary to the provisions of this act, any of the said articles not so stamped, marked, or labeled, or in case of retail sale, without delivery of the label required by section one of this act, shall for each such offense forfeit and pay a fine of one hundred dollars, to be recovered in any court in the state of competent jurisdiction.

SEC. 245 m. [Same.]—That any person, company, or corporation who shall sell, or offer, or expose for sale, or shall cause or procure to be sold any article required by the first section of this act to be marked, branded, stamped, or labeled, not so marked, branded, stamped, or labeled, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on trial for such misdemeanor, proof of the sale or offer, or exposure alleged, shall be presumptive evidence of knowledge of the character of the article so sold or offered.

PROTECTION OF DAIRYMEN.

SEC. 245 n. [Selling impure milk.]—Whoever shall knowingly sell or supply or bring to be manufactured to any cheese manufactory, butter manufactory, or creamery in this state, any milk diluted with water or in any way adulterated, or milk from which any cream has been taken, or milk commonly known as "skimmed milk;" or whoever shall keep any part of the milk known as "strippings," or whoever shall knowingly bring or supply milk to any cheese manufactory, butter manufactory, or creamery, that is tainted or partly sour from want of proper care in keeping pails, strainers, or any vessels in which said milk is kept, clean and sweet, after being notified of such taint or carelessness, or any cheese manufacturer or butter manufacturer who shall knowingly use, or direct any of his employees to use, for his or their individual benefit, any cream of the milk brought to the cheese or butter manufacturer, without the consent of all the owners thereof, shall, for each and every offense, forfeit and pay a sum of not less than twenty-five dollars, nor more than one hundred dollars, with the costs of suit to be sued for in any court of competent jurisdiction, for the benefit of the person or persons, firm, association, or corporation, or their assignees, upon whom such fraud be committed. [1883, chap. LII.]

HEALTH OF FEMALE EMPLOYEES.

SEC. 245 o. [Female workers.]—It shall be the duty of every agent, proprietor, superintendent, or employer of female help in stores, offices, or schools within the state of Nebraska, to provide a chair, stool, or seat for each and every such employee, upon which these female workers shall be allowed to rest when their duties will permit, or when such position does not interfere with the faithful discharge of their incumbent duties. [1883, chap. XLV.]

SEC. 245 p. [Same—Penalty.]—Any neglect or refusal to provide a chair, stool, or seat for every female worker in the employ of any agent, proprietor, superintendent or employer in the state of Nebraska, shall be deemed a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined a sum not less than ten dollars and not over five hundred dollars, and this fine shall be paid to the said female worker whose health has been injured by this neglect of her employer to provide said chair, stool, or seat, as required by this act.

SEC. 245 w. [Same—Destruction.—All magistrates in this state are authorized, on due complaint supported by oath or affirmation of one or more persons, to issue a warrant directed to the sheriff of the county within which such complaint shall be made, or to any constable or police officer within said county, directing him or them, or any of them, to search for, seize, and take possession of such books, papers, pictures, circulars, articles and things named in sections one (1) and four (4) of this act, and said magistrate shall deliver personally or shall transmit, enclosed and under seal, specimens thereof to the county attorney of his county, and shall deposit within the county jail of his county or other secure place as to him shall seem meet, enclosed and under seal, the remainder thereof, and shall, upon the conviction of the person or persons offending under the provisions of this act, forthwith, in the presence of the person or persons upon whose complaint the said seizure or arrest was made, if he or they shall elect to be present, destroy, or cause to be destroyed, the remainder thereof so seized as aforesaid, and shall cause to be entered upon the record of his court the fact of such destruction. [Id. § 5.]

SEC. 245 x. [Saving clause.—Nothing in this act shall be construed to affect teaching in regular chartered medical colleges; or the publication or use of standard medical books, or the practice of regular practitioners of medicine, or druggists in their regular business; or the possession by artists of models in the necessary line of their art. [Id. § 6.]

PROTECTION OF WORKING CHILDREN.

SEC. 245 aa. [Employment of children.—That no male or female child under the age of twelve years shall be employed in any railroad shops, factories, shops, or mines to exceed four months in any one year. [1887, chap. 111.]

SEC. 245 bb. [Same—Penalty.—That if any person or persons, or body corporate, shall hereafter employ, or if any parent or guardian shall consent to the employment of any male or female child under the age of twelve, as aforesaid, contrary to the provisions of the preceding section, and proof be made thereof before any police judge or justice of the peace of the city, town, or district where such offense is committed, he, she, or they so employing such child, or consenting thereto, as aforesaid, shall, upon conviction, for every such offense pay a fine of not less than ten nor more than fifty ($50) dollars, said fine to be applied to the use of the public schools of the proper city, town, or district; Provided, That no conviction shall be had under this act unless proceedings thereunder shall be commenced within one month after the offense shall have been committed. [Id. § 2.]

SEC. 245 cc. [Same—Enforcement.—That all city, town, and district police and constables are hereby authorized and required, and it is hereby made their duty to attend to the strict observance of the two preceding sections of this act when complaint shall have been properly made to them of a violation of the same. [Id. § 3.]

GRAND ARMY BADGE.

SEC. 245 dd. [Grand army badges.—Any person who shall wilfully wear the badge of the Grand Army of the Republic, or who shall use or wear the same to obtain aid or assistance thereby within this state, unless he shall be entitled to wear or use the same under the rules and regulations of the department of Nebraska, Grand Army of the Republic, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction, shall be

PART II.—CRIMINAL PROCEDURE.

CHAPTER XXIV.—DEFINITIONS AND GENERAL PROVISIONS.

SEC. 246. [Tense—Gender—Number—Writing—Oath.].—Unless when otherwise provided, words used in this code in the present tense include the future as well as the present. Words used in the masculine gender comprehend as well the feminine and neuter. The singular number includes the plural, and the plural the singular. The term "writing" includes printing. The term "oath" includes an affirmation.

SEC. 247. [Felony—Misdemeanor.].—The term "felony" signifies such an offense as may be punished with death or imprisonment in the penitentiary. Any other offense is denominated a misdemeanor.

SEC. 248. [Magistrates.].—The term "magistrate" in this code, when not otherwise expressly stated, is used to mean a justice of the peace, probate judge, mayor of a city or incorporated village, or police judge.

SEC. 249. [Prosecuting attorney.].—The term "prosecuting attorney" signifies the same as district attorney.

SEC. 250. [Construction of code.].—In the construction of this code each general provision shall be controlled by a special provision on the same subject, if there be a conflict.

SEC. 251. [Same.].—This code and every other law upon the subject of crime which may be enacted shall be construed according to the plain import of the language in which it is written, without regard to the distinction usually made between the construction of penal laws and laws upon other subjects, and no person shall be punished for an offense which is not made penal by the plain import of the words, upon pretense that he has offended against its spirit.

SEC. 252. [Person—General term.].—Whenever any property or interest is intended to be protected by a provision of the penal law, and the general term "person" or any other general term is used to designate the party whose property is intended to be protected, the provisions of such penal laws and the protection thereby given shall extend to the property of the state, or of any county, and of all public or private corporations.

SEC. 253. [Signature.].—The word "signature" includes the mark of a person unable to write his name; a mark shall have the same effect as a signature, when the name is written by some other person and the mark is made near thereto by the person unable to write his name.

SEC. 254. [Terms not defined, how taken.].—Except where a word, term, or phrase is specially defined all words used in this code are to be taken and construed, in the sense in which they are understood in common language, taking into consideration the context and subject matter relative to which they are employed. The titles merely, to the various chapters, sections, or clauses of this act, which are written or printed upon the bill at the time of its passage, shall constitute no part of this act of the legislature.

SEC. 255. [Existing laws saved.].—No offense committed, and no fine, forfeiture or penalty incurred under existing laws previous to the taking effect of this code, SEC. 247. Cited 23 Neb. 272. Effect of conviction on right to vote and hold office; conspiracy under Sec. 5440, Rev. Stat. U. S., is not felony. 10 Neb. 247.

SEC. 248. Provisions of section 301 in regard to witnesses apply only to officers mentioned in this section. 15 Neb. 496.

SEC. 255. Cited 3 Neb. 367. On the 20th day of April, 1883, the plaintiff in error was indicted for the crime of murder, alleged to have been committed on the fifteenth day of May, 1872, which was before the taking effect of the present criminal code, Held, That he must be tried by the law in force at the time of the alleged offense. A law which makes an action done before its passage, which was innocent when done, criminal, and punishes such action, or that aggravates a crime or makes it greater than when it was committed, or which, in relation shall be affected by the repeal herein of any such existing laws, but the punishment of such offenses, the recovery of such fines and forfeitures shall take place as if said law repealed had remained in force; Provided, That the manner of procedure for the enforcement or imposition of all such punishments, and the collection of all such fines and forfeitures, shall be in accordance, or as nearly in accordance with the provisions of this code as the nature of the case will admit; and in any case whatsoever, should the procedure provided for in this code be wholly inadequate, the procedure provided for in the laws repealed by this code may be followed so far as necessary to prevent a failure of justice.

SEC. 256. [Limitation of prosecutions.]—No person or persons shall be prosecuted for any felony (treason, murder, arson, and forgery excepted), unless the indictment for the same shall be found by a grand jury, within three years next after the offense shall have been done or committed. Nor shall any person be prosecuted, tried, or punished for any misdemeanor or other indictable offense below the grade of felony, or for any fine or forfeiture under any penal statute, unless the indictment, information, or action for the same shall be found or instituted within one year and six months from the time of committing the offense or incurring the fine or forfeiture, or within one year for any offense the punishment of which is restricted by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars, and to imprisonment not exceeding three months; Provided, That nothing herein contained shall extend to any person fleeing from justice; Provided, also, That where any suit, information, or indictment, for any crime or misdemeanor, is limited by any statute to be brought or exhibited within any other time than is hereby limited, then the same shall be brought or exhibited within the time limited by such statute: And provided, also, That where any indictment, information, or suit shall be quashed, or the proceedings in the same set aside or reversed, on writ of error, the time during the pendency of such indictment, information, or suit so quashed, set aside, or reversed, shall not be reckoned within this statute, so as to bar any new indictment, information, or suit for the same offense.

SEC. 257. [Manner of prosecutions.]—All fines and punishments provided in this code shall be enforced by the procedure provided for in this code, so far as such procedure extends or can be made applicable.

SEC. 258. [Criminals disqualified as electors, etc.]—Any person sentenced to be punished for any felony (when sentence shall not have been reversed or annulled) shall be deemed incompetent to be an elector or juror, or to hold any office of honor, trust, or profit within this state, unless said convict shall receive from the governor of this state a general pardon, under his hand and the seal of the state, in which case said convict shall be restored to his civil rights and privileges; Provided, however, That such pardon shall not release such convict from the costs of his conviction.

SEC. 259. [Same.]—Any person who shall have been actually imprisoned in the penitentiary of any other state or territory of this union, under sentence for the commission of any crime which, by the laws of this state, is punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary, shall be deemed incompetent to be an elector or juror, or to hold any office of honor, trust, or profit within this state, unless said convict shall have received a general pardon from the governor of the state in which he may have been imprisoned, agreeably to the laws thereof.

to that offense or its consequences, alters the situation of the party to his disadvantage, or that changes the punishment and inflicts a greater punishment than the law annexed to the crime when committed, is an ex post facto law, and in so far as it affects the punishment of the party to his disadvantage, is void. At the time of the commission of the alleged offense the punishment prescribed for the crime of murder was either death or imprisonment for life, the penalty to be fixed by the jury in their verdict. After the commission of the offense the law was changed so as to make death the punishment for murder in the first degree, and divesting the jury of the authority to fix the penalty. Held, That so far as the law affected the rights of the party charged with the offense by depriving him of the right to the verdict of the jury upon the question of punishment it was an ex post facto and void. Section 255 saves to the state the power to prosecute and punish for crimes committed before its passage which were punishable under the law repealed by that code, and a party charged with the crime of murder committed while the repealed law was in force must be tried under the law as it was at the time of the commission of the offense. 16 Neb. 357. 20 Id. 248.

SEC. 258. See Const., sec. 2, Art. VIII. 10 Neb. 247.

CHAPTER XXV.—POWERS AND DUTIES OF CERTAIN OFFICERS.

SEC. 260. [Jurisdiction of magistrates.].—All justices of the peace, mayors, police judges, and probate judges in this state shall have the same and equal powers of jurisdiction in all matters relating to the enforcement of the criminal laws of the state, except as otherwise expressly provided, and the jurisdiction of all such officers as magistrates above named for the discharge of the duties and for the exercise of the powers enjoined and conferred by this code, shall extend to all crimes and offenses punishable by the laws of this state, committed within the counties where each of said officers respectively resides and legally holds his office, and also for the prevention of crimes and offenses as in this code provided, throughout their respective counties.

SEC. 261. [Mayor.].—In cities in which there is a police judge, the mayor shall not, except in cases of urgency or necessity, be required to hear or examine into any criminal charge or case, and any warrants issued by the mayor of such city shall be returnable before the judge of the police court.

SEC. 262. [Conservators of the peace.].—The judges of the district courts in their respective districts, and the magistrates mentioned in section two hundred and sixty, in their respective counties, shall jointly and severally be conservators of the peace within their respective jurisdictions, and shall have full power to enforce or cause to be enforced all laws that now exist or that shall hereafter be made for the prevention and punishment of offenses, or for the preservation and observance of the peace. The said judges of the district courts shall have the same powers to require securities for the keeping of the peace, and the good behavior, and bail for appearance in courts to answer complaints to keep the peace, and for crimes and offenses committed in their respective districts as any of the magistrates aforesaid have in their respective counties. [Amended 1875, 16.]

SEC. 263. [Constables.].—Constables shall be ministerial officers of the courts holden by justices of the peace in criminal cases, within their respective counties. And it shall be their duty to apprehend and bring to justice felons and disturbers of the peace, and to suppress riots and to keep and preserve the peace within their respective counties. They shall have power, and they are hereby authorized to execute all writs and process in criminal cases throughout the county in which they may reside and where they were elected or appointed.

SEC. 264. [Same—Sheriffs—Fugitives—Compensation.].—If any person or persons, who may be charged with the commission of a crime or offense made punishable by the laws of this state, shall abscond or remove from the county in which such crime or offense has been committed, it shall be lawful for any sheriff, constable, or other person to apprehend the person or persons so charged, and forthwith remove him, her, or them to the county in which the alleged crime may be said to have been committed, and deliver such person or persons to any magistrate in said county, who shall cause the person or persons so delivered to be dealt with as the law may direct.

SEC. 265. [City and village marshals.].—Every city, town, or village marshal, lawfully holding such office, shall be the appropriate ministerial officer of the police court or mayor's court of the city or town or incorporated village, and as such shall have all the powers and be charged with all the duties of constables in the making of arrests, serving process, and preserving the peace, as prescribed in the last two preceding sections in criminal matters.

SEC. 266. [Special constables.].—That it shall be lawful for any justice of the peace within this state, upon the written application of any three freeholders of any township thereof, to appoint one or more special constables within such township, whose duty it shall be to watch and guard the property of said freeholders, and to protect the same from all unlawful acts, and in the discharge of their duty they shall have authority to make arrests. The justice making such appointment shall make a memorandum thereof upon his docket, and the same shall continue in force for one year, unless sooner revoked by such justice. The constables appointed by virtue of this section shall be paid in full for their services by the freeholders for whose benefit they are appointed, and shall receive no compensation except from said freeholders.

CHAPTER XXVI.—PROCEDURE TO PREVENT CRIMES AND OFFENSES.

SEC. 267. [Complaint to keep the peace.]—Whenever any person shall make complaint in writing, upon oath, before any justice of the peace, mayor of any city or incorporated village, police judge, or probate judge, that he has just cause to fear, and does fear, that another will commit any offense against the person or property of himself, his ward, or child, it shall be the duty of the magistrate before whom such complaint is made, to issue a warrant in the name of the state to any constable of the county, commanding him forthwith to arrest the person complained of, and him to take before such magistrate, or any other magistrate named in this section, of the same county, to answer such complaint.

SEC. 268. [Examination—Recognizance.]—When the party complained of shall be brought before the magistrate, he shall be heard in his defense, and all witnesses produced shall be examined upon oath, and if, upon such examination, the magistrate shall be of the opinion there is just cause for the complaint, he shall order the person complained of to enter into recognizance, with good and sufficient security in any sum not less than fifty dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, for his appearance before the district court on the first day of the next term thereof, or forthwith, if it be term time of said court, and in the mean time that he shall keep the peace, and be of good behavior generally, and especially toward the person complaining.

SEC. 269. [Commitment, in default of recognizance.]—In default of such recognizance and security, as provided in the preceding section, the magistrate shall commit the person complained of to the jail of the county, there to remain until discharged by due course of law.

SEC. 270. [Accused discharged—Costs against complainant.]—But if the magistrate, on the examination, shall be satisfied that there is no just cause for the complaint, it shall be his duty to discharge the accused, and render judgment, in the name of the state, against the party complaining, for the costs of the prosecution, and the same shall be collected by execution, as in civil cases.

SEC. 271. [Recognizance of witnesses.]—In case the defendant is recognized or committed as aforesaid, the magistrate shall require the material witnesses in the case to enter into recognizance to appear in court, as described in sections three hundred and three, three hundred and four, [and] three hundred and five. [Amended 1875, 17.]

SEC. 272. [Recognizance returned.]—All recognizances authorized to be taken as aforesaid, either in term time or vacation of that court to which the same may be returnable, shall be delivered or transmitted by the magistrate taking the same to the clerk of such court, without unnecessary delay, and before the commencement of the term of the court next thereafter to be holden, if such recognizance be taken in vacation; but if the same be taken in term time, then it shall be returned forthwith.

SEC. 273. [Magistrate may require security without process.]—Every person who, in the presence of any magistrate specified in the first section, shall make an affray or threaten to kill or beat another or to commit any offense against the person or property of another, and every person who, in the presence of such officer, shall contend with hot and angry words, to the disturbance of the peace, may be ordered without process, or any other proof, to give such security as above specified in this title.

SEC. 267. A complaint by a wife that she "has just cause to fear," etc., that another will commit an offense on the person of her husband is insufficient. 10 Neb. 586.

SEC. 270. Judgment for costs, in a complaint by A against B, against husband of A is void. Judgment can only be entered under this section for "costs of prosecution." 10 Neb. 587.

and, in case of failure or refusal, he may be committed in like manner as above specified.

SEC. 274. [Examination.]—The district court to which any transcript or recognizance to keep the peace, as aforesaid, shall be returned, shall, upon the appearance of the parties complaining and complained of, examine the witnesses produced upon oath, and may either discharge the accused from his recognizance or commitment, or may order him to enter into such other and further security as may be just thereafter to keep the peace and be of good behavior for such term of time as the court may order.

SEC. 275. [Commitment.]—For want of such security the court shall commit the person accused to the jail of the county, there to remain until such order be complied with, or he be otherwise discharged by due course of law; but in no case shall a person so failing to give security be confined for a period of time exceeding one year.

SEC. 276. [Costs.]—Whether such person be held to bail or be committed for want thereof, the court shall, in either case, render judgment against him for the costs of the prosecution and award execution therefor.

SEC. 277. [Failure to prosecute.]—When any person shall have been recognized to the court to keep the peace as aforesaid, and the complainant shall fail to prosecute his complaint, the party recognized shall be discharged unless good cause to the contrary be shown.

SEC. 278. [Costs.]—If the district court shall discharge the person accused on examination of the complaint, or because the complainant has failed to appear, said court may, in its discretion, render judgment against the person complaining for the costs of prosecution, and award execution therefor.

SEC. 279. [Preventing prize fight.]—If, at any time, the sheriff of any county, constable, or marshal, or other police officer of any city or incorporated village, shall have reason to believe that any person in his bailiwick is about to engage as principal in any fight or contention described in section seven of this code, or is in preparation or training to engage as principal in any fight or contention, he shall forthwith arrest such person and conduct him before any judge of the district court, or a magistrate in his county, and upon the proper affidavit being filed, prosecute the complaint; and thereupon the judge or magistrate shall inquire into the truth of said charge, and if he shall find it true, he shall require the accused to enter into a recognizance, with sufficient sureties, residents of this state, to be approved by such judge or magistrate, in a sum not less than five hundred nor more than ten thousand dollars, conditioned that the accused will not engage in any such fight or contention within the period of one year from and after the date of such arrest, and in default of such recognizance, such judge, justice, or mayor shall commit the party accused to the jail of the county, there to remain until he gives such recognizance, with sureties; Provided, That if, after the expiration of one month, the person so confined is unable to enter into such recognizance, the probate judge of the proper county may discharge such person on his own recognizance, in the same amount and with the same conditions, on proof satisfactory to such judge, by the affidavit of the accused, and other evidence, that the person so confined will not engage or be concerned in any such fight or contention within the time limited in said recognizance.

SEC. 280. [Same—Recognizance.]—Every such recognizance or affidavit taken shall be by such judge or magistrate certified to the district court of the proper county, where the same shall be recorded; and any district attorney who shall receive information, or have reason to believe, that the condition of any such recognizance has been broken, shall immediately bring suit thereon in any county of this state, collect the amount due thereon, and pay the same into the treasury of the proper county.

SEC. 281. [Same.]—If any sheriff shall have information and reason to believe that such fight or contention as is described in section seven of this code is about to take place in his county, he shall forthwith summon a force of citizens of the county sufficient for the purpose, and suppress such fight or contention, and arrest all persons present thereat who may be found violating any of the provisions of section seven or section eight of this act, and take them before some judge of the district court, or a magistrate, to be dealt with as provided by law.

SEC. 282. [Same—Cost and expenses, how paid.]—All the expenses of carrying into effect the provisions of the last three preceding sections shall, in the first instance, be paid out of the county treasury, on a certificate of a judge of the court or magistrate before whom such examination shall be had; and such court or magistrate shall proceed, upon finding such charge true, to collect, from the person or persons against whom said complaint was found true, all the costs in said proceedings, to be taxed as in other criminal proceedings, in the manner provided by law for collecting fines and costs in criminal cases, and shall pay the same when collected, into the treasury of the proper county.

CHAPTER XXVII.—ARREST AND ARRAIGNMENT BEFORE MAGISTRATES.

SEC. 283. [Arrest by officer.]—Every sheriff, deputy sheriff, constable, marshal, or deputy marshal, watchman, or police officer shall arrest and detain any person from violating any law of this state, or any legal ordinance of any city or incorporated village, until a legal warrant can be obtained.

SEC. 284. [Arrest by private person.]—Any person not an officer may, without warrant, arrest any person, if a petit larceny or a felony has been committed, and there has been reasonable ground to believe the person arrested guilty of such offense, and may detain him until a legal warrant can be obtained.

SEC. 285. [Warrant—Issuance.]—Justices of the peace, mayors of cities and villages, police judges and probate judges shall have power to issue process for the apprehension of any person charged with a criminal offense.

SEC. 286. [Same.]—Whenever a complaint in writing and upon oath, signed by the complainant, shall be filed with the magistrate, charging any person with the commission of an offense against the laws of this state, it shall be the duty of such magistrate to issue a warrant for the arrest of the person accused, if he shall have reasonable grounds to believe that the offense charged has been committed.

SEC. 287. [Security for costs.]—When the offense charged is a misdemeanor, the magistrate, before issuing the warrant, may, at his discretion, require the complainant to acknowledge himself responsible for costs in case the complaint shall be dismissed, which acknowledgment of security for costs shall be entered on the docket, and the magistrate on dismissal may, if in his opinion the complaint was without probable cause, enter a judgment against such complainant for costs made thereon. And in case said magistrate shall consider such complainant wholly irresponsible, such magistrate may, in his discretion, refuse to issue any warrant unless the complainant procure some responsible security to the satisfaction of such magistrate for said costs in case of such dismissal, and said security shall acknowledge himself so bound, and the magistrate shall enter it on his docket.

SEC. 288. [Warrant—Contents—Direction.]—The warrant shall be directed to the sheriff or to any constable of the county, or if the same be issued by an officer of a municipal corporation authorized to issue such warrant, then to the marshal

SEC. 286. Preliminary examination not a trial. 10 Neb. 81. A magistrate has no right to alter an information in any material part of it, without the consent of the person who made it. And, if made with his consent, it should be reverified before any further step is taken under it. But if such alteration be made, as in changing the value of property alleged to have been stolen, so as to reduce the offense from grand to petit larceny, without a reverification, and the accused go to trial without objecting to the information for that reason, the judgment, whether of acquittal or conviction, is good. 15 Neb. 91. Complaint must charge explicitly all that is essential to constitute the offense, and it cannot be aided by intendment. 21 Neb. 556. Complaint charging misdemeanor is good if it contains sufficient to show violation of law. 19 Neb. 282. Complaint before magistrate, charging commission of crime in positive terms, not invalid because affiant adds that he "verily believes defendant guilty," etc. 16 Neb. 659. Complaint must be sufficiently specific to negative innocence of party charged. 17 Neb. 146. Where charge in preliminary examination is substantially same as that set forth in information, plea of want of preliminary examination unavailing. 22 Neb. 522. Question of want of preliminary examination should be raised by plea in abatement. Id. Clerk of court may administer oath. 26 Id. 757.

or other police officer of such corporation, and reciting the substance of the accusation, shall command the officer forthwith to take the accused, and bring him before the magistrate or court issuing the warrant, or some other magistrate having cognizance of the case, to be dealt with according to law; and no seal shall be necessary to the validity of the warrant.

SEC. 289. [Same—Execution.]—The magistrate issuing any such warrant may make an order thereon authorizing a person to be named in such warrant to execute the same; and the person named in such order may execute such warrant anywhere in the state, by apprehending and conveying such offender before the magistrate issuing such warrant, or before some other magistrate of the same county; and all sheriffs, coroners, and constables, and others, when required, in their respective counties, shall aid and assist in the execution of such warrant.

SEC. 290. [Pursuit by officer.]—If any person charged as aforesaid with the commission of an offense shall flee from justice, it shall be lawful for the officer in whose hands the warrant for such person has been placed to pursue and arrest such person in any other county in this state, and him to convey before the magistrate issuing the warrant, or any other magistrate having cognizance of the case, of the county where such offense was committed.

SEC. 291. [Persons charged absconding.]—If any person charged with an offense shall abscond or remove from the county in which such offense is alleged to have been committed, it shall be lawful for any magistrate of the county in which such person may be found to issue a warrant for the arrest and removal of such person to the county in which the offense is alleged to have been committed, to be there delivered to any magistrate of such county, who shall cause the person so delivered to be dealt with according to law, and the warrant so issued shall have the same force and effect as if issued from the county in which such offense is alleged to have been committed.

SEC. 292. [Prisoner detained in jail.]—Any officer or other person having in lawful custody any person accused of an offense, for the purpose of bringing him before the proper magistrate or court, may place and detain such prisoner in any county jail of this state, for one night or longer, as the occasion may require, so as to answer the purposes of the arrest and custody.

SEC. 293. [Officer may break doors and windows.]—In executing a warrant for the arrest of a person charged with an offense, or a search warrant, the officer may break open any outer or inner door or window of a dwelling-house or other building, if, after notice of his office and purpose, he be refused admittance. But this section is not intended to authorize any officer executing a search warrant to enter any house or building not described in the warrant.

SEC. 294. [Arrested person brought before magistrate.]—Whenever any person has been arrested under a warrant as provided in the preceding sections of this chapter, it shall be the duty of the officer making the arrest to take the person so arrested before the proper magistrate; and the warrant by virtue of which the arrest was made, with a proper return endorsed thereon and signed by the officer, shall be delivered to such magistrate.

SEC. 295. [Arrest on view.]—When any offense is committed in view of any magistrate, he may, by verbal direction to any sheriff or constable or marshal or other proper officer, or, if no such officer be present, then to any citizen, cause the offender to be arrested and kept in custody for the space of one hour, unless he shall sooner be taken from such custody by virtue of a warrant issued on complaint under oath; but a person so arrested shall not be confined in jail nor put upon trial until arrested by virtue of such a warrant.

SEC. 296. [Rewards by county.]—The county commissioners of the several counties in this state are hereby authorized, when they deem the same expedient, to offer such rewards as in their judgment the nature of the case may require, for the detection or apprehension of any person charged with or convicted of a felony, and pay the same on the conviction of such person, together with all necessary expenses not otherwise provided for by law, incurred in making such detection or apprehension, out of the county treasury.

SEC. 296 a. [Rewards for capture of horse thieves.]—That the sheriffs of the several counties within this state are hereby authorized to offer and pay a reward not exceeding the sum of fifty dollars for the capture and conviction of any person charged with stealing a horse or horses within their respective counties, and the county commissioners of such counties shall audit the accounts of such sheriffs for money paid out as such rewards, together with all necessary expenses incurred in the apprehension and detention of any such horse thief, and pay the same out of the treasury of their county. [1879, 181.]

CHAPTER XXVIII.—ADJOURNMENT AND EXAMINATION BEFORE A MAGISTRATE.

SEC. 297. [Commitment pending adjournment.]—If it shall become necessary for any just cause to adjourn the examination of any person brought before the magistrate as set forth in the preceding chapter, it shall be lawful for such magistrate to adjourn such examination and commit such person, from time to time, for safe keeping, to the jail of the county, until the cause of delay be removed, and no longer; Provided, The whole time of such confinement in the jail shall not exceed four days; Provided, also, That the officer having in custody any such person, may, by the written order of the magistrate, detain such person in custody in some secure and convenient place other than the jail, to be designated by said magistrate in his order, not exceeding four days. And it shall be the duty of the officer in whose custody any person shall be detained as above, to provide for the sustenance of such prisoner while in custody.

SEC. 298. [Same—Recognizance.]—When it shall become necessary to adjourn any trial according to the provisions of the preceding section, the person accused may enter into a recognizance before the magistrate, with good and sufficient security to be approved by the magistrate, in such amount as he shall deem reasonable, conditioned for the appearance of such person before said magistrate, at a place and day and hour in said recognizance specified; Provided, That such adjournment shall not be for a longer time than twenty days without the consent of the accused; And provided, That no person shall be let to bail who is charged with an offense not bailable under the constitution of this state.

SEC. 299. [Recognizance forfeited.]—If any person recognized, agreeably to the last preceding section, shall fail to appear at the time appointed, or shall otherwise fail to comply with the conditions of the recognizance, the magistrate shall declare the same forfeited, and transmit a transcript of his proceeding in the case, together with the recognizance, to the clerk of the proper court; and such proceedings shall be had thereon by said court as shall be deemed expedient, and as if the recognizance had been taken in said court.

SEC. 300. [Charge exceeding jurisdiction.]—When the complaint is for a felony, or for an offense for which the fine can exceed one hundred dollars, or the imprisonment can exceed three months, upon the accused being brought before the magistrate he shall proceed as soon as may be, in presence of the accused, to inquire into the complaint.

SEC. 301. [Witnesses—Separate examination.]—The magistrate, if requested, or if he sees good cause therefor, shall order that the witnesses on both sides shall be examined each one separate from all the others, and that the witnesses for may be kept separate from the witnesses against the accused during the examination.

SEC. 302. [Accused discharged.].—If, upon the whole examination, it appears that there has been no offense committed, or that there is not probable cause for holding the prisoner to answer the offense, he shall be discharged.

SEC. 303. [Recognizance of witness.].—If it shall appear that an offense has been committed, and there is probable cause to believe the prisoner guilty, the magistrate shall bind by recognizance such witnesses against the prisoner as he shall deem necessary, to appear and testify before the court having cognizance of the offense, on the first day of the next term thereof, and not to depart from such court without leave. If the court is in session, they shall be recognized to appear forthwith, but no recognizance requiring such witnesses to appear at the next term shall be invalid from the fact that the court is in session.

SEC. 304. [Same.].—When the magistrate is satisfied that there is reason to believe that any such witness will not perform the condition of his own recognizance, he may, when the offense charged is a felony, order him to recognize with sufficient securities. Any person may recognize for a married woman or a minor to appear as a witness, or the magistrate may take the recognizance of either in a sum not exceeding one hundred dollars, which shall be valid notwithstanding the disability of coverture or minority.

SEC. 305. [Same—Refusal.].—If any witness so required to enter into a recognizance refuse to comply with such order, the magistrate shall commit him or her to jail until he or she comply with such order or be otherwise discharged according to law.

SEC. 306. [Docket—Transcript.].—It shall be the duty of every magistrate in criminal proceedings to keep a docket thereof as in civil cases. All recognizances taken under this title, together with a transcript of the proceedings, where the defendant is held to answer, shall be certified and returned forthwith to the clerk of the court at which the prisoner is to appear. The transcript shall contain an accurate bill of all the costs that have accrued, and the items composing the same.

SEC. 307. [Recognizance of defendant.].—If the offense for which the prisoner is held to answer be bailable, and the prisoner offer sufficient bail, a recognizance shall be taken for his appearance to answer the charge before the court in which the same is cognizable on the first day of the next term thereof, and not to depart such court without leave, and thereupon he shall be discharged.

SEC. 308. [Same—Court in session.].—If the court to which the accused is recognized to appear is in session, the condition of the recognizance shall be that he shall appear at such court forthwith, and not depart therefrom without leave; but no recognizance requiring the accused to appear at the next term shall be rendered invalid by the fact that the court is in session.

SEC. 309. [Crime higher than charged.].—If on the examination it shall appear to the magistrate that the accused has committed an offense of a higher grade than that charged, he may be held to answer therefor.

SEC. 310. [Commitment—Want of bail.].—If the offense be not bailable, or sufficient bail be not offered, the prisoner shall be committed to the jail of the county in which the same is to be tried, there to remain until he be discharged by due course of law.

SEC. 311. [Mittimus.].—It shall be the duty of the magistrate who shall commit any offender to jail, either because such offender is unable to procure bail for his appearance at court, or because the offense is not by law bailable, to write on the warrant of commitment the names and residences of the principal witnesses by whom the crime was proved before said magistrate.

SEC. 302. Cited 10 Neb. 80.

SEC. 307. A recognizance requiring a person who has been charged with the commission of a felony and held to bail by an examining magistrate to appear before the district court on a day certain, to answer the charge preferred against him, is sufficient. If the date fixed in the recognizance for the appearance of the accused is in fact the first day of the next term of said court. 17 Neb. 76.

SEC. 312. [Copy mittimus—List of witnesses.]—Whenever any prisoner in the custody of the sheriff or jailer of any county, on any warrant of commitment as aforesaid, shall demand of said sheriff or jailer a copy of said warrant of commitment, said sheriff or jailer shall endorse on said copy the names of the witnesses written thereon as aforesaid; and any magistrate who shall neglect to write the name or names of the witnesses aforesaid on the warrant of commitment, or any sheriff or jailer who shall neglect to indorse the name of said witness or witnesses on a copy of said commitment, each magistrate, sheriff, or jailer offending in the premises shall be fined in the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by action of debt, in the name and for the use of any person who shall sue for the same in any court of record.

SEC. 313. [Pleading guilty of misdemeanor before county judge.]—When the complaint is for a misdemeanor only, of any grade of punishment whatever, if the cause is pending before the probate judge of the county, before whom the defendant enters a plea of guilty to the complaint, it shall be lawful for such judge, in his discretion, to render judgment of fine or imprisonment, or both, according to the law of the case, and pass sentence accordingly, and enforce the same according to law.

CHAPTER XXIX.—TRIAL OF MINOR OFFENSES BEFORE MAGISTRATES

SEC. 314. [Jurisdiction.]—Magistrates shall have jurisdiction concurrent with the district court and co-extensive with their respective counties, in all cases of misdemeanor in which the fine cannot exceed one hundred dollars and the imprisonment cannot exceed three months, except as otherwise provided by law.

SEC. 315. [Plea.]—In all cases where the magistrate shall have jurisdiction to try and sentence or finally discharge, as described in the preceding section, the charge made against the defendant shall be distinctly read to him, and he shall be required to plead thereto, which plea the magistrate shall enter upon his docket. If the defendant refuse to plead, the magistrate shall enter the fact, with a plea of "not guilty" in his behalf.

SEC. 316. [Jury—Waiver.]—After the plea of the defendant has been entered, if he plead not guilty, the defendant, or complainant, or the district attorney, if he be present, may demand a jury; but if no jury be demanded, the cause may be tried by the magistrate.

SEC. 317. [Jury, how drawn.]—If a jury be demanded, the magistrate shall make a list in writing of the names of eighteen inhabitants of the county, qualified to serve as jurors in courts of record, from which list the defendant and the district attorney, or complainant, shall strike out names alternately until each shall have struck six names, the defendant striking out the first name.

SEC. 318. [Same—By magistrate.]—In case the defendant or the district attorney or complainant shall neglect to strike out such names, the magistrate shall proceed to strike out the names for either or both the parties so neglecting, and the magistrate shall issue a venire directed to the sheriff or any constable of the county, requiring him to summons the six persons whose names shall remain upon the list to appear before such magistrate at a time and place to be named therein, to serve as jurors for the trial of such cause.

SEC. 319. [Jury less than six.]—If the defendant consent, the cause may be tried before a jury of any number of men more than two and less than six, to be selected from a list of double the number so agreed upon, of qualified inhabitants of the county, as provided in the last preceding section, each party striking out names from the list alternately, until the number so agreed upon shall remain, the defendant striking out the first name.

SEC. 320. [Service of venire—Talesmen—New jury.]—The venire shall be served personally upon the jurors, and returned within the time therein specified. If any of the jurors named in such venire shall fail to attend in pursuance thereof, or if there shall be any legal objection to any that shall appear, the magistrate shall supply the deficiency by directing the sheriff or constable, or other ministerial officer who may be present, and disinterested, to summon any of the bystanders, or others who may be competent, and against whom no cause of challenge shall appear, to act as jurors in the cause. The magistrate may compel any delinquent juror to attend by attachment. If the officer to whom the venire for a jury shall have been delivered, shall fail to return the same as thereby required, or if the jury shall fail to agree, and be discharged by the magistrate, a new jury shall be selected and summoned in the same manner, and the same proceedings shall thereupon be had as herein prescribed in respect to the first jury, unless the defendant shall consent to be tried by the magistrate, in which case the magistrate shall proceed to try the case as if no jury had been demanded.

SEC. 321. [Jurors challenged.—In all trials for misdemeanors before a magistrate either party may challenge jurors for cause to the same extent as in trials for like offenses in the district court.

SEC. 322. [Costs of prosecution.—Whenever the defendant shall be tried under the provisions of this chapter, and found guilty either by the magistrate or jury, or shall enter a plea of guilty, the court shall render judgment thereon, assessing such punishment either by fine or imprisonment, or both, as the nature of the case may require, and the law permit; in such case the defendant shall, in addition to the fine or imprisonment, be adjudged to pay the costs, and to be committed to the county jail until the judgment be complied with. Whenever the defendant, tried under the provisions of this chapter, shall be acquitted, he shall be immediately discharged, and if the magistrate or jury trying the case shall state in the finding that the complaint was malicious or without probable cause, the magistrate shall enter judgment against the complainant for all costs that shall have accrued in the proceedings had upon such complaint, and shall commit such complainant to jail until such costs be paid, unless he shall execute a bond to the people of the state of Nebraska in double the amount thereof, with security satisfactory to the justice, that he will pay such judgment within thirty days after the date of its rendition.

SEC. 323. [Executions.—The judgment of the magistrate shall be carried into effect as provided in chapter forty-nine. Prosecutions under this twenty-ninth chapter shall be governed by the provisions of this criminal code, so far as the same are in their nature applicable.

SEC. 324. [Appeal.—The defendant shall have the right of appeal from any judgment of a magistrate imposing fine or imprisonment, or both, under this chapter, to the district court of the county, which appeal shall be taken immediately upon the rendition of such judgment, and shall stay all further proceedings upon such judgment. No appeal shall be granted or proceedings stayed unless the appellant shall within twenty-four hours after the rendition of such judgment, enter into a recognizance to the people of the state of Nebraska in a sum not less than one hundred dollars, and with sureties to be fixed and approved by the magistrate before whom said proceedings were had, conditioned for his appearance at the district court of the county at the next term thereof, to answer the complaint against him. The magistrate from whose judgment the appeal is taken shall make return of the proceedings had before him, and shall certify the complaint and warrant, together with all recognizances, to said district court, on or before the first day of the term thereof next thereafter to be holden in the county, and he may also require the complainant and witnesses to enter into recognizances, with or without security, as he may deem best, to appear at said court at the time last aforesaid, and abide the order of said court, and in case of refusal to enter into such recognizance, he may enforce the same by imprisonment, if necessary.

SEC. 325. [Same—Proceedings in district court.—The district court shall hear and determine any cause under this act, brought by appeal from a magistrate, upon the original complaint, unless such complaint shall be found insufficient or defective, in which event the court, at any stage of the proceedings, shall order a new complaint to be filed therein, and the case shall proceed thereon the same in all respects as if the original complaint had not been set aside.

SEC. 326. [Conviction—Judgment.—If, upon a trial in the district court, the defendant shall be convicted, the court shall assess the punishment and judgment shall be rendered against him accordingly, and for the costs before the magistrate, also for the costs in such court, and that he be committed to the county jail until the judgment be complied with.

SEC. 327. [Trial changed to examination.—If in the progress of any trial before a magistrate, under the provisions of this chapter, it shall appear that the defendant ought to be put upon his trial for an offense not cognizable before a magistrate, the magistrate shall immediately stop all further proceedings before him, and proceed as in other criminal cases, exclusively cognizable before the district court.

SEC. 328. [Conviction certified to county clerk.—Whenever conviction shall be had before a magistrate under this chapter, he shall make a certificate of such conviction, under his hand, in which it shall be sufficient briefly to state the offense charged, and the conviction and judgment thereon; and if any fine was assessed or collected, the amount so assessed and collected, with the date at which the same was so done. Such certificate shall be filed by the magistrate within twenty days after such conviction, in the office of the county clerk of the county in which such conviction was had; and the original, or a duly certified copy thereof, shall be evidence in all the courts of this state, of the facts therein contained.

SEC. 329. [District attorney—Prosecutor.—The district attorney, if present in any county in his district, in which any trial for misdemeanor is about to take place, or is in progress under this chapter, shall, if not actually engaged in any other business connected with his said office, appear and prosecute in such trial, if requested by the magistrate or the complainant.

CHAPTER XXX.—FUGITIVES TO AND FROM OTHER STATES AND COUNTRIES.

SEC. 330. [Procedure—Resident fugitives.—When an affidavit shall be filed before any judge of a district court, or any judge of probate or police court, or any justice of the peace, within this state, setting forth that any person charged with the commission of any criminal offense against the laws of any other state or any of the territories of the United States, and which, if the act had been committed in this state, would, by the laws thereof, have been a crime, is at the time of filing such affidavit within the county where the same may be filed, it shall be lawful, and it is hereby made the duty of such judge or justice of the peace to issue his warrant, directed to the sheriff or any constable of the county, commanding him forthwith to arrest and bring before the officer issuing such writ the person so charged.

SEC. 331. [Same—Examination.—When the person arrested, as provided in the last preceding section, shall be brought before the officer issuing such warrant, it shall be lawful, and it is hereby made the duty of such officer to hear and examine such charge, and upon proof by him adjudged to be sufficient, to commit such person to the jail of the county in which such examination shall take place, or cause such person to be delivered to some suitable person, to be removed to the proper place of prosecution.

SEC. 332. [Same—Notice.—Whenever any person is committed to jail by any judge or justice of the peace, by either of the provisions of the preceding section, it shall be the duty of such judge or justice of the peace forthwith to give notice, by letter or otherwise, to the sheriff of the county in which such offense shall have been committed,

SEC. 330. The charge in foreign state or territory must be to some court, magistrate, or officer in the form of an indictment, complaint, or other accusation known to the laws of such state or territory, and a complaint made before a magistrate in this state which fails to allege that such charge is pending against the accused in the state where it is alleged the offense was committed, will not confer jurisdiction on such magistrate. 31 Feb. 557. Complaint should allege charge is pending in state where committed. 37 Feb. 111.

or to the person injured by such offense, or to the proper authorized agent or officer; and no person so committed shall be delayed longer in jail than necessary to allow a reasonable time to the person so notified, after he shall have received such notice, to apply for and obtain the proper requisition for the person so committed.

SEC. 333. [Demand by executive of another state.]—Whenever a demand is made upon the governor of this state by the executive of any other state or territory, in any case authorized by the constitution and laws of the United States, for the delivery of any person charged in such state or territory with any crime, if such person is not held in custody or under bail to answer for any offense against the laws of the United States or of this state, he shall issue his warrant under the seal of the state, authorizing the agent who makes the demand, either forthwith or at such time as may be designated in the warrant, to take and transport such person to the line of this state, at the expense of such agent, and may also by such warrant require all peace officers to afford needful assistance in the execution thereof.

SEC. 334. [Agents to foreign governments.]—The governor of this state may, in any case authorized by the constitution and laws of the United States, appoint agents to demand of the executive authority of any foreign government, any fugitive from justice, charged with treason or felony, and the accounts of the agents appointed must be audited by the auditor, and paid out of the state funds.

CHAPTER XXXI.—SEARCH WARRANTS.

SEC. 335. [Warrants issued.]—It shall be lawful for any magistrate to issue warrants to search any house or place: First—For property stolen, embezzled, or obtained under false pretenses or tokens. Second—For forged or counterfeit coins, stamps, labels, trade marks, bank bills, or other instruments in writing, or for counterfeiting instruments. Third—For books, pamphlets, ballads, or printed papers containing obscene language, prints, pictures, or descriptions, manifestly tending to corrupt the morals of youth, and intended to be sold or circulated. Fourth—For any gaming table, establishment, device, or apparatus kept or exhibited for the purpose of unlawfully gaming, and for any money or personal property won by unlawfully gaming. Fifth—For the body of any deceased person alleged to have been unlawfully removed from its sepulchre or grave.

SEC. 336. [Complaint.]—No warrant for search, as described in the preceding section, shall be issued until a complaint in writing, upon oath, has been filed with the magistrate; such complaint shall be signed by the complainant, and particularly describe the house or place to be searched, the person to be seized, and the things to be searched for, and allege substantially the offense in relation thereto, and that the complainant verily believes that such things are there concealed.

SEC. 337. [Contents.]—The warrant for search shall be directed to the proper officer, and shall recite, by reference to the complaint annexed, or otherwise, all the material facts alleged in the complaint, and particularly describe the thing for which the search is to be made, the house or place to be searched, and the person to be seized. It shall command the officer to search such house or place in the day time, for the property, or other things, and if found, to seize and bring the same, together with the person to be seized, before the magistrate, or some other magistrate of the county having cognizance of the same.

SEC. 338. [At night.]—If the magistrate is satisfied that there is urgent necessity therefor, the warrant may order the searching of such house or place in the night time.

SEC. 339. [Disposition of property seized.]—When the warrant is executed by the seizure of the property or things described therein, the same shall be safely kept by the magistrate to be used as evidence.

SEC. 340. [Same—After examination.]—If upon the examination, the magistrate shall be satisfied that the offense set forth in the complaint, in reference to the property, or other thing, seized by the officer, has been committed, it shall be his duty either to keep possession of such property, or other things, or deliver them to the sheriff of the proper county, there to remain until the case against the offender has been disposed of, or the claimant's right has been otherwise ascertained.

SEC. 341. [Same after conviction.].—Upon the conviction of the offender, the property stolen, embezzled, or obtained under false pretenses, shall be returned to its owner, and the other things specified shall be burnt or otherwise destroyed, under the direction of the court; but if the alleged offender shall be discharged, either before the magistrate or the court before which he is recognized to appear, the property, or other things, shall be returned to the person in whose possession they were found.

SEC. 342. [Property seized liable—Fines, etc.].—When the person in whose possession money, or other property won at gambling, has been found, shall be convicted of any of the offenses of gambling, or winning of money, or property, by any unlawful gaming, such money, or other property, shall be liable to pay any judgment which may be rendered against such person.

SEC. 343. [Counterfeit coin or instruments.].—Whenever any counterfeit coin or instrument for the purpose of making or gilding counterfeit coin shall be taken from the convicts, or persons indicted for counterfeiting, or having the same in possession with criminal intent, and shall remain in the keeping of any county officers, it shall be lawful for the commissioners of the proper county to melt the said counterfeit coin into a mass, or cast the same into other form than that of coin, and sell the same, together with the instruments aforesaid, and pay the avails into the treasury of such county; Provided, That said instruments be so mutilated and broken as to prevent their being applied to the purpose of counterfeiting.

SEC. 344. [Unclaimed stolen property.].—When any property stolen, embezzled, or obtained under false pretenses, shall, after the trial of the person charged with the larceny, embezzlement, or false obtaining thereof, remain in the possession of any officer, unclaimed by the owner, for the space of three months, the same shall, after public notice in a newspaper printed in the county, be sold at auction to the highest bidder, under the direction of the prosecuting attorney, and the avails thereof paid over to the treasury of the county for the use of the common schools therein.

SEC. 345. [Same.].—In case any property stolen, embezzled, or obtained under false pretenses shall remain in the custody of any officer for one year unclaimed, as aforesaid, and the thief shall not within that time be taken, or if taken shall escape, it shall be disposed of in like manner, and for like purposes, as indicated in the preceding section.

CHAPTER XXXII.—DISCHARGE ON BAIL BY JUDGES.

SEC. 346. [When and how.].—When any person charged with the commission of any bailable offense shall be confined in jail, whether committed by warrant under the hand and seal of any judge or magistrate, or by the sheriff or coroner, under any warrant upon indictment found, it shall be lawful for any judge of the supreme court, judge of the district court within his district, or probate judge within his county, or police judge within the city of his jurisdiction, to admit such person to bail, by recognizing such person in such sum and with such securities as to such judge shall seem proper, conditioned for his appearance before the proper court, to answer the offense wherewith he may be charged.

SEC. 347. [Warrant.].—For taking such bail, the judge may, by his special warrant, under his hand and seal, require the sheriff or jailer to bring such accused before him, at the court house of the proper county, at such time as in such warrant the judge may direct.

SEC. 348. [Amount of bail.].—In fixing the amount of bail, the judge admitting to the same shall be governed in the amount and quality of bail required by the direction of the district court in all cases where such court shall have made any order or direction in that behalf.

SEC. 349. [Return of recognizance.].—In all cases when a judge or examining court shall recognize a prisoner under the provisions of the four preceding sections, he shall forthwith deposit with the clerk of the proper court the recognizance so taken, and also a warrant directed to the jailer requiring him to discharge the prisoner.

CHAPTER XXXIII.—SURRENDER BY SURETY.

SEC. 350. [In term time.].—When any person who is surety in a recognizance for the appearance of any defendant before any court in this state desires to surrender the defendant, he shall, by delivering the said defendant in open court, be discharged from any further responsibility on said recognizance; and the said defendant shall be committed by the court to the jail of the county, unless he shall give a new recognizance, with good and sufficient sureties, in such amount as the court may determine, conditioned as the original recognizance.

SEC. 351. [At any time.].—In all cases of bail for the appearance of any person or persons charged with any criminal offense, the security or securities of such person or persons may, at any time before judgment is rendered upon scire facias to show cause why execution should not issue against such security or securities, seize and surrender such person or persons charged as aforesaid, to the sheriff of the county wherein the recognizance shall be taken.

SEC. 352. [Duty of sheriff.].—And it shall be the duty of such sheriff, on such surrender and the delivery to him of a certified copy of the recognizance by which such security or securities are bound, to take such person or persons so charged as aforesaid into custody, and by writing acknowledge such surrender, and thereupon the security or securities shall be discharged from any such recognizance, upon payment of all costs occasioned thereby.

CHAPTER XXXIV.—HABEAS CORPUS.

SEC. 353. [Writ, when allowed.].—If any person, except persons convicted of some crime or offense for which they stand committed, or persons committed for treason or felony, the punishment whereof is capital, plainly and specially expressed in the warrant of commitment, now is or shall be confined in any jail of this state, or shall be unlawfully deprived of his or her liberty, and shall make application either by him or herself, or by any person on his or her behalf, to any one of the judges of the district court, or to any probate judge, and does at the same time produce to such judge a copy of the commitment or cause of detention of such person, or if the person so imprisoned or detained is imprisoned or detained without any legal authority, upon making the same appear to such judge, by oath or affirmation, it shall be his duty forthwith to allow a writ of habeas corpus, which writ shall be issued forthwith by the clerk of the district court, or by the probate judge, as the case may require, under the seal of the court whereof the person allowing such writ is judge, directed to the proper officer, person, or persons who detains such prisoner.

SEC. 354. [Return of writ.].—It shall be the duty of the officer or person to

If mittimus correctly recites judgment, but commands jailor to receive defendant into cell of jail of county, and there is no allegation in petition for habeas corpus that he is imprisoned in a cell, or otherwise than prisoners are ordinarily confined, a writ of habeas corpus will not issue, the confinement not being shown to be illegal. 19 Neb. 274. whom such writ shall be directed to convey the person or persons so imprisoned or detained and named in such writ before the judge allowing the same, or, in case of his absence or disability, before some other judge of the same court, on the day specified in such writ, and shall make due return of said writ, together with the day and cause of the caption and detention of such person, according to the command thereof.

SEC. 355. [Witnesses subpoenaed.].—Whenever a habeas corpus shall be issued to bring the body of any prisoner committed as aforesaid, unless the court or judge issuing the same shall deem it wholly unnecessary and useless, the said court or judge shall issue a subpoena to the sheriff of the county where said person shall be confined, commanding him to summon the witness or witnesses therein named to appear before such judge or court, at the time and place when and where such habeas corpus shall be returnable; it shall be the duty of such sheriff to serve said subpoena, if it be possible, in time to enable such witness or witnesses to attend.

SEC. 356. [Duty of witnesses.].—It shall be the duty of the witness or witnesses thus served with said subpoena to attend and give evidence before the judge or court issuing the same, on pain of being guilty of a contempt, and shall be proceeded against accordingly by said judge or court.

SEC. 357. [Trial.].—On the hearing of any habeas corpus issued as aforesaid, it shall be the duty of the judge or court who shall hear the same to examine the witness or witnesses aforesaid, and such other witnesses as the prisoner may request, touching any offense mentioned in the warrant of commitment as aforesaid, whether said offense be technically set out in said commitment or not, and upon which hearing said judge or court may either recommit, bail, or discharge, according to the facts of the case.

SEC. 358. [Trial—Bail—Certificate.].—When the said judge shall have examined into the cause of the caption and detention of the person so brought before him, and shall be satisfied that the person is unlawfully imprisoned or detained, he shall forthwith discharge such prisoner from said confinement. And in case the person or persons applying for such writ shall be confined or detained in a legal manner, on a charge of having committed any crime or offense, the said judge shall, at his discretion, commit, discharge, or let to bail such person or persons, and if the said judge shall deem the offense bailable, on the principles of law, he shall cause the person charged as aforesaid to enter into recognizance, with one or more sufficient securities, in such sum as the judge shall think reasonable, the circumstances of the prisoner and the nature of the offense charged considered, conditioned for his appearance at the next court where the offense is cognizable; and said judge shall certify his proceedings, together with the recognizance, forthwith, to the proper court; and if the person or persons charged as aforesaid shall fail to enter into such recognizance, he or they shall be committed to prison by such judge.

SEC. 359. [Refusal to obey writ—Penalty.].—If any person to whom such writ of habeas corpus shall be directed as aforesaid shall neglect or refuse to obey or make return of the same according to the command thereof, or shall make a false return of said writ, or upon demand made by the prisoner, or any person in his or her behalf, shall refuse to deliver to the person commanding, within six hours after the demand thereof, a true copy of the warrant, or commitment, or detainer of such prisoner, every person so offending shall, for the first offense, forfeit to the party aggrieved the sum of two hundred dollars, and for the second offense the sum of four hundred dollars, and shall, if an officer, be incapable to hold his said office.

SEC. 360. [Clerk refusing to issue writ.].—If any clerk of the district court shall refuse to issue such writ, after allowance and demand made as aforesaid, he shall forfeit to the party aggrieved the sum of five hundred dollars.

SEC. 361. [Persons set at large not re-imprisoned.].—Any person who shall be set at large upon any habeas corpus shall not be again imprisoned for the same offense, unless by the legal order or process of the court wherein he or she shall be bound by recognizance to appear, or other court having jurisdiction of the cause or offense. And if any person shall, knowingly, contrary to this chapter, recommit or imprison, or cause to be recommitted or imprisoned for the same offense or pretended offense, any person so set at large, or shall knowingly aid or assist therein, he shall forfeit to the party aggrieved five hundred dollars, any colorable pretense or variation in the warrant or commitment notwithstanding.

SEC. 362. [Prisoners removed from custody of one officer.]—If any person of this state shall be committed to prison, or be in custody of any officer for any criminal matter, such prisoner shall not be removed therefrom into the custody of any other officer, unless by legal process, or when the prisoner shall be delivered to some inferior officer to carry to jail, or shall, by order of the proper court, be removed from one place to another within the state, for trial, or in case of fire, infection, or other necessity; and if any person, after such commitment, shall make out or sign, or countersign, any warrant for such removal, contrary to this chapter, he or she shall, for every such offense, forfeit to the party aggrieved five hundred dollars.

SEC. 363. [Accessories to capital felonies.]—When any person shall appear to be committed by any judge or magistrate, and charged as accessory before the fact to any felony, the punishment whereof is capital, which felony shall be plainly and specially charged in the warrant of commitment, such person shall not be removed or bailed by virtue of this chapter, or in any other manner than as if this chapter had not been enacted.

SEC. 364. [Expatriation.]—No citizen of this state, being an inhabitant or resident of the same, shall be sent a prisoner to any place whatever out of the state, for any crime or offense committed within this state, except in cases specially authorized by law, and every such imprisonment is hereby declared to be illegal. And if any such citizen shall be so imprisoned, he may for every such imprisonment maintain an action of false imprisonment in any court having cognizance thereof, against the person or persons by whom he shall be so imprisoned or transported contrary to law, and against any person who shall contrive, write, seal, sign, or countersign any writing for such imprisonment or transportation, or shall be aiding and assisting in the same, or any of them, and shall recover triple costs besides damages, which damages so to be given shall not be less than five hundred dollars; and every person knowingly concerned in any manner as aforesaid, in such illegal imprisonment or transportation, contrary to this chapter, and being thereof lawfully convicted, shall be disabled from thenceforth to bear any office of trust or profit within this state; Provided, That if any citizen of this state, or any person or persons at any time resident in the same, shall have committed, or shall be charged with having committed, any treason, felony, or misdemeanor, in any other part of the United States or territories where he or she ought to be tried for such offense, he, she, or they may be sent to the state or territory having jurisdiction of the offense.

SEC. 365. [Penalties recovered by civil action.]—The penalties in this chapter made recoverable shall be recovered by the party aggrieved, his or her executors or administrators, by civil action in any court having cognizance of the same; Provided, That no person shall be sued or molested for any offense against this chapter, unless within two years after the time when such offense shall have been committed; but if the party aggrieved shall then be in prison, then within two years after the decease of the person imprisoned, or his or her delivery out of prison. And in every such action it shall be lawful for the defendant to plead the general issue, and give the special matter in evidence.

SEC. 366. [Informalities no ground for discharge.]—If any person shall be committed to prison, or be in custody of any officer for any criminal matter, by virtue of any warrant or commitment of any magistrate of this state having jurisdiction of such criminal matter, such person shall not be discharged from such imprisonment or custody by reason of any informality or defect of such warrant or commitment; Provided, Such warrant or commitment shall show substantially a criminal matter for which such magistrate had jurisdiction so to arrest or commit.

SEC. 367. [Form of writ—Prisoner not in custody of officer.]—In case of confinement, imprisonment, or detention by any person not a sheriff, deputy sheriff, coroner, jailer, constable, or marshal of this state, nor a marshal or other like officer of the courts of the United States, the writ of habeas corpus shall be in the form following:

*THE STATE OF NEBRASKA, } ss.
COUNTY. }

The state of Nebraska to the sheriff of said County, greeting:

We command you, that the body of _____, of _____, by _____, of _____ imprisoned and restrained of his liberty, as it is said, you take and have before _____, a judge of our _____ court _____ or, in case of his absence or disability, before some other judge of the same court as _____, forthwith to do and receive what our said judge shall then and there consider _____ concerning him in his behalf, and summon the said _____ then and there to appear before our said judge to show the cause of the taking and detaining the said _____; and have you then this writ, with your doings thereon.

Witness _____, at _____, this _____ day of _____, in the year _____.
[SEAL.] _____

SEC. 368. [Writ—Service and return.]—Such writ may be served in any county by any sheriff of the same or of any other county. When such writ shall be issued by a court in session, if such court shall have adjourned when the same is returned it shall be returned before any judge of the same court, and if such writ is returned before one judge at a time when the court is in session, he may adjourn the case in the court, there to be heard and determined.

SEC. 369. [Person having prisoner, how designated.]—The person having the custody of the prisoner may, in all writs of habeas corpus issued under this chapter, be designated by his name of office, if he have any, or by his own name; or, if both such names are unknown or uncertain, he may be described by an assumed appellation, and any person who is served with the writ shall be deemed the person intended thereby.

SEC. 370. [Prisoner, how designated.]—The person to be produced shall be designated by his name, if known, and if that is unknown or uncertain, he may be described in any other way so as to make known who is intended.

SEC. 371. [Return of writ—Contents.]—In cases other than those provided for by the first section of this chapter, the person who makes the return shall state therein, and in the cases provided for in this chapter, the person in whose custody the prisoner shall be found, shall state in writing to the court or judge before whom the writ is returned, plainly and unequivocally: First—Whether he has or has not the party in his custody or power, or under restraint. Second—If he has the party in his custody or power, or under restraint, he shall set forth at large the authority and the true and whole cause of such imprisonment and restraint, with a copy of the writ, warrant, or other process, if any, upon which the party is detained. Third—If he has had the party in his custody or power, or under restraint, and has transferred such custody or restraint to another, he shall state particularly to whom, at what time, for what cause and by what authority such transfer was made.

SEC. 372. [Return, signed and sworn to.]—The return or statement shall be signed by the person making it, and it shall be sworn to by him, unless he is a public officer, and shall make the return in his official capacity.

SEC. 373. [Return as evidence—Costs.]—Upon the return of any writ of habeas corpus, issued as aforesaid, if it shall appear that the person detained or imprisoned is in custody, under any warrant of commitment in pursuance of the law, the return shall be considered as prima facie evidence of the cause of detention; but if the person so imprisoned or detained is restrained of liberty by any alleged private authority, the return of said writ shall be considered only as a plea of the facts therein set forth, and the party claiming the custody shall be held to make proof of such facts; and upon the final disposition of any case arising upon a writ of habeas corpus, the court or judge determining the same shall make such order as to costs as the case may require.

SEC. 374. [Adjournment of cause.].—When any writ of habeas corpus shall have been allowed, the court or judge to which the same shall be returned, or into which it shall be adjourned, shall, for good cause shown, continue the said cause, and shall make order for the safe keeping of the person imprisoned, or detain him, as the nature of the case may require.

SEC. 375. [Record—Error.].—The proceedings upon any writ of habeas corpus shall be recorded by the clerks and judges respectively, and may be reviewed, and writs of error and certiorari may issue as in other cases now provided by law.

SEC. 376. [Fees, payment, etc.].—The probate judges of the several counties of this state shall be allowed the sum of two dollars for every allowance of the writ of habeas corpus, and the hearing and determining of the case upon the return of such writ, which sum, together with the fees of the clerk, sheriff, and witnesses in the case, shall be taxed by such probate judge on his return of his proceedings on such writ, and the same, when the person brought before such judge on such writ was in custody by virtue of the proceedings in any case in which such person is charged or attempted to be charged with the commission of any criminal offense, and when such person shall either be held to bail, or shall be remanded to custody by such judge, shall be taxed and collected as part of the original cost in such case; but when such person shall be wholly discharged by such judge, such costs shall be taxed to the state, and paid out of the county treasury of the proper county, upon the order of the county commissioners; Provided, That no person or officer shall have the right to demand the payment in advance of any fees which such person or officer may be entitled to by virtue of such proceedings on habeas corpus, when such writ shall have been issued or demanded for the discharge from custody of any person confined under color of proceedings in any criminal case.

CHAPTER XXXV.—CUSTODY OF PRISONERS.

SEC. 377. [Insecure jail.].—Whenever it shall be lawful and necessary to confine any prisoner in custody previous to conviction upon a criminal accusation, or in custody for contempt, or alleged contempt of court, or upon an attachment by order of a court or judge, or otherwise in lawful custody, or upon conviction for any offense, and there shall be no secure jail in the proper county, the officer or person having him in such custody may convey him to, and confine him in the jail of any county in the state, or other secure and convenient place of confinement in the state, to be procured by such officer or person having such prisoner in custody. [Amended 1875, 17.]

SEC. 378. [Maintenance of prisoner after conviction.].—The cost of keeping and maintaining any prisoner after his conviction of any offense punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary, wherever he may be kept and confined, shall be paid by the state, according to the rate which may be established by law at the time when such services may be rendered or expenses incurred; Provided, The rate so established shall not be construed to apply to any contract which the governor may make for the confinement of convicts in the penitentiary of a state. [Amended 1875, 132.]

SEC. 379. [Same—Payment.].—The auditor of the state shall allow the account for the costs provided for in the last section, and draw warrants upon the treasury therefor, upon being furnished with a certified copy of the judgment or sentence of the court under which such convict is imprisoned, and an account, verified by affidavit, showing where and how long such convict has been kept, pursuant to such sentence.

SEC. 380. [Costs before conviction.].—The costs of keeping and maintaining any prisoner previous to his conviction of an offense punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary, or either before or after his conviction of an offense not so punishable, or when he shall not be convicted of any offense, shall be paid by the county in which the offense may be committed, or alleged to have been committed.

SEC. 381. [County attached liable for costs.]—Every county attached for judicial purposes to another county shall be liable for costs heretofore or hereafter incurred in the prosecution of any person accused of the commission of an offense within the county so attached, and for costs in any other judicial proceeding originating therein, to the same extent, and on the same conditions, as if such prosecution were carried on or such proceedings were had within such county so attached; Provided, That the fees of jurors shall be paid by the county from which they may be drawn.

SEC. 382. [Payment.]—The costs to be paid under this chapter, by any county, shall be such as may be provided by law at the time when the services may be rendered or the expenses incurred, and shall be allowed by the commissioners of the proper county, upon the certificate of the clerk of the district court that such costs have been taxed by him or by the court, and are chargeable upon such county.

CHAPTER XXXVI.—FILING AND RECORD OF RECOGNIZANCE.

SEC. 383. [Duties of clerk.]—Whenever a transcript or recognizance shall be returned to the clerk, it shall be his duty to enter the cause upon the appearance docket of the court, together with the date of the filing of the transcript and recognizance, the date and amount of the recognizance, the names of the sureties and the costs; whereupon the same shall be considered as of record in such court and proceeded on by process issuing out of said court, in the same manner as if such recognizance had been entered into before such court; and when any court, having cognizance of a crime, shall take a recognizance, it shall be a sufficient record thereof on the journal of such court to enter upon the journal the title of the cause, the crime charged, the name of the party and his sureties thereto, the amount of such recognizance, and the time therein required for the appearance of the accused, and the same shall be considered as of record in such court; but in making up the complete record in any case, when one is required to be made, all recognizance, whether returned to or taken in such court, shall be recorded in full, if required by the prosecuting attorney or the accused.

CHAPTER XXXVII.—PROCEEDINGS UPON FORFEITURE OF RECOGNIZANCE.

SEC. 384. [Forfeiture.]—When any person under recognizance in any criminal prosecution, either to appear and answer, or testify in any court, shall fail to perform the conditions of such recognizance, his default shall be recorded, and the recognizance forfeited in open court.

SEC. 385. [Prosecution.]—Whenever such recognizance shall have been forfeited as aforesaid, it shall be the duty of the prosecuting attorney of the county in which the recognizance was taken, to prosecute the same by civil action for the penalty thereof; and such action shall be governed by the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, so far as the same may be applicable.

SEC. 386. [Reduction of penalty.]—The court in which the action for the penalty of any forfeited recognizance is brought may remit or reduce any part or the whole of such penalty, and may render judgment thereon according to the circumstances of the case and the situation of the party, and upon such terms and conditions as to such court shall seem just and reasonable.

SEC. 387. [Reduction of judgment.]—Whenever any judgment shall have SEC. 388. Recognizance becomes an obligation of record when returned by justice of peace to clerk of district court and by him recorded. 18 Neb. 379. Given under Ch. 37, Part I, Comp. Stat., binding on surety, though not recorded in docket of justice of peace. 18 Neb. 540. 24 Id. 104. Where a party charged with felony secures a change of venue, and enters in recognizance for his appearance before district court of county to which venue is changed, and afterwards fails to appear, and his recognizance is forfeited, and amount thereof paid by his surety, money will belong to county in which accused was recognized to appear. 24 Neb. 390.

SEC. 384. Recognizance need not be signed; denomination of debt, etc., must be given. 16 Neb. 327. Arrest of principal after indictment, releases sureties on recognizance given before. 12 Neb. 312. Sureties jointly and judgment against one only erroneous. Id.

been rendered against the defendants for the whole or any part of the penalty of a forfeited recognizance, as aforesaid, the court rendering said judgment shall have power to emit or reduce the amount thereof, when it shall be made to appear that after the rendition thereof the accused had been arrested and surrendered to the proper court, to be tried on such charge.

SEC. 388. [Defects not to debar action, etc.]—No action brought on any recognizance shall be barred or defeated, nor shall judgment thereon be reversed by reason of any neglect or omission to note or record the default, nor by reason of any defect in the form of the recognizance if it sufficiently appear from the tenor thereof at what court the party or witness was bound to appear and that the court or officer before whom it was taken was authorized by law to require and take such recognizance.

CHAPTER XXXVIII.—DISCHARGE FROM CUSTODY OR FROM RECOGNIZANCE.

SEC. 389. [When not indicted.]—Any person held in jail charged with an indictable offense shall be discharged if he be not indicted at the term of the court at which he is held to answer, unless such person shall have been committed to jail on such charge after the rising and final report of the regular grand jury for said term, in which case the court in its discretion may discharge such person or order a new grand jury, as provided in section four hundred and five, or require such person to enter into recognizance with sufficient security for his appearance before said court to answer such charge at the next term thereof; Provided, That such person so held in jail without indictment shall not be discharged, if it appears to the satisfaction of the court that the witnesses on the part of the state have been enticed or kept away, or are detained and prevented from attending court by sickness or some inevitable accident.

SEC. 390. [Prisoner not brought to trial.]—If any person indicted for any offense and committed to prison shall not be brought to trial before the end of the second term of the court having jurisdiction of the offense, which shall be held after such indictment found, he shall be entitled to be discharged, so far as relates to the offense for which he was committed, unless the delay shall happen on application of the prisoner.

SEC. 391. [Same.]—If any person indicted for any offense, who has given bail for his appearance, shall not be brought to trial before the end of the third term of the court in which the cause is pending, held after such indictment is found, he shall be entitled to be discharged, so far as relates to such offense, unless the delay happen to be on his application, or be occasioned by the want of time to try such cause at such third term.

SEC. 392. [Exception.]—If, when application is made for the discharge of a defendant under either of the last two sections, the court shall be satisfied there is material evidence on the part of the state, which can not then be had, that reasonable exertions have been made to procure the same, and that there is just ground to believe that such evidence can be had at the succeeding term, the cause may be continued, and the prisoner remanded or admitted to bail, as the case may require.

CHAPTER XXXIX.—GRAND JURY.

SEC. 393. [Lists of cases for grand jury.]—Before the first day of each term of a court at which a grand jury shall be summoned to appear, the clerk of said court shall make out two lists, on which he shall enter the names of all persons who appear, by the returns of the magistrates, to have been either committed or bailed for an offense during the vacation of such court, the name of the magistrate who committed or bailed, and distinguishing whether such person was committed or bailed; one of these lists shall be delivered by the judge to the foreman of the grand jury, and the other, together with all the transcripts and other documents returned by the magistrates, shall be delivered to the prosecuting attorney.

SEC. 394. [Foreman.]—When the grand jury shall be impaneled in the manner provided by law, the court shall appoint one of the number foreman.

SEC. 395. [Oath of foreman.]—When the foreman shall be appointed, an oath or affirmation shall be administered to him in the following words:

“Saving yourself and fellow jurors, you, as foreman of this grand inquest, shall diligently inquire, and true presentment make, of all such matters and things as shall be given you in charge, or otherwise come to your knowledge, touching the present service. The counsel of the state, your own, and your fellows’, you shall keep secret, unless called on in a court of justice to make disclosures. You shall present no person through malice, hatred, or ill-will, nor shall you leave any person unpresented through fear, favor, or affection, or for any reward or hope thereof; but in all your presentments you shall present the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, according to the best of your skill and understanding.”

SEC. 396. [Oath of others.]—Thereupon the following oath or affirmation shall be administered to the other grand jurors:

“The same oath which A. B., your foreman, hath now taken before you on his part, you and each of you, shall well and truly observe and keep, on your respective parts.”

SEC. 397. [Charge.]—The grand jury, after being sworn, shall be charged as to their duty by the judge, who shall call their attention particularly to the obligation of secrecy which their oaths impose, and to such offenses as he is by law required to specially charge.

SEC. 398. [To retire.]—After the charge of the court, the grand jury shall retire with the officer appointed to attend to them, and shall proceed to inquire of and present all offenses whatever, committed within the limits of the county in and for which they were impaneled and sworn or affirmed.

SEC. 399. [Prosecuting attorney to attend grand jury.]—The prosecuting attorney or the assistant prosecuting attorney shall be allowed at all times to appear before the grand jury, for the purpose of giving information relative to any matter cognizable by them, or giving them advice upon any legal matter they may require, and he may interrogate witnesses before them when they or he shall deem it necessary, but no other person shall be permitted to remain in the room with said jury while they are expressing their views or giving their votes on any matter before them.

SEC. 400. [Subpoena witnesses.]—Whenever required by the grand jury, or the prosecuting attorney, the clerk of the court in which such jury is impaneled shall issue subpoenas and other process to bring witnesses to testify before such grand jury.

SEC. 401. [Witness—Oath.]—Before any witness shall be examined by the grand jury, an oath or affirmation shall be administered to him, truly to testify of such matters and things as may be lawfully inquired of him before said jury, which oath or affirmation may be administered either by the foreman of said jury or by the clerk of the proper court. [Amended 1875, 17.]

SEC. 402. [Witness refusing to answer.]—If any witness appearing before a grand jury shall refuse to answer any interrogatories during the course of his examination, the fact shall be communicated to the court in writing, in which the question refused to be answered shall be stated, together with the excuse for the refusal, if any be given by the person interrogated; and the court shall thereupon determine whether the witness is bound to answer or not, and the grand jury shall be immediately informed of the decision.

SEC. 403. [Same.]—If the court determine that the witness is bound to answer, and he persist in his refusal, he shall be brought before the court, who shall proceed in the same manner as if the witness had been interrogated and refused to answer in open court.

SEC. 404. [New jurors.]—In case of the sickness, death, discharge, or non-attendance of any grand juror, after the grand jury shall be affirmed or sworn, it shall be lawful for the court, at their discretion, to cause another to be sworn or affirmed in his stead.

SEC. 405. [New jury.]—After the discharge of the grand jury, it shall be lawful for the court, when it shall be deemed necessary, to order the sheriff to call together a new grand jury from the bystanders or neighboring citizens, of sixteen good and lawful men, having the qualifications of grand jurors, who shall be returned and sworn or affirmed, and shall proceed in the same manner in all respects as provided by law in respect to grand juries.

SEC. 406. [Secrecy.]—No grand juror or officer of the court shall disclose that an indictment has been found against any person not in custody or under bail, except by the issuing of process, until the indictment is filed and the case docketed.

SEC. 407. [Same.]—No grand juror shall be allowed to state or testify in any court in what manner he or other members of the grand jury voted on any question before them, or what opinion was expressed by any juror in relation to such question.

SEC. 408. [When bill to be preferred.]—At least twelve of the grand jurors must concur in the finding of an indictment; when so found the foreman shall endorse on such indictment the words "A true bill," and subscribe his name thereto as foreman.

SEC. 409. [Visit jail.]—The grand jury shall, once at each term of the court at which they may be in attendance, visit the county jail, examine and report its condition as required by law.

SEC. 410. [Disposition of indictments.]—Indictments found by a grand jury shall be presented by their foreman to the court, and shall be filed with the clerk, who shall endorse thereon the day of their filing, and shall enter each case upon the appearance docket, and also upon the trial docket of the term, as soon as the parties indicted have been arrested.

SEC. 411. [Assignment of causes.]—The court shall assign said indictments for trial at as early a time in such term as is practicable, and the recognizances of parties and witnesses shall, in all such causes, be taken for their appearance at the time so assigned; and in case of the continuance of any cause to the next term of the court, such recognizances shall be for the appearance of the parties and witnesses on such day thereof as the court may direct; and at the end of the term the clerk shall deliver the indictments undisposed of to the prosecuting attorney for safe keeping.

CHAPTER XL.—OF INDICTMENTS.

SEC. 412. [Defects not fatal.]—No indictment shall be deemed invalid, nor shall the trial, judgment, or other proceedings be stayed, arrested, or in any manner affected: First—By the omission of the words "with force and arms," or any words of similar import; or, Second—By omitting to charge any offense to have been contrary to a statute or statutes; or, Third—For the omission of the words, "as appears by the record," nor for omitting to state the time at which the offense was committed, in any case where time is not of the essence of the offense; nor for stating the time imperfectly;

SEC. 405. Authority of court. 9 Neb. 164. 14 Id. 538. See note to sec. 664, CIVIL CODE, ante.

SEC. 412. Describing crime; allegations necessary; should be explicit. 2 Neb. 162. 17 Id. 236. 20 Id. 263. 21 Id. 556. Indictment for manslaughter, not defective because it does not charge "malice aforethought." 12 Neb. 62. May charge different degrees when but one homicide is charged. Id. "Intent to kill" and "intent to wound" may be charged. 8 Neb. 496. And prosecutor not required to elect on which count he will proceed. "Id. Election may be enforced between two counts, charging distinct offenses. 19 Neb. 309. In an indictment for shooting with intent to kill, the word "maliciously" was omitted, but it was alleged that the act was "unlawfully, wilfully, purposely, and feloniously" done. Held, These words included the full significance of the word "maliciously." 17 Neb. 226. Failure to endorse plea of accused on back of indictment not fatal. 5 Neb. 380. Omission of word "chosen" not fatal. 1 Neb. 369. Omission of usual formal conclusion, "and the jurors aforesaid," etc., not fatal. 4 Neb. 285. [See 22 Neb. 562.] Mere surplusage does not vitiate. 1 Neb. 371. Indictment for murder by striking with a knife not bad for duplicity, by reason of stating that accused made an assault and feloniously, etc., did strike deceased and inflict a mortal wound, etc. 15 Neb. 139. Descriptive averments must be proved as alleged. 22 Neb. 676. Not necessary that testimony should prove instrument to be the identical one charged. 22 Neb. 42. Several distinct offenses of the same kind, in cases of misdemeanor, may be joined in the same indictment. 23 Neb. 584. Rule of evidence where indictment contains allegations which might have been omitted. 1 Neb. 559. Indictment not found at term when accused has been held to answer, witnesses for state not being prevented from attending, accused should be discharged. 11 Neb. 221. Act providing forfeiture and penalty may be prosecuted by indictment. 15 Neb. 474. Where distinct offenses are charged in separate counts of an indictment, jury must either return a general of not guilty, or respond to each charge in their finding. 20 Neb. 159. nor for want of a statement of the value or price of any matter or thing, or the amount of damages, or injury, in any case where the value or price, or the amount of damages, or injury, is not of the essence of the offense; nor for the want of an allegation of the time or place of any material fact, when the time and place have once been stated in the indictment; nor that dates and numbers are represented by figures; nor for an omission to allege that the grand jurors were impaneled, sworn, or charged; nor for any surplusage or repugnant allegation when there is sufficient matter alleged to indicate the crime or person charged; nor for want of the averment of any matter not necessary to be proved; nor for any other defect or imperfection which does not tend to the prejudice of the substantial rights of the defendant upon the merits.

SEC. 413. [Variances not fatal.].—Whenever on trial of any indictment for any offense there shall appear to be any variance between the statement in such indictment, and the evidence offered in proof thereof in the christian name or surname, or both christian and surname or other description whatever of any person whosoever therein named or described, or in the name or description of any matter or thing whatsoever therein named or described, such variance shall not be deemed ground for an acquittal of the defendant, unless the court before which the trial shall be had shall find that such variance is material to the merits of the case or may be prejudicial to the defendant.

SEC. 414. [Description of instrument.].—In any indictment for falsely making, altering, forging, printing, photographing, uttering, disposing of or putting of any instrument, it shall be sufficient to set forth the purport and value thereof.

SEC. 415. [Engraved plate, etc.].—In any indictment for engraving or making the whole or any part of any instrument, matter, or thing, or for using or having the unlawful custody or possession of any plate or other material upon which the whole or any part of any instrument, matter, or thing shall have been engraved or made, or for having the unlawful custody or possession of any paper upon which the whole or any part of any instrument, matter, or thing shall have been made or printed, it shall be sufficient to describe such instrument, matter, or thing by any name or designation by which the same may be usually known.

SEC. 416. [Instruments in other cases.].—That in all other cases whenever it shall be necessary to make any averment in any indictment as to any instrument, whether the same consists wholly or in part of writing, print, or figures, it shall be sufficient to describe such instrument by any name or designation by which the same may be usually known, or by the purport thereof.

SEC. 417. [Allegation—Attempt to defraud.].—It shall be sufficient in any indictment where it shall be necessary to allege an intent to defraud, to allege that the party accused did the act with intent to defraud without alleging an intent to defraud any particular person or body corporate, and on the trial of any such indictment it shall not be necessary to prove an intent to defraud any particular person, but it shall be sufficient to prove that the party accused did the act charged with the intent to defraud.

SEC. 418. [Ownership.].—When any offense shall be committed upon, or in relation to any property belonging to several partners or owners, the indictment for such offense shall be deemed sufficient if it allege such property belonged to any one or more of such partners or owners, without naming all of them.

SEC. 419. [Joinder of offenses.].—An indictment for larceny may contain also a count for obtaining the same property by false pretenses, or a count for embezzlement thereof, and for receiving or concealing the same property, knowing it to have been stolen; and the jury may convict of either offense, and may find all or any of the persons indicted guilty of either of the offenses charged in the indictment.

SEC. 420. [Money described.].—In every indictment in which it shall be necessary to make any averment as to any money, or bank bill, or notes, United States treasury notes, postal and fractional currency, or other bills, bonds, or notes, issued by lawful authority and intended to pass and circulate as money, it shall be sufficient to describe such money or bills, notes, currency, or bonds, simply as money, without specifying any particular coin, note, bill, or bond; and such allegation shall be sustained by proof of any amount of coin or of any such note, bill, currency, or bond, although the particular species of coin of which such amount was composed, or the particular nature of such note, bill, currency, or bond shall not be proved.

SEC. 421. [Election cases.]—When an offense shall be committed in relation to any election, an indictment for such offense shall be deemed sufficient if it allege that such election was authorized by law, without stating the names of the officers holding the election, or the persons voted for, or the offices to be filled at such election.

SEC. 422. [Perjury—Subornation.]—That in every indictment for perjury or subornation of perjury it shall be sufficient to set forth the substance of the offense charged upon the defendant, and before what court or authority the oath or affirmation was taken, averring such court or authority to have full power to administer the same, together with the proper averment or counts to falsify the matter or matters, wherein the perjury is assigned, without setting forth any part of any record or proceeding, in law or equity, other than as aforesaid, and without setting forth the commission or authority of the court, or other authority before whom the perjury was committed.

SEC. 423. [Receiver of stolen goods, where prosecuted.]—Whenever any person shall be liable to prosecution as the receiver of any personal property that shall have been feloniously stolen, taken, or embezzled, he may be indicted in any county where he received or had such property, notwithstanding the theft was committed in another county.

SEC. 424. [Crime committed on county line.]—When an offense shall be committed on a county line, the trial may be in either county divided by such line; and where any offense shall be committed against the person of another, and the person committing the offense shall be in one county, and the person receiving the injury shall be in another county, the trial may be had in either of said counties.

SEC. 425. [Manslaughter.]—In any indictment for manslaughter, it shall not be necessary to set forth the manner in which, or the means by which the death was caused; but it shall be sufficient to charge that the defendant did unlawfully kill and slay the deceased.

CHAPTER XLI.—ARREST AND ITS INCIDENTS AFTER INDICTMENT.

SEC. 426. [Warrant—Arrest.]—A warrant may be issued in term time or in vacation of the court, on an indictment found or presentment made in any county, and when directed to the sheriff of the county where such indictment was found, or presentment made, it shall be lawful for such officer to pursue and arrest the accused named in such warrant, in any county of this state where he may be found, and commit him to jail, or hold him to bail, as provided in this code.

SEC. 427. [Same—Non-resident.] When the party accused shall reside out of the county in which such indictment was found, it shall be lawful to issue a warrant thereon, directed to the sheriff of the county where the accused shall reside or may be found; and it shall be the duty of such officer to arrest the accused and convey him to the county from which such writ was issued, and there commit him to the jail of said county, or hold him [to bail,] as provided in the preceding section.

SEC. 428. [Recognizance in vacation.]—When any sheriff or other officer shall be charged with the execution of a warrant issued on any indictment for a misdemeanor, he shall, during the vacation of the court from which the writ issued, have authority to take the recognizance of the person so indicted, together with sufficient sureties, resident and freeholders in the county from which such writ issued, in a sum of not less than fifty nor more than five hundred dollars, conditioned for the appearance of such person on the first day of the next term of such court.

SEC. 429. [Return and filing.].—The sheriff or other officer shall return the said writ according to the command thereof, with the name of the surety or sureties, together with the recognizance taken as aforesaid; and the recognizance so taken and returned shall be filed and recorded by the clerk of the court to which the same was returned, and may be proceeded on in the same way as if such recognizance had been taken in said court during term time.

SEC. 430. [Recognizance in case of felony.].—When any person shall have been indicted for a felony, and the person so indicted shall not have been arrested or recognized to appear before the court, the court may, at their discretion, make an entry of the cause on their journal, and may order the amount in which the party [indicted] may be recognized for his appearance by any officer charged with the duty of arresting him.

SEC. 431. [Same—Indorsement.].—The clerk issuing a warrant on such an indictment shall indorse thereon the sum in which the recognizance of the accused was ordered as aforesaid to be taken.

SEC. 432. [Same.].—The officer charged with the execution of the warrant aforesaid shall take the recognizance of the party accused in the sum ordered as aforesaid, together with good and sufficient sureties, conditioned for the appearance of the accused at the return of the writ before the court out of which the same issued; and such officer shall return such recognizance to the said court, to be recorded and proceeded on as provided in this code.

SEC. 433. [Return of all recognizances.].—All recognizances taken during vacation of any court, by any judge or other officer thereof authorized to take them, shall be signed and sealed by the parties, and certified to by the officer taking the same.

SEC. 434. [Indictment of convicts.].—Whenever any convict in the penitentiary shall be indicted for any offense committed while confined therein, said convict shall remain in the custody of the warden of said penitentiary, subject to the order of the district court of the county where the penitentiary, in which such convict is confined, is situate.

CHAPTER XLII.—MOTIONS AND ISSUES UPON THE INDICTMENT.

SEC. 435. [Two indictments for same act.].—If there be at any time pending against the same defendant two or more indictments for the same criminal act, the prosecuting attorney shall be required to elect upon which he will proceed; and upon trial being had thereon the remaining indictment shall be quashed.

SEC. 436. [Indictment recorded—Copy for accused.].—The clerk of the district court shall, upon the filing of any indictment with him, and after the person indicted is in custody or let to bail, cause the same to be entered of record on the journal of said court, and in case of the loss of the original, such record or a certified copy thereof shall be used in place thereof upon the trial of the cause. And within twenty-four (24) hours after the filing of an indictment for felony, and in every other case on request, the clerk shall make and deliver to the sheriff, the defendant, or his counsel a copy of the indictment, and the sheriff on receiving such copy shall serve the same upon the defendant; and no one shall be, without his assent, arraigned or called on to answer to any indictment until one day shall have elapsed, after receiving in person or by counsel, or having an opportunity to receive a copy of such indictment as aforesaid. [Amended 1877, 4.]

be indicted for any offense which is capital, or punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary, is hereby authorized and required to assign to such person counsel not exceeding two, if the prisoner has not the ability to procure counsel, and they shall have full access to the prisoner at all reasonable hours; and it shall not be lawful for the county clerk or county commissioners of any county in this state to audit or allow an account, [bill,] or claim hereafter presented by an attorney or counsellor at law for services performed under the provisions of this section, until said account, bill, or claim shall have been examined and allowed by the court before whom said trial is had, and the amount so allowed for such services certified by said court; Provided, That no such account, bill, or claim shall in any case, except in cases of homicide, exceed one hundred dollars.

SEC. 438. [Time given.]—The court shall allow the accused a reasonable time to examine the indictment and prepare exceptions thereto.

SEC. 439. [Pleas and motions.]—The accused may except to an indictment by: First—A motion to quash. Second—A plea in abatement. Third—A demurrer.

SEC. 440. [Motion to quash.]—A motion to quash may be made in all cases when there is a defect apparent upon the face of the record, including defects in the form of the indictment or in the manner in which an offense is charged.

SEC. 441. [Plea in abatement.]—A plea in abatement may be made when there is a defect in the record, which is shown by facts extrinsic thereto.

SEC. 442. [Demurrer.]—The accused may demur when the facts stated in the indictment do not constitute an offense punishable by the laws of this state, or when the intent is not alleged, when proof of it is necessary to make out the offense charged.

SEC. 443. [Interlocutory plea sustained.]—When a motion to quash, or a plea in abatement has been adjudged in favor of the accused, he may be committed or held to bail in such sum as the court may require for his appearance at the first day of the next term of said court.

SEC. 444. [Same—Waived.]—The accused shall be taken to have waived all defects which may be excepted to by a motion to quash, or a plea in abatement, by demurring to an indictment or pleading in bar, or the general issue.

SEC. 445. [Misnomer.]—If the accused shall plead in abatement that he is not indicted by his true name, he must plead what his true name is, which shall be entered on the minutes of the court, and after such entry the trial and all other proceedings on the indictment shall be had against him by that name, referring also to the name by which he is indicted, in the same manner in all respects as if he had been indicted by his true name.

SEC. 446. [Demurrer to plea in abatement.]—To any plea in abatement the prosecuting attorney may demur if it is not sufficient in substance, or he may reply, setting forth any facts which may show that there is no defect in the record as charged in the plea.

SEC. 447. [Demurrer overruled.]—After a demurrer to an indictment has been overruled, the accused may plead "not guilty," or in bar.

SEC. 448. [Arraignment.]—The accused shall be arraigned by reading to him the indictment, unless, in cases of indictments for misdemeanors, the reading shall be waived by the accused by the nature of the charge being made known to him, and he shall then be asked whether he is guilty or not guilty of the offense charged.

SEC. 449. [Plea in bar.].—The accused may then offer a plea in bar to the indictment that he has before had judgment of acquittal, or been convicted, or been pardoned for the same offense; and to this plea the prosecuting attorney may reply that there is no record of such acquittal or conviction, or that there has been no pardon, and on the trial of such issue to a jury the accused must produce the record of such conviction or acquittal, or the pardon, and prove that he is the same person charged in the record, or mentioned in the pardon; and shall be permitted to adduce such other evidence as may be necessary to establish the identity of the offense.

SEC. 450. [Same.].—No plea in bar or abatement shall be received by the court, unless it be in writing, signed by the accused, and sworn to before some competent officer.

SEC. 451. [Rule as to plea in bar.].—If the issue on the plea in bar be found against the defendant, or if upon the arraignment the accused offer no plea in bar, he shall plead "guilty" or "not guilty;" but if he plead evasively, or stand mute, he shall be taken to have plead "not guilty."

SEC. 452. [Plea of guilty.].—If the accused plead "guilty," the plea shall be recorded on the indictment, and the accused shall be placed in the custody of the sheriff until sentence.

SEC. 453. [Plea of not guilty.].—If the accused plead "not guilty," the plea shall be entered on the indictment, and the prosecuting attorney shall, under the direction of the court, designate a day for trial which shall be a day of the term at which the plea is made, unless the court for good reasons continue the case to a subsequent term.

SEC. 454. [Accused insane, etc.].—A person that becomes lunatic or insane after the commission of a crime and misdemeanor ought not to be tried for the offense during the continuance of the lunacy or insanity. If, after verdict of guilty, and before judgment is pronounced, such person become lunatic or insane, then no judgment shall be given while such lunacy or insanity shall continue. And if, after judgment and before execution of the sentence, such person shall become lunatic or insane, then, in case the punishment be capital, the execution thereof shall be stayed until the recovery of said person from the insanity or lunacy. In all such cases it shall be the duty of the court to impanel a jury to try the question whether the accused be, at the time of impaneling, insane or lunatic.

CHAPTER XLIII.—CHANGE OF VENUE.

SEC. 455. [Affidavit.].—All criminal cases shall be tried in the county where the offense was committed unless it shall appear to the court by affidavits that a fair and impartial trial cannot be had therein, in which case the court may direct the person accused to be tried in some adjoining county.

SEC. 456. [Transcript—Costs.].—When the venue is changed to an adjoining county, the clerk of the court in which the indictment was found shall make a certified transcript of all the proceedings in the case, which, together with the original indictment, he shall transmit to the clerk of the court to which the venue is changed, and the trial shall be conducted in all respects as if the offender had been indicted in the county to which the venue has been changed. All costs, fees, charges, and expenses accruing from a change of venue, together with all costs, fees, charges, and expenses made or incurred in the trial of, or in keeping, guarding, and maintaining the accused, shall be paid by the county in which the indictment was found, and the clerk of the trial court shall make a statement of the costs, fees, charges, and expenses aforesaid, and certify and transmit the same to the clerk of the district court where the indictment was found, to be by him entered upon his docket and collected and paid as if a change of venue had not been had. [1883, chap. LXXXIV. Amended 1887, chap. 110. Took effect April 2, 1887.]

SEC. 457. [Warrant.]—When a court has ordered a change of venue, a warrant shall be issued by the clerk, directed to the sheriff, commanding him safely to convey the prisoner to the jail of the county where he is to be tried, there to be safely kept by the jailor thereof until discharged by due course of law.

SEC. 458. [Witnesses.]—When a change of venue is allowed, the court shall recognize the witnesses on the part of the state to appear before the court in which the prisoner is to be tried.

CHAPTER XLIV.—PREPARATION FOR EVIDENCE.

SEC. 459. [Subpoena.]—In all criminal cases it shall be the duty of the clerk, upon a precept being filed, to issue writs of subpoena for all witnesses named therein, directed to the sheriff of his county or of any county of the state where the witnesses reside or may be found, which shall be served and returned as in other cases; and such sheriff, by writing indorsed on said writs, may depute any disinterested person to serve and return the same.

SEC. 460. [Return.]—If the subpoena be served by such special deputy, it shall be his duty, after serving the same, to return thereon the manner in which the same was served, and also make oath or affirmation to the truth of said return, before some person competent to administer oaths, which shall be indorsed on such writ, and the same shall be returned according to the command thereof by the person serving the same through the post office or otherwise.

SEC. 461. [Witnesses for defendant.]—Any person accused of crime amounting to felony shall have compulsory process to enforce the attendance of witnesses in his behalf, and they shall be paid for their mileage and per diem the same fees as are now, or may hereafter be allowed by law, to witnesses for the state in the prosecution of such accused person, and in case such accused person is convicted and is unable to pay such mileage and per diem to his witnesses, they shall be paid out of the county treasury of the county wherein such crime was committed; and in case such accused person is acquitted upon his trial, the fees of his witnesses shall be likewise paid out of such county treasury; Provided, however, That in no case shall the fees of any such witnesses be so paid, unless before the trial of such accusation such accused person shall make and file his affidavit stating the names of his witnesses, and that he has made a statement to his counsel of the facts he expects to prove by such witnesses, and has been advised by such counsel that their testimony is material on the trial of such accusation, and shall also file an affidavit of such counsel that he deems the testimony of such witnesses necessary and material on behalf of such accused person, whereupon the court or judge shall make an order directing that such witnesses, not exceeding fifteen in number, be paid out of the county treasury of the county in which such accusation shall be made. [1885, chap. 106.]

SEC. 462. [Depositions.]—Where any issue of fact is joined on any indictment, and any material witness for the defendant resides out of the state, or residing within the state, is sick or infirm, or is about to leave the state, such defendant may apply in writing to the court in term time, or the judge thereof in vacation, for a commission to examine such witness upon interrogatories thereto annexed, and such court or judge may grant the same, and order what and for how long a time notice shall be given to the prosecuting attorney before the witness shall be examined.

SEC. 463. If suppressed, and no exception taken, order will not be considered by supreme court. 7 Neb. 328. Section cited 22 Neb. 353.

SEC. 463. [Same.].—The proceedings in taking the examination of such witness and returning it to court shall be governed in all respects as the taking of depositions in all civil cases.

CHAPTER XLV.—TRIAL OF INDICTMENTS.

SEC. 464. [Presence of accused.].—No person indicted for a felony shall be tried unless personally present during the trial. Persons indicted for a misdemeanor may, at their own request, by leave of the court, be put on trial in their absence. The request shall be in writing, and entered on the journal of the court.

SEC. 465. [Separate trial.].—When two or more persons are indicted for felony, each person so indicted shall, on application to the court for that purpose, be separately tried, and every person charged with felony shall be furnished, previous to his trial, with a copy of the indictment, and at his request, with a list of the witnesses upon whose testimony the indictment was found. [Amended 1875, 17.]

SEC. 465 a. [Special venire, how drawn.].—That when two or more persons shall have been charged together in the same indictment or information with a crime, and one or more shall have demanded a separate trial, and had the same, and when the court shall be satisfied, by reason of the same evidence being required in the further trial of parties to the same indictment or information, that the regular panel and bystanders are incompetent because of having heard the evidence, to sit in further causes in the same indictment or information, then it shall be lawful for the court to require the clerk of the court to write the names of sixty electors of the county wherein said cause is being tried, each upon a separate slip of paper, and place the same in a box, and after the same shall have been thoroughly mixed, to draw therefrom such a number as in the opinion of the court will be sufficient from which to select a jury to hear said cause, and the electors whose names are so drawn shall be summoned by the sheriff to forthwith appear before the court, and after having been examined, such as are found competent and shall have no lawful excuse for not serving as jurors shall constitute a special venire from which the court shall proceed to have a jury impaneled for the trial of the cause, and the court may repeat the exercise of this power until all the parties charged in the same indictment or information shall have been tried. [1881, § 1, chap. 34.]

SEC. 466. [Jury.].—In all [criminal] cases, except as may be otherwise expressly provided, the jury summoned and impaneled according to the provisions of the laws in force relating to the summoning and impaneling of juries in other cases, shall try the accused.

SEC. 467. [Challenge of jurors.].—Every person arraigned for any crime punishable with death shall be admitted, on his trial, to a peremptory challenge of sixteen jurors, and no more; and every person arraigned for any offense that may be punishable by imprisonment for a term exceeding eighteen months shall be admitted to a peremptory challenge of eight jurors; and in all other criminal trials the defendant shall be allowed a peremptory challenge of six jurors. The attorney prosecuting on behalf of the state shall be admitted to a peremptory challenge of six jurors, in all cases where the offense charged is punishable with death, and of three jurors in all other cases.

Record must show ground of challenge, rule of court, and exception. 6 Neb. 355. Although there may be error in overruling a challenge to a juror for cause, yet if the prisoner be not compelled to exhaust his peremptory challenges to exclude him from the panel, it is error without prejudice. 13 Neb. 213. After, if compelled to exhaust peremptory challenges. 27 Neb. 623.

SEC. 468. [Causes for challenge.]—The following shall be good causes for challenge to any person called as a juror on the trial of any indictment: First—That he was a member of the grand jury which found the indictment. Second—That he has formed or expressed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the accused; Provided, That if a juror shall state that he has formed or expressed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the accused, the court shall thereupon proceed to examine, on oath, such juror as to the ground of such opinion; and if it shall appear to have been founded upon reading newspaper statements, communications, comments, or reports, or upon rumor, or hearsay, and not upon conversations with witnesses of the transactions, or reading reports of their testimony, or hearing them testify, and the juror shall say, on oath, that he feels able notwithstanding such opinion to render an impartial verdict upon the law and the evidence, the court, if satisfied that such juror is impartial, and will render such verdict, may, in its discretion, admit such juror as competent to serve in such case. Third—In indictments for an offense the punishment whereof is capital, that his opinions are such as to preclude him from finding the accused guilty of an offense punishable with death. Fourth—That he is a relation, within the fifth degree, to the person alleged to be injured, or attempted to be injured, or to the person on whose complaint the prosecution was instituted or to the defendant. Fifth—That he has served on a petit jury which was sworn in the same cause against the same defendant, and which jury either rendered a verdict which was set aside, or was discharged after hearing the evidence. Sixth—That he has served as a juror in a civil case brought against the defendant for the same act. Seventh—That he has been in good faith subpoenaed as a witness in the case. Eighth—That he is an habitual drunkard. Ninth—The same challenges shall be allowed in criminal prosecutions that are allowed to parties in civil cases.

SEC. 469. [Challenge—How tried.]—All challenges for cause shall be tried by the court, on the oath of the person challenged, or on other evidence, and such challenge shall be made before the jury is sworn, and not afterward.

SEC. 470. [Same—Two defendants.]—If two or more persons be put on trial at the same time, each must be allowed his separate peremptory challenge.

SEC. 471. [Oath of jury.]—When all challenges have been made, the following oath shall be administered:

"You shall well and truly try, and true deliverance make, between the state of Nebraska and the prisoner at the bar (giving his or her name); so help you God."

SEC. 472. [Affirmation.]—Any juror shall be allowed to make affirmation, and the words, "this you do as you shall answer under the pains and penalties of perjury," shall be substituted instead of the words, "so help you God."

SEC. 473. [Interested witnesses.]—No person shall be disqualified as a witness in any criminal prosecution, by reason of his interest in the event of the same, as a party or otherwise, or by reason of his conviction of any crime, but such interest or conviction may be shown for the purpose of affecting his credibility. indictments, complaints, and other proceedings against persons charged with the commission of crimes or offenses, the person so charged shall, at his own request, but not otherwise, be deemed a competent witness; nor shall the neglect or refusal to testify create any presumption against him, nor shall any reference be made to, nor any comment upon, such neglect or refusal.

SEC. 474. [Co-defendant witness].—When two or more persons shall be indicted together, the court may, at any time before the defendant has gone into his defense, direct any one of the defendants to be discharged, that he may be a witness for the state. An accused may, also, when there is not sufficient evidence to put him upon his defense, be discharged by the court; or, if not discharged by the court, shall be entitled to the immediate verdict of the jury, for the purpose of giving evidence for other accused with him; such order of discharge in either case shall be a bar to another prosecution for the same offense.

SEC. 475 [Evidence by injured female].—In trials for taking a woman away with intent to force her to be married, or defiled, and for seduction, for the purpose of prostitution, no conviction shall be had on the evidence of the female offended against, unsupported by other evidence.

SEC. 476. [Evidence—Conspiracy].—In trials for conspiracy, in cases when an overt act is required by law to consummate the offense, no conviction shall be had unless one or more overt acts be expressly alleged in the indictment, nor unless one or more of the acts so alleged be proved on trial; but other overt acts not alleged in the indictment may be given in evidence on the part of the prosecution.

SEC. 477. [Treason—Kindred offenses].—In trials for treason, no evidence shall be given of any overt act that is not expressly laid in the indictment; and no conviction shall be had upon any indictment for said offense, unless one or more overt acts be expressly alleged therein. No person shall be convicted of treason but by the testimony of two lawful witnesses to the same overt act of treason whereof he stands indicted, unless he confesses the same in open court; and no person shall be convicted of an offense under the twenty-third or twenty-fourth section of this code, but by the testimony of two credible witnesses, unless the person indicted confesses his guilt in open court.

SEC. 478. [Order of procedure on trial].—After the jury has been impaneled and sworn, the trial shall proceed in the following order: First—The counsel for the state must state the case of the prosecution, and may briefly state the evidence by which he expects to sustain it. Second—The defendant or his counsel must then state his defense, and may briefly state the evidence he expects to offer in support of it. Third—The state must first produce its evidence; the defendant will then produce his evidence. Fourth—The state will then be confined to rebutting evidence, unless the court, for good reason, in furtherance of justice, shall permit it to offer evidence in chief. Fifth—When the evidence is concluded, either party may request instructions to the jury on points of law, which shall be given or refused by the court; which instructions shall be reduced to writing if either party require it. Sixth—When the evidence is concluded, unless the case is submitted without argument, the counsel for the state shall commence, the defendant or his counsel follow, and the counsel for the state conclude the argument to the jury. Seventh—The court, after the argument is concluded, shall immediately, and before proceeding with other business, charge the jury; which charge, or any charge given after the conclusion of the argument, shall be reduced to writing by the court, if either party request it, before the argument to the jury is commenced; and such charge or charges, or any other charge or instruction provided for in this section, when so written and given, shall in no case be orally qualified, modified, or in manner explained to the jury by the court; and all written charges and instructions shall be taken by the jury in their retirement and returned with their verdict into court, and shall remain on file with the papers of the case.

SEC. 479. [View of place.—Whenever in the opinion of the court it is proper for the jury to have a view of the place in which any material fact occurred, it may order them to be conducted in a body, under the charge of the sheriff, to the place which shall be shown to them by some person appointed by the court. While the jury are thus absent, no person other than the sheriff having them in charge, and the person appointed to show them the place, shall speak to them on any subject connected with the trial.

SEC. 480. [Mistake in offense.—When it shall appear at any time before the verdict that a mistake has been made in charging the proper offense, the accused shall not be discharged if there appear to be good cause to detain him in custody; but the court must recognize him to answer to the offense on the first day of the next term of such court; and shall, if necessary, likewise recognize the witnesses to appear and testify.

SEC. 481. [Same.—When a jury has been impaneled in a case contemplated by the preceding section, such jury may be discharged without prejudice to the prosecution.

SEC. 482. [Exceptions by defendant.—In all cases where a defendant shall feel himself aggrieved by any opinion or decision of the court, he may present his bill of exceptions thereto; and it shall be the duty of the court to sign and seal the same; and the taking, preparing, and signing, and sealing of said bill, shall be governed by the rules established in such matters in civil cases. Where the ground of exception is that the verdict is not sustained by sufficient evidence, or is contrary to law, and the court has overruled a motion for a new trial made on that ground, the bill of exceptions shall set out the evidence. The bill of exceptions, when signed and sealed, shall be made a part of the record, and shall have the same force and effect as in civil cases.

SEC. 483. [Same by prosecuting attorney.—The prosecuting attorney may take exceptions to any opinion or decision of the court during the prosecution of the cause; and the bill containing the exceptions, upon being presented, shall, if it be conformable to the truth, be signed and sealed by the court, which bill shall be made a part of the record, and be in all respects governed by the rules established as to bills of exceptions in civil cases, except as herein provided.

SEC. 484. [Conduct of jury after case submitted.—When a case is finally submitted to the jury, they must be kept together in some convenient place, under the charge of an officer, until they agree upon a verdict, or are discharged by the court. The officer having them in charge shall not suffer any communication to be made to them, or make any himself, except to ask them whether they have agreed upon a verdict, unless by order of the court; nor shall he communicate to any one, before the verdict is delivered, any matter in relation to the state of their deliberations. If the jury are permitted to separate during the trial, they shall be admonished by the court that it is their duty not to converse with, or suffer themselves to be addressed by any other person on the subject of the trial, or to listen to any conversation on the subject, and that it is their duty not to form or express an opinion thereon until the cause is finally submitted to them.

SEC. 485. [Discharge of jury.]—In case a jury shall be discharged on account of sickness of a juror, or other accident or calamity requiring their discharge, or after they have been kept so long together that there is no probability of agreeing, the court shall, upon directing the discharge, order that the reasons for such discharge shall be entered upon the journal; and such discharge shall be without prejudice to the prosecution.

SEC. 486. [When jury agreed.]—When the jury have agreed upon their verdict they must be conducted into court by the officer having them in charge. Before the verdict is accepted the jury may be polled at the request of either the prosecuting attorney or the defendant.

SEC. 487. [Offense consisting of different degrees.]—Upon an indictment for an offense consisting of different degrees the jury may find the defendant not guilty of the degree charged, and guilty of any degree inferior thereto, and upon an indictment for any offense the jury may find the defendant not guilty of the offense but guilty of an attempt to commit the same, where such an attempt is an offense.

SEC. 488 [Verdict—Value of property.]—When the indictment charges an offense against the property of another by larceny, embezzlement, or obtaining under false pretenses, the jury, on conviction, shall ascertain and declare in their verdict the value of the property stolen, embezzled, or falsely obtained.

CHAPTER XLVI.—MOTIONS FOR NEW TRIAL AND FOR ARREST OF JUDGMENT.

SEC. 490. [Causes for new trial.]—A new trial, after a verdict of conviction, may be granted on the application of the defendant, for any of the following reasons, affecting materially his substantial rights: First—Irregularity in the proceedings of the court, or the prosecuting attorney, or the witnesses for the state, or any order of the court, or abuse of discretion, by which the defendant was prevented from having a fair trial. Second—Misconduct of the jury, or the prosecuting attorney, or of the witnesses for the state. Third—Accident or surprise which ordinary prudence could not have guarded against. Fourth—That the verdict is not sustained by sufficient evidence or is contrary to law. Fifth—Newly discovered evidence material for the defendant, which he could not, with reasonable diligence, have discovered and produced at the trial. Sixth—Error of law occurring at the trial.

SEC. 491. [Motion.]—The application for new trial shall be by motion upon written grounds, filed at the term the verdict is rendered, and shall, except for the cause of newly discovered evidence material for the party applying, which he could not with reasonable diligence have discovered and produced at the trial, or [be] within three days after the verdict was rendered, unless unavoidably prevented. In assigning the grounds of such motion, it shall be sufficient to assign the same in the language of the statute, and without further or other particularity. [Amended Feb. 28. Took effect June 1, 1881.]

SEC. 492. [Affidavit.]—The causes enumerated in subdivisions two, three, and five of section four hundred and ninety must be sustained by affidavits showing their truth, and may be controverted by affidavits.

SEC. 493. [Arrest of judgment.]—A motion in arrest of judgment may be granted by the court for either of the following causes: First—That the grand jury which found the indictment had no legal authority to inquire into the offense charged, by reason of it not being within the jurisdiction of the court. Second—That the facts stated in the indictment do not constitute an offense.

SEC. 494. [Same—Effect.]—No judgment can be arrested for a defect in form. The effect of allowing a motion in arrest of judgment shall be to place the defendant in the same position with respect to the prosecution as before the indictment was found. If, from the evidence on the trial, there shall be sufficient reason to believe him to be guilty of an offense, the court shall order him to enter into a recognizance, with sufficient security conditioned for his appearance at the first day of the next term of the same court; otherwise, the defendant shall be discharged.

CHAPTER XLVII.—JUDGMENT AND SENTENCE.

SEC. 495. [Duty of court.]—Before the sentence is pronounced, the defendant must be informed by the court of the verdict of the jury, and asked whether he has anything to say why judgment should not be pronounced against him.

and sufficient cause why judgment should not be pronounced, the court shall proceed to pronounce judgment as provided by law.

SEC. 497. [Fines.]—Whenever a fine shall be the whole or part of a sentence, the court may, in its discretion, order that the person sentenced shall remain confined in the county jail until the amount of such fine and costs are paid.

SEC. 498. [Sentence in certain cases.]—In all cases when any person shall be convicted of any offense by this code declared criminal, and made punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary, the court shall declare in their sentence for what period of time, within the respective periods prescribed by law, such convict shall be imprisoned at hard labor in the penitentiary, and shall, moreover, determine and declare in their sentence whether any, and if any, for what period of time, such convict shall be kept in solitary confinement in the cells of the penitentiary, without labor.

SEC. 499. [Recognizance to keep the peace.]—Any person convicted of any offense against the provisions of this act may be required by the court to enter into a recognizance with sufficient surety, in such sum as the court may deem proper, to keep the peace and be of good behavior for such length of time, not exceeding two years, as the court shall direct; and the court may order such person to stand committed until such order be complied with, or such person be otherwise discharged by due course of law.

SEC. 500. [Committal until fine and costs paid.]—In all cases wherein courts or magistrates have now or may hereafter have the power to punish offenses either in whole or in part, by requiring the offender to pay a fine or costs, or both, the said courts or magistrates may make it a part of the sentence that the party stand committed and be imprisoned in the jail of the proper county until the same be paid, or secured to be paid, or the defendant is otherwise discharged according to law.

SEC. 501. [Costs upon conviction.]—In every case of conviction of any person for felony or misdemeanor, it shall be the duty of the court or magistrate to render judgment for the costs of prosecution against the person convicted.

SEC. 502. [Sentence to county jail.]—When any court or magistrate shall sentence any convict to imprisonment in the jail of the county as a punishment for the offense committed, the judgment and sentence shall require that the convict be imprisoned in the cell of the jail of the county, or that he be kept at hard labor in the jail, in the discretion of the court or magistrate; and when the imprisonment is to be without labor, the sentence may require the convict to be fed on bread and water only, the whole or any part of the term of imprisonment.

CHAPTER XLVIII.—PROCEEDINGS IN ERROR.

SEC. 503. [Suspension of execution.]—When a person shall be convicted of an offense, and shall give notice to the court of his intention to apply for a writ of error, the court may, at its discretion, on application of the person so convicted, suspend the execution of the sentence or judgment against him until the next term of the court, or for such period, not beyond the session of the court, nor beyond the next term of the supreme court, as will give the person so convicted a reasonable time to apply for such writ; Provided, When any such conviction is of an offense the punishment whereof is capital, at least one hundred days shall intervene between the date of such sentence and judgment, and days appointed for the execution thereof.

SEC. 504. [Same—Misdemeanor.]—No court shall suspend the execution of the sentence or judgment against any person convicted and sentenced for a misdemeanor, unless such person shall enter into a recognizance with such security as the court may require, conditioned that the person so convicted and sentenced shall appear at the next term of such court, and from term to term, until the case shall be determined, and abide the judgment or sentence of the court.

SEC. 505. [Same—Felony.]—Whenever a person shall be convicted of a felony, and the judgment shall be suspended as aforesaid, it shall be the duty of the court to order the person so convicted into the custody of the sheriff, to be imprisoned until the case in error be disposed of. If a person so convicted shall escape, the jailer or other officer from whose custody the escape was made may return to the clerk of the proper court the writ by virtue of which the convict was held in custody, with information of the escape endorsed thereon, whereupon said clerk shall issue a warrant stating such conviction, and commanding the sheriff of the county to pursue after such person into any county in the state; and said sheriff shall take such person and commit him to the jail of such county.

SEC. 506. [Term.].—If no writ of error be allowed by the next term of the court after the sentence was pronounced, the court shall, at such term, carry the same into execution; or if no such writ be allowed by the expiration of the time of suspension, the judgment shall be carried into effect by the proper officers, the same as it would have been previously, had there been no suspension.

SEC. 507. [Judgment affirmed.].—If a writ of error be allowed, and on the hearing the judgment of the court in which the trial was had shall be affirmed, such court shall carry into execution the sentence pronounced against the defendant at the next term after the judgment of affirmance is rendered.

SEC. 508. [Writs of error.].—In all criminal cases, writs of error shall be issued by the clerk of the supreme court upon the filing of a petition in error and transcript of the record of the proceedings of the district court and payment of costs as in civil cases; Provided, That if any person, desiring to obtain such writ of error, shall file an affidavit with the clerk of the court that he is unable on account of his poverty to pay said costs, the clerk shall enter the suit upon the docket, and upon the entry of final judgment indorse the amount of costs upon the mandate, and the same shall be paid by the county in which the indictment was found. [1883, chap. LXXXVI.]

SEC. 509. [Suspension—Capital cases.].—In all cases of conviction where the punishment shall be capital, the judges or court allowing such writ of error shall order a suspension of the execution until such writ of error shall be heard and determined; upon hearing such writ of error, they shall order the prisoner to be discharged, a new trial to be had, or appoint a day certain for the execution of the sentence, as the nature of the case may require.

SEC. 509 a. [Reduction of sentence.].—That in all criminal cases that now are or may hereafter be pending in the supreme court on error, the said court may reduce the sentence rendered by the district court against the accused, when in their opinion the sentence is excessive, and it shall be the duty of said supreme court to render such sentence against the accused as in their opinion may be warranted by the evidence. [1887, chap. 109. Took effect March 31, 1887.]

SEC. 510. [Felony.].—In all cases of conviction for a felony, the court, judge, or judges allowing the writ of error shall order the same to be made returnable before the supreme court, and shall order a suspension of the execution of said sentence.

SEC. 511. [Misdemeanor.].—In cases of conviction for misdemeanor in the district court, the court or judge allowing the writ of error shall make it returnable as in cases of conviction of felony, and may order a suspension of the execution of the sentence upon the defendant on his entering into a recognizance before the clerk of the court in which the cause was tried, with sufficient security, to be approved of by the clerk, in such sum as shall be specified in the order of the court or judge allowing such writ of error, which recognizance shall be conditioned for the defendant's prosecuting said writ of error to effect and surrendering himself to the custody of the sheriff of the

SEC. 449. [Plea in bar.].—The accused may then offer a plea in bar to the indictment that he has before had judgment of acquittal, or been convicted, or been pardoned for the same offense; and to this plea the prosecuting attorney may reply that there is no record of such acquittal or conviction, or that there has been no pardon, and on the trial of such issue to a jury the accused must produce the record of such conviction or acquittal, or the pardon, and prove that he is the same person charged in the record, or mentioned in the pardon; and shall be permitted to adduce such other evidence as may be necessary to establish the identity of the offense.

SEC. 450. [Same.].—No plea in bar or abatement shall be received by the court unless it be in writing, signed by the accused, and sworn to before some competent officer.

SEC. 451. [Rule as to plea in bar.].—If the issue on the plea in bar be found against the defendant, or if upon the arraignment the accused offer no plea in bar, he shall plead "guilty" or "not guilty;" but if he plead evasively, or stand mute, he shall be taken to have plead "not guilty."

SEC. 452. [Plea of guilty.].—If the accused plead "guilty," the plea shall be recorded on the indictment, and the accused shall be placed in the custody of the sheriff until sentence.

SEC. 453. [Plea of not guilty.].—If the accused plead "not guilty," the plea shall be entered on the indictment, and the prosecuting attorney shall, under the direction of the court, designate a day for trial which shall be a day of the term at which the plea is made, unless the court for good reasons continue the case to a subsequent term.

SEC. 454. [Accused insane, etc.].—A person that becomes lunatic or insane after the commission of a crime and misdemeanor ought not to be tried for the offense during the continuance of the lunacy or insanity. If, after verdict of guilty, and before judgment is pronounced, such person become lunatic or insane, then no judgment shall be given while such lunacy or insanity shall continue. And if, after judgment and before execution of the sentence, such person shall become lunatic or insane, then, in case the punishment be capital, the execution thereof shall be stayed until the recovery of said person from the insanity or lunacy. In all such cases it shall be the duty of the court to impanel a jury to try the question whether the accused be, at the time of impaneling, insane or lunatic.

CHAPTER XLIII.—CHANGE OF VENUE.

SEC. 455. [Affidavit.].—All criminal cases shall be tried in the county where the offense was committed unless it shall appear to the court by affidavits that a fair and impartial trial cannot be had therein, in which case the court may direct the person accused to be tried in some adjoining county.

SEC. 456. [Transcript—Costs.].—When the venue is changed to an adjoining county, the clerk of the court in which the indictment was found shall make a certified transcript of all the proceedings in the case, which, together with the original indictment, he shall transmit to the clerk of the court to which the venue is changed, and the trial shall be conducted in all respects as if the offender had been indicted in the county to which the venue has been changed. All costs, fees, charges, and expenses accruing from a change of venue, together with all costs, fees, charges, and expenses made or incurred in the trial of, or in keeping, guarding, and maintaining the accused, shall be paid by the county in which the indictment was found, and the clerk of the trial court shall make a statement of the costs, fees, charges, and expenses aforesaid, and certify and transmit the same to the clerk of the district court where the indictment was found, to be by him entered upon his docket and collected and paid as if a change of venue had not been had. [1883, chap. LXXXIV. Amended 1887, chap. 110. Took effect April 2, 1887.]

SEC. 457. [Warrant.]—When a court has ordered a change of venue, a warrant shall be issued by the clerk, directed to the sheriff, commanding him safely to convey the prisoner to the jail of the county where he is to be tried, there to be safely kept by the jailor thereof until discharged by due course of law.

SEC. 458. [Witnesses.]—When a change of venue is allowed, the court shall recognize the witnesses on the part of the state to appear before the court in which the prisoner is to be tried.

CHAPTER XLIV.—PREPARATION FOR EVIDENCE.

SEC. 459. [Subpoena.]—In all criminal cases it shall be the duty of the clerk, upon a precept being filed, to issue writs of subpoena for all witnesses named therein, directed to the sheriff of his county or of any county of the state where the witnesses reside or may be found, which shall be served and returned as in other cases; and such sheriff, by writing indorsed on said writs, may depute any disinterested person to serve and return the same.

SEC. 460. [Return.]—If the subpoena be served by such special deputy, it shall be his duty, after serving the same, to return thereon the manner in which the same was served, and also make oath or affirmation to the truth of said return, before some person competent to administer oaths, which shall be indorsed on such writ, and the same shall be returned according to the command thereof by the person serving the same through the post office or otherwise.

SEC. 461. [Witnesses for defendant.]—Any person accused of crime amounting to felony shall have compulsory process to enforce the attendance of witnesses in his behalf, and they shall be paid for their mileage and per diem the same fees as are now, or may hereafter be allowed by law, to witnesses for the state in the prosecution of such accused person, and in case such accused person is convicted and is unable to pay such mileage and per diem to his witnesses, they shall be paid out of the county treasury of the county wherein such crime was committed; and in case such accused person is acquitted upon his trial, the fees of his witnesses shall be likewise paid out of such county treasury; Provided, however, That in no case shall the fees of any such witnesses be so paid, unless before the trial of such accusation such accused person shall make and file his affidavit stating the names of his witnesses, and that he has made a statement to his counsel of the facts he expects to prove by such witnesses, and has been advised by such counsel that their testimony is material on the trial of such accusation, and shall also file an affidavit of such counsel that he deems the testimony of such witnesses necessary and material on behalf of such accused person, whereupon the court or judge shall make an order directing that such witnesses, not exceeding fifteen in number, be paid out of the county treasury of the county in which such accusation shall be made. [1885, chap. 106.]

SEC. 462. [Depositions.]—Where any issue of fact is joined on any indictment, and any material witness for the defendant resides out of the state, or residing within the state, is sick or infirm, or is about to leave the state, such defendant may apply in writing to the court in term time, or the judge thereof in vacation, for a commission to examine such witness upon interrogatories thereto annexed, and such court or judge may grant the same, and order what and for how long a time notice shall be given to the prosecuting attorney before the witness shall be examined.

which execution shall be collected in the same manner as is prescribed in the preceding section. No scire facias shall be necessary previous to issuing such execution.

SEC. 527. [Same.].—In all cases where the person or persons, convicted as aforesaid, shall replevy the fine and costs, as is provided in the last preceding section, no execution shall issue for said fine and costs, as prescribed in section five hundred and twenty-five; and further, such person or persons, after replevying the fine and costs as aforesaid, shall not be imprisoned for such fine and costs, but such person or persons shall be wholly discharged from any imprisonment, in consequence of any conviction, unless where imprisonment is by this code made a part of the punishment; in that case such convicted person or persons shall be discharged from his, or her, or their imprisonment at the expiration thereof, if he, she, or they have replevied the fine and costs as aforesaid.

SEC. 527 [a]. [Execution to any county.].—Executions for fines and costs of prosecution, and on recognizances taken in pursuance of the preceding section, may be issued into any county in this state.

SEC. 528. [Release of fine and costs.].—Whenever it shall be made satisfactorily to appear to the district court, or to the probate judge of the proper county, after all legal means have been exhausted, that any person who is confined in jail for any fine or costs of prosecution, for any criminal offense, hath no estate wherewith to pay such fine and costs, or costs only, it shall be the duty of said court or judge to discharge such person from further imprisonment, for such fine and costs, which discharge shall operate as a complete release of such fine and costs; Provided, That nothing herein shall authorize any person to be discharged from imprisonment before the expiration of the time for which he or she may be sentenced to be imprisoned, as part of his or her punishment, nor until the convict shall have been imprisoned at least one day for every three dollars of the amount adjudged against him.

SEC. 529. [Transcript of judgment filed with clerk.].—In every case, whenever it is desirable to obtain execution to be issued to another county, or against the lands or real estate of any person against whom a judgment for fine or costs has been rendered by a magistrate, the magistrate may file with the clerk of the district court of the county wherein such magistrate holds his office, a transcript of the judgment and proceedings in the cause, whereupon such clerk shall enter the cause upon the proper docket for execution to be forthwith issued thereon by such clerk, and served in all respects as though the judgment had been rendered in the district court of such county.

SEC. 530. [Treatment of prisoners.].—When the physician regularly employed to have the medical care of persons in a county jail, shall certify in writing to the jailer that the health or safety of any convict confined in such jail requires that he be treated in a manner different from that prescribed by the sentence of such convict, such jailer shall render to the convict such other and different treatment as shall be specified in such certificate as necessary, and may discharge him altogether if required by such certificate; Provided, That such physician be one employed for such medical care by the approval of the county commissioners.

SEC. 531. [Employing convicts in jail.].—For the purpose of enabling the county commissioners of any county in this state to employ in a profitable manner all persons who have heretofore been, or may hereafter be sentenced to hard labor in the jail of the county, said commissioners, or a majority of them, shall have power to designate the place where the persons so sentenced shall work, and to make all proper and needful regulations and provisions for the profitable employment of such convicts, and for their safe custody during such employment. The county jail is hereby declared to extend to any stone quarry, road, or other place that shall be designated by the county commissioners for the employment of such convicts.

SEC. 532. [Proceeds of convict labor.].—It shall be the duty of the county commissioners to make the contracts for the employment of convicts as specified in the preceding section, and the sheriff of the county shall collect the proceeds of all such labor, and after paying the board of such convicts and the expenses incident to such labor to pay the balance to the county treasurer within ten days.

CHAPTER L.—RECEIPTS AND DISBURSEMENTS OF MONEY IN CRIMINAL CAUSES.

SEC. 533. [To whom paid.]—All moneys due upon any judgment for fines, costs, or forfeited recognizance shall be paid to the magistrate or clerk of court where the judgment is pending, if paid before execution is issued therefor, otherwise to the officer holding the execution; or such moneys may be paid to the sheriff of the county if the judgment debtor is in jail, and every sheriff, constable, marshal, or other ministerial officer who shall receive any such moneys as aforesaid shall pay the same to the proper magistrate or clerk of court within ten days from the time of receiving the same.

SEC. 534. [Same.]—Every magistrate or clerk of court, upon receiving any money on account of forfeited recognizances, fines, or costs, accruing or due to the county or state, shall pay the same to the treasurer of the proper county (except as may be otherwise expressly provided), within ten days from the time of receiving the same. When any moneys shall be paid to a magistrate or clerk of court on account of costs due to individual persons, such magistrate shall pay the same to the persons to whom the same are due, upon demand therefor.

SEC. 535. [Misdemeanors.]—No costs shall be paid from the county treasury in any case of prosecution for a misdemeanor, or for surety to keep the peace, except as provided in section five hundred and forty-one.

SEC. 536. [Felony before a magistrate—Costs.]—Upon examination before a magistrate on complaint of a felony, whether the accused be held to answer in court or discharged, the magistrate may file with the county clerk a certified transcript of the costs, giving the items of the same, and to whom each is due, and on what account. As early as may be after the filing of such bill as aforesaid, but without assembling for the special purpose, the commissioners of the proper county shall examine into such bill of costs, as to its correctness, justice, and legality, and may, if need be, examine under oath any person upon the subject, which oath may be administered by the county clerk. And it shall be the duty of said commissioners to disallow any item, in whole or in part, of such bill, that shall be found to be unlawfully or needlessly incurred; or, if it shall appear that the complaint was made for a felony, when it should have been for a misdemeanor only, they may, in their discretion, disallow the entire bill, or any part thereof. Said commissioners may order that such bill, or so much thereof as they find to be lawful and just, be paid from the county treasury, whereupon the county clerk shall draw warrants upon the county treasurer for the sums respectively due to each person upon such bill so allowed, which warrants said treasurer shall pay from the county general fund. And the amount of costs so allowed shall be certified by the county clerk, and the certificates filed with the papers in the cause, in the office of the clerk of the district court. And if the defendant shall be convicted, judgment shall be rendered against him for the costs so allowed, in addition to the costs made in the district court.

SEC. 537. [Costs on conviction or acquittal.]—Upon the discharge or conviction of the defendant in any case of felony in the district court, it shall be lawful for the clerk of such court to file in the office of the county clerk a bill of the costs not previously allowed by the county commissioners, whereupon the same shall be examined into, audited, and allowed, and paid in the manner specified in the last preceding section; Provided, That nothing in this or the preceding section shall preclude any magistrate or clerk, in any case, from delaying the filing of such cost bill for allowance as aforesaid, until it shall be determined whether the same will be collected from the defendant; and no cost bill shall be filed for allowance as aforesaid under the provisions of this section, while there is pending in the cause any proceedings in error, or any unexpired recognizance for replevy of the judgment as provided in section five hundred and twenty-six.

SEC. 538. [Duty of officers in collecting costs and fines.]—In any case of indictment for felony, where the defendant shall be convicted, it shall be the duty of the prosecuting attorney, clerk of the court, and sheriff of the county to use all lawful means within the scope of their respective powers, if need be, for the collection of the costs from the defendant, and the fine also, if any shall have been adjudged against him. And when the costs shall have been collected, if the same shall have been allowed for payment from the county treasury as provided in the last preceding section, it shall be the duty of the clerk of the court to certify and pay the same immediately to the county treasurer, together with any fine that may have been collected in the case.

SEC. 539. [Magistrates' statement of fines.]—Each and every magistrate shall, on or before the first day of February in each year, make out and deliver to the county clerk of the county in which he may reside, a statement in writing of all fines assessed by him for the year ending on the first day of January next preceding, showing the name of the party and the amount of the fine, the time when assessed, whether execution was issued thereon, and the return upon the same, or if no execution has been issued, the reasons for not issuing the same; and in case no fines have been assessed by such magistrate he shall return that fact, and said statement shall be certified by such magistrate to be a true and correct statement from his docket.

SEC. 540. [Duty of officers paying or disbursing moneys.]—Any officer who shall pay to the county treasurer of any county any money collected for any fine, costs, forfeited recognizance, or proceeds of jail labor, shall take therefor the said treasurer's duplicate receipts, one of which shall be immediately filed with the county clerk, and the same shall be by him preserved in his office. All such receipts shall show upon the face thereof, definitely, what the moneys paid in were for, whether for fines, costs, forfeited recognizance, or jail labor, and the sums paid on account of each of said causes, and also the cause in which each item is paid, giving the name of the defendant in each case. All such moneys arising from fines and recognizance shall be credited by such treasurer to the county school fund, and the costs and proceeds of jail labor he shall credit to the county general fund. Whenever any costs in any criminal case shall be paid from the county treasury, such payment must be made from the county general fund; and when any warrant is drawn by the county clerk upon the treasurer of the county for the payment of such costs, a true record of the same and the definite purpose of every such warrant shall be recorded in his office, showing the cause in which such costs are paid.

SEC. 541. [Uncollectible—Payment.]—Magistrates and clerks of courts may furnish to the county clerks of their respective counties certified copies of any cost bills that are not collectible, in cases of misdemeanor and peace warrant causes; and it shall be the duty of each county clerk receiving any such bills to place them upon a separate file and preserve them in his office. At the first meeting of the county commissioners in each county, in the months of April and October, of each year, if it shall appear from the records and files of the county clerk's office that the receipts into the county treasury from the sources mentioned in the last preceding section, from and after the taking effect of this code, are in excess of the amount allowed to be paid from said treasury, in the same time, for costs in criminal cases, including the sums paid for keeping and transporting prisoners in criminal cases, said commissioners shall make an order that a sum equal to such excess be appropriated from the county general fund, for the payment of cost bills, filed as aforesaid, in misdemeanor and peace warrant causes, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay all such bills, or parts thereof, as may be found lawful and just. And thereupon said commissioners shall audit all such bills in the manner required in section five hundred and thirty-six, due notice of which auditing shall be previously given to each magistrate and clerk who shall have filed any such bill or bills, as aforesaid, and in case the amount of the excess aforesaid is insufficient to pay all of such bills on file, the commissioners shall determine which and what parts of such bills are most equitable to be paid, and the county clerk shall draw all necessary warrants upon the county treasury, for the payment of such bills, according to the order of the commissioners, which warrants said treasurer shall pay from the county general fund.

SEC. 541 a. [Witness fees, how paid.]—That the fees of all witnesses in criminal cases, in the district court, shall be paid by the county where the indictment is found. [1875, § 1, 33.]

CHAPTER LI.—SPECIAL PROCEDURE IN CASES OF HOMICIDE.

SEC. 542. [Notice to governor.]—Whenever it shall be brought to the knowledge of the coroner or the sheriff of any county in this state, that a murder has been committed within their respective counties, and the person or persons committing such murder are unknown, or, if known, have fled from justice, it shall be the duty of the coroner or sheriff to make the same known to the governor of this state, together with such facts as may have come to his knowledge, going to show by whom such murder was committed, and the whereabouts of the murderer.

SEC. 543. [Reward for arrest.]—Upon the receipt of the information as prescribed by the preceding section, the governor of the state shall issue his proclamation offering such reward not exceeding two hundred dollars for each person murdered as he shall deem proper, for the arrest of the person or persons committing said crime, and the delivery of said person or persons to the sheriff or jailer of the county where said crime was committed. Upon the trial of any person for whom such reward has been offered, if the presiding judge shall, under his hand and seal of the court, certify to the governor that the person arrested and indicted committed the act charged in the indictment, the person or persons making the arrest shall be entitled to the reward. [1885, chap. 107.]

SEC. 544. [Same, how paid.]—The governor, upon presentation of the certificate as provided for in the preceding section, shall give the person holding said certificate an order on the auditor of the state, who shall issue a warrant for the amount.

SEC. 545. [Death in another county.]—If any person shall give any mortal blow, or administer any poison to another, in any county within this state, with intent to kill, and the party so stricken or poisoned, thereof, shall die in any other county or state, the person giving such mortal blow, or administering such poison, may be tried and convicted of murder, or manslaughter, as the case may be, in the county where such mortal blow was given, or poison administered.

SEC. 546. [Death penalty—Execution.]—That the mode of inflicting the punishment of death, in all cases under this act, shall be by hanging by the neck until the person is dead; and the sheriff, and in case of his death, inability, or absence, the coroner of the proper county in which sentence of death shall be pronounced by virtue of this act, shall be the executioner.

SEC. 547. [Same—Where.]—When any person shall be sentenced to be hung, such punishment shall be inflicted in the immediate vicinity of the jail, within an inclosure to be prepared for that purpose under the direction of the sheriff, which inclosure shall be higher than the gallows, and so constructed as to exclude the view of persons outside thereof.

SEC. 548. [Same.]—In all cases in which the jail in any county shall be of such construction that the sentence of death can conveniently be carried into execution within its walls, no inclosure need be prepared as is provided in the preceding section, but such execution shall take place within the walls of the jail.

SEC. 541 a. "An act providing for the payment of witness fees in criminal cases." Laws 1875, 33. County not liable for defendant's witness fees. 14 Neb. 30. But see section 461.

SEC. 549. [Same.].—Whenever the sentence of death shall be about to be carried into execution in any county of this state which may at the time have no jail, it shall be the duty of the sheriff to cause such execution to be conducted agreeably to the provisions of section five hundred and forty-seven, at such convenient place at the county seat as he may select.

SEC. 550. [Same—Who present.].—Besides the sheriff and his assistants, the following persons may be present at the execution, and none others: The clergyman in attendance upon the prisoner, such other persons as the prisoner may designate, not exceeding three in number, and such other persons as the sheriff may designate, not exceeding six in number.

SEC. 551. [Military force.].—Whenever the sheriff shall deem the presence of a military force necessary to carry into effect the provisions of the four preceding sections, he shall make a written requisition upon the officer of the militia highest in command then in his county, who shall issue the necessary orders to insure a compliance with the requisition of such sheriff.

SEC. 552. [Return of death warrant.].—Whenever the sheriff shall inflict the punishment of death upon a convict, in obedience to the command of the court, he shall make return of his proceedings as soon as may be to the clerk of the court where the conviction was had, and the clerk shall subjoin the return to the record of conviction and sentence.

SEC. 553. [Insane convict.].—If any convict sentenced to the punishment of death shall appear to be insane, the sheriff shall forthwith give notice thereof to a judge of the district court of the judicial district, and shall summon a jury of twelve impartial men to inquire into such insanity at a time and place to be fixed by the judge, and shall give immediate notice thereof to the district attorney.

SEC. 554. [Inquest in such cases.].—The judge, clerk of the court, and district attorney shall attend the inquiry. Witnesses may be produced and examined before the jury. The finding shall be in writing, signed by the jury. If it be found that the convict is insane, the judge shall suspend the execution of the convict until the sheriff shall receive a warrant from the governor of the state, directing such execution. The finding of the jury and order of the judge, certified by the judge, shall be by the clerk entered on the journal of the court.

SEC. 555. [Finding transmitted to governor.].—The sheriff shall transmit immediately a certified copy of such finding to the governor, who may, as soon as he shall be convinced that the convict has become of sound mind, issue a warrant appointing a time for his execution.

SEC. 556. [Female convict pregnant.].—If a female convict sentenced to the punishment of death appears to be pregnant, the sheriff shall, in like manner, summon a jury of six persons, who, on like proceedings being had as in the case of an insane convict, shall return a finding signed by them.

SEC. 557. [Same—Finding of jury.].—If by such finding it shall appear that such female convict is with child, the sheriff shall, in like manner, suspend the execution of her sentence, and shall transmit the finding to the governor, who, on being satisfied that such woman is no longer pregnant, shall issue a warrant appointing a day for her execution.

SEC. 558. [Conditional reprieve.].—Whenever the governor may deem it expedient and proper to reprieve any person under sentence of death, under any condition whatsoever, the condition upon which such reprieve is granted shall be specified in the warrant, and the person accepting such conditional reprieve shall subscribe such acceptance upon the warrant containing the conditions of reprieve in the presence of two witnesses, who shall attest the same; and such witnesses shall go before the clerk of the court where such sentence is recorded, and shall prove the same; and the clerk shall thereupon record the warrant of reprieve, together with the acceptance and proof thereof, in the journals of the court, a transcript of which record shall at all times thereafter be evidence for or against the person accepting such conditional reprieve.

SEC. 559. [Same.].—If in case of any reprieve the governor shall deem it expedient and proper to confine the persons so reprieved in the penitentiary, it being so specified in the warrant, the sheriff or other officer having the person so reprieved in his custody, shall convey him to the penitentiary in the same manner as other convicts are directed by law to be conveyed; and the warden of the penitentiary shall receive such person together with the warrant of reprieve, and shall proceed with such convict as such warrant may direct; and the expenses of transporting such person to the penitentiary shall be allowed and paid as in other cases.

SEC. 560. [Condition of reprieve violated.].—If any person reprieved according to section five hundred and fifty-eight shall violate the conditions upon which such reprieve is granted, such person shall be proceeded against as in other cases of persons escaping from prison convicted of offenses.

SEC. 561. [Convict escapes.].—If any person who has been convicted of murder in the first degree, and sentenced to be hung, shall escape, and shall not be retaken before the time fixed for his execution, it shall be lawful for the sheriff to re-arrest such person, and commit him to the jail of the proper county, and make return thereof to the court in which the sentence was passed; and thereupon the court shall proceed to fix the time of execution, which shall be carried into effect by the proper officer as may be provided by law for the execution of persons convicted of murder in the first degree.

SEC. 562. [Warrant for death penalty.].—When any person has been duly tried and convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree, before any district court in this state, and under said conviction has been sentenced by said court to suffer death, it shall be the duty of the clerk of the court before which said conviction was had, to issue his warrant, under the seal of said court, reciting therein said conviction and sentence, directed to the sheriff of his county, commanding him to proceed at the time and place named in said sentence, to carry the same into execution, by causing the person so convicted and sentenced to be hanged by the neck until he is dead.

SEC. 563. [Same—Execution.].—That it shall be the duty of said sheriff, on receipt of said warrant, provided the supreme court, or a judge thereof, have not ordered a suspension of the execution of said sentence, to proceed at the time and place named in said warrant, to carry said sentence into execution, by causing said person so convicted and sentenced to be hanged by the neck until he is dead; and of the manner of his executing said warrant, and his doings thereon, he shall forthwith make return to said clerk, who shall cause said warrant and return to be recorded as a part of said case.

SEC. 564. [Proceedings if error prosecuted.].—That in case the supreme court, or any judge thereof, shall have allowed a writ of error in said case and ordered a suspension of the execution of said sentence until said writ of error shall be heard and determined, and after having heard and determined the same, shall have appointed a day certain for, and ordered the execution of said sentence, it shall be the duty of the clerk of the supreme court to issue to said sheriff his warrant, under the seal of said court, commanding him to proceed to carry said sentence into execution, at the time so appointed by said court, which time shall be stated in said warrant; and upon receipt of said warrant last aforesaid, it shall be the duty of said sheriff to cause said sentence to be executed as aforesaid, at the time so appointed by the supreme court, and to make due return of said warrant, and of his proceedings thereunder, forthwith to said clerk of said district court, who shall cause said warrant and return to be recorded as aforesaid.

CHAPTER LII.—PARDONS, REPRIEVES, AND MITIGATION OF PENALTIES.

SEC. 565. [Power of governor.].—The governor shall have power to grant reprieves, commutations, and pardons, after conviction, for all offenses except treason, and to remit fines and forfeiture upon such conditions, and with such restrictions and limitations as he may think proper, subject to the regulations prescribed in this chapter.

But no pardon shall be granted until after notice shall have first been given for two weeks of such application for a pardon, by publishing the said notice in a newspaper printed in the county where the conviction was had, which notice shall state name of the applicant, the offense of which he was convicted, in what court, and when convicted, and the time the application will be made, and in case no newspaper is published in such county, then the said notice may be given by posting the same at the court house door of said county, two weeks before such application; Provided, however, That when any person is confined in the state penitentiary, the governor shall have power to pardon such person on account of good conduct, for the purpose of restoring him to civil rights, not more than ten days before the expiration of his term of imprisonment, without the notice provided for in this section.

SEC. 566. [Authority over public officers.].—The governor shall have power to issue his warrant to all proper officers to carry into effect any act which he has power to do, and which is regulated in this chapter; and all such officers are required to obey such warrant.

SEC. 567. [Warrant—Return.].—Whenever any convict is pardoned or reprieved, or his sentence is commuted, or any fine or forfeiture is remitted, it is the duty of the officer to whom the warrant is directed, as soon as may be after executing the same, to make a return in writing thereon to the secretary of state of his doings under the same, and sign the same with his name of office; and he must also file in the office of the clerk of the court in which the conviction was had, or in which the sentence was to have been enforced, a certified copy of the warrant and return, the proper entries in relation to which shall be made by such clerk.

SEC. 568. [Report to legislature.].—The governor must report to the general assembly at its next meeting thereafter each case of reprieve, commutation, or pardon granted, and the reason therefor, stating the name of the convict, the crime of which he was convicted, the sentence and its date, and the date of the reprieve, commutation, or pardon. He must in like manner also report the names of all persons in whose favor fines or forfeitures have been remitted, and the several amounts remitted.

SEC. 569. [Commutation of time on good behavior.].—That every convict who is now or who may hereafter be confined in the Nebraska penitentiary, and who shall have no infraction of the rules or regulations of the penitentiary or laws of the state recorded against him, and who performs in a faithful manner the duties assigned to him in an orderly and peaceable manner, shall be entitled to the diminution of time from his sentence as appears in the following section, and pro rata for any part of a year where the sentence is for more or less than a year. Of two months on the first year; of two months on the second year; and three months on the third year; of four months on the fourth year, and the like diminution of time for each succeeding year of time of their sentence. [1875, § 1, 32.]

SEC. 569 a. [Time lost by misconduct.].—Whenever a charge of misconduct shall be sustained by the warden and inspectors at their first meeting after said charge or charges shall have been recorded by the warden or his deputy against a prisoner, he shall lose the deduction of time specified in section one of this act, but he may regain by continuous good conduct thereafter a deduction of time not exceeding seventy-five per cent. of said time specified in section one of this act, and as much less as the warden and inspectors may certify to, as a suitable reward for good conduct.

SEC. 569 b. [Warrant of governor.].—The governor shall, upon receiving certificate of good conduct from the warden and inspectors, immediately issue his warrant for discharge of such convict; said warrant shall in all cases restore the prisoner to civil rights the same as though a pardon had been issued.

SEC. 569 c. [Pardons by governor.].—That on the 4th day of July in each year the governor of this state may in his discretion grant and issue an unconditional pardon to two convicts in the penitentiary who have been confined therein for ten (10) years or more, and whose conduct while incarcerated in the penitentiary has been such as to entitle him or her to the benefits of the good time act. [1889, chap. 36.]

SEC. 569 d. [Same.].—Said pardons shall be issued upon the written recommendation of the warden of the penitentiary, the attorney general, secretary of state, and the chief justice of the supreme court.

SEC. 569 e. [Same.].—This act shall not be construed or taken to abridge or deny the power now vested in the governor to grant pardons, but shall be an addition thereto.

CHAPTER LIII.—ERRORS FROM INFERIOR COURTS.

SEC. 572. [Review on error.].—That in all criminal cases tried before county judges, police judges, justices of the peace, police magistrates, and all other courts inferior to the district court, wherein the accused shall be convicted of a violation of any law of this state, or of an ordinance of any municipal corporation in this state, and adjudged to pay a fine or to be imprisoned, or both, such judgment may be reviewed on error in the district court of the county in which any such trial and conviction may be had. [1883, chap. LXXXV.]

SEC. 573. [Transcript.].—On application by or on behalf of such convicted person to any such officer or court before whom such trial and conviction may have been had, and upon tender of the legal fees, such officer shall make and deliver to such convicted person or his counsel a complete certified transcript of the judgment and all docket entries made on the trial of such case, and on receipt of a copy of the summons, as hereinafter set forth, shall forward to the clerk of the district court the original papers in the case.

SEC. 574. [Petition in error.].—The proceeding to review any such judgment shall be by petition in error, to which shall be attached such transcript, and also any original papers received by the clerk, and the court in which the review is sought may, by summary process, compel a more complete record to be furnished and such original papers to be forwarded.

SEC. 575. [Summons in error.].—When such petition and precipe are filed in any court, a summons in error, returnable in thirty days, shall be issued by the clerk, unless the judge of such court prescribe another day for the return, which summons shall be directed to the sheriff of the county in which the district attorney resides, containing such description of the judgment as to identify it, reciting the fact that a petition in error has been filed, and command such sheriff to notify the district attorney of the time it will be for hearing; and if original papers are required, it shall command the sheriff to notify the officer in whose possession they are to forward them to such clerk. In case the district attorney should reside in some county other than the one in which such proceedings in error are to be had, the clerk may send the summons in error by mail to the proper sheriff, who may return the same by mail to the clerk of the court from which it was issued.

CHAP. LIII. "An act to provide for reviewing on error all criminal cases before county judges, police judges, justices of the peace, police magistrates, and all other courts inferior to the district court, wherein the accused shall be convicted and adjudged to pay a fine or to be imprisoned, or both."

SEC. 576. [Judgment.].—Upon the hearing of a petition in error, the court may affirm the judgment or reverse it in whole or in part, and order the accused to be discharged.

SEC. 577. [Recognizance.].—No sentence or judgment shall be suspended or execution stayed until the defendant shall enter into a recognizance before the clerk of the district court, where his petition in error is filed, conditioned that the defendant will prosecute his petition in error to effect, and surrender himself to the custody of the proper officer of the county in which the conviction was had, in case the judgment against him be not reversed or a new trial ordered.

CHAPTER LIV.—PROSECUTION OF OFFENSES BY INFORMATION.

SEC. 578. [Jurisdiction.].—That the several courts of this state shall possess and may exercise the same power and jurisdiction to hear, try, and determine prosecutions upon information, for crimes, misdemeanors, and offenses, to issue writs and process, and do all other acts therein, as they possess and may exercise in cases of like prosecutions upon indictments. [1885, chap. 108.]

SEC. 579. [Informations.].—All informations shall be filed during term, in the court having jurisdiction of the offense specified therein, by the prosecuting attorney of the proper county as informant; he shall subscribe his name thereto, and indorse thereon the names of the witnesses known to him at the time of filing the same; and at such time before the trial of any case as the court may, by rule or otherwise, prescribe, he shall endorse thereon the names of such other witnesses as shall then be known to him.

SEC. 580. [Same—Verification—Statement of offense.].—All information shall be verified by the oath of the prosecuting attorney, complainant, or some other person, and the offenses charged therein shall be stated with the same fullness and precision in matters of substance, as is required in indictments in like cases. Different offenses and different degrees of the same offense may be joined in one information, in all cases where the same might by different counts in one indictment; and in all cases a defendant or defendants shall have the same rights, as to proceedings therein, as he or they would have if prosecuted for the same offense upon indictment.

SEC. 581. [Acts applicable.].—That the provisions of chapters XL, XLI, XLII, XLIII, XLIV, XLV, of the Criminal Code, in relation to indictments, and all other provisions of law applying to prosecutions upon indictments to writs, and process therein, and the issuing and service thereof, to motions, pleadings, trials, and punishments, or the execution of any sentence and to all other proceedings in cases of indictment, whether in the court of original or appellate jurisdiction, shall in the same manner and to the same extent, as near as may be, apply to informations, and all prosecutions and proceedings thereon.

SEC. 582. [Imprisonment—Recognizance.].—Any person who may, according to law, be committed to jail, or become recognized or held to bail with sureties for his appearance in court to answer to any indictment, may, in like manner, so be committed to jail or become recognized and held to bail for his appearance, to answer to any information or indictment, as the case may be.

CHAP. LIV. "An act to provide for prosecuting offenses on information and to dispense with the calling of grand juries except by order of the district judges." Took effect June 5, 1885. Construction of statute. 18 Id. 442. Indorsement of names of witnesses. 19 Neb. 643. 20 Id. 516. 23 Id. 310. Names of witnesses should be endorsed before day set for trial. 24 Neb. 723. Information cannot be made against one whose case has been examined by a grand jury, who report "no cause of action," and accused thereon discharged. 22 Neb. 147. Prosecutor can not delegate authority to another to file information. Id. 150. Information must be sworn to before a magistrate and not before a notary public. Id. 150. In order to authorize information, except against fugitive from justice, there must have been a previous examination based on accusation under oath, charging the party with the commission of a crime. Id. 149. Charging larceny, without alleging that crime was committed within the jurisdiction of the court in which the information was filed, Held, insufficient. 22 Neb. 490. On motion to quash, court will not inquire into the form and validity of complaint upon which the preliminary examination before magistrate was had, the crime alleged being the same. 24 Neb. 99. Indictment defective; prosecutor may withdraw same and file information charging same offense. Id. Prosecution in name of "State of Nebraska" sufficient. Id. 101. Act constitutional. 29 Neb. —. 45 N. W. R. 451. Information verified before magistrate, not notary. 47 N. W. R. 854. Magistrate taking examination must have jurisdiction. 28 Neb. 341. Names of witnesses endorsed on information. 29 Neb. —. 45 N. W. R. 451.

SEC. 583. [Duty of prosecutor.]—It shall be the duty of the prosecuting attorney of the proper county to inquire into and make full examination of all the facts and circumstances connected with any case of preliminary examination, as provided by law, touching the commission of any offense wherein the offender shall be committed to jail, or become recognized or held to bail, and if the prosecuting attorney shall determine in any such case that an information ought not to be filed, he shall make, subscribe, and file with the clerk of the court a statement in writing, containing his reasons, in fact and in law, for not filing an information in such case, and that such statement shall be filed at and during the term of court at which the offender shall be held for his appearance; Provided, That in such case such court may examine said statement together with the evidence filed in the case, and if, upon such examination, the court shall not be satisfied with said statement, the prosecuting attorney shall be directed by the court to file the proper information, and bring the case to trial.

SEC. 584. [Grand juries.]—Grand juries shall not hereafter be drawn, summoned, or required to attend at the sittings of any court within this state, as provided by law, unless the judge thereof shall so direct by writing, under his hand, and filed with the clerk of said court.

SEC. 585. [Preliminary examination.]—No information shall be filed against any person for any offense until such person shall have had a preliminary examination therefor as provided by law, before a justice of the peace or other examining magistrate or officer, unless such person shall waive his right to such examination; Provided, however, That information may be filed without such examination against fugitives from justice, and any fugitive from justice against whom an information shall be filed may be demanded by the governor of this state of the executive authority of any other state or territory, or of any foreign government, in the same manner, and the same proceedings may be had thereon, as provided by law in like cases of demand upon indictment filed.
